BBIOGRAPH OF

FINEARI

R STORGIS and H.E. KREIBIEL

19075E

Annotated Bibliography of

FINE ART

Painting, Sculpture, Architecture, Arts of Decoration and Illustration

BY RUSSELL STURGIS

Music

BY HENRY EDWARD KREHBIEL

Edited by GEORGE ILES

BOSTON

146 FRANKLIN STREET

Published for the American Library Association Publishing Section by THE LIBRARY BUREAU

1897

NEW YORK: 280 Broadway CHICAGO: 215 Madison Street St. Louis: Security Building PHILADELPHIA: 112 North Broad Street Washington, D. C.: 1416 F Street. London: 10 Bloomsbury Street, W. C.

Price, Fifty Cents in Paper; $1.00 in Cloth

Copyright, 1897.
By the American Library Association

PREFACE.

In this bibliography Mr. Russell Sturgis and Mr. Henry E. Krehbiel place before readers, students, and librarians a thousand carefully chosen works on Fine Art, with descriptive, critical, and comparative notes. They thus enlarge five-fold their contributions to "The List of Books for Girls and Women and Their Clubs," published by the American Library Association in 1895. The notes here given incidentally offer many important canons of art criticism, and may well tempt readers to consecutive perusal. To librarians who wish to select books beyond the thousand here presented, the pages which follow contain valuable indication — as in setting forth the Avery catalogue, on p. 38. The competent and helpful appraisal of literature, ow fairly begun by the American Library Association, it hopes to see extended in the near future. During 1897 it is expected that an appendix may be issued to "The Reader's Guide to Economic, Social, and Political Science," published by the Society for Political Education in 1891. Within a year or two there is promise that an annotated bibliography of American history may be taken in hand, and also a similar guide to the literature of certain important fields of applied science. In the fulness of time it may be possible thus to appraise every worthy book shortly after its publication; and, in addition to the issue of the notes in book-form, to distribute them on cards to follow title cards in the catalogue cases of public libraries and to be pasted in the books appraised. This plan would proffer guidance at the most effective points.

The numbers which follow the notes are those of the Dewey Classification. The index is by Mrs. Mary E. Haines, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Russell Sturgis pursued the study of architecture in an architect's office in New York, and for a year and a half in Europe. He practised his art from 1865 to 1878, during which time he designed many important buildings, including Battell Chapel, Farnam Hall, Durfee Hall, and Lawrance Hall of Yale College; the Homœopathic Medical College and Flower Hospital, New York; the Mechanics' and Farmers' Bank at Albany; and churches, business buildings, and residences in New York, Albany, Aurora, Tarrytown, and Watertown, N. Y.; New Haven, Farmington, and Litchfield, Conn; Minneapolis and Louisville.

In 1878 Mr. Sturgis spent some months in France. In 1880 he retired from business on account of weak health and went to Europe. He resided abroad about five years, during which period he renewed his early studies, and spent much time in the important architectural centres and cities rich in collections of fine art. He is a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects; Life Member of the American Numismatic and Archæological Society; Honorary Fellow of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences; Fellow in perpetuity and Member of the Corporation of the Metropolitan Museum of Art; Fellow of the National Academy of Design; Honorary Member of the National Society of Mural Painters. He is an active member of the Architectural League, the Grolier Club, and the Municipal Art Society, of New York; the Archæological Institute of America, and the National Sculpture Society; the Japan Society, and the Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies, of London. He has been President of the Fine Arts Federation of New York since its establishment. At the reorganization of the American Institute of Architects, in 1868, when, from a New York Society, it became an organization with Chapters in the principal cities, he was Secretary of the Institute while the elder Upjohn was President and R. G. Hatfield Treasurer. From the organization of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, in 1870, he was an active member of the Executive Committee for several years. From 1888 he was President of the Architectural League of New York for four terms.

Mr. Sturgis has written much for periodicals, and has delivered many public lectures as well as addresses before the numerous societies with which he is affiliated, his subject being always connected with the Fine Arts and especially the arts of decorative design. He was Editor for Decorative Art and Mediæval Archæology of the Century Dictionary; Editor for the Fine Arts of Webster's International Dictionary, published in 1890; and Editor for Architecture and Fine Art of Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia, edition of 1893–95. In October, 1896, was published his "European Architecture: A Historical Study."

Mr. HENRY EDWARD KREHBIEL was born in Ann Arbor, Mich., March 10, 1854. In 1874 he became connected with the musical department of the Cincinnati Gazette. In the College of Music, Cincinnati, organized by Theodore Thomas, he was for a time Professor of Musical History. In 1880, on the invitation of the Hon. Whitelaw Reid, he became Musical Editor of the New York Tribune; his articles in that journal have accredited him as one of the best informed and soundest of American critics. Mr. Krehbiel is in wide acceptance as a lecturer as well as a journalist. In both capacities he addresses himself not only to the enlisted students of music, but to that much more numerous public which desires to add to its pleasure by listening to music with intelligence. The guidance sought at his hands in the formation of libraries for musical clubs has largely determined his selections in the present bibliography. His published works are: "An Account of the Fourth Cincinnati Musical Festival" (1880); "Notes on the Cultivation of Choral Music and the Oratorio Society of New York" (1884); "Studies in the Wagnerian Drama" (1891), "Review of the New York Musical Seasons, 1885-1890," 5 vols.; "The Philharmonic Society of New York: A Memorial" (1892); "How to Listen to Music" (1896). In 1880 he translated and edited "The Technics of Violin Playing," by Karl Courvoisier. He is Consulting Editor of "Music of the Modern World,"

CONTENTS.

	PAGF
	. 1
	. 1-2
	. 2
	. 2-15
	. 2
	2
	. 15-37
	. 15
•	. 15
	38-47
	37
к, Мет
	. 48
	. 54
	. 55
	. 56
	. 60
	61
	63
	. 67
	. 69
	. 70
	73
	73
	. 74
	- 75
	SROIDEI K, MET

FINE ART.

A SELECTION FROM ITS LITERATURE, WITH NOTES, BY

RUSSELL STURGIS, A.M., Ph.D.,

Fellow of the American Institute of Architects.

PART I	BOOKS ON FINE ART IN A GENERAL SENSE: BOOKS ON ALL OR MANY DI
	Associated Together: Archædlogy, Glossaries and Dictionaries .	 2
PART II.	PAINTING AND SCULPTURE. ENGRAVING, ETCHING, AND ILLUSTRATION	 15
PART III.	Architecture and Landscape Gardening	 38
PART IV.	MINOR DECORATIVE ARTS: COSTUME, EMBROIDERY, GLASS, INLAY AND MOSAIC, METAL WORK, POTTERY AND PORCELAIN, TEXTILE FABRICS	48

New York. January, 1897.

PREFATORY NOTE.

The Fine Arts are those which are concerned with beauty, expression, and the power of giving intelligent and exalted pleasure through the senses. The term is often used for those fine arts only which appeal to the eye; it is in this sense that it is used in these notes.

These fine arts are called plastic, or concerned with moulding and shaping; and graphic, or concerned with drawing.

The plastic arts we call in general sculpture, the graphic arts we call painting, which term, however, must be stretched to include drawing with many different materials, engraving, and especially engraving made for printing upon paper or other material, and also decoration in mosaic and other kinds of inlay. These last, it will be noticed, are merely applications to permanent materials and in a peculiar way, as by cutting and shaping, of the general principle of drawing on flat surfaces.

The Decorative Arts are the same fine arts applied and put to use in making necessary things beautiful. The chief of decorative arts is Architecture, in which building is made attractive and interesting by giving to it good form and good color, and sometimes by adding sculpture or painting, or both, to the building. Other decorative arts are Keramics, Glasswork which includes Enamelling, Metal Work of many kinds, Lacquering and other varnish work, Leather-Work including Bookbinding, and a multitude of arts in which these different ways of ornamenting are used to help one another.

It must be understood, before one can go very far in the enjoyment of fine and decorative art, that it is generally the object of art itself, and its own value as a work of art, that the artist is interested in. When a person makes a drawing to explain something that he has seen, or when a cut is put into a botany book to explain a flower's shape and make, that drawing or cut will not often be at all valuable as a work of art. In like manner, fine art which has a narrative or explanatory purpose is seldom very exalted art, and decorative art of course has no such purpose. Illustration, as in books and weekly papers, is the best instance there is of fine art which has story-telling or incident for its chief object. Indeed it is well to use the word "illustration" at once and generally for such art. Thus in a book of history a picture of Washington bidding farewell to his officers is illustration in so far as an attempt is made to tell the story and to get the costume right and the interior of the room right; it is pure fine art in so far as the light and shade and color and the grace and force of the composition are concerned. Then there are freedom and truth of gesture naturalness of grouping, the probability of the attitudes and action of the personages, all of which partake of both illustration and fine art, and connect the two. In a general way however, it is true that artists care most about the form and color and composition, and the resulting beauty, originality and interest in the picture or the bas-relief. The student of art should of course try to see art as artists see it: otherwise such student will remain in the dark as to what each individual work of art means.

PRELIMINARY NOTE: PERIODICALS AND BOOKS IN SERIES.

In this catalogue, articles and periodicals are occasionally named and very many more would be named but that it is not probable that many libraries would procure sets of back numbers of such periodicals. Much of the best writing on art is contained in periodicals, but the articles in question are frequently used afterwards in book form.

Books belonging to several series of inexpensive handbooks are mentioned in this catalogue. In the case of each of these series, it may be easier and nearly as economical to purchase the whole series at once, and it will be found that all of the volumes are of some value, although it is thought that the best of them have been named below.

The author of these notes on books reminds the reader that the titles, etc., are taken from the volumes themselves, and that although the clerical staff of the American Library Association has added what was known about editions, etc., it remains always possible that there may exist a later edition or a translation into English of which no mention is made.

NOTE ON TRANSLATIONS,

As the best books on fine art are generally in French or in German, it is well to say that the translations of such books into English are generally very badly done. It seems to be thought that any one who can read a foreign language with a dictionary is fit to translate a technical book. An effort should be made by librarians to have the worst errors noted.

PART I.

BOOKS ON FINE ART IN A GENERAL SENSE: BOOKS ON ALL OR MANY OF THE FINE ARTS ASSOCIATED

TOGETHER: ARCILEOLOGY, GLOSSARIES, AND DICTIONARIES.

PRELIMINARY NOTE: ARCH.EOLOGY.

Some of the best writing on fine art is to be found in treatises on archæology. It is limited to certain branches; thus, a large part of Greek Archæology is confined to sculpture and painted vases. Within the narrow limits chosen by the author of each work the writing is apt to be very exact in meaning; and the appreciation of the relative value of ancient works of art and the classification as to dates and schools are often very just.

PRELIMINARY NOTE: GLOSSARIES AND DICTIONARIES.

Glossaries of technical terms are always very incomplete, and generally poor in that no attempt has been made to give the exact force of the noun or adjective as it would be used in a sentence written by an artist or workman who was also an accurate writer. Some glossaries are named below. As most libraries have good English dictionaries, it may be said here that the Century Dictionary contains by far the fullest vocabulary of terms used in Architecture and in the Decorative Arts of all kinds, including Heraldry and Costume, that has ever been brought together; and, also, most of the important terms used in painting, sculpture, The definitions, moreover engraving, etc. were prepared with peculiar care. The "International" Webster Dictionary of 1890 is as careful in this respect as the Century, but only a quarter as large and as full. "The New English Dictionary on Historical Principles," published in New York by the Macmillan Co., may be expected, of course, to contain every word which is properly considered English and with the definition explained and strengthened by quotations of many epochs.

Atkinson, J. Beavington.

An Art Tour to Northern Capitals of Europe. N. Y., Macmillan, 1873, $3.

The description of a journey through Copenhagen, Christiania, Stockholm, St. Petersburg, and other Northern cities. The author, who writes on art for the Saturday Review, the Portfolio, and other English journals, which give attention to the fine arts, has made a careful study of those works of art in the Northern Galieries which he thinks especially worthy of attention. He is tar from being an ideal critic of art; he is unfortunately conservative in several ways; the dicta cortained in these pages are to be received as the private opinions of a man who holds his opinions a little too seriously; but yet it is possible to learn from these pages what rank an important picture in a Northern Museum, little known to foreigners, holds among the other works of an artist or of his school. Concerning buildings and their decoration, too, the facts may be trusted; they are expressed in an intelligible way, although the conclusions may be very rash. It is on the whole a useful book for any one who will be cautious in accepting its artistic criticism.

Babelon, Ernest.

Archéologie Orientale. [Bibliothèque de l'enseignement des beaux arts. (Hereafter abbreviated as B.E.B.A.).] Paris, Quantin, 5 fr. Translated and enl. by B. T. A. Evetts as Manual of Oriental Antiquities. N. Y., Putnam, 1889, $3.

A good book by a recognized authority. By Oriental Antiquities are meant those of Babylonia, Assyria, Chaidea, Ancient Persia, and other Asiatic countries of remote antiquity. Remains of architecture and sculpture, engraved gems, metal-work, etc., are briefly but intelligently treated.

Bayet, Charles.

PRÉCIS D'HISTOIRE DE L'ART. Paris, Quantin, 1894, 5 fr.

Any attempt to write a general history of art invites inquiry as to the plan to be pursued, and this is peculiarly the case when the historian is limited to 145 small pages, which space must also include 113 figures. It is very doubtful whether such work can have any value beyond that of offering casual suggestions to the reader. The present one is at least written by a man admirably fitted by his life-long studies for the work he has undertaken.

709

L'ART BYZANIIN. (B.E.B.A.) Illus. Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

Byzantine architecture is that which began in the V. century in the eastern half of the great Roman Empire and continued to flourish in the Byzantine Empire until its destruction by the Crusaders in the XIII, century, even continuing after this until the Turkish conquest of 1453. It was unfortunate in the fact that it prevailed only in an empire whose territory was constantly diminishing and which was finally overrun by harbarians. Its architecture had no development except in the inferior styles of the Mohammedan unitions. Its painting and decorative art influenced Italy on one side and Russia and the East on the other, but had no separate growth; sculpture it never possessed in a high sense, as the art began after classical sculpture was dead and had not time to develop a new art as the western natious did. This is a fascinating and little known field of study and Mr. Bayet's little book is a worthy introduction to it.

708.9

Blanc, Charles.

LES ARTISTES DE MON TEMPS. Paris, Firmin-Didot, 1876, 18 fr.

Biographies of 18 artists whom the author had known personally with the single exception of the medallist Dupré, for whom see under Saunier in Part IV. The sculptors David d'Angers and Barye, the painters Eugène Delacroix, Henry Levs, Flandrin, Troyon, Regnault, and Corot, the architect Félix Duban and several other artists worthy to rank with these, or at least to be considered within the scope of the same pages with them, are treated with a certain semi-critical justness which is, perhaps, as instructive to the student of history of art as more elaborate critical analysis would be. There are a number of useful illustrations.

Grammaire des Arts du Dessin: Architecture, Sculpture, Peinture. 3^{me} ed. Paris, Henri Laurens, 13 fr.

The works of this author are in a sense perfunctory; one does not go to him for stimulating criticism or bold and incisive views. They are generally trustworthy, written by a hard-working man to whom all modern French culture and much of foreign thought were accessible. This work and the "Grammaire des Arts Décoratifs" form one analytic history of art which is well worth study.

Boissier, Gaston.

Rome and Pompeh: Archeological Rambles. Transl. by D. Havelock Fisher. With maps and plans. N. V., Putnam, 1896, $2.50.

Though not exclusively devoted to the question of fine art, this book contains very judicious treatment of the artistic subject which can in no way be separated from the study of the ruins of Rome and Pompeir. Mr. Borssier is a student who keeps himself as thoroughly informed of accurate and scientific discovery as if he were an archeologist by profession. The account given in this book of the doings of the professional archeologists and explorers, from the early hunters for statues to whom we owe so much of the destruction of fine old buildings, to the modern thorough and careful student, forms one of the most interesting parts of this volume.

913

THE COUNTRY OF HORACE AND VIRGIL. Transl. by D. Havelock Fisher. With maps and plans. N. V., Putnam, 1896, $2,50.

See what is said of this author in next preceding note.

Boullier, Auguste.

L'ART VÉNITIEN ARCHITECTURE, SCULPTURE, PEINTURE. Paris, E. Dentu, 1870. Out of print.

This essay, although intended merely to form part of a political history of Venice, is full of intelligent perception of the true qualities of its art. 708.5

Brownell, William C.

FRINCH ARL. N. Y., Scribner, 1892, $1.25

Although devoted to the criticism of recent French fine art, the general principles which govern all line art are so clearly expressed, so strongly and consistently urged that this book in itself may do much to explain what a work of art is in the mind of its creator, and also how his fellow-artists look at it. There is no better criticism to be found. It is a book of the highest class.

709.44

French Traits, N. V., Seribner, 1889. 5 ± 411 p. D., $1.50. Meadville, Pa., Flood & Vincent (Chantauqua ser.), 4 ± 316 p. D. $t.

See the chapter "The Art Instinct" and see what is said in note next foregoing of a work by the same author.

812

Brnnn, Heinrich.

Griechische Kunstgeschichte. 1. Die Anfänge und die älteste dekorative Kunst. München, Verlagsanstalt für Kunst und Wissenschaft, 1893. Marks 7,50.

The first part of a proposed complete history of Greek art which the late Heinrich Brunn, the recognized chief of classical archaeologists, desired to write. The carrying forward of his work was continually deferred because of the rapid increase of the sources of our knowledge. At length Brunn ventured to write this introduction to the subject in the form of a history of the early archae styles. This book will be a standard for years to come.

Burn, Robert.

Ancient Rome and Its Neighborhood, Illus, Lond., Geo. Bell & Sons , N. Y., Macmillan, $2.25.

This little book, though less detailed and full and less appreciative of questions of fine art than Mr. Middleton's "Remains of Ancient Rome" is useful for the study of Roman antiquities. "Rome and the Campagna" by the same author, a much larger hook with many illustrations, was excellent in its day but is in part obsolete.

ROMAN LITERATURE IN RELATION TO ROMAN ART. Illus. N. V., Macmillan, 1888, $2.25.

Cellini, Benvenuto, Memoirs of.

Transl. by Thomas Roscoe. (Bohn.) N. V., Macmillan, $1. Transl. by John Addington Symonds. N. V., Scribner, $2.50.

This celebrated book is not valuable as a guide to the immediate intelligent knowledge of fine art, but gives a truthful picture of times of violence and iodividual independence of law and authority, in which times the great art of the XV. and XVI. centuries came into being. Mr. Taine has made much of this peculiarity of the great art epoch of Italy, as in some degree accounting for the art to which it gave birth. 920.04

Chesneau, Ernest.

L'EDUCATION DE L'ARTISTE, Transl. by Clara Bell as Education of the Artist, N. Y., Cassell, 1880, $2. Out of print.

Mr. Chesneau is a first-rate critic, and this book contains much matter which may give valuable suggestions to the student. 707

Coffin, Wm. A.

THE FINE ARIS AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION OF 1880, in the N. V. Nation, Vol. XLIX. nos. 1259-1268, inclusive (July to October 1880).

THE FINE ARTS AT THE WORLD'S FAIR, CHICAGO, 1893, in the Nation, Vol. LVII., nos. 1406-1471, inclusive (August to September, 1893).

See what is said of this writer in Part II

Collignon, Maxime.

Archéologie Grecque. (B.F.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr. Transl. by J. H. Wright as Manual of Greek Archeology. N. Y., Cassell, 1886, 82.

This book and Mr. A. S. Murray's on the same subject contain all that any person except special students need read, except that this author's "Mythology" (Phila., Lippincott, $3), or any similar treatise, should be referred to. 913.38

Colvin, Sidney.

Article Fine Art. Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

Full of good sense and just perception. Even what seems fincifil will be found to be suggestive and to belp to a right sense of what fine art is. The student should notice an error in speaking of sculpture, etc., as "imitative arts." Fine art should not be said to imitate anything, but only to represent or express what it deals with. Indeed there is no such thing as an imitative fine art or a fine art of imitation.

Article Akr Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Should be read with above-named article "Fine Art."

Conway, Sir William M.

DAWN OF ART IN THE ANCIENT WORLD: AN ARCHÆOLOGICAL SKETCH. N. Y., Macmillan, 1801, $1.25.

Valuable for its suggestions as to the probable origin of those artistic types which have become so familiar to the world that it is hard to realize the necessity of accounting for them. In such a book much must be given as probable which cannot be proved in any satisfactory way. This book is to be read as an attempt to bring these probabilities into shape. It is valuable as an encouragement to independent thought on the part of the reader.

913

Cook, Edward T.

STUDIES IN RUSKIN: Some Aspects of the Work and Teaching of John Ruskin. With reproductions of drawings by Mr. Ruskin in the Ruskin Drawing School, Oxford. Illus. Lond., George Allen, 1890, 5s.

That part of this book which is devoted to the art writings of Ruskin may be compared with the work cited under Waldstein. Mr Cook's work approaches the writings of Ruskin from the side of general approval and admiration.

824.86

De Forest, Julia B.

SHORT HISTORY OF ART. N.Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., $2.

A popular account of works of art of the better known varieties. It is much sounder in its criticism and more generally trustworthy than some similar compilations, but contains serious errors, such as the general information given as to Della Robbia work, in which the very large and elaborate pieces are ignored, and an unsuitability of the material to these is asserted, and such, also, as the wholly inaccurate account of Gothic vaulting.

De Goncourt, Edmond and Jules.

L'ART DU XVIII. SIÈCLE. Paris, Dentu, 1868, 2 v. Out of print.

The two brothers De Goncourt were collectors of the fine and decorative art of the XVIII, century, and they were also the authors of semi-historical works devoted to that period. They had a very accurate and close sense of the value of that art and their writing upon it has critical value. The edition of this book named above is nexpensive; there is also an edition of $280 with more related on the forming two large extracts.

upon it has chisal value.

I amed above is inexpensive; there is also an edition of 1882 with many plates and forming two large octavos.

The art of the XVIII, century is more artificial and more the creature of a luxurious society than most of that fine art which is in any way estimable. It has been the custom, especially among English-speaking people, to despise both the architectural and the expressional art of that time, but it has great merit and the brothers De Goncourt deserve much of the credit of having introduced it to modern critical study. This book is confined to the study of a dozen of the more celebrated painters and draughtsmen of the time, from Watteau to Prudhon. 709

De Laborde, Le Comte Alexandre.

LA RENAISSANCE DES ARTS À LA COUR DE France, 16^{me} Siècle. Paris, Potier, 1855, 2 v., 24 fr.

Great and sudden changes in the condition of the fine arts in any nation have been rare and their histories generally extremely obscure and wholly impossible to grasp in its details. Either it has taken place at a time when historical record was impracticable or else the records have perished. For these reasons the very singular change in the spirit of art in France in the reigns of Charles VIII. and Louis XII., and the culmination of the change under Francis I., is worthy of close attention and even the seemingly unimportant facts cited in parts of these volumes have their value as enabling the reader to grasp the true order and significance of events. To those who like to approach the study of art from the historical and analytical side, these volumes are extremely valuable. Compare what is said of the books by Müntz and Mrs. Pattison. 709

Delaborde, Henri.

ÉTUDES SUR LES BEAUX-ARTS EN FRANCE ET EN ITALIE. Paris, J. Renouard, 1864, 15 fr.

This author has devoted himself especially to the study of engraving as his official position requires, but his knowledge of European art since the Middle Ages is varied and profound, and it is good to have the studies upon art of writers who approach it from different points of view.

Dennie, John.

Rome of To-Day and Yesterday. 3d ed., with 5 maps and plans, and 58 illustrations from photographs. N. Y., Putnam, 1896, $4.

A square octavo of nearly 400 pages with a full index. The text is of the general character of a guidebook made interesting by sympathetic treatment. It can be read aloud continuously; this is hardly true of Middleton's or Raber's book, so that although the present work pretends to no originality of research, it gives a great deal of information concerning the splendid monuments of classical Rome.

Dennis, George.

CITIES AND CEMETERIES OF ETRURIA. Lond., John Murray, 1878, 2 v., 21s.

The little known and very puzzling art of the ancient Etruscans is treated in this book in the more desultory way of geographical exploration. To be compared with the more orderly and more technical books by Jules Martha.

De Pouvourville, Albert.

L'ART INDO-CHINOIS. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

The arts of the great peninsula which our old geography books called Farther India have been little studied except by the French; the museums of Europe, other than the Louvre, have few specimens of these arts. The author of this little book does not pretend to have studied these arts in the lands of Burmah, Siam, Anam, Cambodia, and Tonquin, but he has studied the monuments which exist in Europe and the works of those who have made a minute and fuller examination of the architecture, sculpture, and decorative objects left from the ancient civilization of these realms or made by the modern inhabitants. These arts are important in themselves and will be doubly important in all thorough study of Chinese and Japanese art. 708.9

Diehl, Charles.

L'ART BYZANTIN DANS L'ITALIE MÉRIDIO-NALE. Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1894, 15 fr.

Embodies an examination, previously unattempted, of the Byzantine wall-paintings in southern Italy and Sucily It is most interesting reading; and although the study in detail of these little known pictures would lead the student far into the as yet half understood his roy of mediæval art, yet everything that can add to his sense of the importance of the art of the East, are empire should be insisted on. See what is said about the books by Bayet and Essenwein 708.9

EXCURSIONS IN GREECE TO RECENTLY EX-PLORED SITES OF CLASSICAL INTEREST. Transl. by Emma R. Perkins, Lond., H. Grevel & Co.; N. Y., Lemcke & Buechner, 1503, 82.

As a help to the study of Grecian art a knowledge of the archæological explorations from which our recent increase in knowledge has sprung is very able. The translation in this case is vonched for by competent authority as being well done. The author is a very scholarly and thorough writer. See what is said of his other works. 913.38

Dilke, Lady.

ART IN THE MODERY STATE. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1888, 9s.

Lady Dilke is the Mrs. Mark Pattison whose works are cited elsewhere. In this book she undertakes to describe the first appearance in the modern world of a highly centralized system of one art fostered by the government and turned alike to industrial and purely artistic uses with deliberate purpose. The historical artistic uses with deliberate purpose. The historical conditions of the time are explained at length and the conclusions of the book may be trusted, although there is a natural exaggeration to be noticed in what is said of the historical tendencies and the artistic tendencies, alike. The Protestants were not put down by Richelieu because they were Protestants, but because they desired an imperium in imperio (page 7); the art of France under Louis XIV, was not all, or nearly all "royal," nor was the king the only employer of artists in France (page 52).

Dohme, Robert.

KUNST UND KÜNSTLER DES MITTELALTERS UND DER NEUZEIT. Leipzig, Scemann, 1877-86, 6 v., 80 marks.

This valuable treatise on mediæval and modern art is divided into Part I . Germany and the Netherlands, Part II: Italy (occupying 3 vois.); Part III: Spain, France, and England; Part IV. The first half of the XIX. century. It is very much to be desired that this book be translated into English.

D'Ooge, Martin L.

The Acropolis of Athens. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan. Announced without date.

The author is Professor of Greek in the University of Michigan, and was Director of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens during 1886-87 913.38

Dresser, Christopher.

JAPAN ITS ARCHITECTURE, ART, AND ART OF MANUFACTURES. Lond., Longmans 1882. Out of print.

The work of a traveller rather than of an expert, but the work of an enthusiastic lover of Japanese art as it is interesting reading, it will read to the accurate preciation of more exhaustive and more accurate 709.52 as it is interesting reading, it will lead toward an ap-

Dyer, Thomas H.

On Imitative Art, Its Principles and Prog-RESS, with preliminary remarks on Beauty. Sublimity, and Taste. Lond., George Bell & Sons, 1882. Out of print.

From this book can be obtained a considerable From this book can be obtained a considerable knowledge of what exists and what is known to have existed in the way of works of fine art. The received opinions of several generations are summed up in it in a sufficiently intelligible way. There is no great originality of perception and little or no discrimination shown; the only index is that of the works mentioned arranged under geographical heads. A book, therefore, to read with a view of gaining knowledge of certain well-ascertained facts. tain well-ascertained facts.

Emerson, Alfred

Editor and reviser—Article Arch.#ology, Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia. Edition 1893-95.

Erman, Adolph.

Life in Ancting Edypt. Transl. by Helen Mary Tirard. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan 1504, $6.

A knowledge of the religion, customs, dress, etc., of the ancient Egyptans is necessary for even a slight understanding of their art, which without it remains an immeaning and comparatively unimportant decoration. This book may be commended although the original text dates from 1880. The discoveries of the last few years are of singular importance; we may reasonably expect to see new editions of this work which will contain their results. In the meantime this is the best work with the contain their results. of the kind existing, always excepting those by Mas pero which have their peculiar value.

Mas

Förster, Ernst.

Denkmale deutscher Baukunst, Bildnerei und Malerfi, v. d. Einführung des Chris-TENTHUMS BIS AUF DIE NEUSTE ZEIR. Hlus. Leipzig, F. O. Weigel, 12 v., 600 marks. (French translation, published Paris, 1866, out of print.)

The recognized monuments of Germany, of the Middle Ages, and later times down to the beginning of the present century, are given here with sufficient fulness and with a text of sufficient analytic value to make the book of importance and to meet the requirements of many students in regard to Germany for those epochs.

913.43

Frizzoni, Gustavo.

Arte Italiana del Rinascimento, Saggi CRITICL Milan, Dumolard, 1891, 11 lire.

See what is said under Cavallucci and Selvatico of the desirability of getting Italian thought about Italian art. The present work is more critical than either of Fromentin, Eugene.

See his treatises on painting, Part II., in which the true principles of fine art are admirably explained.

Frothingham, A. L., Jr.

CHRISTIAN ROME, Illus, N. Y., Macmillan.

Announced without date. Early mediæval archæology is Prof. Frothingham's specialty; he has resided long in Rome, first, as a student and lately in connection with the American School of Archæology. 945.6

Gambier, Parry T.

MINISTRY OF FINE ART TO THE HAPPINESS OF LIFE, Lond., Murray 1886 148

Remarkable as being the work of one of the very few amateur or non-professional artists whose artistic work is of any extent or value. Mr. Gambier was a land work is of any extentor value. Mr. Gambier was a land owner and man of wealth who did a great deal of mural painting, and who was largely instrumental in introducing the "spirit-fresco" process. The paper on "The Adornment of Sacred Buildings" is to be read in connection with Lord Lindsay's Christian Art. That connection with Lord Lindsay's Christian art 10ac on Gloucester Cathedral is an interesting archieological essay showing the reader what problems and debatable questions even a minor ancient cathedral church may give rise to. The paper on Colour and Sculpture is nearly superseded by later and more learned work.

Gardner, Percy.

NEW CHAPTERS IN GREEK HISTORY: HISTORI-CAL RESULTS OF RECENT ENCAVATIONS IN GREFCE AND ASIA MINOR. Lond. Murray 1502, 158,

The account of the recent discoveries made on the The account of the recent discoveries made on the Athenian Acropolis, at Olympia, and at Epidaurus, are, perhaps, the most interesting papers in this volume, but the general discussions entitled. "The Verincation of Ancient History," "Eleusis and the Mysteries," "Ancient Cyprus," and especially "Recent Discoveries and the Homerie Poems" are also of great value. As the whole work is based upon the new discoveries made in the escavation and examination of proportion of the state of t ancient cities, it is clear that every part of it bears directly on the history of fine art.

Reviewed in Am. Il of Archaelogy, April, June

Gayet, Albert.

L'Art Arabe. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 1893, 5 fr.

This book differs from the others of the same series in not being a conservative treatise based upon recognized authority and containing statements well verified and criticism which may be readily accepted. It is a serious attempt to discover an origin for the Mohammedan art of Egypt and Syria, and a meaning in that art; in this way it is a first step in a new field of thought. The reader is to accept it for what it is and to realize that the archæological critics and the students of human belief, alike, will find immeasurable fault with the author's conclusions and his ways of reaching them. This is the beginning of a controversy from which well ascertained truth may be expected to emerge. This book differs from the others of the same series

nerge. Reviewed Am. Jl. of Archwology, Vol. IX., p. 557. 709

L'ART PERSAN, (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 1895, 5 fr.

Continues the curious inquiry begun in the same author's book "L'Art Arabe." The same desire to get at the Oriental's point of view, and to find out what he thought of his own works of art and what he tried to express in them, is the good side of this examination. The less good side is the bold assumption of the fruth of many propositions which can neither be proved nor even demonstrated. even demonstrated.

Gonse, Louis.

L'Art Gothique: l'Architecture, la Peinture, le Décor, la Sculpture. Paris, Ouantin, 100 fr.

This beautiful volume is devoted exclusively to the development of Gothic architecture and of the wall-painting, stained-glass, furniture, and more portable decorative work which had that architecture for its stimulus and guidance. Gothic architecture is prima-rily French, of the old royal domain, governed by the Kings of France in the XII. century, and of the prov-inces immediately dependent upon it; but there is a most valuable derived art, contemporaneous with it in the other countries of western Europe. This work is other countries of western Europe. This work is rather too exclusively French and one must go to other works for a knowledge of English, German, and other variants of the Gothic style; but the essential characteristics of the style both in building and in the minor decorative arts are better studied in French examples than in others. The illustrations are of very great value but without a sufficient number of plans. 709

L'ART JAPONAIS. Paris, Quantin, 1883, 2 v.,

The most richly illustrated of all the works on Japanese decorative art; it is like having a collection of lacquers and bronzes, carvings and swords, to possess these beautiful prints, both black and in color. The text is generally that of the cultivated European who has collected and studied Japanese works of art in European who has collected and studied Japanese works of art in European who nas collected and studied Japanese works of art in Eu-rope. In the chapter on painting an attempt was made to describe the different schools and the general prog-ress of the art. For this the writer's knowledge is en-tirely inadequate. It seems not to have occurred to him that there would necessarily be a vast deal of in-formation maccessible to him in France. Here also, however, the illustrations are of importance. See next title and note.

L'ART JAPONAIS. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quan-

Transl, by M. P. Nickerson as Japanese Art, Morrill, Higgins & Co., Chicago, published this book in 1892, at $2. Publishers, Jan., 1897, unknown.

A small handbook by the author of the larger work bearing the same title. See what is said of that larger work. In the prefatory chapter to this small book the author acknowledges the great advance which has been made in the study of Japanese painting, and the criticisms made by others upon his own work, without ill-nature or protest. The chapter in the small book on Japanese painting should be read as a revised edition of that in the larger book.

Goodyear, William H.

RENAISSANCE AND MODERN ART. Meadville, Pa., Flood & Vincent, 1894, $1. 709 Roman and Medleval Art. Meadville, Pa., Flood & Vincent, 1894, $1.

Professor Goodyear is an archæologist of training and Professor Goodyear is an archeologist of training and ability, who in the more favorable surroundings of a European country would probably have become widely known for discovery and critical labors. Even under very untoward circumstances he has added much to our knowledge, as for instance in his minute study of the delicate propositions of buildings of great art prochs. the delicate proportions of buildings of great art epochs. These hooks are therefore to be read seriously. They These hooks are therefore to be read seriously. They are faulty in that the author confuses merely technical skill, in fine art, with artistic power. On this account he is compelled to give to subject-matter—that is, the thing or things represented in a picture or work of sculpture—far more weight than the artists themselves would admit that it had. Even a religious-minded man like Michelangelo would have painted figures from Roman and Greek mythology with precisely the same power and success that he attained in the story of Genesis in the Sistine Chapel. He might have refused to undertake it; there his feelings as a good Catholic would have their way, but the work once begun would have been carried out with his full strength. As soon as he began to paint he would have forgotten everything else because of his absorption in the work of art: thing else because of his absorption in the work of art: it is that and not religion, nor morality, nor philosophy in the common sense, nor truth to nature except as expressible in art, that the artist cares for while he works. It was so with Michelangelo's contemporary, Raphael; he painted large frescoes in one and the same room, one of them devoted wholly to the mysteries of the Catholic faith, the so-called Disputa; the others to wholly non-religious subjects, viz., the "School of Athens" and the "Poetry" with Apollo presiding over it and these are his most important works, indistinguishable in merit. Indeed, Michelangelo's own "Dawn" and "Twinght," and the portraits of the Medicean dukes all attached to the famous tombs at San Lorenzo in Florence, have called forth his full strength, and are at least equal to his Risen Christ or his Pietà at Rome. thing else because of his absorption in the work of art. at least equal to his Risen Christ or his Pietà at Rome.

Grimm, Hermann F.

LIFE OF MICHAEL ANGELO. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1896, 2 v., $6.

Not the most sympathetic nor the most critical of the many lives of Michelangelo, but containing a great deal of research and brought down to date as to great deal of research and orough down to what was the facts. The new edition, dated 1896, in two vols., contains about 40 photographic illustrations taken from the works of the master and generally satisfactory. It will be noticed that 40 pictures devoted to one man's work is a fairly representative showing.

Grosvenor, Edwin O.

CONSTANTINOPLE. Illus, Bost., Roberts, 1895, 2 v., $10.

Only in part devoted to the monuments of Constan-Only in part devoted to the monuments of Constantinople; the treatment of them is not exactly that of the student of art. The monuments, however, are of such extraordinary importance, and are so little known, that even inadequate treatment is valuable to all students. The reader should be warned against accepting the archæological statements as equally correct, some are very doubtful.

914.961

Gruyer, F. A.

LES OEUVRES D'ART DE LA RENAISSANCE ITALIENNE AU TEMPLE DE SAINT-JEAN, BAP-TISTÈRE DE FLORENCE, Paris, Loones, 1875,

This very ancient building has received continual additions and adornments, and those of the XV, and XVI. centuries are described in this book. The history of a simple structure, constantly added to by rich and varied works of art, which is the history of so many now splendid buildings of Europe, is extremely suggestive to the student,

Hamerton, Philip G.

THE INTELLECTUAL LIFE. Bost., Roberts. 75 c, or $2; paper, 50 c.

75 c, or $2; paper, 50 c.

Not a treatise on fine art, but valuable because insisting on the relation of the graphic arts to literature and study. The fine arts generally occupy little space in "the intellectual life" of most scholars and students. Most writers on subjects of human intelligence and its labors and pleasures know very little of the fine arts and misunderstand them; for which reason this and other books by men who approach the consideration of such subjects from the side of fine art are very valuable to the student.

825

THOUGHTS ABOUT ART. Bost., Roberts, $2.

This book, which formed originally part of "The Painters' Camp," is worth reading hecause of its segestiveness. Thus, some of the various ways in which different painters undertake their work are made clear in the chapters "Painting from Nature" and 'Painting from Memoranda." The general relation of art, and especially painting, to the general world of thought and perception is more plainly seen after study of this book, especially in the chapters, "Transcendentalism in Painting" and "Analysis and Synthesis." The general disregard and the common contempt for art among English-speaking people is well explained and its consequences pointed out. 704

Present State of the Fine Art of France, with many illustrations. N. Y., Macmillan, $7.50.

A slight and popular account of the important subject named, but Mr. Hamerton is hetter informed upon the subject than almost any other writer in English and his lightest dicta are to be accepted as accurate in the essence. One chapter is devoted to impressionism, one to the survival of classical sentiment, etc., all with regard to painting, there is also a chapter on sculpture, and one on architecture, which is very inadequate, finally a brief chapter on engraving, including etching. There are twelve full-page prints from etchings by competent artists and about seventy illustrations in the text.

Harford, John S.

LIFE OF MICHAEL ANGELO BUONARROTI, with Poems and Letters, also Memoirs of Savonarola, Raphael, and Vittoria Colonna. Lond. Longmans, 1857, 2 v. Out of print.

Each of the biographies of Michelangelo has its peculiar value, as is shown by the constant references in each work to those that have been issued previously. On the whole the one by Symonds is the most valuable, but there is no one of them that is not well worth possessing.

Harrison, Jane E.

Introductory Studies in Greek Art; with map and illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1892, $2.25.

Miss Harrison has made a long-continued study of Greek art, residing in Athens and keeping closely in touch with realities. The attempt in this work is to explain the superiority of Greek art over those of previous and contemporary peoples by what is here called its ideality. It may, perhaps, be pointed out that there is ideality in Egyptian and Syrian art too, and that our authoress is not sufficiently ready to detect and explain this. These essays are, however, extremely suggestive, stimulating, and an excellent guide to the student of the finest sculpture known to men.

Mythology and Monuments of Ancient Athens: a translation of a portion of the "Attica" of Pausanias, by Margaret de G. Verrall, with introductory essay and archæological commentary. N. Y., Macmillan, 1890, $4.

Much more than a guide-book to Athens. As the ancient buildings there are of supreme importance in the history of classical architectural structure, this book, with its plans and illustrations, is a valuable aid to any one who would like to study monuments upon the spot but who cannot go to Athens yet. Illustrations from painted vases are used with great skill to explain the larger and more permanent monuments.

Helbig, Wolfgang.

GUIDE TO THE PUBLIC COLLECTIONS OF CLASSICAL ANTIQUITIES IN ROME. Transl. by J. T. Muirhead. Leipzig, Baedeker, 1891, 2 v., 12 marks.

The museums of Rome are so vast, and their collections so varied in character and covering so large a field, that any adequate treatise upon them is valuable even to stay-at-home students. Helbig is an archæologist of undisputed authority and great reputation, who has given special attention to the antiquities of the city of Rome and its neighborhood.

Helbig, Wolfgang, and Lanciani, Rodolfo.

Article ROMAN ARCHAOLOGY, Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia. Ed. 1803/05.

This article is of singular value, for, although it is confined to the city of Rome and its neighborhood, the whole subject of building and line art for, perhaps, a thousand years is treated in it with great knowledge and crucial appreciation.

James, Henry.

FORFIGN PARTS. Leipsic, Tauchnitz; N. V., Lemcke & Buechner, 50 c.

Noticeable among the records of travel written by literary men for its insight into the graphic arts. The student of fine art is so generally compelled to say that the literary man does not understand him nor his point of view, that this noteworthy exception is most gratifying.

610

Transariantic Skeiches, Bost., Houghton, 1882, $2.

See what is said with regard to this author's book, "Foreign Parts," A sense of how far it is safe for the non-professional traveller to commit himself is an essential part of intelligent writing on the works of art that he meets with: this sense is possessed by Mr. James in an altogether unusual degree.

Jarves, James Jackson.

A GLIMPSE AT THE ART OF JAPAN. Bost,. Houghton, 1876, $2,50.

Written in haste, at the time when Japanese art had only begun to excite attention in Europe. It is, moreover, the work of a man not gitted with much insight into fine art conditions. The large number of reproductions from Japanese picture-books, and the attempted explanation of their meaning is, however, an aid to students of the subject if they have not more authoritative works at hand; it is interesting to see how Europe and the United States philosophized over the new and not well understood fine art when it first came to their notice.

709.52

Jewitt, Llewellyn.

Half Hours Among Some English Antiquities. Lond., Hardwick & Bogne, 1877, 5s. Out of print.

An excellent simple account of the remains of prehistoric mounds, stone circles, etc., also of the earthenware, weapons, etc., of early times found in England. A good introduction to the subject of archæology of the northern nations. There are also chapters on church bells, stained glass, encaustic tites, and other antiquities of the later Middle Ages. 913.42

Koehler, S. R.

AMERICAN ART Illustrated by 25 plates executed by the best American etchers and wood-engravers, from paintings selected from public and private collections, with text by S. R. Koehler (Curator of the Print Dept. in Boston Museum of Fine Arts). 1 vol., folio. N. Y., Cassell, $15.

La Farge, John.

An Arrist's Letters from Japan. Illustrated by the author. N. Y., Century Co. 1807, $3.

A part at least of the material of this book has appeared in the Century Magazine. The book is an nounced to appear early in 1897. It will be a volume of 250 pages, containing about forty illustrations by the author. The letters will be found to contain much of the most delicate and subtle thought about art that has ever been written even by Mr. La Farge. 709.32

Lanciani, Rodolfo.

Ancient Rome in the Light of Recent Discoveries. Bost., Houghton, 1889, $6.

Mr. Lanciani is so profoundly versed in the archæology of his native city and in Roman archæology throughout the peninsula, that he writes upon these topics as a final authority; even the popular treatment of his theme cannot in any way interfere with the thoroughness of the treatises included in it. Roman archæology is of unique importance to all students of the art of Modern Europe, and yet it has been but little studied and we are only beginning to obtain the power of understanding it in a general sense. These excellent papers are among the most important aids offered to students. 945.8

Fine Art.

PAGAN AND CHRISTIAN ROME. Bost., Houghton, 1893, $6.

See what is said above under Ancient Rome. The present work is in a sense its continuation, and may be recommended with equal confidence. Among the titles of its chapters are: "Christian Churches," "Christian Cemeteries," "Pagan Shrines and Temples," "Pagan Cemeteries;" two very interesting chapters deal with Imperial and Papal Tombs. 945.8

HISTORY OF THE DESTRUCTION OF ANCIENT ROME. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan. Announced without date.

See what is said of this author under his other works. 945.8

Lane, Edward William.

Manners and Customs of the Modern Egyptians. Illus. Lond., John Murray, 1871, 2 v., 12s.

There is no such handbook as this for the study of a country and people of alien race and religion. In order to understand the Moslem nations a familiarity with this book is, perhaps, essential, and is certainly most useful. The fine arts of any race can only be rightly understood by those who are somewhat familiar with the beliefs, customs, and traditions of that people.

Laugel, Auguste.

L'OPTIQUE ET LES ARTS. Paris, Baillière, 1860, fr. 2.50.

Mr. Laugel is a writer of philosophical tendencies, who with a rare intelligence has combined political and scientific thought with philosophy. This treatise is a semi-scientific examination of the part played by the eye in the graphic and plastic arts.

701

Lane-Poole, Stanley. See Poole, Stanley Lane.

Lechevallier-Chevignard, Edmond.

LES STYLES FRANÇAIS, (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 1892, 5 fr.

An admirable treatise in which the great epochs of art in France are well discriminated, and the works of art of all varieties belonging to one epoch are considered and compared.

Lemonnier, Henry.

ÉTUDES D'ART ET D'HISTOIRE DE L'ART FRAN-CAIS AU TEMPS DE RICHELIEU ET MAZARIN. Paris, Hachette, 1893, fr. 3.50.

A valuable book dealing with the long period of French art, the works of which are not much studied out of France. It is too much the custom to dismiss this art of the XVII. century as that of the decadence and as lacking in solid value.

Lenormant, François.

LA GRANDE-GRÈCE. PAYSAGES ET HISTOIRE. Paris, A. Lévy, 1884, 3 v., 12 fr.

The extreme south of Italy has been very little explored by archæologists, even since the time of the journey recorded in these volumes in 1879. This journey was only a rapid exploration, which the auther no doubt would have foilowed up had he lived longer. As a rapid passing in review of the architectural and other treasures of the far South, at once an interesting and instructing book. The historical and legendary value of each place receives full attention; thus, forty pages are devoted to all that documentary evidence has to give about the ancient Metapontum before the description of the ruined Temple begins; a description which has to be brief because no excavations or researches have been undertaken on the site. 913.38

Lethaby, W. R.

Architecture, Mysticism, and Myth. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1892. Out of print.

Forms a curious contrast to the straightforward common sense of the author's "Leadwork." To those who believe that symbolism has an important influence over architecture, this work may be recommended. I is the purpose of these notes to insist upon the artist's view of art as distinguished from the moralist's or the religious teacher's view of art; it is hard to believe that the artist has been much swayed in the past or that he is now much swayed by other than artistic and structural considerations. This book is in a sense a body of argument on the other side of this question, and may be taken as such.

Lübke, Wilhelm.

GESCHICHTE DER DEUTSCHEN KUNST VON DEN FRÜHESTEN ZEITEN BIS ZUR GEGENWART. Stuttgart, Neff. 1894, 22 marks.

A connected history of German art to which on occasion the work of Förster with its many illustrations would serve as adjunct. The book should be translated, for it is one of the author's latest productions. 709

Marshall, Henry Rutgers.

ÆSTHETIC PRINCIPLES. N. Y., Macmillan, 1895, $1.25.

The attempt of the author of "Pain, Pleasure, and Æsthetics" to explain in a brief and easily grasped form so much of his theory as should be read by students of art. Metaphysical inquiry into the sources of pleasure in art, or in beauty, has but little to do in art-study, but this book is prepared by an architect in active practice and a designer of ability, and demands especial notice on that account.

Martha, Jules.

Manuel d'Archéologie Étrusque et Romaine, (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

In this handbook Roman art is treated as in a sense a development of the Etruscan art, much modified by Greek influence. Roman art as we know it, that is the art of the Imperial epoch, has little trace left of its Etruscan origin, but it is not to be doubted that the art of the Republic was almost wholly Italian at least, if not wholly Etruscan in a technical sense. The author is entirely competent and has furnished the student here with a book much more valuable than its small size and simplicity would indicate.

L'ART ÉTRUSQUE. Paris, Firmin-Didot & Cie., 1889, 40 fr.

A larger and more elaborate work by the author of the book mentioned above. It contains many illustrations and is the best general book on the subject as yet issued. Compare the book by Dennis. 913

Maskell, Alfred.

Russian Art and Art Objects in Russia. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1884, 4s. 6d.

Russian decorative art is of two kinds, the traditional adornment, as of the semi-Asiatic people, and the much more sophisticated design which has been partly inspired by Western Europe. Concerning the former of these, consult the work named under Violet-le-Duc The naturally designed houses of the people are, in some parts of the vast empire, log-houses, of an improved sort, so to speak, and the design of these is sometimes remarkably effective. As regards the less admirable Russian design, the enamelled metal work, rather common in our shops since 1890, or thereabout, may be cited. It is not without merit as combination of color but is hard, cold, and monotonous.

Maspero, G.

ARCHÉOLOGIE ÉGYPTIENNE. (B. E. B. A.)
Paris, Quantin, 5 fr. Transl. by Amelia B.
Edwards as Egyptian Arch.eology. Illus.
4th edition, revised. N. Y., Putnam, 1895,
$2.25.

Puts a very large subject into such form that its main outlines can be easily understood. The present edition is revised to date in accordance with newly discovered facts; new illustrations are added, such as those of Petrie and Naville, or those setting forth the text more fully. An accurate and attractive work.

913.32

DAWN OF CIVILIZATION: EGYPT AND CHAL-D.EA. Illus. N. Y., Appleton, 1894, $7.50.

Translated by M. L. McClure, a member of the Committee of the Egypt Exploration Fund, and edited by the well-known and universally recognized archaeologist, A. H. Sayce, Professor of Assyriology at Oxford. Something, but not much, has been added by the editor to Maspero's text. To Egypt is devoted nearly three-quarters of the work; for the archæological study of Egypt is nearly a century old, but that of Chaldiea a thing of yesterday. The history of these ancient nations is inseparable from their line art, as it is from this that their history is chiefly learned.

THE STRUGGLE OF THE NATIONS: EGYPT, SYRIA, AND ASSYRIA, N. Y., Appleton, 1896, $7.50.

In a sense a continuation of the "Dawn of Civilizataking up the history of Egypt at the 14th D

Maxwell, Sir W. Stirling. See Stirling-Maxwell.

Michelangelo, Lives of. See Grimm, H. F.; Harford, J. S., and Wilson, C. H., Part I., also Sweetser, M. F., Part II.

Ménard, René.

Art antique, 1870, 2 fr.

ART DU MOYEN AGE, 1872, 2 fr.

Art moderne, 1874, 2 fr.

Histoire illustrée des beaux-arts, 1874.

All published Paris, Lib. de l'Echo de la Sorbonne.

By a competent writer recently dead, 700

Middleton, J. Henry.

Remains of Ancient Rome. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1892, 2 v., $7.

An enlarged edition of "Ancient Rome in 1885," afterwards called, in a new edition, "Ancient Rome in 1888." This account of the ruins and other remains of the ancient Roman world contained in the city and its neighborhood includes a full description of materials and processes of building anciently in use, and is valuable to a student of architecture, 913.376

Millet, Frank D.; Low, Will H.; Mitchell, J. A.; Gibson, W. Hamilton; Smith, F. Hopkinson.

Some Artists at the Fair. N. Y., Scribner, 1893, $1.25.

ner, 1893, ₹1.25.

This book is catalogued under the name of Millet, because that artist's paper on "The Decoration of the Exposition" occupies nearly half the book and treats of by far the most important part of the general subject. The decoration by figure painting and to a less degree by figure sculpture was what was most important at Chicago in 1893; this inexpensive little book gives an account of that decoration as good if not quite as full as the expensive subscription-book which deals with so much besides.

Molmenti, P. G.

La Vie Privée à Venise. Yenice, Ongania, 1881, 8 fr. (Italian ed., same publisher, Although not a treatise on art this book is valuable to students of the Italian fine art of the Renaissance. to students of the Italian fine art of the Renaissance, and to a lesser degree to the student of Byzantine and other early art. The reproduction of bygone times is extremely intelligent and suggestive; the author gives far more attention to the fine arts' side of life and to the rich costume and the stately and decorative ceremonies which entered deeply into the life of the people and formed a part of the art which we now admire. There are a few excellent illustrations.

The French form of the book is given in preference to the Italian original as far better known. It is trans-It is trans lated from the second or third Italian edition.

Moody, F. W.

LECTURES AND LESSONS ON ART: BEING AN IN-TRODUCTION TO A PRACTICAL AND COMPRE-Hensive Schemf. 8th edition. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1893, $1.25.

An extremely valuable treatise on the right princi-An extremely valuable treatise on the right principles of learning to draw and the way to begin the study of design. The author seems to be perfectly aware of the impossibility of teaching people to design, but he finds some important general principles which may be laid down as universally true. Like many artists whose attention is given chiefly to painting and drawing, he fails to see the value of such constructional architecture as that of the Gothic style; this comes of the inherited teaching of the Reason was and sweading schools. teaching of the Renaissance and succeeding schools. The style of the book is epigrammatic and even fanciful It is therefore well hitted to fix the attention; but such a style is apt to lead the author to positive decisions admitting of no differences of opinion. Now in art there are no truths so positive as that.

Morris, William.

Hopes and Fears for Art. Bost., Roberts. 81.25.

Mr. Morris had a thorough understanding of the shortcomings of modern art, and especially of the arts of decoration, architecture being the chief. He saw very clearly the ruin of architecture by the conscious, academic, unnatural method of study of modern times and by the commercial spirit which controls it. He saw also the way in which the arts of the far East have been and are being destroyed by the interference of Eu-ropean commercial methods. The complete disappear-ance, owing to such causes as these, of the ancient, traditional, and popular art of Europe is one important cause, no doubt, of this author's turning to aggressive socialism during bis later years.

Morse, Edward S.

Japanese Homes and Their Surroundings. Illus. N. Y., Harper, $3.

Valuable because showing how primitive are the plans of houses and how simple is the life of the Japan-plans of houses and how simple is the life of the Japanese, who are the most artistical people of our time. It is well to observe how easily good taste and deheate designing can be separated from large outlay.

The Japanese domestic life is so extremely simple; the outfit of furniture in a dwelling is so very small, and the building itself is of so light and temporary a character that that which is characteristic of the decorative art of Europe is absent. The Japanese man of wealth does not sit in a large room surrounded by sculpture, paintings, cabinets full of choice and costly objects of art seen through glass, and larger pieces of bronze and porcelain standing on every side. The room is generally bare of adornment, and decorated only by extreme neatness and precision of workmanroom is generally bare of adornment, and decorated only by extreme neatness and precision of workman-ship together with some very delicate choice shown in the wood employed, and the single roll-picture (kakemono) with a bronze vase in front of it, which vase holds generally a branch of a blossoming plant, or two or three hower-stands carefully arranged. The lawish decoration bestowed upon minute bronze disks, the handles of knives and swords, small lacquered boxes carried in the girdle, and little cases for smokers is not rightly understood until the absence of such decoration from large surfaces is perceived. Mr. Morse's book is rightly understood until the absence of such decoration from large surfaces is perceived. Mr. Morse's book is a thorough study of that strange manifestation of Japanese life of which we have just spoken, although it is probable that the book deals too exclusively with the homes of the middle class and there may be additionally also be added. tional truths to be learned concerning the interiors of homes of persons of the highest rank and station.

Müntz, Eugène.

LA RENAISSANCE EN ITALIE ET EN FRANCE À L'ÉPOQUE DE CHARLES VIII. Illus. Paris, Didot, 1885, 30 fr.

This valuable book is to be studied in connection with those by De Laborde and Mrs. Pattison for the history of art in France. For art in Italy Müntz's own works are the hest, except those works on special own works are the first, except those works of special branches and those monographs which hardly come within the scope of this bibliography. Compare, however, the different works on architecture in Part III: some of these contain the record of so much of the Renaissance as had to do with building. HISTOIRE DE L'ART PENDANT LA RENAIS-SANCE, Vol. I., Italie: Les Primitifs, 30 fr. —Vol. H., Italie: L'Age d'Or, 35 fr.—Vol. HI., Italie: La Fin de la Renaissance, 35 fr. Paris, Hachette & Cie., 1895.

These large volumes, elahorately illustrated, will be found too expensive for many libraries, but are of singular importance to all who would make a serious study of the fine arts in general or of modern painting, sculpture, and decoration. Learning and a true sense of the meaning of fine art have been combined in this work in a very unusual way. The Renaissance in art is wholly of Italian origin, however much it may have been modified when in later years it began to influence other nations.

LES PRÉCURSEURS DE LA RENAISSANCE. Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1882, 25 fr.

A valuable study of the influences which were at work in Italy during the XIV, century and the early years of the XV., all tending toward that strange and brilliant development of fine art which marks the early years of the Renaissance. Those who study this author's large work in three volumes, named above, may, perhaps, dispense with this one, although this is a valuable study in itself.

FLORENCE ET TOSCANE. Paris, Hachette, 40 fr.

A more familiar treatise on the noticeable works of art of this singularly artistic region of Italy. 700

Murray, A. S.

Article Archæology, the Classical part, beginning p. 343, Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

Although much advance has been made in archæology since this volume was published (1878), this treatise may be used with advantage by those who have not access to the same author's book next named.

HANDBOOK OF GREEK ARCHÆOLOGY, VASES, BRONZES, GEMS, SCULPTURE, TÉRRA-COITA, MURAL PAINTINGS, ARCHITECTURE, ETC. With numerous illustrations. Lond., John Murray, 18s. N. Y., Scribner, §6.

By a very competent archæologist; devotes much space to the painted and other pottery vases of the Greeks; of course, a very important branch of archæology. Sculpture in marble and bronze and on a larger scale is also discussed with some fulness. Architecture receives very brief treatment. 913.38

Norton, Charles Eliot.

NOTES OF TRAVEL AND STUDY IN ITALY. Bost., Houghton, 1896, $1.25.

Of unique value because of its delicate appreciation of the value of fine art. A part of the book is devoted to an account of the building of Orvieto cathedral in the XIV. century; the way of proceeding, so different from the modern way in similar cases, is well worth careful consideration by all students. 914.5

Owen, A. C.

ART Schools of Medleval Christendom. Edited by J. Ruskin. Lond., Mozley & Smith, 1876. Out of print.

Miss Owen's book is a useful introduction to the study of mediæval sculpture and XV, century painting together with their related arts. The tone of criticism is, however, that suggested by a study of Mr. Ruskin's works.

Paléologue, Maurice.

L'ART CHINOIS. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

Divided into Bronzes; Architecture; Carved Stone; Carved Wood and Ivory; Work in Hard Stones—that is, jade, rock crystals, and the like; Ceramics, Glass, Enamels, Paintings, Lacquer. The author has been much in China, but probably the greater part of his study of the works of Chinese art has been in the splendid private collections of Paris and its neighborhood. He has been successful in insisting upon the truly lofty and worthy character of the fine art which has seemed to so many Western people only trivial.

Palgrave, Francis Turner.

Essays on Art. Lond., Macmillan, 1866, 6s. Out of print.

Should be read in connection with Mr. Rossetti's book named below. Mr. Palgrave is the well-known compiler of the "Golden Treasury," a scholar and literary man who gave much thought to art during the years previous to the publication of this book. 704

Paravicini, T. V.

LE ARTI DEL DISEGNO IN ITALIA: Parte Terza, L'Evo Moderno. Milan, Vallardi, 30 lire.

This volume is the third of a series (see under Selvatico and also Selvatico and Chirtani). The three works together give the history of art in Italy from the earliest times to the middle of the XVIII. century The treatment is entirely popular and the arrangement of the material is not the best conceivable. It is, however, of the highest value to students to see an important national art as far as they may with the eyes of the nation that called it forth. In the absence of more critical works in Italian, except for certain limited epochs, this book is useful Pater, Walter.

GREEK STUDIES: Essays prepared for the press by Chas. L. Shadwell. N. Y., Macmillan, 1895, $1.75.

About half this volume is devoted expressly to the fine art of the Greeks; much of the remainder bears closely upon it. What is said of Greek sculpture and Greek feeling for art is very suggestive and inspiring No man not himself an artist has felt more accurately, and as it seems instinctively, what the artist's conception is. 913.38

Pattison, Mrs. Mark.

THE RENAISSANCE OF ART IN FRANCE. Lond., C. Kegan Paul & Co., 1879, 2 v. Out of print.

A popular account of one of the most extraordinary passages in the history of fine art. Compare what is said of the book of De Laborde. The sense of decorative art, as in architecture, is very strong in this book, and if painting and sculpture are not wholly understood in their true artistic sense, the book is scarcely less valuable as a body of information. 709

Pératé, André.

L'Archéologie Chrétienne. (B. E. B. A.) Paris, Quantin, 1892, 5 fr.

Christian archæology in the sense of the study of its iconography and its artistic remains is rapidly attaining the position which had been gained before by the study of classical art. It is now almost a science, and only strong differences of creed among the modern students prevent it from being a science in the strict sense. This little book affords an admirable introduction to the study of the subject. It is one of the best of the excellent series to which it belongs.

Perrot, Georges, et Chipiez, Charles.

HISTOIRE DE L'ART DANS L'ANTIQUITÉ: ÉGYPTE, Paris, Hachette, 1882, 30 fr. Transl. by Walter Armstrong as HISTORY OF ART IN ANCIENT EGYPT. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 30s.

The first volume of the extensive work on ancient art, which Mr. Perrot, who is a member of the Institute, and Mr. Chippez, who is an architect and a descriptive artist of great skill, are engaged in producing. The volumes form separate books, and these books have been translated into English and published, generally, if not always, in two volumes to each one of the French original. In accordance with the custom established in this catalogue the original work is named and described. The serious defects which have been alluded to elsewhere (see note at the beginning of the work) as existing in many, and even most, translations, are especially noticeable in some of these volumes. On the other hand those volumes (see separate notices) which have been translated by Walter Armstrong have been well done. In all such cases it is altogether better to possess and use the original. Librarians might do well to encourage those who use their libraries to make some effort toward understanding the original in the certainty which they may feel that four translations out of hive are inadequate and, perhaps, two out of five are absurd.

Fine Art,

This work on Egypt is the most complete embodiment we have, in a book of moderate size, or what was known at the time of its publication about Egyptian art. 709.3

Historre de l'Are dans l'Andoutef: Chaldée et Assyrte. Paris, Hachette, 1884. 30 fr. Transl. by Walter Armstrong as History of Anglen Arein Chaldea and Assyrta. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 428.

The second book by these authors of the series spoken of above under the work on Egypt. It contains much more that is original than the Egypt, because the subject is much more novel in archeological study; and indeed the writer knows of no work, large or small, which gives what is contained in this one. The treatise on Assyrian architecture is a great addition to our knowledge.

HISTOIRE DE L'ART DANS L'ANTIQUITÉ PITÉ-NOTE ET CYPRE. Paris, Hachette, 1855, 30 tr. Transl. by Walter Armstrong as HISTORY OF ANCIENT ART IN PROFINCTA AND TIS DEPENDENCIES. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 428.

The third book of the series described above—The subject is so much less interesting than those of the first two books that comparison is unfair—In proportion it is equally valuable—709

HISTOIRE DE L'ART DANS L'ANTIQUITÉ, JUDÉF, SARDAIGNE, SYRIE ET CAPPADOCE. PAUS, Hachette, 1887, 30 fr. Transl. as HISTORY OF ANCIENT ART IN SARDINIA, JUDEA, SYRIA, AND ASIA MINOR. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 308.

The fourth book of the series described above. That which will especially excite interest is the long study of the ancient architectural Jerusalem, with the brithant and suggestive restorations by Mr. Chiprez. The atmost unknown antiquities of Sardinia, and the mysterious and disputed work of the people who are called Hittites in English, are also considered.

HISTORF DE L'ART DANS L'ANTIQUITÉ, PHRY-GIE; LYDIE ET CARIE, LYCIE, PERSE. Paris, Hachette, 1800, 30 fr. Transl. as History OF ANCIENT ART IN PHRYGIA, LYDIA AND CARIA—LYCIA. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 138.

The study of ancient Persian art has been followed up by French archeologists with a great deal of zeal and intelligence; the result of their work is well presented here. Mr. Chipiez has furinshed most suggestive plates of proposed restoration and the views of existing monuments in their present condition are admirable. Each of the other chapters contains much of special interest, the wonderful Lycian monuments being, perhaps, those which will appeal to the greatest number of readers.

The general badness of the translation alluded to in the remarks on the volume for Egypt is especially noticeable in the case of the present work. There are many cases in which the translator states exactly the reverse of what the original gives, and very many in which the sense of the original is modified in a rumous way.

Histoire de L'Art dans l'Antiquifé - La Grèce Primitive; l'Art Mycènien. Paris, Hachette, 1804, 30 fr.

The study of the primitive and in a sense historic art which has been found in Greece, but is only in a limited sense Greek, is so recent that no other book can be named which is wholly devoted to it. The phrase Mycenean art is generally used for the portable objects in pottery and metal which have excited so much interest, but the present work includes also an elaborate study of the prehistoric architecture of Greece with elaborate studies of restoration by Mr. Chipier.

Petrie, W. M. Flinders.

TEN YEARS DIGGING IN EGYPT, 1881-1801, with map and 116 illustrations. Lond., Religious Tract Soc., 1892, 6s.

Besides its value as a partial account of ancient Egyptian Art, this book gives a curious insight into the experiences of an experience denoting the who has himself added much to our knowledge of constantiquity. 913.32

Poole, Stanley Lane.

ART OF THE SARACENS IN HOVEL. Allas. Lond , Chapman & Hall, 1880, 48.

Most works on the arts of peoples not of Furopean traditions are extremely superficial, containing only lasty impression, as of one nextly struck by the novelity of an art which he has begin to examine. This book is that of a man who has studied his subject well and gives the reador what small put of his abundant knowledge the pages allowed him will contain. Other books exist which contain many large and tarthud illustrations, but it is difficult to name one of this class the text of which is so thorough. Compare, however, for Moham medan art, the two books by A. Gayet.

CAIRO SKEICHES OF ITS HISTORY, MONT-MENTS, AND SOCIAL LIFE. Lond., J. S. VIIItue, 1802, 128, 6d.

A study of a city and its neighborhood, if put into such form that hasty travellers may be persuaded to buy it as a guide-book, will not often be found a work of much thoroughness. The present author's profound mastery of hos subject has enabled him, however, to make of this book an excellent introduction to the study of Mohammedan art in Egypt as well as of the external aspect of the country and the manners of the people.

Portfolio, The.

During 1854 and 56 there appeared twelve separate books in each year, each book treating a different subject 175 cents each). In 1856 the number of volumes was reduced to six for the year, at $1/25 cach. These monographs are not all artistic in subject, and some may be called only in a limited sense artistic. The most important are mentioned separately in this list, as there is no better art writing in English today than some of them contain; while many are valuable as at fording information not elsewhere accessible. The publishers are Seeley & Co., London; the Macmillan Co., New York.

Proust, Antonin.

L'Arr Trançais. Publication officielle de La Commission des Beaux-Arts. Paris, Baschet, 1890, 00 fr.

A book of reo quarto pages, divided into ten separate chiquers by different writers; thus Andre Michel writes on landscape, Louis Gonse on architecture. There is also a general introduction by Paul Mantz—By way of illustration there are fifty admirable photogravures be sides etchings and woodcuts. There is perhaps no single book from which so much can be learned concerning the French art of the present century—700

Ramsay, William, and Lanciani, Rodolfo.

MANUAL OF ROMAN ANTIQUEITS, revised and partly rewritten by Rodolfo Lanciani, N. Y., Scribner, 1805, 83.

Mr Lanciani is intimately connected with the government and municipal care of the antiquities of the city of Rome and of Italy in general. All that he has added to this book is very valuable and contains the latest knowledge. The original work by Mr Rainsay has less to do with fine art; it was good in its time, and what is left of it in this edition may be assumed to have been proved trustworthy. See Helbig and Lancian.

913

Reinach, Salomon.

Antiqueties nationales: Description raisonnée de Mesée de Saint-Glemain-laye. Bronzes ligures de la Galer Romaine. Avec 4 nélogravures et 600 dessins par 1. Devillard et 8. Reinach. Paris, Dudot, 1808, 10 fr.

The Museum of St. Germain's devoted to the earlier antiquities of France, Romain, Gallo Romain and carly mediteval as well as prehistoric. The author of this book is an archicologist of established reputation.

913

Rosenberg, Adolph.

GESCHICTE DER MODERNEN KUNST. Leipzig, Fr. Wilh. Grunow, 1559, 3 v., 42 marks.

Volume 1, is devoted to the history of French art

Volume 1, is devoted to the history of French art from 1789 to the date of publication, 1884; the other two volumes to German art from 1795 to the date of publication, 1880. There is promised a fourth volume which is to deal with the art of Austr a-Hungary, Switzerland, the Netherlands, the Scandinavian countries, England, Italy, Spain, and Russia.

There are no illustrations; the book is in octavo form, handsomely printed, a serious effort at a complete history of the fine arts of a whole century, sculpture and architecture receiving as much attention, proportionately, as the more popular and more easily described art of painting, while it does not appear that a proportionate amount of attention has been given to engraving and other arts considered less dignified. This would be a good book for some American house to publish in English with abundant photographic illustrations. be a good flook for some American in all the English with abundant photographic illustrations.

Rossetti, William Michael.

FINE ART. CHIEFLY CONTEMPORARY; Notices reprinted with revisions.

This book, dated 1867 (now out of print), gives an This book, dated 18% (now out of print), gives an referesting account of British and foreign art as it appeared to able and instructed Englishmen at that time. The author is the brother of the painter and poet, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, and, though not an artist himself, has lived with artists and has thought deeply on the subject of art. In 1867 he was about thirty-eight years old, and his opinions were matured. He had been a member of the famous Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood eighteen years before the appearance of this book. One of his essays is a review of Mr. Palgrave's book, which see.

Ruskin, John.

Lectures on Architecture and Painting. With 15 illustrations drawn by the author. Lond., Geo. Allen, 7s. 6d. Also, with preface by Prof. Charles Eliot Norton. N. Y., Maynard, Merrill & Co., $2.75.

The first and the second lectures are a plea for Gothic architecture and the revival of that style in modern times. The theory, insisted on in "Stones of Venice" (see Part II.), appears here again; namely, that the sculptured ornament of a building is its greatest and only important feature, artistically considered. The third lecture is on Turner, the landscape painter, the artist to whose art the greater part of "Modern Painters" (see Part II.) is devoted. The fourth lecture is on the subject of Pre-Raphaclitism. The first and the second lectures are a plea for Gothic the subject of Pre-Raphaelitism.

THE TWO PATHS: Lectures on applications of art to decoration and manufacture. Lond., Geo, Allen, 58. Also, with preface by Prof. Charles Eliot Norton. N. Y., Maynard, Merrill & Co., $1.50.

First published in 1850. The first edition contains First published in 1889. The history two very beautiful prints engraved after drawings by 704

LECTURES ON ART. Delivered at Oxford. 1870. Lond., Geo. Allen, 58. Also, with preface by Prof. Charles Eliot Norton. Also, with N. Y., Maynard, Merrill & Co., $1.50. 704

Sayce, A. H.

Article Barylonia, Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

Although much has been learned since this article was written, it is still very valuable.

Schliemann. See Schuchhardt, C.

Schreiber, Gustav Theodor.

Areas of Classical Antiquities. Edited by Prof. W. C. F. Anderson; with preface by Prof. Percy Gardner, X. Y., Macmillan, 1505, $0.50.

An oblong folio containing a very great number of outline or little elaborated figures in a hundred plates. In the original German form this book was of singular value; the present edition has the text wholly reworked and pul great by availant English reshinds distinction. and enlarged by excellent English archieologists

Schuchhardt, C.

SCHLIEMANN'S EXCAVATIONS: an archæological and historical study. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1591, $4.

A compact and intelligible account of Dr Schliemann's excavations at the supposed site of Troy at Tiryns and at Mycenæ, as well as at some less important sites. It is to be observed that not Dr. Schliemann's theories alone, but the matured opinions of many scholars, are utilized in this book. The introduction by Dr. Leaf points out in a suggestive manner the varied and numerous unanswered questions which Schliemann's discoveries have raised.

913.38 913.38 Schliemann's discoveries have raised.

Schultz, Alwin.

Kunstgeschichte. Berlin, G. Grote, 1895-6. To be published in about 30 parts, at 2 marks each.

Of this work the present writer has seen only three parts. It promises to be somewhat novel in its point of view and treatment of subjects; the illustrations, which are to be very numerous, are likely to be drawn to a great extent from unfamiliar sources. The German is simple and not hard to understand. is simple and not hard to understand.

Seeley, J. R.

LECTURES AND ESSAYS. Lond., Macmillan. 1570, 10s. 6d. Out of print.

See the Essay on Elementary Principles in Art; a very suggestive and a very instructive paper, teaching how art should be studied. The author pretends to no peculiar knowledge of artists and their ways, but has, by clear reasoning, reached very truly artistic conc'u Selvatico, Pietro.

LE ARII DEL DISEGNO IN ITALIA. Parte Prima L'Arte Antica. Milan, Vallardi, 1879, 20 lire.

This volume is the first of a series (see under Setter and Chirtani and also Paravicini). vatico and Chirtani and also Paravicini).

Selvatico, P., and Chirtani, L.

Le Arit del Disegno in Italia. Parte Seconda Medio Evo. Milan, Vallardi, 30 lire.

This volume is the second of a series (see under Selvatico and also Paravicini). 709

Seymour, Thomas D.

Homeric Antiquelies. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan. Announced without date.

Pref. Seymour is connected with Vale University, and is Chairman of the Managing Committee of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens.

913.38

Smith, Major R. Murdoch.

Persian Art. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 2s. One of the South Kensington guide-books; a little volume of only oo pages. It contains a few very good volume of only 60 pages. It contains to the subject, illustrations and introduces the reader to the subject.

Stendhal, De, (Henri Beyle.)

PROMENADES DANS ROME. Paris, Delaunav, 1829, 2 v. Out of print.

The few works of this early epoch which are marked The few works of this early epoch which are marked by a true insight into fine art are well worth reading even in our time of greater critical knowledge. They suggest at least the questions which were then seen to exist, and which can never he answered finally or to every one's satisfaction. It is always well to begin again at the day of first inquiry to see whether our recent studies have yet answered all that is required of them. 945.6

Stirling-Maxwell, Sir William.

Annals of the Artists of Spain. Illus. Lond., John C. Nimmo, 1891, 4 v., 84s. With Cloister Life of the Emperor Charles V., and Miscellaneous Essays and Addresses; in all 6 v., N. Y., Scribner, $45.

Spanish art is very little known in Europe; this is the only English book, at all adequate, devoted to the subject. The first edition was published in 1848, and the first edition of Velasquez and his Works by the same author was published in 1855; the present work is an enlarged edition containing both works much revised and with many parts rewritten. A very interesting book to read as well as very valuable for reference Story, William Wetmore.

ROBA DI ROMA. New ed. Bost., Houghton, 2 v., $2,50.

This book, of which the title signific. Roman things, or Roman goods, is only in part devoted to artistic matters. It is capable, however, of giving a very strong and intimate feeling of the beauty of the ancient city as it was before its recent regretable transformation, and also of the ruins themselves, which of late years have been made more accessible and have been more thoroughly studied than ever before. The Italian sense of the meaning of Italian art, the importance of which has been insisted on in other places (see Selvatico and Cavallucci) is also to be found in this book, and it is not () be forgotten that it is the work of a sculptor of ability and long experience.

Castle St. Angelo and The Evil Eye, being additional chapters to Roba di Roma. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1877, 108, 6d.

Five additional chapters which might with perfect propriety be bound in with the work entitled "Roba di Roma." The Castle is the mausoleum of the Emperor Hadrian, built by him to receive the urns of his successors, together with his own, as the great mausoleum of Augustus was considered to be fully occupied. During the Middle Ages its immense solid mass of masonry made it valuable as a fortress, and it was built upon with two or three stories of small rooms, which served as a refuge for the Pope in times of danger. The record of this building, which fills 150 pages of the present volume, is an interesting piece of architectural history.

CONVERSATIONS IN A STUDIO, Bost., Houghton, 1894, 2 v., $2.50.

These conversations deal with literature and sociology and many topics, but also with the fine arts as they are looked at by an artist. Compare what is said about Hamerton's Intellectual Life. In like manner the book before us is worthy of study for the treatment of the fine arts as forming a part of the whole world of thought, a treatment which it is almost impossible to get except from an artist who is also a man of cultivation.

704

EXCURSIONS IN ART AND LETTERS. Bost. Houghton, 1891, $1.25.

Mr. Story was an accomplished sculptor and a practised and graceful writer: a rare combination. Three of the five papers in this volume are of use to the student of art. The paper on Michelangelo contains excellent criticism, and that on Phidias is full of suggestive analysis of the art of sculpture.

Sturgis, Russell.

Article Fixe Arts, Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia, ed. of 1503-5

Article Realism in Fine Art, Johnson's Universal Cyclopedia. See also in the same work, Articles "Painting," "Sculpture," and others on special topics. In Parts H., HL, IV, of this list.

JAPANESE ART, Johnson's Universal Cyclepredia, ed. of 1893-5.

Symonds, John Addington.

RENAISSANCE IN TIALY, N. Y., Holt, 7 v., $14. SHORT HISTORY OF THE RENAISSANCE IN TIALY, selected by Alfred Pearson. N. Y., Scribner, $3.75.

Without showing any profound sense of the inner spire of fine art, this work is a valuable history of that side of the Renaissance which showed itself in painting and sculpture. The treatment of architecture is brief and unsatisfactory. However inadequate, this remains the best history in English of the artistic renaissance in Italy; its value is increased for the general student by the treatment of fine art as one or the many manifestations of the Renaissance. 945

Life of Michel Angelo Bronarolli. Illus, Lond., John C. Nimmo, 1893, 2 v. 21s, N. Y., Scribner, 87,50.

The latest of the many lives of this great artist, and probably the best, continuing what seems most necessary in the other books on the man and his time and much additional information. There are valuable plates.

Taine, Hippolyte Adolphe. La Philosofhie DE l'Art, ta Philo di l'Art in Taile, LA Philo de l'Art dans les Pays Bas; L'idéal dans l'Art; and other essays. Transl. by John Duland as Lectures on Art. 18t Series: The Philosophy of Art., The India in Art. N. Y., Holt, $2.50. 2d Series The Philosophy of Art in Italy, the Nythurlands, and Grefel. N. Y., Holt, $2.50.

These books have attracted much attention because of the literary reputation of their author, and because of the simplicity of his theories and the case with which they can be grasped and remembered. The difficulty with such criticism is that any simple theory about a work of art, its nature, its relation to other works of art, and its place in the general world of art, is generally a false, or at least an inadequate theory. It a reader is thoroughly familiar with any group of works of fine art, or any epoch or style of art, he will find Mr. Taine's criticism of the works or the epoch in question very feeble indeed. It is clear in such a case that the soul of a work of art and its real nature as its author conceived it, and as his competers understand it, are misunderstood by this writer.

Tarbell, F. B.

HISTORY OF GREEK ART. With introductory chapter on Art in Egypt and Mesopotania. Illus. Meadville, Pa., Flood & Vincent, $1, Tsountas, Crestos.

THE MYCENEAN AGE. Transl, from the Greek, edited and enlarged by Prof. J. Irving Manatt and Dr. Barker Newhall. With about too illustrations. Bost., Houghton. Announced for early in 1897, $6.

Dr. Tsountas's original work is a recognized authority. In its English dress it will be as complete a treatise as is now possible on that strange type of early art which, while its chief remains have been found in Greece, is not Greek in the usual sense—not even Greek of an archaic period. It appears that the book will contain restorations of the ancient houses whose remains have been discovered and their claborate colored decoration. 913.38

Vasari, Georgio.

LE VILE DE PIU ECCFLENTI PITTORI, SCULTORI ED ARCHITERIORI. Transl. by Mrs. Jonathan Foster as Lives of the Most Eminint Painters, Sculptors, and Architects, with Notes and Illustrations, etc. (Bohn.) N. Y., Macmillan, 6 v., $1 each.

(nonn.) N. Y., Maemillan, 6 v., 81 each.

These biographies by Vasari are the groundwork of our knowledge of the great Italian artists of the XV and XVI, centuries. Their extra rdinary lame as compared with the popular appreciation of Spanish, Flemish, or Intel artists is in great part due to this book. It is extremely interesting, full of anecdote and picturesque narrative, and gives brillian pictures of life in Italy during the epoch. The author's statements of fact have often been found erroneous, and are frequently corrected in the notes to this translation. This translation is excellent, as is sufficiently proved by its adoption for the important work of Blaskfield and Hopkins. (See next following item.)

LIVES OF THE PAINTERS; edited and annotated by E. H. and E. W. Blashfield and A. A. Hopkins, with 48 photogravure reproductions of masterpieces of Italian painting and sculpture. N. V., Seribner, 1807, 4 v., $15.

Sixty of the more important lives in the Vasari collection, taken from Mrs. Foster's translation (see the previous title), and accompanied by very full notes, both historical and critical. A carcful examination has satisfied the writer that no more important contribution to art history has been offered for many years. The thoroughness of the research into the documents and the clearness of the elucidation of the difficult historical and biographical points are only equalled by the intelligence with which the difficult questions are designed and selected for attention. The art intiesm is of an unusually high quality, such a body of criticism as is given here forms a very important adjunct to all books of biography, including the important biographical dictionaries which are apt to fail in this respect.

Viollet-le-Duc, E. E.

L'Art Russe, ses origines, ses éléments constitutiés, son apogée, son avenir, Paris Morel & Cie., 1877, 25 fr

For Russian art, compare also book cited under Maskell. The work now under consideration is an attempt at a very thorough and critical analysis of this art, peculiar attention being given to those processes of building which effect a decorative result, especially the strange and effective cupolas which take their typical construction from the Byzantine art of the VI century. That art found a development among the Moslems and another among the Greek Christians of the North, and these two evolutions of the Byzantine type show singular resemblances and most interesting divergences.

709

Waldstein, Charles.

THE STUDY OF ART IN UNIVERSITIES. N. Y., Harper, 1805, $1,25.

A lecture concerning the teaching of art as a subject of general knowledge—that is to say, of the theory, brory, and criticism of art. A theory broached by the author, that artists should strive for university education in the ordinary sense, is certainly the reverse of the truth, the contrary proposition, that artists should begin the specialized study of their art very early, could be maintained. See Nation, Nov. 28, 1895, p. 388.

THE WORK OF JOHN RUSKIN ITS INFLUENCE UPON MODERN THOUGHT AND LIFE. N. Y., Harpet, 1893, $1.

The writings of Mr Ruskin on the fine arts are spoken of under his name. The present book in its first chapter, Ruskin as a Writer on Art, gives, perhaps, the best criticism of the subject that exists Compare the book cited under Cook. 704

Waring, John Burley.

STONE MONUMENTS, TUMULI, AND ORNAMENTS OF REMOTE AGES, WITH REMARKS ON THE EARLY ARCHITECTURE OF IRELAND AND SCOTLAND. Lond., John B. Day, 1870. Out of print.

Contains a great number of trustworthy drawings and a useful text. Perhaps the best book for the study of prehistoric and undated buildings. 913

Watts, Theodore.

Article "Poetky," Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

Should be read for the comparison of different Fine Arts, as pretry with painting and sculpture, and for the remarks upon thoughts expressible in painting and sculpture though not in words.

White, John Williams.

Greek Private Life. Illus. N. Y. Macmillan. Announced without date.

The author was Chairman of the Managing Committee of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens, and is Professor of Greek in Harvard University. 913.38

Wilson, Charles Heath.

LIFE AND WORKS OF MICHAEL ANGELO BUO-NAROTTI. 2d ed. Lond., John Murray, 1881, 158.

Mr. Wilson had the rare good fortune to gain access to the scaffolding erected close under the vault of the Sisting Chapel, he thence analyzed the processes used by Michelangelo in the frescoes there, which constitute, perhaps, the most important monument of the painter's art in Europe. This would be a useful life of the artist even without the valuable facts alluded to above.

920

GLOSSARIES AND DICTIONARIES.

(See Note at Head of Part 1.)

Adeline, Jules.

LEXIQUE DES TERMES D'ART. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr. Transl. as Akr Dic-TIONAKY. Authorized and cnl. ed. N.Y., Appleton, 1891 $2.25.

So small a book can only give a few of the terms used in art; moreover, the translation of a dictionary is peculiarly difficult, because of the rearrangement necessary. Some terms are used in very different senses in France and in America, as Verandah, and these differences are not always marked in this translation.

703

Bryan, Michael.

Dictionary of Painters and Engravers. New edition, edited by R. E. Graves. N. Y., Macmillan, 1886, 2 v., $22.50.

This book, in two large volumes, is more costly than most of the books in this list, but it is the smallest one in English that can be recommended. There are strange omissions from it, but on the whole it is trustworthy. Of course, one does not look to such a book for very critical appreciation of works of art.

750

Clement, Clara Erskine, and Hutton, Laurence.

Arfists of the Nineteenth Century and Their Works. Bost., Houghton, $3.

A useful book, revised in the latest edition to 1884, and giving brief biographies of artists, with mention of their works. Its space is used up by a great many vague and insignificant critical notices, the preface says that the "average opinion" has been sought for but it is clear that that can never be found. Ten or twenty lines of "an average opinion" on any artist are absolutely useless. If one man had written all the notices it would at least be possible to get a comparative notion, but, as it is, neither positive nor comparative information is given.

Harper's Dictionary of Classical Literature and Antiquities.

Edited by Harry Thurston Peck, M.A., Ph.D., Professor of the Latin Language and Literature in Columbia University, New York. With the co-operation of many Special Contributors, with nearly 1500 Illustrations, Maps, and Diagrams. N. Y., Harper, §6.

This book, which is announced as published at the close of November, 1806, contains biography, geography, Greek and Roman Antiquities, etc., and will, necessarily, be very brief in its treatment of all these subjects. It may be expected to be trustworthy and useful. The list of Special Contributors is excellent.

James, Ralph N.

Painters and Their Works a Dictionary of Great Artists who are not now alive; giving their names, lives, and the prices paid for their works at auctions. Lond., L. Upcott Gill, small 8vo, 612 p. N. Y., Scribner, 1896, 3 v., $15.

Announced to be in three volumes. This is a perhaps needed addition to the too small number of such hooks in English. It must be observed that it does not replace books like Bryan, because excluding Hollar, Pierre Drevet, and Gérard Edelinck; nor books like Seubert, because excluding sculptors, engravers, architects, and living artists. It is hard to explain the omission of Couture, Diaz, and Galland. On the other hand, some artists little known in England are treated fully and in an open-minded way. 750

Müller, H. A.

BIOGRAPHISCHES KÜNSTLER-LEXIKON DER GE-GENWART Leipzig Bibliogt Institut 1852 6 marks

A small book containing the lives of painters of our own time, marked by a very just tone of criticism. It is very desirable that it should be translated into Eng

Seubert, Adolph.

Allgemeines Künstler-Lexikon, oder Li-BEN UND WERKE DER BERÜHMITSTEN BIT-DERN DER KINSTLER. Frankfurt a M., Rütten R. Loening, 1882, 3 v., 20 marks.

Probably the most valuable dictionary of artists which exists, as the work of Nagler is full of errors and antiquated as well as rare and costly, while the great work which is to supersede it comes out very slowly. Scubert should be translated into English with some modifications.

Seyffert, Oskar.

DICTIONARY OF CLASSICAL ANTIQUITIES, MY-

THOTOGY, RELIGION LITTER VILLE, AND ART. From the German Revised and edied with additions by Henry Nettleship, M.A. and I E. Sandys Illus, N. Y., Macmellan. 83.

A smaller and less expensive book than the one cata logued under Smith

Smith, Sir William, Wayte, William, and Marindin, G. E.

DICTIONARY OF GREEK AND ROMAN ANDQUI-11Es. 3d ed. Lond., John Murray 1891 2 V., 635.

Practically the only book of the kind accessible to students, and in spite of errors, omissions, and inexcusable misinterpretations, it can be used with general confidence. That is to say, the proportion of error to connected. That is to say, the proportion of error to sound and intelligent explanation is very small. The ideal dictionary of classical antiquities seems to be difficult to obtain "even the great French work now slowly coming out in parts will be extremely difficult to consult, as it is divided into comparatively lew long essays, and has no minutely divided alphabetical system. 913

PART II

PAINTING AND SCULPTURE

PRELIMINARY NOTE ON PAINTING.

Most writing about the art of painting has been by persons not very conversant with the actual practice of the art. This is true of all the fine arts, but it is especially true of painting because this art is more popular than others and also because persons who expect to find literary, narrative, moral, or religious sentiment in fine art are naturally led to look for it most in painting. The student should be on his guard against the discussion of this art as if it were closely akin to writing in prose or verse. Painting has its own language and its own set of ideas, which are sufficient for it. See Prefatory Note

PRELIMINARY NOTE ON SCULPTURE.

Very little has been published, in English on the art of sculpture, except in the form of treatises on Classical Archæology. It is to be noted, however, that much of that avowedly archæological writing is just and discriminating in its dealing with sculpture. The art of sculpture is far less misleading to those who have not especially studied it than painting is, it is much less complicated, it is much more direct and simple in its appeal to the sense of beauty, and in its association with nature. Moreover, it does not appeal so strongly as painting to the popular love of anecdote and incident in Those who wish to see stories of battle and adventure, or of domestic sentiment and pathos, will generally choose a collection of pictures rather than a sculpture gallery. Therefore the common writing about fine art, looked at from a literary standpoint, is far less harmful in the case of sculpture than in paint-

Alexandre, Arsène.

A. L. BARYE. (L.A.C.) Paris Librairie de l'Art, 1889, 7 fr.

Barye is the well-known sculptor of wild and domestic animals. The present biography is far from being an ideal critical work, but it may be accepted as a sufficient description of Barye's life and sculpture Many 730 illustrations.

Ecole Flamande et Hollandaise. Histoire populaire de la Peinture, avec 250 gravures Paris, Laurens, 1895, 10 fr.

This author is a bookmaker in the department of fine art, and produces a great many large illustrated works. They have the fault of being somewhat popular in style and of being verbose; that is to say, the fault of containing too much writing about a subject and of lacking precision. They are written, however, with an extensive, if not always profound, knowledge of the subject in hand. They are always abundantly illustrated, and serve an excellent purpose either alone or in connection with more critical works which they supplement and assist 759 9

French Positrs and Book-Covers.

Modern Poster, N. V., Scribner, 1898. The singular branch of the pointing art which the flectors of "posters" are doing so much to encourcollectors of age received its largest development in Paris, though, perhaps not originating there. Paper book-covers decperhaps not originating there. Paper book-covers desorated with designs in color are, of course, more at home in France, where all books, eveep a few Christ mas gift-books and the like, are sold imbound. This article shows the close relation existing between the decorated book-cover and the poster in its ordinary sense. The illustrations are excellent 740

Histoire Populairi di la Peineure: École FRANÇAISE. Paris, Henri Laurens, 14 fr. Note what is said above under this author's "Ecole Flamande," This volume contains a great number of rinal wood-cuts valuable as representing paintings which are cited in the histories, yet are not often seen engraved. This applies especially to the very recent works, of which there are a number. which there are a number.

HISTOIRE DE LA PEINTURE MILITAIRE EN FRANCE. Paris, Henri Laurens, fr. 4.50.

The seventy-one illustrations in this little volume are all drawn from interesting originals; the history of the subject is taken up with the reign of Louis XIV, and carried through to our own time. In French art so much excellent technical and artistic skill has gone to battle-painting that a separate treatise on the subject is desirable. The present one is hardly complete, but it will serve a useful purpose.

JEAN CARRIÈS, IMAGIER ET POTIER: Étude d'une Oeuvre et d'une Vie. Paris, Quantin, 1805, 25 fr.

See what is said above under this author's "École Flamande."

Jean Carries was a sculptor of great and unusual managements of the same after having devoted gitts, who died young in 1804, after having devoted himself for twenty years mainly to decorative work. Pottery interested him greatly, and he produced many pieces of extraordinary novelty of form and glaze. The book contains a great many pictures of these and of his Allston, Washington. See Sweetser, M. F.

Anderson, William.

JAPANESE WOOD-ENGRAVINGS. Portfolio Monograph, May, 1805. Lond., Sceley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 75 c.

The present catalogue is mainly confined to European art, as a proper consideration of Oriental art leads necessarily towards the inclusion of very costly books. The present little work should be noted as written by an entirely trustworthy scholar, the author of large and valuable works on the same subject. Japanese Prints and Color, which have attracted very much attention and have brought enormous prices of large are treated here briefly but well.

761

Angelico, Fra. See Sweetser, M. F.

Armstrong, Walter.

THE ART OF WILLIAM QUILLER ORCHARDSON. Portfolio Monograph, Feb., 1895. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 75 c.

Orchardson is a painter whose work is admired by painters, as well as a composer of popular subjects of romantic and sentimental character. His genius is unique in each of these departments: it is a great juty that so little of his work is to be seen in America. Mr. Armstrong is a very competent critic and biographer

The Life of Velasquez. Portfolio Monograph, July, 1806. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, $1,25.

The grant of art, Velasquez, whose life is written exhaustively by Justi, whose genius is discussed claboexhaustively by Justi, whose genius is discussed classi-rately by Stevenson, and concerning whom there is a good monograph by Lefort, is treated here by an ex-cellent critic and man of sound judgment. There are four admirable plates and a number of text illustrations all produced by photographic processes. 750

THE ARL OF VELASQUEZ. Portfolio Monograph, Oct., 1800. Lond., Sceley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, $1.25.

Forms the natural conclusion of the author's "Life of Velasquez.

Thomas Gainsborough. Portfolio Monograph, Sept., 1804. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 75 c.

One of the more valuable of these monographs illustrations are excellent, the biography and criticism brief and full of meaning. 750

Aleren Stevens, a biographical study. Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1551, 15 fr.

Alfred George, or simply Alfred Stevens, was a sculptor who, if he had lived in Italy in the XV century, or in France in the XVI., would have been one of the productive and famous men of his time. He died in 1875, leaving behind him no large and costly monument except the tomb of the Duke of Wellington in St. Paul's Cathedral. The story of his life and work, and the strange way in which he was misused, is well told in this book. Many illustrations.

Babelon, Ernest.

La Gravure en Pierres Fines, Camées et INTAILLES. (B. E. B. A.) Paris, Quantin,

Gem engraving, as the phrase is in English, included both cameo-cutting and engraving in intaglio. These arts were at their highest excellence in antiquity, but the gems of the Renaissance are also beautiful, and there is modern work of value. Mr. Babelon is an entirely competent judge and historian of this subject.

Bacon, Henry.

Parisian Art and Artists. Bost., Houghton, 1883, 83.

An account of the artist-life of Paris, which is the An account of the artist-life of Paris, which is the great centre of art study in Europe, and, with this, notices of the painters, French and other, whom the author has thought most interesting as subjects of discussion. Calculated to give a really intelligent sense of the general character of modern art, especially painting, as it is found in Paris.

The reader is reminded how much must be allowed for the differences of opinion even among the best in-

The reader is reminded how much must be anowed for the differences of opinion even among the best informed and most profound and delicate critics. A change of a few years in the date of an author's remarks may often make a decided change in the point of view he takes. Thus, it is probable that the remarks devoted to Manet as compared with Alfred Stevens would be very different if written in 1896, instead of 1882, or before. In like manner it is perhaps to be reserved that the three painters of military subjects, Degretted that the three painters of military subjects, Detaille, De Neuville, and Elizabeth Thompson, now Lady Butler, should be treated as it they were of quite or nearly the same degree of ment.

700

Baldry, Alfred Lys.

ALBERT MOORE: HIS LIFE AND WORKS. Lond., George Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, 1594, $22.50.

Albert Moore was a painter of that class which rather disregards narrative and anecdote and what may be called literary subjects in paintings. He cared for color disregards narrative and anecdote and what may be called literary subjects in paintings. He cared for color and for design in line and mass; he was a painter of almost unequalled merit both technically and in matter of composition and expression. After his death in 1891 this handsome volume was prepared to commemorate his work. A great number of very beautiful photographic illustrations are included, and the text is of value. See what is said under Bell's "Burne-Jones," 750

Bastien-Lepage, Jules. See Cartwright, Julia.

Bartolommeo, Fra. S.: Scott, Leader.

Bayet, Charles.

LA PEINTURE ET LA SCULPTURE CHRÉTIENNE EN ORIENT. Paris, Thorin, 1889, fr. 4.50.

A treatise in extension or continuation of the same author's work on Byzantine art. See what is said of the books by Diehl. 750

Beard, William H.

ACTION IN ART. N. Y., Cassell, 1894, $2.

An interesting book in very simple language, and with many slight illustrations. It would be useful for the student, as calling his attention to some of the conventional resources of the descriptive painter. A great deal may be learned from it of the way in which painters and illustrators work.

Beckwith, J. Carroll.

CAROLUS-DURAN: ÉDOUARD MANET.

Two articles of "Modern French Masters" (which see: The paper on Manet is peculiarly valuable as giving some familiar insight into the end sought by this, the first of the so-called Impressionists.

Bell, Mrs. Arthur (N. D'Anvers).

Masterphees of the Great Artists, a.d., 1400-1700, Hius. Loud., Geo. Bell & Sons. X. Y., Macmillan, 1805, $7,50.

Process plates of a number of the best known pictures in Europe are given in this volume; on their account it is well worth possessing. The text is of little importance, but names and dates, reasonably well verified, give every such book a certain utility. 750

Bell, Sir Charles.

ANATOMY AND PHILOSOPHY OF EXPRESSION AS CONNECTED WITH FINE ART. Ed. (Bohn.) N. Y., Macmillan, $1.50.

This celebrated book still retains its utility, its views should be compared with those in Hamerton's "Man in Art," Beard's "Action in Art," and Darwin's "Expression of Emotions in Man and Animals." The illustrations are deservedly esteemed 700

Bell, Malcolm.

SIR EDWARD BURNE-JONES. Lond., George Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, 1805, So.

First published in 1802; the present is the second edition. Burne-Jones is the chief living representative of that kind of painting which was once called Pre-Raphaelite, or, of its natural development. Differences of opinion as to the value of this artist's painting must, of course, exist and must be very positive and decided. This book represents his pictures and drawings as well as can be done in black and white and in about 100 illustrations. It is suggested that this book, Mr. Rhys's book on Leighton, and that of Baldry on Albert Moore, be compared, especially in their illustrations, as a good way of forming in idea of the great variety observable in modern English painting.

Benedite, Léonce.

Le Musée du Lunembourg. Avec gravures et 5 planches hors texte. Paris, Librairie d'Art, 1804, 18 fr.

The Museum of the Luxembourg is peculiarly important to students as containing what have been thought from time to time the masterpieces of French painting and sculpture. There are other works in which the treasures of this museum are engraved and described, but this is the most recent.

Benjamin, S. G. W.

ART IN AMERICA a Critical and Historical Sketch, N. Y. Harper, 1880. Out of print.

The appreciation of different artists and their peculiarities is worthy of praise. It is, therefore, valuable for a history of painting and sculpture in America during the years previous to 1800.

Beraldi, Henri.

LES GRAVEURS DU DIX-NEUVIÈME SIÈCLE, Paris, Morgand & Fatout, 1882, 3 v., 00 fr.

The numerous works intended for the guidance of the student and collector of ancient prints cannot be named in this catalogue. The old engravers in almost all cases are considered in special works both critical and biographical. This work on the artistic engravers of our own day has a peculiar utility in presenting the names, and works, of men who are not as yet so well known to the written history of art.

760

Berenson, Bernhard.

VENETIAN PAINTERS OF THE RENAISSANCE. With an index to their works N. Y. Putnam, 1805, $1.25

Mr. Berenson's works on art have made a remarkable impression on thinking people; the one betweens a little pamphlet of 80 pages, to which is added a classified list of the works of Venetian Masters occupying to pages more, the place where each picture is to be found being mentioned. It must be understood that the text of the book itself is not at all of the nature of a catalogue. It is a sympathetic examination into the history and true nature of Venetian painting. 759.5

THE FLORINGIN PAINTERS OF THE RINASSING With an index to their works, N. V., Putnam, 1806, $1.

A book in all respects like the "Venetian Painters" We are promised also two other similar volumes, one on the central Italian painters and one on the north Italian painters, thus making a treatise in four volumes on the painters of the Renaissance. 759-5

LORINZO LOTTO: an essay in constructive art criticism. N. Y., Putnam, 1805 $3.50.

The two books described above are small handbooks: the present one is a square octay by dunie of 450 pages, devoted to a close examination of the works of a little known painter who lived from (15 (10.17)).

This is a monograph of unusual merit, containing an amount or original research which few such books have required. It is illustrated by about as photographic plates, and text and illustrations together bring the student very close to the spirit of early Italian paining.

Bertrand, Alexis.

Françots R) (16. A. C.) - Paris, Librairie de l'Art. 1888, fr. 7,50.

Of this great sculptor there is an admirable notice in Hamerton's "Modern Frenchmen," given in this list. The present work is advened with some excellent illustrations of Rude's work and with two portraits of the man. There is no modern sculptor with whom it is easier to sympathize than Rude, and whose work has a greater charm.

Blackburn, Henry.

RANDOTPH CALDECOTT, a personal memoir of his early art career. Illus. N. Y., Routledge, 1866, §3.

Caldecott was one of the most original and vigorous of modern artists in book illustration. There is as yet no other biography of him than this very interesting and instructive book.

Blake, William, S.c Gilchrist, A.

Blashfield, E. H.

LEON BONNAT JEAN-PAUT LAUBENS.

Two papers forming part of "Modern French Masters," which see. The article on Bonnat contains a great deal of anecdote about artist-life in Paris, but has a great deal of artistine criticism mixed with it. In the case of Laurens the critic had the difficult task of criticism an artist who is too much of a story-teller, too much of a narrator, to be a perfectly sound and true modern painter, and also one who, as is here stated, has no power of representing movement, and who is still a man or produgious ability. In each of these cases we wish for a more tearless critical treatment. Mr. Blashfield's power as critic is fully shown in his edition of Vasari, which see, Bouchot, Henri.

La Lithougazint, (B. E. B. A.) Paris, Onaniu, 5 ft.

One of the books of an excellent series, and not inferior to the others. Even the reproductions, though on sessmall a scale, are of utility to the student. In their raphy, introduced during the first quarter of the present century, is an art as closely dependent upon the artist's own ever and hand as rething itself. It is greatly to be regretted that photography has caused a comparative abandonment of this art for popular illutration.

Bracquemond.

Dr. Dessin et die la Coutler. Paris, G. Charpentiet & Cie., 1885, 1r. 3.50.

Bracquemond is a painter who has given much attion to decorative art, and he is also an etcher of very widespread reputation. This volume is a tar more analytical treatise than those of his brother painters Conture and Fromentin, and is less imaginative and interesting; it is in fact a text-book from which much can be learned.

707

Brücke, Ernst.

THE HUMAN FIGURE: ITS BEAUTIES AND DE-LECTS. With preface by Wm. Anderson. Lond., II. Grevel & Co., 1891, 78, 6d.

A handbook calculated to be of very great use to student of figure-painting, as subject to be studied for enjoyment and cultivation. Whether any handbooks are of any use to the practical student of the figure is extremely doubtful. See what is said of Mr. Hatton's book in this list.

Bunner, H. C.

American Posters, Past and Present. In The Modern Poster. N. Y., Scribner, 1895.

In this paper Mr. Bunner has gone further back into a highly inartistic past than the authors of other articles in this volume. It is almost as interesting as history, though the pictures are reproductions of the ugliest possible originals—or half of them are.

740

Burckhardt, J.

THE CICERONE: PAINTINGS IN ITALY. Lond., Murray, 1879. Out of print. A French edition, Paris, Didot, 2 v., 25 fr.

Has been in use for years as a guide-book of the higher class much used by studions travellers in Italy. 708.5

Burne-Jones, Sir Edward. Sir Bell, Malcolm.

Caldecott, Randolph. See Blackburn, Henry.

Callot, Jacques. See Vachon, M.

Carpaccio. See Molmenti, P. G.

Carpeaux, J. B. See Chesnean, Ernest.

Cartwright, Julia (Mrs. Henry Ady).

Jules Bastien-Lepage. Portfolio Monograph, April, 1894. Lond., Sceley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 75 c.

Four splendid photo-engravings and a number of half-tones help in the notice of this great realist. See also Mr. Weir's paper in "Modern French Masters." 705

JEAN FRANÇOIS MILIET: HIS LIFE AND LET-TERS. Lond., Swan Sonnenschein & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 1896, §5.

The authoress has combined the information gathered from the books of Sensier and Piedagniel and much information from articles in the American magazines, together with a number of Millet's letters. The result is a very good and satisfactory treatise on the man; it may be thought that it is not made very clear what are the causes of the wonderful fascination which Millet's painting has exercised over his contemporaries. There are nine illustrations fairly successful in giving an idea of as many of the artist's masterpieces.

RAPHAEL. N. Y., Macmillan, 1805, 2 v., 75 c. each.

Made up of the Portfolio Monographs for Jan. and Aug., 1895; contains a brief record of Raphael's career, in which the attribution of paintings to himself and to others is based upon the best authorities; the general estimate is just. The needed illustrated work upon Raphael has not yet appeared; in the meantime the illustrations in this book, and in Karoly's Madonnas, taken with the text of this volume, serve a temporary purpose.

Cavallucci, C. Jacopo.

MANUALE DI STORIA DELLA SCULTURA. Turin. Ermanno Loescher, 6 lire.

A brief historical record with 80 valuable illustrations. See Selvatico, "Le Arti del Disegno," for the reason why books in Italian should be sought for and studied when they prove to be good. Italian sculpture in the Roman Imperial epoch was of importance in the history of art, and from 1250 to 1550, or thereabout, Italian sculpture stood at the head of all that was done in Europe, forming a body of art second only to that produced by the Greeks of the Great Period. The modern Italian view, when careful and critical, is especially to be asked to correct, or confirm, the conclusions of writers in French, German, and English.

Century Gallery.

SELECTED PROOFS FROM THE CENTURY MAGAZINE AND ST. NICHOLAS. N. Y., Century Co., 1803, $10.

A portfolio of proof impressions of wood-cuts. The art of wood-engraving has been developed in a peculiar way in the United States, an 1 the Century Magazine (called Serthner's Monthly before 1880 or 1881) has been especially the leader in this development. Compare the volumes described under Cole and Stillman and Cole and Van Dyke. This peculiar American woodengraving comprises much that is beautiful and truly artistic.

Chapin, Willis O.

Masters and Masterpieces of Engraving, N. Y., Harper, 1893, $10.

Both in its text and illustrations this book is useful to those who wish to begin the study of prints. The illustrations are reproductions in fac-simile, or reduced, of important prints in different kinds. Wood-engraving as well as engraving on metal is included. 769

Chapu. See Fidiere, O.

Chesneau, Ernest.

Artistes Anglais Contemporains; J. E. Millais, E. Burne-Jones, etc. Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1882, 25 fr.

See what is said of this critic under "L'Education de l'Artiste," in Part I. His criticisms of English art have been marked by an insight into its significance which is very surprising in a Continental author. 700

JOSHUA REYONLDS. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1887, fr. 3.50.

Chesneau has given an amount of attention to Enternative trace with a Continental student. The present analysis of the work of a painter who just missed greatness, and who will be a fascinating study as long as his pictures last, is to be recommended heyond most brief artistic biographies 700

LA PEINTURE ANGLAISE. Transl. by L. M. Etherington as THE ENGLISH SCHOOL OF PAINTING. Edited by John Sparkes, with a preface by Prof. Ruskin. N. Y., Cassell, 1805, 82.

See what is said of this excellent writer under other titles—the translation in this case is probably careful 759.2

LE STATUAIRE J. B. CARPEAUX, SA VIE ET SON ŒUVRE. Paris, Quantin, 1880, 25 fr.

One of the best of the monographs of recent artists, and fortunately not an expensive hook. Contains a number of valuable illustrations. If not the greatest of the French sculptors of our own time, Carpeaux is one of the most characteristic, powerful, and original. He is perhaps best known by the interesting fountain in the Gardens of the Luxembourg, where a group of four figures representing the four parts of the world support a well-imagined structure representing the astronomical sphere, and also by the group on the new opera house in Paris, "La Danse," which group was defaced by having ink thrown at it soon after its completion.

Child, Theodore.

ART AND CRITICISM: MONOGRAPHS AND STUD-IES. N. Y., Harper, §6.

A dozen papers about different detached phases of painting, ancient and modern, and a few words about sculpture. There is a serious lack of exact comprehension of art as a special and peculiar means of expression, and errors occur, hard to account for, but a good general impression can be got in each case. Good and well-chosen illustrations. The chapter on the Impressionists is very good.

704

'Clarac, Charles, Comte de.

Musée de Sculpture, antique et moderne; DESCRIPTION, HISTORIQUE ET GRAPHIQUE, DU LOUVRE ET DE FOUTES SES PARTIES. Paris, Texier, 1820-53, 320 fr. Out of print.

6 v. octavo of text. 6 v. oblong of plates. Contains outline drawings of several thousand works of sculpture, ancient and modern, including many which have never been in the Louvre. The text has historical value and tells what parts are restored though not easy to consult, it is of great value as a book of reference, since no other similar work exists. The student will, of course, not take these outlines as adequate representations of the works of art.

Clément, Charles.

Decames. (L.A.C.) Paris Librairie de l'Art, 1886, fr. 3.50.

A monograph on a painter so recent that he has not as yet reached his assured place in art. Information concerning such artists is especially difficult to obtain. A trustworthy biography; the illustrations are most characteristic, some of them being devoted to caricatures by the master.

Clement, Clara Erskine.

HANDBOOK OF CHRISTIAN SYMBOLS AND STO-RIES OF THE SAINTS AS HAUSTRATED IN ARL. Edited by Katherine E. Conway. Bost., Houghton, 1895, 82.

HANDBOOK OF LEGENDARY AND MYTHOLOGICAL Art. Bost., Houghton, 1895, $3.

These two books are intended to explain to those who study paintings representing. Christian legend the meaning of the symbols employed and the traditional history of the sainted person uses represented. In this respect, the books are like the works of Lord Lindsay and Mrs. Luncson. A really adequate treatise on this and Mrs. Jameson. A really adequate treatise on this subject would take the form of a great encyclopædic work of many volumes, and would involve an amount work of many volumes, and would involve an amount of study in preliminary investigation and arranging which it is probable that no one will undertake. Some iden of the necessary labor, cost, and time required for the work can be gathered by comparison with Rohault de Fleury's work, "La Messe," and its continuation, "Les Saints dela Messe," which two works extend to revolumes in quarto, with hundreds of large plates. Nor will it be possible, until such an exhaustive work shall have appeared, to prepare a handbook that shall be really trustworthy. In the meantime the books under consideration will not lead one very far astray, and will give at all events the commonly received explanation, which may often be all that is required. 703 tion, which may often be all that is required.

Coffin, William A.

American Illustrations of To-Day. Scribner's Magazine, Jan., Feb., and March, 1592.

These papers contain a great deal of sound discussion of the peculiar character of Hustration as a fine art, and of drawings not strictly Illustration which seem so or are called so because inserted in books and periodicals. See next title.

A Word About Painting. Scribner's Magazine, April, 1894.

Mr. Coffin is one of the very few painters who write about the art which they follow. He is a judicious crit e, not the slave of schools or of the opinions of his own allies and friends among artists. His writings may be studied with great profit.

Théodore Rousseau, Pascal Dagnan-Bou-

Two articles of "Modern French Masters," which

S.C. Mr. Coffin's critical work is of singular value; it is Mr. Coffin's critical work is of singular value; it is the control of the control to ind and yet easily intelligible. These two papers ded with one master of the late and one of the present generation, each famous and powerful, each of almost the highest rank.

Cole, Timothy.

OLD DUTCH AND FLEMISH MASTERS engraved by Timothy Cole; with critical notes by

John C. Van Dyke, and comments by the engraver. N. V., Century Co., 1895, 87, 50,

See what is said of Mr. Cole's wood-engraving under "Old Italian Masters." The notes by Mr. Van Dyke have been carefully prepared, and embody a good account of the painting of the Netherlands. See what is said of this writer under the titles of his other work Oth frattan Masrers engraved by Timothy Cole; with historical notes by W. J. Stillman, and brief comments by the engraver. N. Y., Century Co., 1892, 810.

The wood-cuts by Mr. Co'e from paintings in Italy were made in the presence of the paintings, and were made in the presence of the paintings, and are unique in two ways; they are among the very lightst achievements of wood-engraving; they render the originals with a sympathy and an essential truthfulness hardly ever reached in reproduction of any sort. This book and its mate, whose title precedes, constitute picture galleries of the highest value. Mr Stillman's notes are the work of a row Condition with Union partner. ure gatteries of the highest value. Mr Stillman's notes are the work of a man familiar with Itahan painting; they were prepared with care, and with a knowledge of the best and the most recent authorities. Notes are added by the engraver which ought to be carefully studied; there are other notes by Mr. C. F. Murray, who is at once a painter and a dealer, who is a recognized authority on Itahan painting. 708.5

Collignon, Maxime.

HISTOIRE DE LA SCULPTURE GRECOUF. Firmin-Didot & Cic., 1892, 30 fr.

Firmin-Didot & Cie., 1892, 30 fr.

Only the first volume has appeared of this excellent and, in a sense and for a time, final history of Greek sculpture. It deals with the art before the time of Pericles; but this, as the reader should remember, includes, by the common consent of archicologists, such perfected work as the Spear-bearer (Dorophoros) of the Naples museum; the Fillet-tur (Diadumenos) of the British Museum, the Amazon of the Vatican, the so-called Idolino of the Florence Gallery, the Dise-thrower (Discobolus) of the Palazzo Lancelotti, and other works of like importance. The sculpture of the temple of Zeus at Olympia, and that of the temple at Ægena, are here also, and of course, archate pieces such as the most interesting painted statues 6 and on the Acropolis in 1883 and 1886. The illustrations of all these are immerous and fine. If, therefore, the work should never be carried farther, it is complete within its limits and be carried farther, it is complete within its limits and of the highest value. See excellent notice in Amfournal of Archivelegy, Vol. VIII, p. 87.

Pumpras. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1550, fr. 3.50.

Has been translated into English by Miss Frothing-Has been translated into Engisso by Miss Frottingham. The original contains a number of fairly satsfactory illustrations. The reader should not forget that no single work of art which has been preserved can be said to be the work of Phidias, and that all treatises upon his art are in a sense conventional as being critical remarks upon a body of ancient sell-plur which the modern world has agreed to call Phidian for reasons which technics are sufficient. 736. for reasons which, Jerhaps, are sufficient.

Conway, Sir William Martin.

EARLY FLEMISH ARTISTS AND THEIR PRIDE-CESSORS ON THE LOWIR RHINE. Macmillan, 1887, $2.50.

A carefully compiled work on a subject which has always interested students. Compare works mentioned under Crowe and Cavalcaselle and King'er, as well as monographs on special artists. Many illustrations,

Cook, Edward T.

POPULAR HANDROOK OF THE NATIONAL GAL-N. Y., Macmillan, 1888. Out of LERY.

A model guide to a picture gallery, its point of view in criticism being at once admitted, and it is to be de-sired that every important collection should be cluci-dated and explained in a similar way.

dated and explained in a similar way.

Contains a great many extracts from Ruskin's works, has a preface by him, and might be assumed to be written from the critical point of view of that celebrated writer. That, however, so not entirely the case. The accounts of the different artist, and the remarks upon the quadries of their art are tuil of conditions and clear insight. There is also an attempt to a impare the opinions of competent critics.

708.2

Corot, Camille.

Petit Album classique des chiefs-d'ieuvre de Corot; 40 reproductions des principales œuvres du maître dans les musées ou collections particulières; texte par Roger-Miles. Paris and N. V., Braun Clément Cie., 1895, $1.50.

This inexpensive little collection of photographic reproductions gives forty pictures of the man whom many persons think the greatest landscape painter of modern times. Corot is hardly this, because his art is very limited in its character, but it is of unrivalled beauty in its chosen way. Although the charm of color is the greatest charm in Corot's pictures, they are still fine when translated in black and white, for their beauty of line and mass is unsurpassed.

759.4

Album du centenaire de Camille Corot, comprenant 50 photogravures d'après les principales œuvres du maître. Texte explicatif par Ch. Formentin et Roger-Miles, Études sonnets, poésies diverses, par les principaux écrivains et poètes. Paris and N. Y., Braun Clément Cie., 1805.

See what is said in next preceding note under "Petit Album classique des chefs-d'œuvres de Corot"; one of these books can be procured if the other cannot,

See also under Thomson, D. C.

759.

Correggio. See Ricci, C.

Courajod, Louis.

LES ORIGINES DE L'ART MODERNE, leçon d'ouverture du cours d'histoire de la sculpture du moyen age, de la Renaissance et des temps modernes, à l'école du Louvre, 1803-04. Paris, Leroux, 1804, fr. 3,50.

This, with the book next cited, forms part of a history of modern scuipture which will be of considerable value. It must be understood that the scuipture which has its centre in Paris and which forms a great school of art, very independent in its methods and original in some of its attainments, is as fully important as the corresponding school of painting. Sculpture is generally less popular than painting, but that only makes the study of it the more important to one who wishes to understand modern art. Mr. Couragod is well known as an archeological student in matters connected with the fine arts, and especially with the vast collections of the Louve.

L'HISTOIRE DU DEPARTEMENT DE LA SCULPTURE MODERNE AU MUSÉE DU LOUVRE. Paris, Leroux, 1804, fr. 3.50.

This book is to be considered in connection with the work named next above. 735

Conture, Thomas.

MÉTHODE ET ENTRETIENS D'ATEMER. Paris Published by the author, 1807, 7 fr.

Conture was a most able painter, concerning the quality of whose art there will always be great differences of opinion. He died in 1870, leaving behind him but little work, yet that little sure to command the closest attention from students of painting. He left two small books containing his impressions and opinions about his art; these would be of singular value to criticism even if the words of able painters were not so seldom recorded for our use.

751

Paysage. Entretiens D'atelier. Paris, Published by the author, 1869, 4 fr.

See next preceding note. 751

Cox, Kenyon.

PUVIS DE CHAVANNES: PAUL BAUDRY.

In "Modern French Masters," which see. Mr. Cox, who has given special attention to mural painting, and who is a practised and a very able writer on artistic subjects of many sorts, treats in these two papers the two men who are probably the most powerful painters of large compositions for decorative purposes of all the modern world.

Crowe, Sir Joseph A.

Handbook of Painting: the German, Flem-18H, and Dutch Schools, based on the handbook of Kugler. In two parts. Lond.. John Murray, 1889, 24s.

Almost entirely a new work, based upon the Waagen edition of Kugler but remade, with omissions and additions. There is no better book for the study of the earlier painting of the north of Europe. 759

Crowe, Sir Joseph A., and Cavalcaselle, G. E.

New History of Painting in Italy from the II. to XVI. Century. Drawn up from materials and recent researches in the archives of Italy, as well as from personal inspection of the works of art scattered throughout Europe. Lond., John Murray, 1866, 3 v., 63s. Out of print.

The four principal works by these authors, namely, those devoted to Italian art, are books which it is impossible to dispense with in any library devoted to fine art. They are very voluminous, the matter is not skilled the state of the same and the same been disputed by good judges. But there is no encyclopædia of Italian art which contains the result of so much labor and of so large and personal and immediate knowledge of the paintings themselves. The books are sometimes difficult to obtain and vague promises of revised editions have been made.

History of Painting in North Italy, Venice, Padua, Vicenza, Verona, Ferrara, Milan, Frull, Brescia, from the XIV. To the XVI, Century. Lond., John Murray, 1871, 2 v., 42s. Out of print.

See what is said of this and the other works by the same authors under "History of Painting in Italy." 759.5

RAPHAEL: HIS LIFE AND WORKS. Lond., John Murray, 1885, 2 v., 338.

See what is said of this and the other works by the same authors under "History of Painting in Italy." Apart from its value as an analysis of Raphael's art and an account of its relation to the art of his time, this is a most interesting and instructive book, at once a romance and a valuable piece of history.

Titian: His Life and Times, with some account of his family. Illus. Lond., John Murray, 1877, 2 v., 21s.

See what is said of this and the other works by the same authors under "History of Painting in Italy." There is comparatively little information in existence concerning the details of Titian's long life; this book is devoted mainly to his paintings, great ingenuity being shown in ascertaining the historical sequence of undated works. The changes in his style as a painter are followed up with great thoroughness. 750

The Early Flemish Painters; their Lives and Works. 2d ed. Illus. Lond., John Murray, 1872, 158. N. Y., Scribner, $6.

First published in 1857, reissued as a second edition in 1872 with valuable additions and an index. It treats more fully what is contained in the first volume of Crowe's edition of Kugler, named elsewhere, and is, perhaps, the best book on the subject. 759.9

Crowninshield, Frederick

MURAL PAINTING, Bost., Ticknor & Co., 1887. Out of print.

Devoted to an examination into the different processes used in painting on walls, that is to say, of large-scale painting in which decorative and expressional art are combined, and in which the artist has in view to provide a picture interesting to the public, although primarily of artistical value as a decorative composition. Encaustic painting, which was the art specially in use among the ancient Romans; tempera, or distemper, which was especially in use in the Middle Ages; fresco, or painting on wet plaster; painting on dry plaster; painting in oil, as on stretched canvas; and painting by the modern process of water glass, are all described and their methods explained with sufficient fulness to aid in a decision as to the method to be employed. Another chapter is devoted to the "education of the mural painter," and there are valuable notes. This work by a highly trained artist, who is also fanul-This work by a highly trained artist, who is also contain with the great work of the Italian cinque-eento and of modern Paris, and who has thought much and written powerfully on his own art, is valuable for others than the special students of mural painting.

750

Cundall, Joseph.

HANS HOLBFIN. (Great Artists Series.) Lond., Low, 1879, 3s. 6d. N. Y., Scribner, $1,25.

An instructive little book on the life of a great artist who lived in exciting times, with judicious comments on his work. It has been compiled from the larger work in German of Dr. Alfred Wortmann.

BRIEF HISTORY OF WOOD-ENGRAVING, FROM IIS INVENTION, Lond., Sampson Low & Co., 1895, 2s. 6d. N. Y., Scribner, $1.

An excellent account of the subject in the briefest An excellent account of the subject in the possible compass, and including about fifty well-selected 761

Cust, Lionel.

Albert Dürer's Engravings. Portfolio Monograph, Nov., 1804. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Maemillan, 75 c.

Dürer is one of the ten or a dozen artists whose work Durer is one of the ten or a dozen artists whose work appeals to every one and who are of all ages alike. This great quality is visible in his engravings; although the reproductions given in this volume of the splendid prints are not always as fine as they should be (those on pages 51 and 55 being notably defective), others, and especially the full-page plate, are very fine indeed. The text is biographical.

Dargenty, G.

LE BARON GROS. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1887, fr. 6.50.

Gros as a painter is less esteemed now than other men of his time; most readers would go to this biogra-phy rather as a contribution to the history of an important period. As the painter of the hig, old-fashioned historical picture, however, and that not without a decided ment of his own, Gros is worthy of some study by moderns. The present work is tolerably complete, and contains a list of his works as well as of his very numerous pupils, and a bibliography.

Darwin Charles Robert.

The Expression of Emotions in Man and Animals. Illus. N. Y., Appleton, 83.50.

Though written without any reference to fine art, well worthy of careful study and of comparison with such books as Bell's "Anatomy of Expression." Darwin's analysis of the nature of facial expression, and his interpretation of it as seen in men and animals, is marked by all the intelligent and suggestive insight and the absolute fairness of this illustrious writer. 138

Davillier, Baron Charles.

FORTUNY, SA VIE, SON ŒUVRE, SA CORRESPOND-ANCE. Paris, Auguste Aubry, 1875, 30 fr.

Fortuny was one of the most artistic of modern artists; a painter and etcher who, whatever the final judgment of his brother artists upon his work may prove to be, is certain never to be ignored by them. Four or five admirable reproductions, a number of his letters, and a brief and sympathetic discussion of his merits are contained in this book. The artist's life, balanced between France, Spain, and Italy, affords an interesting narrative. There is a smaller but still useful treatise on this artist in the series called "Les Artistes Célèbres," (Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 8 fr.)

Decamps. See Clément, Charles.

De Champeaux, Alfred.

Histoire de la peinture décorative. Paris. Laurens, 1890, 15 fr.

Perhaps the only general treatise on the subject except Mr. Crowninshield's—which is rather practical than historical. 750

Delaborde, Henri, In miter

A GRAVERE. (B.E.B.A. Paris, Quantin, 5 fr. Transl. by R. A. M. Stevenson as Engraving: The Origin, Progresses, and LA GRAVERE. History, N. V., Cassell, 1886, 82, Unit of print.

Treats the subject in a large way, taking a word engraving and typography; the area process, etc. mg, engraving with the burne, mezzotint, stopple, printing in color, etc., and an lasters at account 1 the art. A very useful book.

Gérard Edeliner. (L.A.C.) Paris, L. brairie de l'Art, tr. 6.50.

I defined was a consummate engraver of the times of Lonis XIV, and Louis XIV. Only collectors of prints know much about him, or much at the other artists of his time, and it is to: this reason that this book, with its many fac-simile illustrations, is included here.

Delacroix, Eugene. S. Veron, I.

Delaroche, Paul. S. Rees, J. Ruutz.

De Lostalot Alfred.

LES CHEES-D'CEUVEL DE L'ART AU XIX, SIÉ-CLET L'ÉCOLE FRANÇAISE DE DELACROIX À REGNAULE. Paris, Librairie Illustrée, Montgredien, 26 fr.

Belongs to the series cut dogued under the name; of Gonse, Lefort, Michel, and De Wyzewa. The epoch of painting covered by this volume may be put down or painting overed by this volume may be pit down roughly as 183 to 1870, thus covering the later works of Diaz. Couture, Delacroix, and Millet, and the earlier work of the men of our own time. It forms a part of the series of which Michel's book is the first, this ore the second, and Lefort's the third.

Del Sarto, Andrea. S.a Scott, Leader.

De Pontès, Lucien Davesiès.

ÉTUDES SURTA PEINTURE VÉNITIENNE. Paris, Levy frères, 1807, 3 fr.

The author of this book had undertaken a large and exhaustive treatise on Venetian painting, but his death prevented its completion. All that was put into shape of that proposed work is contained in this extremely suggestive volume.

Desjardins Abel.

LA VIE EL L'ŒUVRES DE JEAN BOLOGNE d'après les manuscrus inédits recueilles par M. Foucques de Vagoronville. Paris, Quantin, 1553, 100 fr.

This monograph, devoted to the works of the great artist, of which only one or two are commonly known artist, of which only one or two are commonly known to travellers and archeologists, is a large as disonewhat expensive work; its no tono pages and very numero is photographs and drawings are devoted, after al., to on artist of the second importance. This is the artist called in Italy Giovanni Bologna, and sometimes in English John of Douar, who is the author of the well-known. Mercury Alighting on Earth, "and seen poise to a moment on one foot, which is in the Unit Galery at Florence, and of the tamous bronze doors of the Cathedral of Pisa. The book is valuable for its consideration of the architectural and decorative conceptions of the artist, as well as his cenerally known statues. tions of the artist, as well as his generally known statue

Destrée. Olivier Georges.

The Renaissance of Scripture in Belgium. Portiolio Monograph, Nov., 1895. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 75).

One of the more important of the new "Portfolio" series, because introducing the reader to an art of which he might otherwise bear little. The art of Belg units in many ways a timing apart, the sculpture treated in this essay is not very valuable, a cording to the stand ards generally set upLES PRÉ-RAPHAÉLHES! notes sur l'art décoratif et la peinture en Angleterre. Bruxelles, Dietrich, 1805, 4 fr.

Valuable as giving the opinion of a Continental critic of influence on an art peculiarly English. 759.2

De Wyzewa, T.

LES CHEFS D'ŒUVRE DE L'ART AU XIX. SIÈ-CLE: La PEINTURE ÉTRANGÈRE. Paris, Librairie Illustrée, Montgredien, 26 fr.

One of the valuable series of five works catalogued under the names of Gonse, Lefort, De Lostalot, and Michel. This volume is injured by the attempt to make a readable book, written in a taking style, while the field which had to be gone over was much too vast for such treatment.

759

Didron, Adolphe Napoleon.

Manuel d'iconographie chrétien. Transl. by E. J. Millington as Christian econography: history of Christian art in the Middle Ages; with appendices and supplements by Margaret Stokes. (Bohn.) N. Y., Macmillan, 2 v., $3.

Deals with the traditional manner of representing the different personages of sacred history and legend as contained in a Ms. of the Byzantine Empire. It should be compared with the works by Guenebault, Mrs Jameson, and Lord Windsor, as showing the exact regulations which were laid down in writing for the guidance of painters of the traditional ages. The practice is described in the two English books especially; in the book before us the precepts are given positively.

Dobson, Austin.

WILLIAM HOGARTH, N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1891, $7.50.

A most sympathetic and just analysis of the merits of a great painter who lived in an inartistic time. Thanks to his engravings he will always be better known as a portrayer and satirist of the manners of his time than as an artist in the more limited sense. But Mr Dobson has done him justice in both capacities. There is also a smaller treatise by the same author in the "Great Artists Series," Lond., Low, 3s. 6d. N.Y., Scribner, $1.25.

Donatello. See Muntz, E.

Dupré, A. See Saunier, A.

Dürer, Albert. See Cust, Lionel; Ephrussi, C.; Scott, W. B.; Sweetser, M. F.; and Thausing, M.

Eastlake, Ladr.

HISTORY OF OUR LORD. See Jameson, Anna C.

Édelinck, Gérard. See Delaborde, Henri, Viconte.

Ephrussi, Charles.

ALBERT DÜRER ET SES DESSINS. Paris, Quantin, 1882, 70 fr.

The drawings by Dürer are of unusual relative importance, because of the firm delineation usual in his paintings and those of the German school to which he belongs. The illustrations in this book include what is equivalent to a considerable collection of these fine drawings, together with reproductions of some important paintings. Many of these prints are important photographic plates printed separately. Such a work as this may be considered as a considerable private gallery of works of art, with an intelligent comment far more full and detailed than even the best catalogues of the public museums. Mr. Ephrussi is a well-known collector and a writer who speaks with authority.

Etex, A. Sa Mangeant, P. E.

Farrar, Frederick W.

THE LIFE OF CHRISTAN REPRESENTED IN ART. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1894, $6. An attempt, similar to the one made by Lady Eastlake in her "History of Our Lord" (see under Jameson), to bring together an account of the works of art in which the incidents in the life of Christ are represented, whether Biblical or traditionary. Together with the history of the Saviour, there is some account of the representations of Old Testament incidents which were assumed to have relations to similar incidents of His history. There are many illustrations, and these will be found useful, though they are not of great peauty.

Fenollosa, E. F.

MURAL PAINTINGS IN BOSTON PUBLIC LI-BRARY. Bost., Curtiss & Co., 1896, 25 c.

A pamphlet designed for visitors to the Boston Public Library, describing the important wall-paintings completed in 1895 by Puvis de Chavannes, John S. Sar gent, and E. A. Abbey. The value of these paintings is well explained, but the tone of laudation is excessive.

Fidière, O.

CHAPU, SA VIE EN SON ŒUVRE. Illus. de 6 heliogravures et de 45 gravures en noir et en couleur. Paris, Plon, 1894, 12 fr.

An account of the life and work of an eminent French sculptor who died in 1891; the author of many of the most important monumental and other groups, portait statues, and ideal compositions in Paris and other cities of France.

Fisher, R.

Introduction to a Catalogue of the Early Italian Prints in the British Museum. Lond., 1880, 188. Out of print.

A brief introduction to the study of old prints which will be useful to many a beginner. 760

Forgues, Eugène.

GAVARNI, PAUL. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1887, 6 fr.

The greatest carricaturist of modern times, a student of character so brilliant and so profound that it is to be regretted that he ever turned his attention to caricature, has never yet been made the subject of an adequate biography. There are many works to which reference might be made, but this brief notice serves as well as any of them, and needs to complete it only the long list of his works for which there is, of course, no room in a popular manual. A number of Gavarni's drawings and several portraits of the artist are reproduced. 741

Förster, Ernst.

PAINTING AND SCULPTURE IN GERMANY. See Part I.

Fortnum, C. Drury E.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF THE BRONZES OF EUROPEAN ORIGIN IN THE SOUTH KENSING-TON MUSEUM. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1876, 28, 6d.

There is, perhaps, no book on European bronzes as vanuable as this. The long introduction of 210 pages is an excellent essay on the technical processes involved in the founding and finishing of bronze and the artistic history of its use. The catalogue which follows includes a great deal of valuable critical remark appended to the descriptions of the pieces. Twenty-five photographic plates represent some of the most important pieces of bronze work of the collection; and this collection, though not equal to some in Italy, has the advantage of being carefully made with pieces deliberately chosen.

Fortuny. See Davillier. Baron.

Fromentin, Eugène.

MATIRES D'AUTREFOIS: BELGIQUE, HOL-LANDE, Transl. as THE OLD MASTERS OF BELGIUM AND HOLLAND, Bost., Houghton, §3.

An admirable hook, full of soundest criticism. For a Life of Fromentin, see under Gouse, Louis. 759 9

Furtwängler, Adolf.

MASPERPHOES OF GREEK SOULPPORE - essays on history of art. Edited by Eugenie Sellers, with to full-page plates and 200 text illus. N. V., Scribner, 1805, 815.

This is a remaking in English, rather than a literal translation, of the important work in German of Prurtwingler. It is a study brought down to very lite date, of the latest conclusions of archeologists in regard to the best known names of the sculptors of antiquity and the existing works which may be assigned to them in originals or in copies; and also of the Venus de Milo and the Apollo of the Belvedere. An appendix of sixty pages contains a most interesting account of the buildings on the Acropolis at Athens. In all this long inquiry the theories advanced are often very bold, and some of them undoubtedly tail to be accepted as final truth; but the indue boldness of ascription, or dating, can do no harm except to a reader who is unaware that all assertions as to ancient art are more or less relative.

MEISTERWERKE DER GRIECHISCHEN PLASTIK. Kunstgeschichtliche Untersuchungen. 41lus. Leipzig und Berlin, von Giesecke & Devrient, 1893-85 marks.

See the rearranged translation of this book under the next preceding title, "Masterpieces of Greek Sculpture."

See a thorough review in American fournal of Archaelegy, Vol. IX., p. 220. 733 Gainsborough, T. See Armstrong, W.

Galland, P. V. See Hayard, H.

Gardner, Ernest A.

Handbook of Greek Sculpture. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1806, $1,25.

This is only half of the proposed work; it will be when completed the best convenient manual of Greek sculpture in existence. Written in a critical spirit, with large knowledge of archæological research.

Gardner, Percy.

Types of Greek Coins, an archaeological essay. Illus, Cambridge, University Press, N. Y., Macmillan, 88.

Not a treatise upon numismatics but an analysis of Greek comage considered mainly as a brain hol sculpture. Sixteen plates contain about 500 photographic reproductions of Greek coms chosen for their beauty, and these are classified according to the design, the emblem or figure, the head or group which forms their principal subject. Some of the tarest come and some of the commonest are given here, the attempt being to offer perfect specimens of the finest types, and to explain and discuss them.

Gavarni, Paul. See Forgues, Eugène.

Gilbert, Josiah.

LANDSCAPE IN ART BEFORE CLAUDE AND SAL-VATOR, Illus, Lond., John Murray, 1885, 308.

The value of this book to the student will be as an historical record of landscape painting in Europe from the backgrounds of medieval inmatures in books and mosaics down to Rubens, Claude Lorrain, and Salvator Rosa. The references to landscape treatment by sculptors in antiquity and artists of different kinds in the East are of but little value, and the citations from classical authors can aid the student but little in forming an idea of the Roman or Greek view of landscape 758

Gilchrist, Alexander.

LIFE OF WILLIAM BLAKE. New and enlarged ed., illus, from Blake's own works. Lond.. Macmillan, 1880, 2 v. Out of print.

William Blake must always be one of the most interesting figures in the history of art. This is the accepted work upon him and his art, including a life by a sympathetic biographer, his shorter poems, parts at least, of his larger works, and a great many reproductions of his drawings and prints, sometimes full-sized, sometimes reduced. Blake is the most interesting artist, of purely mystical habit of mind and practice, of all modern times.

Gonse, Louis.

Etain, Tromente, Partie and West, Transleby M. C. Robbins, Bost, Heart, fon, 1883, 53.

This book, although majors a Lie of Fromentic contains long passages of his critical work. To Chap. V are notes for fectures.

Les Chies-o'CF) victorio d'Arte ve XIX Stiett, La Solitifica de la Gravita d XIX, stiett, Paris, Labraire Illustrée, 2016.

This work belongs to the series of thogaed under the names of Lebort, D. Lostabit, Michel, and The Wyzewa. This volume may perhaps, be the most useful and the most welcome to American readers as containing an account of those arts of which they see the tests. The very important sculpture of the modern French school is treated here with great intelligence. The tone of criticism is very just, though with that tendency toward landation hard to avoid in treating the work of one's strongest contemporaries. There are twenty full page plates, some photographic, and nearly two hundred drawings in the text.

759

LA SCULPTURE FRANÇAISE DUPLIS DE XIV. SHCIP. Paris, Quantin, 1807, 60 H.

An historical account of French sculpture, beginning with the appearance of the Classical Laste in France, Late in the XY, century. For 65thic sculpture and the still earlier schools, the author's work, "L'Art Cothique," may be consulted. Beginning with the masters of the reign of Charles VIII, and Louis XII., the history unrolls itself to our own time, and includes artists who are still young men. The illustrations are of great beauty and value.

Gower, Levil Ronald.

FIGURE PAINTERS OF HOLLAND, (G.A.S.) Lond., Low, 1880, 38, 6d. N. V., Scribner, $1,25.

An interesting inquiry into a school of painting not much studied. Dutch landscape painting is the foundation of modern schools of that art, but the figure painting of the country is less considered than it should be Grahame, George.

CLAUDI LORRAIN, PAINTER AND LICHER, Portfolio Monograph, March, 1805. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. V., Macmillan, 75 c.

Valuable chiefly for illustrations of great beauty. In the valuable monograph by Mrs. Mark Pattison now Lady Dilke) no one of the numerous illustrations is comparable for beauty and a curacy to some of these.

Gros, L. Baren, S. Dargenty, G.

Gruyer, F. A.

LA PEINIURE AU CHAPTAU 10 CHANTHIY, V. I. Écoles étrangères, avec 40 héliograyures, Paris, Plon, 1805, 40 fr.

The collections at Chantilly have doubled in value to the world at large since the Duc D'Aumale's magnificent gift of the palace and its contents to the people of France. This book gives in portable form some, at least, of the valuable pactures incoded in the collection, Most of them will be new to the student; the study of art can be pursued with added material now that they are made accessible.

759.4

VOYAGE ACTOUR DU SALON CARRÉ AC MUSÉL DU LOUVRI, Paris, Firmin-Didot & Cie., 1804, 65 fr.

A collection of fine photographic plates of the most important pictures in the famous Square Room of the Louvie Gallery. It is as a collection of works of art that this book is to be bought, but the printed comment is not without its value to students.

759

Guiffrey, Jules.

Antoini Van Dyck, sa vii ett son gruvre, Paris, Quantin, 1883, 100 fr.

The second edition of a book printed in 1881 in folio with etchings. In the absence of a thoroughly critical life of Van Dyck, this book has its value, although the work by Michiels is, perhaps, more full in its account of the artist's work. Illustrated with about 100 prints, of which about one-third are separate plates and of 750.0 which a large number are photographic.

Haden, Francis Seymour.

THE ETCHED WORK OF REMBRANDE. Lond., Macmillan, 1870. Out of print.

Originally a preface to the catalogue of the fine col lections of Rembrandt's made for exhibition by the Burlington Fine Arts Club, in 1877 The catalogues of the Club are practically out of reach of the purchasing public, this preface was printed by itself as being of permanent value—Its peculiarity is that its author dis-putes the authenticity of many prints ordinarily ascribed to the great master

About Etching. Part I. Notes on a collection of etchings and engravings by the great masters lent by Mr. Haden to the Fine Art Society to illustrate the subject of etching.

An annotated catalogue of the examples exhibited of etchers' and painterengravers' work, illus, with an original etching by Mr. Haden and 15 fac-similes of etchings. Lond., The Fine Art Society, 1579. Published at 21s., offered by Batsford, London, 18s.

An admirable corrective of some of the too hasty conclusions drawn by writers on engraving and on rare prints. Mr. Haden is a practical etcher of the most refined taste and with great practical skill. He has made a very large collection of the finest prints which can possibly be obtained, of which he is an enthusiastic

The fifteen illustrations are the most admirable fac-similes of ancient prints which are known to the present The originals of these are among the and most precious prints in existence; the copies here given are deceptive in their accuracy, except that in, at least, one instance, the copy is slightly enlarged. 767

Hamerton, Philip G.

Article Drawing, Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

A very instructive paper on the drawing of different epochs and different nations, with valuable critical remarks.

Article Engraving, Encyclopædia Britannica. oth ed.

Very full and instructive.

These two articles have been brought together with additions, and made into a volume under the title "Drawing and Engraving," which see next below.

Drawing and Engraving, with Numerous Illustrations. N. Y., Macmillan, $7.

Consists of the author's articles in the Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed., with some additions, and with plates which greatly increase its value. 760

ED HING AND ETCHERS. Bost., Roberts, $5.

First published in 1866, at a time when the art of etching was being taken up by many painters and many engravers. The first edition, and a third one of 1880, were costly illustrated books. A second and cheaper edition, with illustrations especially meant for students, came out in 1876, but still costs a gninea. It is extremely valuable as at once a treatise on the practice of the art and a history of its development from the 18th century to date.

The Graphic Arts. Bost., Roberts, $2.

A series of descriptive and analytic chapters on the different processes of drawing, painting, and engraving, mainly practical; devoted exclusively to those who wish to learn how those line arts are practised, what their necessary limitations are, etc. these persons only can ever obtain any real sense of fine art. The English edition contains many fine illustrations, and is costly catalogued, unpriced, by Seeley & Co., London). The Boston edition, without the illustrations, is also valuable. A series of descriptive and analytic chapters on the MAN IN ART. STUDIES IN RELIGIOUS AND HIS-TORICAL ART, PORTRAIT AND GENRE. 11lustrated by etchings and photogravures. N. Y., Macmillan, $30.

Extends the subject treated in "The Graphic Arts," and analyzes the art of different times and nations with reference to the way in which the human body and the human face expressions have been treated. This book is named in the belief that a cheaper edition may ap-

Landscape. Bost., Roberts, $2.

Continues the subject treated in "The Graphic Arts," and contains a very full account of landscape art, its purpose and history, and its character as practised by different nations at different times. The original edition has about fifty large illustrations. (N.Y., Macmillan, $35).

Modern Frenchmen. Bost, Roberts, $2.

Contains biographies of François Rude, the sculptor, and Henri Regnault, the painter, excellent lives of very distinguished men, and useful to the student of art as artists understand and feel it. 924.4

LIFE OF J. M. W. TURNER. Bost, Roberts, $2.

In the discussion of the work of this great master many valuable truths about fine art are explained and insisted on. The life of this artist, exclusively devoted to his art, is very instructive.

IMAGINATION IN LANDSCAPE PAINTING. Bost., Roberts, $2.

It is important to understand the relation which the artist's mind plays in the development of landscape art, for students are apt to suppose that in this art at least simple copying of nature is nearly everything Mr. Hamerton made a careful study all his life of this important subject; his conclusions are set forth in this interesting book, which contains a number of very valuable illustrations.

THE ETCHINGS OF REMBRANDT. Portfolio, Jan., 1894. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 75 c.

A well arranged and useful account of a subject which the author has made peculiarly his own. The illustrations are numerous and very good. In connection with this may be read Mr. Binyon's account of "Dutch Etchers of the XVII. Century," Portfolio, Sept., 1805. The two books form a good introduction to the subject of mathematical programmer in the north 1767. to the subject of metal engraving in the north,

Harper, Charles G.

ENGLISH PEN ARTISTS OF TO-DAY; examples of their work, with some criticisms and appreciations. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1892, $20.

As a collection of reproductions of contemporary work in black and white, this book is to be compared with Pennell's larger work mentioned below. The rewith Pennell's larger work mentioned below. The reproductions are perhaps even superior in Mr. Harper's book. Of this, as of the other work, it is to be said that the admirable illustrations would be more generally interesting, and even more useful for serious study, if their original purpose and intention had been explained.

Harrison, Jane E.

Introductory Studies in Greek Art. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, $2.25.

Not a history nor a classified account of different schools, but an essay on the spirit and meaning of Greek Sculpture. The author states that she is trying to express the ideality which she finds in Greek Art, but it is a mistake to assume that ideality was inknown in the art of other ancient peoples, however superior may have been that of the Greeks. 709.38

Hatton, Richard G.

FIGURE DRAWING AND COMPOSITION. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1895, 98.

A useful guide for the student, not of art as a pur-suit to be followed, but of works of art to be studied as we study literature. The difficulties in the way of the figure draughtsman and the conventions a lopted by artists are well explained

The great difficulties which attend the right drawing of the human figure are well for even the theoretical student of art to understand; this book is capable of giving to such a student a sense of what figure drawing really is.

Havard, Henry.

La Peinturf Hollandaise. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.—Transl. by G. Powell as The Dutch School of Painting, N.Y., Cassell, 1885, $2.—Out of print,

A very good brief history of that great school of painting upon which English painting is mainly founded, and which has strongly influenced French painting of the XVIII and XIX centuries. The critical remarks are generally useful as guides. 759.9

L'ART ET LES ARTISTES HOLIANDAIS. Paris Quantin, 1879, 2 v., 40 fr.

A treatise on the art of Holland larger than the handbook of the B. E. B. A series and devote I to offer arts as well as to painting. At one time of his life Mr. Havard made a special study of the Low Countries, making several journeys in the less known part of the country and studying the people and their ancient monuments of art with much thoroughness. 759.9

L'ŒUVRE DE P. V. GALLAND. Avec près de 200 planches médites. Paris, Quantin, 1895. 60 fr.

Pierre Victor Galland was a decorative artist of very high rank; a man who knew how to combine painting and the other fine arts in the decoration of a large or small apartment or a series of rooms or balls, and who made this his principal study, while at the same time he was a modeller and a painter of easel-pictures of merit. In English-speaking countries this use of all the fine arts together in the ornamentation of huddings is so little studied that the work of such an artist is apt to be underrated. It is the more important that Americans should inform themselves of the ways of work in a country of such superior achievement as modern France.

759.4

Heaton, Mrs. Charles.

Concise History of Painting. New ed. revised by Cosmo Monkhouse. (Bohn.) N. Y., Macimillan, 1893, $1.50.

The most valuable of the older small histories of panting. Mrs. Heaton's book has been entirely revised, both as to matters of fact and date and as to critical appreciation. During the aftern years between its first appearance and the publication of the present edition both the history and criticism of art had been greatly remade. This new material has been well used by the editor.

Hemans, Charles Isidore.

A HISTORY OF MEDITIVAL CHRISTIANITY AND SACRED ART. Lond., Williams & Norgate, 1872, 2 v., 188.

The work of an enthusiastic student of what is called seared art in Italy; that is to say, the painting which has Biblical or legendary church history for its subject, or which is in some kin Ired way connected with the service of the church. The book is interesting, and capable of giving much aid to students in the way of suggestion and food for thought, and can hardly lead them astray.

Hiatt, Charles.

Picture Posters. Illus. Lond., George Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, 1895, §3.

The poster, or the illustrated placard, as the title page has it, has not always been a study in strong colors in flat tints. There have been many different attempts at pictorial art applied to advertisement; the value of this book is, that it gives somewhat adequate illustration of many of these different styles of work. Well up to date.

See Nation, Nov. 28, 1895, p. 388.

Hitchcock, J. R. W.

Eleming in America, N. Y., White, Stokes & Allen, 1886. Out of print.

Speaks judiciously of the beginning of eiching in America. The art was more in vogue before the date of this book than it has been since, but the pause in its practice and influence can only be temporary. 767

Hogarth, William. See Dobson, Austin.

Holbein, Hans. S., Cundall, J., and Mantz, P.

Homes in City and Country.

By Russell Sitegis, John W. Roof, Bruce Price, Donnie G. Milchill, Symthe Presons, Jr., and W. A. Linn, Hus. N. Y., Scribner, 1803, $2.

The articles in this book are mentioned under the names of their authors. The first article deals with the plan and arrangement of the city house rather than with architectural designing.

Höpfner, Th.

DIE HURIGEN IN 19ER CHRISTHICHEN KUNST, Leipzig, Breitkopt & Härtel, 18-14, marks 5-50.

A creatise on Christian iconography, to be compared with the works of Lord Lindsay, Mrs. Jameson, Canon Farrar on the "Life of Christ," Didron, and others. It is good to study this subject from the German standpoint.

Humphreys, H. Noel.

Coin Collector's Manual Guide to the Numismatic Student in the Formation of a Cabinet of Coins, Illus. (Bohn.) N. Y., Macmillan, 2 v., §3.

There are many large and thorough studies of numeromatics, both in English and other languages, but the supply of inexpensive books and of those that may serve as introductions to the subject is very inadequate. This book is almost confined to the Greek and Roman coins; only 150 pages are given to the whole field of post-classic Europe. There is a great deal to be learned from it, however, and it contains a number of illustrations. See also Lenormant, and for classical antiquity, Gardner.

Hunt, William M.

TAIKS ON ART. First and second series. Bost., Houghton, 2 v., $2,

Scattered remarks noted down by a pupil of a very able painter who devoted himself also to teaching. Such notes, separated from their context of direct personal instruction and daily intercourse, can have no value except as suggestions and as stimulus to thought, in this respect these books are useful.

Jaccaci, August.

HAMAN POSTERS AND MUSIC-BOOK COVERS, In "The Modern Poster," N. V., Seribner, 1895.

Completes the work of which the other three parts are noticed under Alexandre, Spielman, and Bunner The five illustrations given are from designs by Bignaun, Purrati, Mora da Hohenstein, Menta, and Sortons They are of high finish and great feldoration; very different from anything of the modern French's shool and proportionately interesting to the student Mr. Jaccaer has allowed lumselt but a few words in which to explain the peculiarities of this branch of Italian art.

Jackson, John.

TREATISE ON WOOD-ENGRAVING, HISTORICAL AND PRACTICAL Lond., Charles Knight & Co., 1830; H. G. Bohn, 1861. Out of print.

Has been the standard for many years, the first edition having been printed in 1839, and the subsequent changes being, in the main, additions of new matter not worked into the body of the text. It is less critical than a work of to-day would have to be to claim not text, but it contains a great body of valuable information, with many i lustrations. Helpful if used in connection with the smaller but more technically exact books mentioned under the names of Cundall and Lindon. 761

Jameson, Mrs. Anna.

SACRED AND LEGENDARY ART; edited with additional notes by Estelle M. Hurll, abundantly illustrated with designs from ancient and modern art. Bost., Houghton, 1804, 2 v., $2.50, cr 86.

Mrs. Jameson's work on the treatment of Biblical and legendary persons in Christian art was intended to be a single book under the one name." Sacred and Legendary Art." This title, however, is practically limited to the first two volumes, which deal with the angels, the persons of the New Testament, except the Saviour, the Virgin and the Saints, whose legends are thought to be of the wilest interest, such as the Virgin Martyrs, the Early Hermits, the Doctors of the Church, etc. The legends of the Madonna form another volume, and the legends of the Monastic orders a fourth. Finally Mrs. Jameson's notes for a similar history of the Saviour as represented in art were taken up by Lady Eastlake, who completed the work. The first four volumes have been reprinted with revision by Estelle M. Hurll.

This work is excellent for reference in the matter of recognizing a sacred personage by his attributes as given in a picture, and as to the proper way of representing feach personage. The historical part, the record of the growth of the legends and the changes in them, is very imperfect, but no better book is readily accessible. The author had no great knowledge of art, and her criticisms are of little value. Compare what is said of Lord Lindsay's book. Mrs. Jameson's work on the treatment of Biblical Legends of the Madonna; edited with additional notes by Estelle M. Hurll, abundantly illustrated with designs from ancient and modern art. Bost., Houghton, 1894, $1.25, or $3.

See what is said above under "Sacre I and Legend-709 cry Art.

LEGENDS OF THE MONASTIC ORDERS; edited with additional notes by Estelle M. Hurll, abundantly illustrated with designs from ancient and modern art. Bost., Houghton, 1504, $1.25, or $3.

See what is said above under "Sacred and Legendary Art.

HISTORY OF OUR LORD AS EXEMPLIFIED IN Works of Art. Edited by Lady Eastlake. 2d ed. N. V., Longmans, 1865, 2 v., $8.

See what is said above under "Sacred and Legendary Art." This book has been carried further in the way of illustration, and is also much more elaborate and more of a permanent work on the subject than any other of Mrs. Jameson'streatises. It includes accounts of the fall of man, much of the Old Testament history, with the record of John the Baptist in art, the Murder of the Innocents, etc.; and finally a certain amount of legendary matter such as that concerning the Sibyls, the history of the Virgin and St. Joseph. 232 Memoirs of Early Italian Painters; thoroughly revised and in part rewritten by Estelle M. Hurll, with 62 portraits. Bost., Houghton, 1892, $1.25, or $3.

Original'y of little value. The changes made in this new edition are improvements in general; the book is one of a number which serve a certain purpose in relating the better known facts about a famous body of men.

750.5

Jones, H. Stuart.

SELECT PASSAGES FROM ANCIENT WRITERS IL-LUSTRATIVE OF THE HISTORY OF GREEK SCULFIURE; with translation and notes. N. Y., Macmillan, 1895, $2.25.

Overbeck's "Antiken Schriftquellen zur Geschichte der bildenden Künste bei den Greichen," published in 1868, was an attempt to give all the passages in the extant works of ancient writers and inscriptions which bear on Greek art. The present work is a selection of the most important and most interesting of these passages, with the aldition of some which have been discovered more recently. The use of such a book is mainly to show the student how slight and vague is the knowledge we can obtain from the famous writers of antipolic constraints of the famous writers of a state of the state o antiquity concerning works of fine art, and in this way to elucidate modern archicological methods.

Justi, Karl.

Diego Velazquez and His Time. Transl. by Prof. A. H. Keane, and revised by the author. Lond., H. Grevel & Co. Phil., Lippincott, 1889, &8.

Justi's boo's, in the German, is a standard of excellence in careful biography of an artist. This edition purports to be a close translation of it, and has a few valuable illustrations. The book is called tedious and hard to read consecutively, but it will not be found so by a person interested in this man, one of the two or three greatest painters of all times. Mr. Stevenson's essay should be read in connection with it if possible.

759.8

Karoly, Karl.

Guide to the Paintings of Florence: a Complete Historical and Critical Account of All the Pictures and Frescoes in Florence, with Quotations from the Best Authorities; Short Notices of the Legends and Stories connected with them or their Subjects; and Lives of the Saints and Chief Personages represented. Illus. Lond., George Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, 1803, $1.50.

The scope of this book is even fuller than that of its companion, "The Paintings of Venice." Compare what is said of that book.

GUDE TO THE PAINTINGS OF VENICE: an Historical and Critical Account of all the pictures in Venice, with Quotations from the best Authorities; and Short Lives of the Venetian Masters. Illus. Lond., George Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, 1895, $1.50.

The title explains the object of this book. Its ob-The title explains the object of this book. Its obvious fault is in the use of criticisms by writers taking absolutely contrary views of art, and by some writers who have given no attention to art at all, so that the standard of judgment applied to one picture is not that applied to another. John Ruskin, Crowe and Cavaleaselle, Sir H. A. Layard, Sir A. Hume, W. D. Howells, Charles Blanc, Mrs. Oliphant, Bernhard Berenson, and Sir Charles Eastlake—it is only necessary to mention such a list of sources to show how valueless is the comparative criticism obtained. Historically and as a work of reference the book has great value. 708.5

Raphaël's Madonnas and Other Great Pictures; reproduced from the original paintings, with a life of Raphaël, and an account of his chief works. Illus. Lond., Geo. Bell & Sons. N. V., Macmillan, 1894.

The plates in this volume, numerous and good, give an excellent idea of so much of Raphael's art as is apart from his great wall-paintings. Those wall-paintings are of course the really immortal and in their way unequalled part of his work; but the easel-pictures, and especially the Madonnas, will always be most generally popular. Compare what is said of the work of Julia Cartwright above.

Keene, C. S. Sa Layard, G. S.

Koehler, S. R.

ETCHING. An outline of its technical processes and its history, with some remarks on collections and collecting. Illustrated by 30 plates by old and modern etchers, and numerous reproductions in the text. N. Y., Cassell, $20.

"A sumptuous volume."

La Farge, John.

Considerations on Painting: Lectures given in 1803 at the Metropolitan Museum of New York. N. Y., Macmillan, 1805, $1,25.

The reader of these lectures will tell a certain dis-The reader of these lectures will test a certain disappointment when he notices that he lorgets the contents of one page as he bigns the next, and that it is very hard to recall the thread of thought or even the general plan of a lecture. The style is picturesque and vivid, and the book is as interesting as writing upon such a subject can possibly be made; therefore the reader will find that easy and pleasant which it is altogether advisable to un lettake—namely, the careful rerealing of the text. To Mr. La Farge, an accomplished artist in the maturity of his powers, and a life-long artist in the maturity of his powers, and a life-long student of the theory of art, there is nothing so positive in art-criticism or art-laws that it can be stated sharply in a few words. Profound truth in fine art has to be suggested, not asserted, and the student must fit his must be considered to the life point of the considered to the life point. his mind to grasp the full value of the suggestions here.

Lafenestre, Georges.

LA PEINTURE ITALIENNE. (B.E.B.A.) Vol. I. Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

Only the first volume of this valuable handbook has appeared. It includes the history to the close of the XV, century. The illustrations are singularly well chosen, and, in spite of their small size, very instructive. 759.5

Lafenestre, Georges, et Richtenberger, Eugene.

LE MUSÉE NATIONAL DU LOUVRE. Paris, Quantin, 10 fr.

A volume of 330 pages, with 100 photographic plates, of no great merit. It is devoted entirely to a catalogue of the paintings in the Museum, arranged according to the Galleries, and made accessible by an index in which the artists' names are alphabetized under the different schools. It is wholly a work of reference, but as each title is accompanied by a description of the picture and a brief sketch of its history, the book is useful to all who are studying rapiding in any systematic way. a brief sketch of its distory, the block is who are studying painting in any systematic way, 708.4

LA PEINTURE EN EUROPE. Paris, Quantin, 1895.

Under this general title a series of hooks are appearing, one of which, that having to do with the Louvre, is described above. That on Belgium and that on Florence have also appeared (Oct., 1890). 10 fr. each.

Landseer, Sir Edwin. See Sweetser, M. F.

Lanzi, L'Abbé Luigi.

HISTOIRE DE LA PEINTURE EN ITALIE. Paris, H. Seguin, 1824, 5 v. Out of print.

This celebrated writer wrote before the foundation of modern archæological science; his work needs to be checked by later and more severe investigators. This book, however, remains a classic. The French transbook, however, remains a classic. The cremen classic lation is much better known than the Italian original. 759.5

Layard, George Somes.

LIFE AND LETTERS OF CHARLES SAMUEL KEENE. Lond., Sampson Low, 1892, 128, 6d.

This life of the great artist in black and white, the best man, probably, that ever worked for Punch, should be compared with the "Life of Caldecott," by Henry Blackburn, and Spielman's "History of Punch." Charles Keene was a man of great and peculiar genius, and the reader will understand that the fact of his work being in small and black pictures instead of large and colored ones in no way lowers their standard as works of original genius.

Lecomte, Georges.

L'Art Impressionniste d'après la collec-TION PRIVÉE DE M. DURAND-RUEL. 30 Eaux-Fortes, pointe-sèches et Illustrations dans le texte de A. M. Lauzet. N. Y., Durand-Ruel, 1892, $10.

It is, perhaps, too early to compose a general treatise on "Impressionism." This volume contains an account of the leading painters of that school, Degas, Manet, Mone, Pissaro, Sisley, and others, and the sculptor Rodin. Illustrations in black and white can give but a slight idea of the paintings which they are supposed to represent. It is desirable, therefore, that a cheaper edition without the illustrations, should be offered. Moreover, as the artists who have built up this powerful school are still for the most part living, better works on the general subject may be expected: this powerful school are still for the most possible there works on the general subject may be expected; but every student of art ought to know something of impressionism, for there is no school of our day so original, and few so powerful and suggestive. 759.4 original, and few so powerful and suggestive.

Lecoy de la Marche, Albert.

Les Sceaux. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 1550, 5 fr.

The study of scals is closely akin to that of coins and medals. It is to be observed that the sculptor in either case engraves in the hollow or in the sunken die, either case engraves in the hollow or in the sunken die, in intaglio—as the phrase is taken from the Italian. In the case of seals the impression is taken from this die in some soft material; in the case of corns and medals it is taken in metal and with very great pressure. Historically seals are of great value in the way of dating other important works of art, because they very commonly bear the exact date of their execution, or lacking this, they often contain portraits of sovereigns, with their names and titles, and are thus capable of with their names and titles, and are thus capable of being dated accurately. They are valuable also for costume, including armor and royal, noble, and clerical insignia. Compare what is said of Mr. Demay's book in Part IV.

Lefort, Paul.

LES CHEES-D'ŒUVRE DE L'ART AU XIX, SIÈ-LA PEINTURE FRANÇAISE ACTUFILIE. Paris, Montgredien, Librairie Illustrée, 26 fr.

Belongs to the series catalogued under the names of Gonse, De Lostalot, Michel, and De Wyzewa. It is a very good account of French painting from about 1870 to the present time. During these years very important growth and development has marked the state of painting in France, and the reader is reminded that the more recent the artists, the less is to be found engaging them said that the more recent the artists, the less is to be found or grown at the reader to the artists. found concerning them and their works in the accessible books of reference.

LA PEINTURE ESPAGNOUE. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

Undoubtedly the best account of Spanish painting procurable in a very small volume and at a low price. It begins with the Manuscript decoration of the early Middle Ages. Its tone of criticism is just and equable, 759.6

(L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de VFLASQUEZ. l'Art, 1888, fr. 8,50.

Mr. Lefort has given special attention to Spanish painting, and this brief biography of Velasquez is worthy of careful comparison with the more recent works by Armstrong and Stevenson, and the larger ones by Justi and Maxwell.

Leighton, Sir Frederick. See Rhys. E.

Lenormant, François.

Monnages et Médahles. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

By an archeologist of excellent standing, recently deceased. He had given especial attention to numismatics and the study of medallions, and is the author of important works on these subjects. See also Hum-

Leonardo. See Richter, Jean Paul, and Sweetser, M. F.

Lindsay, Lord.

Sketches of the History of Christian ART. Lond., Murray, 1886, 2 v., 24s.

This work, which was intended to treat of the religious meaning and the sentiment of Italian painting, was never carried beyond the time of Fra Angelie. Its tone of discussion is extremely delicate and just. It is to be compared with such a book as Rio's, and, for its account of Christian myths, and their significance, with Mrs. Jameson's.

Linton, W. J.

Wood-Engraving: A Manual of Instruction. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, §3.

By one of the most able and truty artistic engiascis of modern times on his own art, its technicalties and true nature, and its history. Mr. Linton is one of those very few artists who know how to write upon art. In reading his work one learns not only much about wood-engraving but also much about art as the artist sees it. By one of the most able and truly artistic engravers

Lorrain, Claude. Sc. Grahame, G., Michel, Emil; Pattison, Mrs. Mark, and Sweetser, M. F.

Low, Will H.

A CENTURY OF PAINTING. McClure's Magazinc. N. Y., S. S. McClure Co., 12 nos.,

This series of papers began Dec., 1895, was continued to Oct., 1896, inclusive, and concluded Apr., 1897. It forms a consecutive account of the painting which has its centre in Paris during the hundred years ending in 1800 or thereabout. Mr. Low is an American painter for reputation and ability, of Parisian teaching but now for many years a resident of New York. His articles are illustrated by a great number of tolerably successful half-tone prints 759.1

Jean Léon Gérôme Maurice Bouter de Monvel.

In "Modern French Masters."

Very careful reading will interpret Mr. Low's guarded expressions of opinion, which opinion is altogether worth having when it is found. That Gerome is not much of a painter but a very powerful illustrator, that is, a story-teller and even a historian in line and one place very plantly. As for the less known artist who, although working as an illustrator, is really an artist pure and simple, Mr. Low's paper is almost the only information about him which is easily accessible; accuracy and precision of statement leave nothing be desired. 759.4 its accuracy a to be desired.

Lübke, Wilhelm.

DER ITALIENISCHEN MALEREI. Geschichte. Stuttgart, Ebner & Seubert, 1878, 54 marks.

First published in 1878; does not replace any of the other rather numerous works on the same subject, but has its value, and should be added to a library at all rich in works on Fine Art.

735

Macklin, Rev. Herbert W.

MONUMENTAL BRASSES. Illus. Lond., Swan Sonnenschein & Co., 1800, 3s. 6d. N. Y., Macmillan, 81.25.

England is richer than the countries on the countries on the countries of the engraved metal plates which formed the mediaval tombs. These most ornamental part of mediaval tombs. These plates are deeply engraved with figures of knights in their armor and ladies in their more splendid dresses; the study of the history of costume owes much to them. The inscriptions are often of historical interest and the engraying, though simple, is well worthy of study as a branch of the decorative art of the time.

Mangeant, P. E.

Antoine Eien, Peintre, Sculpteur et Ar-chiffete, Versailles, P. E. Mangeant, 1895.

Etex is the celebrated sculptor of one of the great groups on the Arc de l'Etoile. He is far better known as a sculptor than in any other way; his active career as a sculptor than in any other way; ms across calls lasted through the reigns of Louis Philippe and Napo-

Mantz, Paul.

HANS HOLBEIN: Dessins et gravures sous la direction de Edouard Lièvre. Paris, Quantin, 1879, 100 fr.

This Lafe of Holbein is by a competent writer; the illustrations are very numerous and useful, though not generally photographic. Mr. Lievre is well known as an etcher of merit who has made it his peculiar task to reproduce with extreme accuracy ancient works of art, especially decorative pieces. His training has fittel him well for producing the close copies required for Holbein's paintings and drawings.

François Boucher, Lemoyne et Natoire, Paris, Quantin, 1880, 100 fr.

Boucher is the best known of the painters of the reign of Louis XV. His pictures form an important part of the rich decoration of the interiors which we now call "rococo" and "Pompadour", they appear as panels above doors or in the large coves at the top of walls, as well as separately framed like what are called easel-pictures. He is eminently a decorative artist, and the dainty ornament of the time would hardly have been all that it was without his aid. The illustrations to this volume are very numerous, mostly etchings after the artist's paintings, though a few are his original work. Lemoyne and Natoire are less known artists of the same period. By far the greater part of this volume and nearly all the illustrations are devoted to Boucher.

Marquand, Allan, and Frothingham, Arthur

HISTORY OF SCULITURE. N. Y., Longmans, 1890, $1.50.

One of the Series of College Histories of Art see under Hamlin and Van Dyke. In spite of the title it is devoted to European sculpture exclusively, and that since the beginning of historical times. It is illustrated by 113 half-tone prints, and, as in the other volumes of the series, each chapter is headed by a bibliography and is closed by other useful information in concentrated form. There is also a table of the addresses of makers of inhotographs and plaster casts: a really inmakers of photographs and plaster casts: a really invaluable help to the student in this country. The two authors are scholars of the right sort; each in his way as thorough and careful as could be desired-systemati and critical,

Marx, Roger.

HENRI REGNAULT. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1886, 7 fr.

Regnault was already famous, and deservedly so, when at the age of twenty-eight he was killed during the fights before Paris. His most celebrated picture is the portrait of Marshal Prim now in the Louvre. This volume contains a number of successful illustrations 759.4

Mason, George C.

LIFE AND WORKS OF GILBERT STUART. N.Y., Scribner, 1879, $10.

For Americans, Stuart has a peculiar value beyond his artistic mert, though that is considerable. The book before us contains ten photographic copies of portraits by the artist, besides the two of the "Gibts Washington" and two portraits of Stuart himself. The text is interesting biographically and historically, 759.1

Mesnard, Leonce.

La Peinture à Sienne. Paris, 1878. O.P.

The Stenese School has a value in early Italian painting more nearly equal to that of the Florentine School than readers of Vasari are led to suppose. This bool partly corrects the erroneous impression referred to partly corrects the erroneous impression received and is of general value in the history of the art.

759.5

Michel, André.

LES CHEES D'ŒUVRE DE L'ART AU XIX. Siècle. L'Écolf Française de Ingres à Delacroix. Paris, Montgredien, Librairie Illustrée, 26 fr.

Belongs to the series catalogued under the names of Gonse, Letort, De Lostalot, and De Wyzewa. It covers what may be called the earliest epoch of modern French painting, namely from about 1770 to the beginning of the contest between the Classic and Romantic Schools. It is valuable in itself, but its peculiar importance is as a prelude to the works by De Lostalot and Letort. Lostalot and Lefort. 759.4

Michel, Emil.

REMBRANDT: HIS LIFE, HIS WORK, AND HIS Time. Transl, from the French by Florence Simmonds, edited by Frederick Wedmore. Lond., Wm. Heinemann, 1894, 2 v., 128.

A thorough and valuable treatise of the life and works of one of the greatest painters of Europe, who is also the recognized chief of all etchers, past and present The French original is a large and handsome book with many illustrations; the English translation is made still more showy and expensive, and has added plates. These costly monographs often contain so much that is These costly monographs often contain so much mac, valuable to the student that they require special men tion, and thus is one of the best of them. There is a smaller work by the same author in the series called Les Artistes Célèbres. (Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 8 fr.) 759.9

ÉTUDES SUR L'HISTOIRE DE L'ART Velasquez, Les Débuts du Paysage dans L'ÉCOLE FLAMANDE, CLAUDE LORRAIN, LES Aris à la Cour de Frédéric II. Paris, Hachette, 1805, fr. 3.50.

Separate monographs by a very competent writer the into one volume 759.6 made into one volume

Michiels, Alfred.

Van Dyck et ses Élèves. Paris, Renouard, 1881, 20 fr.

Has a number of engravings after Van Dyck, and five excellent fac-similes of those remarkable etchings of his, which command the admiration of all artists and of his, which command the admiration of an artists and are rare and of great value in their best condition.

Not exactly a critical work; but the information given of the surroundings of the painter, the condition of the societies in which he lived, and the characters of the men with whom he associated, is very full and valuable as a preparation for the understanding of the remarkable art of the painter. 759.9

Middleton, J. Henry.

Engraved Gems of Classical Times, with a catalogue of the Gems in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge. N. Y., Macmillan, 1891, $3.50.

The matter of engraved gems is so very important to the student of ancient art and of decerative art that he may well wish to go farther than the little handbooks of Babelon and Leeov de la Marche can take him. This book by an excellent all-round student of art, recently deceased, will be found of the very highest value, and in general seems to be based on a close personal knowledge of the works of art described. Cameos or gems carved in relief are treated as well as those enor gems carved in relief are treated as well as those en graved as for seals.

Article Schools of Painting, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Gives brief accounts of all the principal schools and names all the greatest masters. The criticism is generally just. Many illustrations.

Article Sculpture, Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

Valuable paper, both technical and historical.

Article Wood-Carving, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Article Tempera, Encyclopardia Britannica, oth ed.

Describes the process which was most used in Italy both for wall work and panel painting during the days of the early Renaissance Millet, Jean François. S., Cartwright, Julia; Roger-Miles, L.; and Sensier, A.

Mitchell, Lucy M.

HISTORY OF ANCIENT SCUIPTURE. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1883, $4.

An excellent manual for general use. It makes little claim to originality of research on the part of its author, but the marshalling of the facts and the presentation of the different theories is intelligible, and there is probably no better book for the constant reference required in a library of fine art. There are 300 illustrations, They are not very excellent as pictures but they serve their purpose. The publishers have issued a portfolio with phototype illustrations of β pieces of sculpture under the title "Selections from Viscient Sculpture" ($\beta$; this work may be considered a supplement to Mrs. Mitchell's volume.

Modern French Masters.

A Series of Biographical and Critical Reviews by American Artists. Edited by John C Van Dyke, N. Y., Century Co., 1896, 846. Van Dyke, N. Y., Century Co., 1890, 810. The authors of this book are J. Carroll Beckwith, E. H. Blashfield, Witham A. Cottin, Kenyon Cox, Wyatt Eaton, G. P. A. Healy, Arthur Iboeber, William H. Howe, Samuel Isham, Will H. Low, Theodore Robin son, D. W. Tryon, H. W. Wattons, and J. Alden Werr Some of the more important inteless are mentioned separately under the artists' names. The book is illustrated by 47 large wood-cuts, of that high character of excellence in artistic workmanship which the Century Magarine has done so much to establish, and 28 half tone prints. The editor expressly states in his preduce that it has been with deliberate purpose that "the best wood-engravings and the best half-tones" are put here together side by side for comparison.

As all the articles in this book are by practising painters writing about other painters whose works they intimately know, the reader has one of the best opportunities possible to see for himself what professional art criticism really is. There is only one drawback to keep in mind—the quasi-necessity of being at once seep in mind—the quasi-necessity of being at once entertaining and untechnical. An artist writing for artists would produce something, on the whole, more instructive for the few who would read it intelligently 759.4

Modern Poster, The.

By Arsine Alexandre, M. H. Sehlman, H. C. Bunner, and Acquet Jaccaet. Hlus. N. V., Scribner, 1895, $3.

See notes under the names of contributors. 740

Mollett, John W.

REMBRANDI. (G.A.S.) Lond., 38, 6d. N. Y., Scribner, 81,25. (G.A.S.) Lond., Low, 1879.

Very judiciously compiled from the larger work of Vosmaer described in this catalogue. 759.9

Molmenti, P. G.

CARPACITO, SON TEMPS II SON ŒLVRE. Venise, Ongania, 1893, 6 lire.

Carpaccio's chief value in the modern world is as a Carpacero's chief value in the modern worm is as a corporate of the splendid costumes and rich surround-ings of the Renaissance, and especially as a transmitter of those strange architectural dreams with which the of those strange architectural dreams with which too XV, century men loved to fill their backgrounds. The writer of these notes has said elsewhere that the architectural Renaissance can never be rightly understood without the study of these designs, which were never instantial except in pictures. embodied except in pictures.

Moore, Albert. Sa: Baldry, A. L.

Moore, Charles H.

EXAMPLES FOR ELEMENTARY PRACTICE IN DE-LINEALION, designed for the use of Schools and isolated beginners. Bost., Houghton,

Mr. Moore is instructor in drawing and the principles of designing in Harvard Uriversity. As an artist his work has always been remarkable for extraordinary delicacy of finish and minute refinement both in line and color. He has always advocated a far more thorough training in linear drawing and fininess of outline as a preparatory step towards finished work than is usually taught at present. This book is a brief embodiment of his system and contains twenty plates of outline drawing intended to and in his method of work. 740 drawing intended to aid in his method of work.

Moore, George.

IMPRESSIONS AND OPINIONS. N. Y., Scribner, ST.25.

Four essays: "Meissomer and the Salon Julien," "Art for the Villa," "Degas," "New Pictures in the National Gallery." See what is said of this author's back, "Modern Painting." 750

MODER'N PAINTING. N. Y., Scribner, $2.

MODERN PAINTING. N. Y., Scithner, 22.

Twenty essays on living painters and modern art tendencies, both good and evil, with frequent allusions to old artists, and some account of men who are not painters. Thus the article on Charles Keene, the draughtsman and caricaturist of the London Panch, is admirable art criticism. There is some excess of enthusiastic praise of art which he loves and of contempt for artists and critics whom the author looks upon as wholly astray in their aims and work, but the book is almost wholly right in its tendency. It should he read with care by all who really wish to know how artists look at and understand art and how art should be interpreted. terpreted.

Morelli, D. See Willard, A. R.

Morelli, Giovanni.

ITALIAN PAINTERS: CRITICAL STUDIES OF THEIR WORKS. Transl. by Constance Jo-celyn Ffoulkes. Lond., John Murray, 1892, 308. N. Y., Scribner, $12. Vol. I., The Borghese and Doria-Pamfili Galleries. Vol. II., The Galleries of Munich and Dresden.

This author is the creator of a system of study applied to the authenticity of ancient paintings by means of which he has challenged the attribution of many pictures in the public galleries of Europe. The time has which he has challenged the attribution of many pictures in the public galleries of Europe. The time has not come to speak positively as to the final result of this novel system of inquiry, which depends upon close study of minute particularities of form and handling in the works of each separate master. It is, meantime, of singular importance for comparative study and should be compared carefully with the works of Crowe and Cavalcaselle and other analysts of Italian painting. 759.5

Morin, Louis.

Preface by Jules FRENCH LILUSTRATORS. Claretie. Illus., in five parts. Scribner, 1893, $15.

Scribner, 1893, $15.

Text not important. Contains illustrations, very beautifully reproduced, of the work of many artists of the great Paris school, among whom are the famous painters Edouard Detaille and Pierre Pavis-de-Chavannes; the marvellous draughtsman in black and white, Paul Renouard; the prince of modern descriptive illustrators and story-tellers, Daniel Vierge; that master of broad farce who calls himself Caran d'Ache, and such well-known men as Lynch, Forain, and de Myrhach. An article in the Nation, vol. 57, P. 454 (December 14, 1893), by a very competent writer, draws a comparison well worthy of study between the French and the American illustrators, as described in this book and in its companion, for which see Smith, F. Hopkinson.

Morland, George. See Richardson, R.

Morris, William, and Middleton, J. H.

Article MURAL PAINTING, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Extremely valuable remarks on the principles of fine art used decoratively, as almost all important fine art has been.

Müntz, Eugène.

RAPHAEL, SA VIE SON ŒUVRE ET SON TEMPS. Paris, Hachette, 1885, 25 fr.

Valuable as being the work of one who thoroughly Valuable as being the work of one who informing understands the fine arts other than painting, and who is able, therefore, to explain the relation of Raphael's work as a painter to his own achievements in other fields and to the world of fine art around him. 759.5

DONATELLO. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1885, 8 fr.

Donatello is generally taken as the greatest sculptor of the early Renaissance. The present biography of him, by a very competent writer, contains a great many valuable illustrations, some of them representing pieces but very little known. but very little known.

Murillo. See Sweetser, M. F.

Murray, A. S.

Ilistory of Greek Sculpture from the EARLIEST TIMES DOWN TO THE AGE OF Pheidias. History of Greek Sculiture UNDER PHEIDIAS AND HIS SUCCESSORS. N. Y., Scribner, $14.40.

Taken together, these two books make a history of sculpture, Greek and Greeco-Roman. Mr. Murray is in charge, at the British Museum, of the Greek and Roman antiquities, and is an archæologist of repute. The work is composed on scientific lines: the reader is helped by references to many other authors.

Muther, Richard.

HISTORY OF MODERN PAINTING. Illus. N. V., Macmillan, 1896, 3 v., $20.

Macmillan, 1896, 3 V., $20.

A hook which every library should possess if possible. Painting of the present century is treated from every point of view, national, sentimental, social; an attempt being made to classify artists into schools, or at least into groups, while at the same time the difficulty of making such a classification accurate is strongly insisted on. Departments of modern art, which would have seemed very remote from the sympathies or experience of a German professor or the employee of a German museum, are found to be treated with singular insight and sympathy. The shortcomings of the book are the inevitable ones, such as the comparative ignorance of painters who have seldom exhibited on the continent of Europe, the total omission of some very able rance of painters who have seldom exhibited on the continent of Europe, the total omission of some very able artists—probably from the same reason—and the taking of illustrations, not from the original works, but from reproductions in continental journals. In every such work there is an almost irresistible tendency to treat the literary, or sentimental, or moral side of treat the literary, or sentimental, or moral side of art, rather to the exclusion of the artistic expression is extremely difficult of explanation in words. The language of art is very difficult of translation into any other language. To a great extent this difficulty has been overcome in the book before us. The amount of labor that it represents is indeed extraordinary, and it has been well-directed work.

Orchardson, W. Q. See Armstrong, W.

Osler, W. Roscoe.

(G.A.S.) Lond., Low, 1879, TINTORETTO, (G.A.S.) Lond., 3s. 6d. N. Y., Scribner, $1.25.

38. 00. A. 1., SCHIDDET, $1.25.

An enthusiastic and admiring notice of a painter concerning whom opinions will always differ widely. Some will claim for Tintoretto a place among the half dozen greatest names in art, while to others he must appear a man of the second rank, although of consummate ability. As there is but little known of his life, a brief biography gives all that can be recorded, but the analysis of his work cannot be adequate unless carried to considerable length.

Overbeck, J.

GESCHICHTE DER GRIECHISCHEN PLASTIK. Leipzig, Hinrichs sche Buchhandlung, 1892,

2 V., 43 marks.

The standard history of Greek sculpture. It needs to be translated into English, the more so that it is written in a German very difficult for all who are not perfectly at home in the language; that is to say, by the wast majority of English-speaking students. The book is marred by a too great willingness to use as of authoritative value the words of classical writers concerning works of sculpture. These words are never critical, nor the writing of men who professed to have studied, examined, and compared works of art of different epochs. They are mere mention, in the course of a traveller's examined, and compared works of art of different epochs. They are mere mention, in the course of a traveller's observation, or else mere allusion; and, however valuable they are in the absence of other information from earlieris themselves, no real knowledge of the character of ancient sculpture is to be got from them. 733

Paris, Pierre.

LA SCUIPTURE ANTIQUE. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr. Transl. as Manual of An-CIENT SCULPTURE. Ed. by J. E. Harrison. Phila., Lippincott, 1889, $3.

Treats of the sculpture of the ancient Asiatic nations, of Egypt, of Greece, Etruria, and Rome. It covers, therefore, much the same ground as the chapters on sculpture of the books by Babelon, Collignon, Maspero, and Murray, named in Part I.; it is well to compare the treatment of such subjects by different authors, 732

Pattison, Mmc. Mark.

CLAUDE LORRAIN, SA VIE ET SIS ŒUVRIS, d'après des documents inédits. Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 35 fr.

Compare what i sail of this writer under." The Renaissance of Art in France," and also under Dilke This treatise is chiefly valuable for the great amount of information it contains and the chronological and other tables which are added to it; there are also a number of full-page plates. It would be too much to say that the art of Claude—an art very difficult to criticise rightly—is altogether well explained in this book, but it is far more likely to lead to correct than to erroneous views.

759.4

Paul Veronese. See Yriarte, C.

Pennell, Joseph.

PEN DRAWING AND PEN DRAUGHTSMEN: their work and their methods; a study of the art to-day, with technical suggestions. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1804, $15.

Mr. Pennell is himself an artist in pen drawing for reproduction. In this work he gives advice to those who would become skilful in the art; he gives also a great number of notices of artists of our time who have been eminent in this art, together with specimens of their work. In the course of his argument the desire to insist upon the one merit of skill in pen drawing, intended for reproduction, has led him into strange criticisms of great men of the past. For most readers the attractiveness of the book will be in the illustrations, which form a sort of encyclopedia of black and white of the day, but in this respect it would be more useful and certainly more entertaining if their titles and legends were given to the pictures.

Modern Hilustration, Illus. Lond., Geo. Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, $3.50.

It has been said in speaking of Mr. Pennell's larger book on "Pen Drawing," that its chief use to most readers would be that of a treatise on modern book illustration. The present volume is useful in a similar way, and is much smaller and less expensive. The reproductions are very uneven in quality. Here, as in the larger work, the pictures would be more interesting if the titles were given.

(855.53)

The Illustration of Books: a Manual for the Use of Students; Notes for a Course of Lectures at the Slade School, University College. Lond., T. Fisher Unwin. N. Y., Century Co., 1806, $1.

In this little volume the practical instructions to pen draughtsmen who wish to work for reproduction, which instructions are also included in the larger work, are given in a compact form, and with additions and a new arrangement. The author is an enthusiast for the art of which he treats and to which he has devoted himself.

655.53

Perkins, Charles C.

HISTORICAL HANDROOK OF ITALIAN SCULET-URE. Illus. N. Y., Scribner, 84.

Devoted chiefly to the sculpture of Central and Northern Italy from about 1300 to about 1600. It contains many errors, and should be wholly revised in the light of modern discoveries, but it can give a good general account of this very important phase of art.

735

Perry, Walter Copland.

GREEK AND ROMAN SCULPTURF, Illus. Lond., Longmans, 1882. Out of print.

Valuable for the systematic arrangement of the information concerning ancient sculpture as we obtain it from the writers of antiquity, and the comparison of this information with the extant works which are thought to be of the same period. See, however, what is said, under Overbeck, of what ancient writers have said of ancient art. 733

Phidias. See Collignon, M.

Phillips, Claude.

ANTOINE WATTEAU. Portfolio Monograph,

June, 1805. Lond. Seeley & Co. N. V., Macmillan, 75 c.

Watteau is in a certain sense to be compared with Hogarth. Each was a painter whose subjects were of such a character that they alone are regarded in looking at the work of art, while in each the painting itself is masterly both in intention and technic. Even painters disregard. Hogarth to much, forgetting that he is so much more than a mere recorder or a mere caricaturist, while Watteau, though his work is universally admired by those who are most fitted to appreciate it, is little regarded by the student in general. The present author calls Watteau the greatest of small masters; but he is, perhaps, even more than this.

759.4

Sir Joshua Reanolds, N. Y., Scribner, 1804, $2.50.

One of the best of recent monographs nine illustrations from prints by the master. 759.2

FREDERICK WALKER. Portfolio Monograph, June, 1894. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 75 c.

A vigorous and really critical monograph on the work of an admirable artist who died in 1878. 759.2

The Picture Gallery of Charles L. Portfolio Monograph, Jan., 1806. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, $1.25.

Charles I of England owned a very large collection paintings, many of them of the highest possible value. The authorities of the Commonwealth ordered the sale of these, and they were scattered over Europe. The present work is a praiseworthy attempt to enumerate them and to ascertain their present location. Many very good photographic reproductions are given. 750

Pollard, A. W.

ITALIAN BOOK ILLUSTRATIONS, chiefly of the XV. century. Portfolio Monograph, Dec., 1804. Lond., Seeley & Co. X. Y., Macmillan, 75 c.

A good and appreciative essay on a class of books which are among the most beautiful in the world by means of their illustrations, in which the tresh charm of the early Renaissance exists unmarred by other intinences. There are many examples given in reproductions generally good; the text is valuable. 655.53

Poster, The Modern. See Madern.

Poynter, Edward J.

TEN LECTURES ON ART. 3d ed. Lond., Chap-man & Hall, 98.

Contains very just conclusions as to fine art and very clearly expressed analysis of painting of many schools. The comparisons of Continental painting with English are tair and almost wholly satisfactory. 750

Poynter, Edward J., Editor.

A series of "Art HANDROOKS," Illustrated.

Poynter, E. J., and Head, P. R. PAINT-186, CHASSICAL AND DATES. N. V., Scribner, $2.

Smith, Gerard W. PAINTING, FRINCH AND SPANISH, N. Y., Scribner, $2, 759.4

Buxton, H. J. W., and Poynter, E. J. GLEMAN, FLEMISH, AND DETCH PAINTING, N. Y., Scribner, 82. 769

Redgrave, Gilbert R. HISTORY OF WATER-COLOR PAINTING IN ENGLAND. N. Y., Scribnet, $2. 759.2

Buxton, H. J. Wilmot. English Painters: With a Chapter on American Painters by S. R. Koehler, N. Y., Scribner, $2, 759.2

These five books may be taken together as forming a history of Painters and Painting in the sense that they tell what Painters have been successful and famous in the different countries of Europe and in the United States before about 1860, that they give dates, mention by name the more celebrated pictures, and give prominence to those artists who are esteemed the bringers in of important changes and as founders of new schools. Considered as works of criticism, they fail in that there is a visible attempt to explain what cannot easily be explained in words, except at great length, and that, moreover, they seem to be written rather by scholars familiar with the externals of art, and knowing little of its essential character. In these respects the book on water-color in England is much the best, but this is partly because 259 pages are devoted to this small subject; a space ten times as great as it would occupy in proportion with the others. A brief synoptical history of painting would be best in the form of a bi-graphical dictionary of artists arranged in the order of their schools. If a dictionary such as Bryan's or Seubert's could be rearranged so that the notices would follow one another systematically and not alphabetically, and made accessible by a full alphabetical index, the comparative length of the notices would show the student which were the more important artists, and differences of type and so forth might be utilized. In this way the necessity of keeping up a continuous narrative would be avoided. The author would not attempt to make his story attractive except as to one artist at a time. Something like this is done in the volume above named on Ger a field as the painting of even one great nation are seldom read consecutively; they are used for reference. Only books on a much larger scale, with much more opportunity for detail and comparison, can be made agreeable reading.

With regard to one volume of this series it should be said that the sketch of "American Art." does not include the men who have made it what it now, is even.

With regard to one volume of this series it should be said that the sketch of "American Art" does not include the men who have made it what it now is, even artists so long before the public as La Farge, Inness, Chase, and Martin being omitted. Probably it was not meant to include men living when the book was written.

Propert, J. L.

HISTORY OF MINIATURE ART; with notes on Collectors and Collections, Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1857, $27.50.

Almost wholly devoted to the painting of very small pictures. This covers the ground of paintings in medicaval manuscripts, and following these, chiefly the small portraits arranged medallion-wise of the XVII, XVII, and XVIII centuries. It is to this art that all the illustrations except one plate are devoted. There are chapters also on modelling in wax, snuff-boxes, etc., and an interesting discussion of collectors and collecting. The plates are of singular value.

Radcliffe, A. G.

Schools and Masters of Sculpture. N. Y., Appleton, §3.

Appleton, §3.

A sketch of the History of Sculpture in all ages. There has been a serious attempt to make an interesting continuous narrative of each chapter, and the attempt is more nearly successful than could be anticipated. The critical value of different chapters varies greatly; thus the account of Gothic sculpture is of little utility, that of sculpture under the Romans is marred by too great willingness to accept as fact what is only assumed, while the account of nineteenth century sculpture is usually good and shows much critical insight. A great deal of space is taken up by mere anecdote; and this has the additional bad result that contemporary gossip about a work of art is allowed to influence opinion as to the work itself and its value. The book ends with two chapters on the museums of Europe and America, but these are far too brief to be of much value as guides to the student. There are about thirty full-page photographic illustrations of representative sculptures.

Schools and Masters of Painting, N. Y., Appleton, §3.

Has nearly the same character as the companion volume on sculpture. 759

Raphael. See Cartwright, Julia; Muntz, E.; Sweetzer, M. F.

Redford, George.

Sculpture: Egyptian, Assyrian, Greek, and Roman. (Art Handbook Series.) N.Y., Scribner, $2.

A good general account of ancient sculpture; may he trusted for the general accuracy of its statements. It seems carelessly written, however, as if the exact force of words was not felt.

Redgrave, Richard and Samuel.

A CENTURY OF PAINTERS OF THE ENGLISH SCHOOL. 2d ed. Abridged and illustrated. Lond., Sampson Low, 1890, 7s, 6d.

An account of the English painters from the time of Henry VIII, to the close of the generation which was passing away about 1885. It is very readably written in narrative form. Few books of the kind are as just and sympathetic as this, It does not give the names of those living in 1886.

Redgrave, Samuel.

DICTIONARY OF ARTISTS OF THE ENGLISH SCHOOLS, EIC. New and revised edition. N. Y., Macmillan, §5.

Contains much the same matter as a "Century of Painters," but arranged alphabetically under names of artists, and to this adds notices of sculptors, architects, etc. 703

Rees, J. Ruutz.

Horace Vernet: Paul Delaroche. (G.A.S.) Lond., Low, 1879, 3s. 6d. N. Y., Scribner, $1.25.

Comprises two papers. Of the first paper it is to be said that Vernet's work has no such value as this author ascribes to it; no artist would join for one moment in the praise awarded to him here. The other paper is more judicious in the matter of artistic appreciation. In fact the sense of Delaroche's place in art seems to be adequate. Both the essays are made valuable to the student of modern painting by the list of works, dates, anecdotes, etc.

759.4

Reid, George.

Article Painting, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Devoted practically to descriptions of different processes, with valuable hints.

Reinach, Salomon.

ROMAN SCULPTURE, Illns. N. Y., Macmillan,

Announced without date.

The author is a well-known archæologist who has given unusual attention to the Roman antiquities with which France and her colonies are nichly endowed: he has also published monographs on the Trajan column at Rome and on separate works of Greek art. He is Director of the Archæological Museum at St. Germainen-Laye near Paris.

Regnault, Henri. See Marx, R., and Hamerton, P. G., under "Modern Frenchmen."

Rembrandt. See Haden, Francis Seymour; Hamerton, P. G.; Mollett, J. W.; Sweetser, M. F.; and Vosmaer, C.

Reynolds, Sir Joshua. See Chesneau, Ernest; Phillips, C.; and Sweetser, M. F.

Rhys, Ernest.

SIR FREDERIC LEIGHTON: an illustrated chronicle, with prefatory essay by F. G. Stephens, Illus. Lond., George Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, 1805, $20.

Macmillan, 1805, $20.

Leighton, late President of the Royal Academy, was one of those painters who both achieved and deserved great success. He was a man of extraordinary ability and a hard and constant worker; if his art is less fascinating than that of some of his contemporaries, it is full of merit, showing both force and delicacy. A comparison between him and two other English painters of his time is suggested under Bell's "Burne-Jones."

759.2

Ricci, Corrado.

ANTONIO ALLEGRI DA CORREGGIO: His Life, His Friends, and His Time. Transl. by Florence Simmonds. Illus. N. V., Scrib- Ruskin, John. ner, 1504, $12.

One of the most interesting and valuable of the One of the most interesting and valuable of the monographs which are now so numerous. The illustrations are not so beautiful as those of many other similar books, but they are photographic reproductions, trustworthy as far as they go, and abundant. Correggn's frescoes at Parma are thought by many excellent judges to be the finest mural paintings in Europe's these are discussed both historically and critically, at great lepoth and in an excellent sorti. length and in an excellent spirit.

Richardson, Ralph.

George Morland Painter. Lond. Elliott Stock, 1505, 78, 6d

A typical, brief, and inexpensive biography of an A typical, brief, and inexpensive biography of an artist; for this reason it is mentioned here, for it would be impossible to give the biographies of many artists of Mortand's rank, respectable though that rank is His pictures are now (t.o.c) in great layor, and that popularity has brought this book into existence. It contains as complete a list of his paintings, and of the engravings made from them, as was possible to the author, six illustrations. The narrative is of great in anthor, six illustrations. The narrative is of greterest.

Richter, Jean Paul.

LEONARDO, (G.A.S.) Lond , Low, 187), 38, 6d. N. Y., Scribner, $1,25.

An intelligent account of the life and what little is known of the work of a wholly exceptional genius. It is impossible to study Leonardo too closely because accident as well as unfortunate traits of the man have destroyed nearly all his important works of art, because, moreover, as a painter Leonardo is one of the most faulty of masters while also one of the greatest R'o, A. F.

L'Art Chrétien. Nouvelle édition, augmentée. Paris, Retaux, 4 v., 15 fr.

An account of Italian art, mainly painting, from the point of view of a devout Catholic, and one tar less interested in the purely artistic view of the work of art than in its religious or social tendencies. In spite of this uncritical treatment of the subject, the book has a purely a stage of which is the property of the property series. value to any one who is studying Italian painting ously.

Epilogue à L'Art Chréthes. Paris, Retaux, 2 v., 6 fr.

Not a continuation in any sense of "L'Art Chrétien," by the same author, but rather a treatise upon the influences and theories which led to the composition of that well-known book. This work is mentioned thirdly because of its value in making clear the remarkable attempt to include art in a system of Christian philosophy which was made by Limennais partly with Rio's 250.5 759.5assistance.

LEGNARDO DA VINCELE SON ECOLE. A. Bray, 1855, fr. 3.50c.

See what is said of this writer under his "L Art Chretien." Leonardo and his art form an interesting subject when treated from this author's point of view, because Leonardo was reputed in his own time to be rather a philosopher than a good Catholic. 759.5

Roger-Miles, L.

LE PAYSAN DANS L'ŒUVRE DE J. F. MILLEL. Hlustrée d'un portrait et de 25 reproductions d'œuvres de Millet. Paris, Flammarion, 1894, 6 fr.

The paintings of Jean François Mines, volumes, many ways, are interesting especially in that they portray the French persantry in a peculiarly intimate and sympathetic way. This book treats the subject with 759.4 The paintings of Jean François Millet, valuable thoroughness.

Rossetti, D. G. See Sharp, W.; Stephens, T. G., and Wood, E.

Rude, François. See Bertrand, Alexis, and Hamerton, P. G., under "Modern French-

Modern Pathern Last Lond., to Alen, $ v . 76 68. Index in 1 v., separate, (48) The 6 v., N. Y., Seribner, $48.

The 6 V., N. Y., Settlenet, $15.

This work, of which the final volume was first published in a contains much the most important and the satest writing upon art which the author has given us. All Mr. Ruskin's message for the world, so far as it relates to fine art, is to be found in these volume. It may even be said that the more mature thinker upon artistic topics should give time to the carculate ading of the third and fourth y dumes, as he will find nowhere else the meralist's view and the nature-lover's view of fine art so well expressed.

Mr. Ruskin's writing or fine art is to be avoided by fine irt so well expressed.

Mr. Ruskin's writing on fine art is to be avoided by beginner's beginner's beauties, commencing his critical writing at a very early age, he committed himself to a talse theory of line art, and the abundoned writing on the subject at about the age of body, when he would naturaav have beginn to correct his early errors. A before morality and a frue love of nature are the found in his writings of the years (14.5%), but hat fly a sound arts run is made all edition of Part III, 2001 fleas of Beauty, is offered in two yellines, with preface by Protesser Charles Elnot Nortin. N. Y., Maynard, Merriff & C. 5.

PRI-RAPHAFILLISM. Lon. 58. Out-of-print

This pamphlet was issued (i) (i), and was intended to plead for the then new and revolutionary school of artists, and to point out the essential truth to nature and the moral dignity of Pre-Raphaelite painting. Ruskin was in no sense the founder, as is often stated, or even the suggestor of the Pre-Raphaelite brotherhood, but he was their warmest defender to published criticism

Giorno And His Works in Panta, with plates. Lond., Smith, Lider & Co., Out of print.

Printed in 1844 for the subscribers to the Arundel Society as an accompaniment to a screen of a Arunder. Society as an accompaniment to a screen of large wood outs from the frescoes in the Arena Chapel at Pacha. Photograph soft these frescoes can now be bought at a low pine. The bythese frescoes and is really of help to the right understanding of the frescoes, and through them of early the months. of early Italian painting. 759.5

THE HARBOURS OF ENGLAND. Engraved by Thomas Lupton, from original drawings made expressly for the work by L. M. W. Turner, with illustrative text, 12 plates. Lond., E. Gambart & Coll 1850, N. Y., Scribner, 83.

The text is more than a mere description of each plate. It is a somewhat full expession of Russlan's view on landscape painting. The plates are it view unusually due, mezzotiuts of great beauty and faithful. to the noble originals.

ELIMINIS OF Drawing. In three letters to beginners. Lond., Geo. Allen, 58. Also, with preface by Prot. Charles Eliot Norton. N. Y., Maynard Merrill & Co., $1.50.

N. V., Maynard Merriff & Co., $1.50.

First published in 1.- 7, and somewhat altered in the second edition; begins with an aftempt to take the voith who has never lied per eiler pen in hard, and give him the first less its. Merrs wen or cight besons the work passes reforgenered advice and exhortation. It can a libe real with great intenst and with much profit at innest he remembered that there is adways something to be said by fiver of the system of frawing with minute attention to distail and close study of the minor forms of nature, authorigh that is not the system most generally in the among artists who are teachers, Compare C. H. Moore's book mentioned in this list.

A ALLY PINIFFEE Six Lectures on the Elements of Scalpfure. With illustrations, v.t. 207 p. Lond., Geo. Allen, Keston, 1872, 78, ed. Also, with preface by Charles Elief Norron, idlustrated by 20 autotypes and one engraving. N. V., Maynard, Merrill & (44. 82.75.

The later works. I this author, such as the present dating from his lifty-fast year, show a large of the artistic side of art and of the need in art of something more than faithful study of nature than his earlier work. They are not on that account more useful to the student. That more critical view of art appears only in detached sentences and the general tendency is, more strongly than ever, towards mysticism and a poetical treatment of the author's conception of what art might be but never yet has been.

730

THE RELATION BETWEEN MICHAEL ANGELO AND TINFORET. Lond., Geo. Allen, 18.

The seventh of the course of lectures on sculpture, of which six are included in "Aratra Pentelici." First issued in 1872. 759.5

ARIADNE FLORENTINA: Six Lectures on Wood and Metal Engraving. Illus. Lond., Geo. Allen, 1876, 78. 6d. Also, with preface by Prof. Charles Eliot Norton. N. Y., Maynard, Merrill & Co., $2.75.

The reader will understand that this is not a guide to the collector or student of old prints. It is an imaginative appeal in favor of certain supposed meanings found by the author in prints which he loves. It is a fascinating pursuit to read into works of art meanings which they can be made to contain, but it is better art criticism, and on the whole more instructive, to try hard to ascertain what was the artist's meaning. As regards the archæological study of the art of engraving, Mr. Ruskin has never given thought to such study, hence his statement of facts is generally open to objection.

Val. D'Arno: Ten Lectures on the Tuscan Art directly antecedent to the Florentine Year of Victories. With 12 plates. Lond., Geo. Allen, 1874, 230 p., 7s. 6d. Also, with preface by Prof. Charles Eliot Norton. N. Y., Maynard, Merrill & Co., $2.75.

The Laws of Fesole: A Familiar Treatise on the Elementary Principles and Practice of Drawing and Painting, as determined by the Tuscan Masters. Arranged for the use of schools. With plates drawn by the author. Lond., Geo. Allen, 1878, 8s. 707

MORNINGS IN FLORENCE: Being Simple Studies of Christian Art for English Travellers.

1. Santa Croce, '2, The Golden Gate. 3.
Before the Soldan. 4, The Vaulted Book.

5. The Strait Gate. 6, The Shepherd's Tower. Lond., Geo. Allen, 1875. 4s.

The conviction expressed repeatedly in these notes that Ruskin is not a good guide for beginners in the study of art, requires to be urged with especial force in the matter of these guide-books, intended for the use of travellers in Churches and Galleries of Europe. His own and others' experience, continued through many seasons, would alone serve to convince the present writer that the untrained student in ancient art is seriously misled and his time wasted when any attempt is made to visit and study paintings with these books in hand. After one has become familiar with the pictures, these books may be useful as suggesting an ideal of art which is certainly not the artist's view, but may still be defended by those who seek in pictures something which is not their pictorial quality. Compare what is said of the Supplement of "St. Mark's Rest" below. 704

St. Mark's Rest: The History of Venice, written for the help of the few travellers who still care for her monuments. Two parts and a "first" supplement. Lond., Geo. Allen, 1877, 5s.

The remarks on the Carpaccio pictures in the little Church of S. Giorgio dei Schavoni offer the best instance possible of a minute examination into the supposed esoteric meaning of a painting without reference to its artistic qualities. The artistic ment of the Carpaccio pictures is never exceedingly high: for an artist of his time he is not a great master and these pictures are by no means specimens of his best work. The pictures of the history of St. Ursula in the Academy are probabily superior as works of art, but these and the S. Giorgio pictures alike, are to be looked upon as illustrations on a large scale rather than works of art in a high sense. The student would be greatly misled who caught Mr. Ruskin's enthusiasm and who accepted these pictures as in some way models of fine painting.

GUIDE TO THE PRINCIPAL PICTURES IN THE ACADEMY OF FINE ARTS AT VENICE. Lond., Allen, 1s. 708.5

STUDIES IN BOTH ARTS: Being Ten Subjects Drawn and Described. Lond., Geo. Allen. N. Y., Scribner, $8.50.

The value of this book lies in the reproductions of ten elaborate drawings by Ruskin. It may be safely assumed that the colored plates preserve much of the quality of the originals, as indeed the preface written by an assistant of the author expressly states. The plates in one color are not difficult to make entirely trustworthy by means of modern processes. The text, consisting of detached passages and hits of description, cannot be said to have any independent value. The cover announced as from a design by Burne-Jones, is a curious instance of ornament completely misapplied and ineffective.

Saunier, Charles.

Augustin Dupré, Orfevre, Médailleur et graveur général des Monnales. Paris, Société de Propagation des Livres d'Art, 1894. No price published.

An excellent monograph on the work of an artist, not indeed of the first rank, but important in his line. The book is included in this list because this art of diesinking, although a singularly important branch of sculpture and highly developed in modern France, is little regarded in the English-speaking world. The book in question is inexpensive and easy of access and contains very good illustrations, photographic and other.

Scott, Leader.

Sculpture, Renaissance and Modern. (Art Handbook Series.) N. Y., Scribner, $2.

A good cyclopædic account: many names of sculptors and their works, and much brief analysis of their work are given; the material is well arranged and the book is very readable in spite of its compactness. Many remarks on outlying subjects are questionable, as when the Moors are called "finest architects," and where Della Robbia work is denied the name of sculpture, and where Vischer's shrine at Nuremberg is called "late Gothe, almost Romanesque." In short, this, like most of these hastily written English books, is in a general way trustworthy, but rather as a compilation than as a book by a competent critic. 735

FRA BARTOLOMMEO ANDREA DEL SARTO, (G.A.S.) Lond., 1879. N. Y., Scribner, $1.25.

A sympathetic and careful biographical study of two painters; admirable artists, though of the second rank. Other painters with whom these two were associated, each in his turn, are mentioned, and their relations to the chief subjects cleverly pointed out. The whole forms an interesting and valuable chapter of the history of the Renaissance, or rather two chapters, one dealing with the later years of the XV. century and the other with the earlier years of the XVI.

Scott, William Bell.

PICTURES BY VENETIAN PAINTERS. Lond., Routledge, 1875. Out of print. 759.5

PICTURES BY ITALIAN MASTERS. Lond., Routledge, 1876. Out of print.

See what is said of this author under other titles. Except for certain oddities of appreciation, Scott was a good critic of painting as well as of the decorative arts. 759.5

ALBERT DÜRER: HIS LIFE AND WORKS; Autobiographical Papers and Complete Catalogue. Lond., Longmans, 1869. Out of print.

The account of the life and works of Düret occupies only 193 small pages of large print. It is a vigorous and sympathetic biography of a great artist, who was also a worthy man and who lived a somewhat eventful life. It includes long extracts from the journal which Dürer kept during his journey to the Netherlands; 125 pages are occupied with catalogues of his paintings, drawings, and engravings on copper and on wood. For the general reader, not specially occupied with German art or with print collecting, this is the best life of Dürer. of Dürer.

The Little Masters. (G.A.S.) Lond., Low, 1879, 3s. 6d. N. Y., Scribner, $1.25.

See what is said of this writer under his "Life of Albert Dürer," and elsewhere in this list. The sym-pathy he feels for the greater artists he shows for the Albert Filter, and the greater artists he shows for the minor ones as well.

The "Little Masters" are so called partly because of the very small scale on which they worked, producing little prints two or three inches in either dimension. They are Alidorfer, H. S. Beham, Bartlel Beham, Aldegrever, Pencz, Binck, and Brosamer. Of these Barthel Beham is the author of that astonishing print, the portrait of the Emperor Charles V., probably the finest line engraving in the world (compare Hadeo's "Notes on Etching") and of the almost equally fine portrait of Ferdinand, King of the Romans, these are compositions of less unusual dimensions; but in general the works of this master also are very small indeed. In the manner Aldegrever produced several large prints, one of them, the portrait of John of Leyden, an astonishing masterpiece, is reproduced in this book.

Sensier, Alfred.

LA VIE ET L'ŒUVRE DE J. F. MILLET. Paris, Quantin, 1881, 50 fr.

Sensier was a friend of Millet's; after the death of both the friends, Sensier's manuscript was published by Paul Mantz. A good part of the text of this book has been published in English by The Macmillan Co-for which the reader is referred to the book named under Cartwright. The original work, however, must always be of especial interest to lovers of the refined and essen-tially sympathetic art of Millet. The volume is a per-fect picture gallery of his work, as it contains twelve plates and fifty minor illustrations, all of excellent ty. 759.4 large pl quality.

Sharp, William.

Dante Gabriel Rossetti: a Record and a N. Y., Macmillan, 1882. Out of print.

The most nearly satisfactory life of the poet and painter; contains also the best general account of the pre-Raphaelite movement. Compare the book by Esther Wood and the Portfolio Monograph by F. G. Stephens Shedd, Julia A.

FAMOUS PAINTERS AND PAINTINGS. ath ed.. revised and enlarged. Bost., Houghton. 1896, $2.

Purports only to be a series of brief biographical sketches of about 200 painters of all epochs, from Giotto to Ingres, but it will be found to contain very sensible discussion of the merits and peculiarities of these men and the circumstances of their times. A popular book, but a good one.

FAMOUS SCULPTORS AND SCULPTURE. ed., revised and enlarged. Illus. Bost. Houghton, 1896, $2.

Houghton, 1994 to this author's work on Painters and Painting," The present work is a companion vol-

Signorelli, Luca. See Vischer, L.

Smith, F. Hopkinson.

American Illustrators. Illus., in 5 parts. N. Y., Scribner, 1892, $15.

Contains colored as well as black and white pictures, most of them of merit. The illustrators whose work is treated of are twenty or more in number, including E. A Abbey, Howard Pyle, A. B. Frost, Fred. Remington, Will H. Low, Winslow Homer, Kenyon Cox, Elihu Vedder, and the author himself. Mr. Elbridge Kingsley, the wood-engraver, is also represented by a print from a block engraved direct from nature. Those who have not followed the development of American book-illustration may be surprised at the amount and variety of the work recorded here. Compare what is said under Morin's "French Illustrators." 655.53 655.53

Spielman, M. H.

HISTORY OF Punch. Lond., Cassell, 1895,

The journal, Punch, now in its fifty-sixth year of publication, contains the larger part of the work of several great artists in black and white, and of several presents at the several presents of the purpose. minor ones, who are also admirable designers. They include Charles Keene, one of the most original artists of the century; John Leach, the possessor of great and very unusual gifts; Lindley Simbourne, a draughtsman who has developed by lumself a wholly unique system of pen drawing, and whose powers of grotesque and allusive designs are unmatched; Du Maurier, the and allusive designs are unmatched; Du Maurier, the well-known portrayer of refined society and its grotesque side; Richard Doyle, the greatest caricaturist there ever was who could not draw the figure, as this writer has said elsewhere. This book treats these artists and their work in a very judicious and critical manner; while it has too much praise for the comparatively unimportant work of Sir John Tenniel, and cannot, of course, be expected to do justice to the few total failures among Panch's artists, yet the pages from 400 558 may be taken together as an admirable and most suggestive treatise on the illustrative art in black and white of the last lifty years in England.

741

POSTERS, AND POSTER DESIGNING IN ENG-LAND, in "The Modern Poster," N. Y., Scribner, 1895.

The attempts in England to make posters artistic date back nearly thirty years, although they were not followed up very steadily. The present tendency is rather towards the Parisian style, although the one by "Weirdsley Daubrey," as well as those it initiates, could only have been produced in England. The illustrations, like those of the other three articles in this book, are of great interest and beauty. are of great interest and beauty

Stendhal, De (Henri Beyle).

HISTOIRE DE LA PEINTURE EN ITALIE. Paris, Levy frères, 1853, 3 fr.

An account of Italian painting from the standpoint of a sagacious and enlightened student of the early part of the century. The works of Rio, Lanzi, and Lord Lindsay are to be compared with this; although De Stendhal does not undertake the same minute examination into individual works of art, his endiging the property of the study of a particular description. tion into individual works of art, his study of painting is not the less useful.

759.5

Stephens, F. G.

DANTE GABRIEL ROSSETTI. Portfolio Monograph, May, 1894. Lond., Seeley & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 75 c.

Perhaps the most adequate treatise on the artist and poet which exists. It is certainly the most richly illustrated, and the illustrations are expressive of Rossetti's irated, and the illustrations are expressive of kossetu squalities as a painter beyond what could be expected in such a case. It appears, too, that there has been remarkable success in bringing together types of the different styles of Rossetti's painting and drawing.

759.2

Stevens, Alfred. See Armstrong, W.

Stevenson, R. A. M.

The Art of Velasquez. Illus. Lond., Geo. Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, 1895, $18.

A small book made large by targe type and broad margins. It is a treatise on the painter's art from the point of view of one who thoroughly understands how abstract a thing that art is, how much a matter of conabstract a thing that art is, how much a matter of convention, and how completely the painter speaks a language which is not that of literature. Velasquez is taken as the great type of all true painters. This valuable essay might be and should be published also in a small, inexpensive volume, but such a volume could not contain the 20 line photogravures nor the 43 full-page half-tone illustrations which make this a museum of Velasquez's works.

Stranahan, Mrs. C. H.

HISTORY OF FRENCH PAINTING FROM ITS EARTIEST TO ITS LATEST PRACTICE, including an account of the French Academy and its Schools of Instruction. Illus. N. Y., Scribner, $3.50.

As the French schools of painting have been for a century and a half the most important hody of graphic art in Europe, steadily growing in an orderly sequence, this book, which relates the external history of this growth and appreciates and qualifies it very justly, is important to all students. There are errors, but the work is surprisingly accurate in the main, and is full in detail. It includes a careful history of the French Government's influence and control of the Fine Arts. See also "Meissonier and the Salon Julien" in George Moore's "Impressions and Opinions" in this list.

759.4

Stuart, Gilbert. See Mason, G. C.

Sturgis, Russell.

Articles in Johnson's Universal Cyclopedia. Ed. 1803-5.

Chiaroscuro — Drawing — Engraving — Illustration — Impressionism — Lithography — Painting — Sculpture —Wood-Carving — Wood-Engraving.

See also some of the biographies of artists in the same Cyclopredia.

See also Part 1, of this list

Sweetser, M. F.

ARTIST BIOGRAPHIES. New ed., with illus, Bost., Houghton, 1896, 7 v., $8.75. Sold only in sets.

Lives of Raphael, Leonardo, Angelo, Titian, Claude, Reynolds, Turner, Landseer, Dürer, Rembrandt, Van Dyck, Angelico, Murillo, and Alston. Rather popular in treatment. The latest information seems to have been used in preparing these biographies. 700

Thausing, Moritz.

DÜRER GESCHICHTE SEINES LEBENS UND SFINER KUNST. Leipzig, E. A. Seeman, 1876, 30 marks.

Probably the standard work on Albert Dürer, and should be translated into English. The illustrations are valuable but not very numerous. It would be easy to make an English edition much fuller in this respect. Compare the work by W. B. Scott.

Thirion, H.

LES ADAM ET CLODION. Paris, Quantin, 1885, 50 fr.

Devoted to artists of the XVIII, century who are little known outside of France, except as a few terracotta groups are shown in collections, or in sales, under the name of Clodion. The fine art of this late period, commonly spoken of as Art of the Decline, or as Rococo, or Baroque, is commonly disregateded as lacking in purpose and even in good taste. The student of art must learn to disregard these common ascriptions and find out for himself what good there is in art not generally esteemed. The illustrations are numerous, and are almost enough in themselves to supply the information needed.

Thomson, D. C.

COROT. THE BARBIZON SCHOOL OF PAINTERS. With 50 illus. Lond., Simpkin, 1892, 158.

Chiefly valuable for its illustrations. Corot's work when given without color is, of course, representative of only a part of his peculiar genius. Photographs from his paintings are, however, valuable, much as his own etchings are. They represent better, perhaps, than any other portable and easily accessible pictures, the modern school of painting which hearly ignores subject in the sense of portraits of particular scenesting achieves the achieve has led into Impressionism.

7

Thornbury, Walter.

LIFE OF J. M. W. TURNER. N. Y., Holt, 1877, $2.

1877, $2.

Needed in connection with Hamerton's more sympathetic and critical life, because of its tabular reference to the work of the artist.

759.2

Tintoretto. See Osler, W. R.

Titian. See Sweetser, M. F.

Turner, J. M. W. See Hamerton, P. G.; Sweetser, M. F.; and Thornbury, W.

Upcott, L. E.

Introduction to Greek Sculpture. N. Y., Macmillan, 1887, $1.10.

One of several books which have been published as companions to a small museum of casts, or a collection of photographs. Valuable in itself as a rather full account of a few important sculptures, pictures of which occur in many books. If it were desired to get a few casts or photographs, they might well be purchased according to the list given, p. 9-12.

Vachon, Marius.

Jacques Callot. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1886, 6 fr.

Callot was an etcher and engraver of the early years of the XVII. century; his work, though by no means of the highest rank, should yet be studied by every one interested in art which speaks strongly of its epoch. Nothing can exceed the frankness and uncompromising ruth of the artist's intentions; he is absolutely fearless and unreserved whether he is describing a scene of warlike violence and outrage, or a peaceful scene in old Paris, or is engaged in representing the costumes of his time. Illustrations well reproduced from the originals.

Van Dyck, A. See Guiffrey, J.; Michiels, A.; and Sweetser, M. F

Van Dyke, John C.

ART FOR ART'S SAKE. Seven University Lectures on the Technical Beauties of Painting, Illus. N. Y., Scribner, $1.50.

Of much value, because it explains in very simple language and in detail how a painter conceives a picture and poes to work at it, and how he looks at the pictures which he and other artists have produced. Should be read with fare as if a text-book of the painter's trade.

How to Judge a Picture: Familiar Talks in the Gallery with Uncritical Lovers of Art. N. Y., Hunt & Mains, 60 c.

A manual containing useful hints, but nothing that is not better given in "Art for Art's Sake." Its general tendency is to be approved. 750

HISTORY OF PAINTING. N. Y., Longmans, 1805, $1.50.

One of a series of three volumes (see Hamlin, and Marquand and Frothingham). This work covers the range of European art and what preceded it, from Persana enamel, tile, and Egyptian wall painting, to the American work of to-day. Each chapter is preceded by a bibliography concerning the period, followed by a bibliography concerning the period, followed by a bibliography concerning the period, to the same period. The general bibliography hefore the Introduction is incomplete, and contains some works which are not trustworthy.

Velasquez. See Armstrong, W.; Justi, K.; Lefort, P.; Michel, Emil; and Stevenson, R. A. M.

Vernet, Horace. See Rees, J. Runtz.

Véron, Eugène.

Eugène Delacroix. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1887, 8 fr.

Eugène Delacroix was the celebrated leader of the socalled romantic movement in France under Louis Philippe. For men of our time his fame depends chiefly upon his work as a colorist; it cannot be said that his gift in this way is adequately treated in the book before is. That, however, is a most difficult and unusual thing to find in any art criticism. This book gives a good biography of the man and description of his work, with many useful illustrations. 759.4

Viollet-le-Duc, E. E.

Histoire d'un Dessinateur. Transl. as Learning to Draw; or, The Story of a Young Designer. N. Y., Putnam, $2.

Under the form of a biography of a young man of natural good ability as a draughtsman and designer, but not of great genius, the right way of studying art practically is considered, and much wise suggestive advice given. 746

Vischer, L.

LUCA SIGNORELLI UND DIE ITALIANISCHE RI-NAISSANCE. Leipsic, Veit & Comp. 1879, to marks.

The part of Luca Signorelli in the Italian Renaissance is inadequately stated in most works on the subject; on that account this book is peculiarly important to students. If, however, the large work of Muntz is to students. If, however, the large work of a multiple at hand this special work is not so indispensable 759.5

Vosmaer, C.

REMBRANDT, SA VIE ET SES (EUVRES. La Haye, Martinus Nyhoff, 1877, 10 florins.

The first work in which Rembrandt was given a personality which could be understood. Mr. Vosmaer had made fruitful researches which resulted in identifying Rembrandt with his native city, and with recording the chief events of his life in a way not before possible. Much of this narrative is valuable to the student as showing how Rembrandt was regarded during his life and his position in relation to his contemporaries. See Mollett, J. W., for a small book based upon this Waldstein, Charles.

Catalogue of Casts in the Museum of Classical Archæology of the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge, England. Lond., Macmillan, 1839, 1s. 6d.

A smaller book of the same general character as that of Mr. Upcott. It would be useful in connection with that, or without it. that, or without it.

Walker, Frederick. See Phillips, C.

Watteau, Antoine. See Phillips, C.

Wauters, A. J.

Peinture Flamande. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quartin, 5 fr. Transl. by Mrs. II. Rossel as The Flemish School of Painting, N. Y., Cassell, 1855, $2.

The English translation is out of print. Like all the books of this series, the French original is valuab

759.9

Wedmore, Frederick.

ETCHING IN ENGLAND; with 50 illus. Lond., Geo. Bell & Sons. N. Y., Macmillan, 1895. £3.50.

Treats the art of etching as it has existed in England Treats the art of etching as it has existed in England during the present century, in brief notices of its different masters, such as Turner, Wilkie Geddes, Palmer, Haden, Whistler, Legros, and others. The reproductions are not all of equal excellence, and some are defective. Useful for reference.

Willard, Ashton R.

SKETCH OF THE LIFE AND WORK OF THE PAINTER DOMENICO MORELLI. Bost., Houghton, 1895, $1.25.

ton, 1895, $1.25.

Valuable as a monograph on an artist little known m America and as a contribution to the history of the contemporary art of Italy. Even if Morelli is not so important a painter as the author of this book takes him to be, this would be a valuable treatise and one full of instruction as to modern art. There are eight phetographic illustrations from Morelli's works.

759.5

Willshire, William Hughes.

INTRODUCTION TO THE STUDY AND COLLEC-1108 OF ANCHENT PRINTS. Lond., Edlis & White, 1877, 2 v. Out of print.

There are curious omissions from this work, but it is in spite of them the best book there is to rathe beginned in the study or purchase of old prints. It is not of in reasonable cost

Wilson, C. Heath.

Article Fresco, Encyclopædia Britannica. oth ed.

Woltmann, Alfred, and Woermann, Karl.

HISTORY OF PAINTING. Vol. I., Ancient. Early Christian, and Mediaval Paintings. edated by Sidney Colvin. N. Y., Dodd. Mead & Co. With Vol. II., $20, Students' Edition, 87,50.

The first part of a general history of painting, the best at present accessible in English. It has been condensed from the German original; there are many illustrations, and the book is certainly useful, however much it lacks in picture-squeness of narrative and originality of insight. originality of insight.

Vol. II., The Painting of the Renascinge, Transl. by Clara Bell. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co. With Vol. I., $20; Students' Edition, $7.50.

The second part of the work named last above. volume contains a great many illustrations, not of great y dune contains a great many mistrations, not a great excellence or beauty in themselves, but of wells hosen subjects and useful for reference. It is, perhaps, the hest history of Renaissance painting in the English language. There is an index to this and the preceding parts, but this is not sufficiently complete to make their contents with markets and the contents of the content contents easily accessible.

Wood, Esther.

DANIE ROSSELLI, and the Pre-Rephachte Movement, Illus, N. Y., Scribner, 1804,

An account of pre-Raphaelitism, "more as an ethical An account of pre-Rajbachtism, "more as an ethical than an aesth tic revolution," as the preface states. There are eight photographic illustrations on a small scale, but important. Compare what is said of Sharp's "Life of Rossetti" and Stephen's "Portfolio Mono-graph."

Wood, H. Trueman.

Modern Methods of Illustrating Books. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1887, 51,28,

A handbook of the many photographic and other ocesses lately introduced. Compare the "Hlustraprocesses lately introduced. C tion of Books "by Mr. Pennell. 855.53

Yriarte, Charles.

Paul Vilonist. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1888, fr. 6.50.

While waiting for an adequate book on this giant of Wille waiting for an adequate book on this glant of painting the present little in negraph will serve our turn very well. The author is well known for his large monographs on Rimin, Florence, and Venice, and other books on artistic subjects. This book contains a great many illustrations, some of them useful outlines to the large conventions of V. Topogo. of the large compositions of Veronese. 759.5

PART III.

ARCHITECTURE AND LANDSCAPE GARDENING.

PRELIMINARY NOTE.

Although Architecture is a Decorative Art, and should logically be put under that head (see Prefatory Note), it is more convenient to treat it separately, especially because of the enormous number and importance of the books in many languages which are devoted to architecture alone. Of these books but a small number are in English, either in their original form or in translation; and of the books which are in English only a very few, and those not often valuable, are of moderate cost.

The Fine Art of Architecture has a curious history. From the earliest historical times to the XV. century there was a general tendency for styles to develop naturally and spontaneously one out of another. One style would perhaps disappear in a time of conquest and in the ruin of the civilization which had created it; then the conquerors, perhaps after a long time of little artistic production, would evolve a new style. Occasional attempts were made to revive a style of former times, but these were never of much importance. In the XV, century, however, a deliberate attempt was made in Italy to return to the style of the Roman Empire; that is, to the system of architectural decoration seen in the ruined buildings of about the years 50 to 350 A.D., found in Italy and in other countries on the Mediterranean. This was caused less by admiration of the beauty of those structures than by reverence for the mighty traditions of the Roman Empire, and by the revival of classical learning which was going on at the same time. All this is to be studied in treatises upon the Renaissance. The style of architecture so created by deliberate days. For catalogue see under Avery.

effort was at first in the hands of most able artists, accomplished sculptors and painters, and it had a fresh and original beauty of its own. Soon, however, it grew to be a more nearly exact copying of the ancient structures. In different forms this artificial style went on developing itself through the XVI., XVII., and XVIII. centuries. During all these years, as in previous times of more natural styles of architecture, no man would build in any other style than the one accepted; but since the French Revolution all has been chaos.

The books and articles on Archæology are apt to contain much information about architecture, but it is to be observed that their writers have generally no experience either in building or in designing buildings.

Architecture is so complex an art that positive and peremptory opinions about it should be mistrusted, from whatever source they come. Nearly all great excellences in the art bring their errors and faults with them; more than the fine arts proper, architecture is a series of compromises, and the best has to be given up very often for the second best.

The attention of students is called to the Avery Architectural Library at Columbia University, New York. Mr. Samuel P. Avery and his wife have founded this library as a memorial to their son, Henry O. Avery, an architect, who died in 1890. More than fifty thousand dollars have already been given to this foundation, expended in books and periodicals on architecture and decorative art. The choice of books has been careful. The library is accessible to all persons, both by day and in the evening, except on Sun-

Academy Architecture: An Annual Architectural Review, gublished by "Academy Architecture." Lond., 1889 and subsequent years. N. Y., Scribner, $2 each.

Each annual issue of this book forms a small quarto published at a low price and containing half-tone and innecut pictures of architectural drawings shown in the annual exhibitions of London, Edinburgh, and Glas-gow: together with plates of buildings and details which have been actually carried out. It is not to be supposed that all or half of the designs here given are really meritorious, but the selection is remarkably good, and any library may be the better for such an annual gathering of the better class of modern architectural designs. 720.5

Adamy, Rudolf.

Architektonik auf historischer und Æs-THE HISCHER GRUNDLAGE. Hannover, Helwing, 1883-96, 2 v., and part I of Vol. III., 32 marks, 15 pfgs.

This history of architecture stops with the early Renaissance. Divided into convenient parts, which may be bound separately. A systematic history, with a great many examples not given in other works. It should be translated, but its numerous illustrations, and the Roman type in which it is printed, make it useful to persons with even a slight knowledge of German. German.

Architecture, Academy. See Academy.

Avery Architectural Library, Catalogue of the; Columbia University, New York.

N. Y., Macmillan, 1895, $10.

A large volume, very handsomely printed on thick paper, containing 1130 pages besides the Introduction. It is a catalogue of titles and authors only, as, indeed, was inevitable, for a subject catalogue of any utility is necessarily a work of slow growth. When this catalogue was printed the Library contained 13,000 volumes, and it will be recollected that volumes of architecture and decorative art are of a high average of size and cost. See preliminary note to Part III.

720.8

Billings, Robert William.

Architectural Illustrations, History and Description of Carlisie Cathedral. Hlus, Lond., T. & W. Bonne, 1840. Out of print.

During the years before 1850 many carefully made books had been issued in England in which were conbooks had been issued in England in which were con-tained free-hand and measured drawings of the medi-æval buildings of Great Britam. These books were a powerful aid to the movement which we call the Gothic Revival, which has filled Great Britain and her depen-dencies with churches and civic and domestic buildings designed in some form of the Pointed Style. Of the designed in some form of the Formed style. Of the earlier books those of Billings are the best on account of the beauty and the generally undisputed accuracy of the engraved plates. This volume is a sufficiently complete monograph of an English Cathedral as it was before the restorations were undertaken which formed the rest of the second Cathe protected and when how a part of the recent Gothic movement, and which have often done irreparable injury. Photographs are, of course, better than the best free-hand drawings, but photographs cannot always be had, taken from the same point of view. The measured drawings, especially the plans, cannot be replaced.

Architectural Illustrations and Descrip-TIONS OF THE CATHEDRAL CHURCH OF DUR-HAM. Lond., T. & W. Bonne, 1843. Out

See what is said in the note next preceding. The Cathedral of Durham is an especially interesting one Blomfield, Reginald, and Thomas, F. Inigo.

THE FORMAL GARDEN IN ENGLAND. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1892, $3.

A most interesting treatise on such ornamental gardens as are architectural in their character, with terraces, flights of steps, straight walks, fountains, and the like. The author claims for such gardens a superiority when associated with buildings of dignified character. Compare Robinson's "Garden Design." 712

Boito, Camillo.

Architettura del Medio Evo in Italia. Milano, Ulrico Hoepli, 1880, 10 lire.

The Italians are beginning to write the history of The Italians are beginning to write the instory of their own fine arts of the past, a subject that has been left hitherto to foreigners. It is of course very impor-tant for the student to possess and understand the view which each people takes of its own achievements. Thus the question of the origin and nature of that Italian Gothic art, which the Northern nations think so inferior to their own, should be studied from the Italian point

Brown, Albert F., and Isham, Norman M. EARLY RHODE ISLAND HOUSES. See Isham.

Butler, Alfred J.

Ancient Coptic Churches of Egypt. Oxford, Clarendon Press. N. Y., Macmillan, 1884, 2 v., $7.50.

A piece of close personal research into ancient Christian churches in Egypt. The subject seems more calculated for the special student of architecture than for the general reader, but the book will be found exceedingly interesting, the churches, with their paintings and furniture, well worth reading about, and the whole an admirable introduction to Christian ecclesiology.

Cattaneo, Raffaele.

L'Architettura in Italia dal secolo VI. AL MILLE CIRCA. Ricerche storico-critiche. Venezia, Ongania, 1588, 12 lire. French edition, 15 lire. Transl. by the Contessa Isabel Curtis-Cholmeley in Bermani, as ARCHITECTURE IN ITALY FROM THE SIXTH

TO THE ELEVENTH CENTURY Historical and Critical Researches. Photogravure frontispiece and over 100 illus. Lond., T. Tisher Unwin, 1890, 218.

Devoted to that very early period of the Italian Romanesque in which the Byzantine influence is very strong. See what is said above about the book by Camillo Borto; also what is said about Byzontine art in discussing books by Bayet. Compare also the note on Mr. Goodyear's "Investigations of Italian Building".

Chateau, Léon.

Histoire et Caractèris de l'Architecture EN FRANCE. Paris, A. Morel & Cie., 1864.

A valuable book. It contains but few illustrations, A variable book. It contains but few illustrations, no index, no bibliography, but few and brief lists of buildings of any epoch, and its division is into a few long chapters. It has, therefore, none of the aids to quick reading and easy comprehension which are now, very properly, in vogne; it is, moreover, in rather fine print. It remains, however, the best narrative of architectural by terms of a composition of greatly history. chitectural history of a given nation or epoch which exists.

Corroyer, Edouard.

L'Architeuture Gothique. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr. Transl. as GOTHIC AR-CHIFECTURE. Edited by Walter Armstrong. N. Y., Macmillan, 1893, $2.

A very good account of the origin and growth of the great styles of Western Europe, from 1150 to 1500, with useful illustrations. It is the work of a very competent man, and should be studied with care. 723.5

L'Architecture Romane. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 1888, 5 fr.

This excellent little book should be studied in connection with the same author's "Gothic Architecture," which is, of course, its sequel. It is to be hoped that this book on "Romanesque Architecture" will also be translated.

Description de l'Abraye Mont Saint-Mi-CHEL ET DE SES ABORDS, précédée d'une notice historique. Paris, Dumoulin, 1877, o fr.

Mont Saint-Michel is a little town built around a monastery and surrounded by fortified walls of the Middle Ages. The site which it occupies is a high pyramidal rock, an island at high tide. The buildings of the convent are crowned by a large church, the wills and many of the private buildings are unaltered work of the Middle Ages. It is a gem of beauty and interest. Mr. Corroyer has made a most valuable monograph of it, illustrated by igo figures, of which some are large folding plates. No book contains a stronger impression of Romanessone and Cothic architecture as they were of Romanesque and Gothic architecture as they to those who built and used the structures. 723.44

Daniell, A. E.

LONDON CITY CHURCHES, Illus, N. Y., Scribner, 1896, $2,25.

The greater number of the churches mentioned in this book are the work of Sir Christopher Wren; they are of considerable value in the history of architecture. They are admitted to be excellent specimens of the later revived classic style inspired in the main by the works of Palladio at Vicenza and elsewhere in Italy. This style lacks meaning, variety, and warmth, but it is now much in fashion among architects; these English buildings are good examples of its employment in small and inexpensive structures. The book is very insmall and inexpensive structures. The book is very in-teresting and useful as a guide-book to buildings which are not visited as much as they should be.

De Forest, Lockwood.

Indian Domestic Architecture. Lockwood De Forest, 7 E. 10th St., $2.

Devoted exclusively to the dwellings of northern India, and contains only twenty-five photographs, which, however, are well selected as it is ubject, and adequate in themselves. Mr. De Forest is an artist who has devoted much attention to the perpetuation of Indian wood-carving, and to design calculated to embody such carving, made in India for the purpose. The advertising pares at the end of the book are surrounded by curious borders, arranged by Mr. De Forest himself in the Indian taste.

De L'Orme, P. See Vachon, M.

Durm, Josef.

DIE BAUKUNST DER GRIECHEN (THE ARCHI-TECTURE OF THE GREEKS). 2d ed. Darmstadt, Arnold Bergstraesser, 1892, 20 marks.

This is one volume of the great work entitled "Hand-This is one volume of the great work entitled "Hand-buch der Architektur," and of its second part, whose general title is "Die Baustile." Each volume is to be had separately. It is greatly to be desired that these volumes, of the second part at least, should be trans-lated into English by competent persons, for no his trical works on architecture, for the periods covered by them, are obtainable. They are very fully illus-trated, the volume before us containing 265 figures; the buildings are treated from the different points of view of construction, decorative style, and utilitarian purpose. It is believed that the volumes will be kept up to date by means of new editions; at least in the case of the book under consideration, the first edition was issued in 1881, and eleven years later the present edition came out with very important changes, made necessary by the advance in archeological research, and with additions in the way of tables, and the like. In each volume there is a hibliography; not complete, indeed, but including the more important works which the student should have within his reach, in the present volume this bibliography is in two parts, on pages 2 and 365, the first part referring to the history of architecture in general, and the second to that of the Greeks, especially

Persons to whom the German language is not perfectly familiar will find this text much less difficult feetly familiar will find this text inner to than that of some other works on the same subject 722.8

Die Baukunst der Etrusker (The Archi-TECTURE OF THE ETRUSCANS): DIE BAU-KUNST DER ROEMER (THE ARCHITECTURE OF THE ROMANS). Darmstadt, Bergstraesser, 1585 20 marks.

For the character of the series to which this book belongs, see the same author's work on the "Architecture of the Greeks". Only a few pages are given to Etruscan art; it is to be remembered that we know to Erruscan art; it is to be remembered that we know that the fittle of it, and that little of minor importance to the student of other and succeeding styles. Compare the works of Martha and Dennis.

As to the "Architecture of the Romans," this subject has been very little studied in comparison with the more thorough work given to the smaller and less claborate subject of Greek architecture; the 270 pages devoted to it in this volume are wholly inadequate to the treatment of so vast a record. At the same ame, no better book exists, and probably none so good

722.6

Eastlake, Sir Charles L.

History of the Gothic Revival. Longmans, 1872. Out of print.

Gothic architecture has never wholly died out in England, even in the time of the most decided classical England, even in the microf the most declared crosses, tendencies; as early as 1830 there was a vigorous attempt made to restore it to complete control of all building in England. This did not succeed, of course, and it may be said that the Gothic revival has failed because it has not resulted in the development of a decease with development of the control transfer of the properties. because it has not resulted in the development of a natural style, developing itself along the natural lines, but only a more or less archæological reshaping of ancient types. As, however, the architecture most in favor and having the strongest theoretical base, between 1850 and 1870, is thoroughly treated in this book, it is well worthy of study. No more deliberate attempt has ever been made to restore an ancient art, and the conditions which surround it, than this English attempt, which had excellent and victorius worklish attempt, which had excellent and vigorous workmen at its head, and a religious, national, and archaeological basis.

Enlart, C.

Origines Françaises de l'Architecture Gothique en Italie. Paris, Thorin & Fils, 1894, 20 fr.

This work is the result of new discoveries, in part original with the author, as to the first appearance of Gothic architecture in Italy, and the Northern influences which caused it to appear. It contains 34 photographic plates and 131 other illustrations, and is a most interesting account of a class of buildings little known or visited. It is a medium-sized octavo, of moderate cost.

723.5

Essenwein, August von.

Die Ausgänge der Classischen Baukunst (THE GRADUAL DISAPPEARANCE OF CLASSI-CAL ARCHITECTURE, as in the Christian Church-building which replaced it): Die Fortsetzung der Classischen Baukunst im oströmischen Reiche (The Carrying ON OF CLASSICAL ARCHITECTURE IN THE EASTERN EMPIRE, the Byzantine Architecture considered as a natural development of the Classical Roman). Darmstadt, Bergstraesser, marks 12.60,

This volume is as good in its way as the volumes of the same Handbuch Series which are prepared by Dr Durm, though it is somewhat less unique in its excelburn, in agn 1 is somewhat ress unique 1 its excep-lence, as treating on a subject which has been more carefully studied in proportion to its magnitude. If considered as part of a general history of architecture in Europe, this would be the third volume, following the two by Dr. Durm. 723.1

Die romanische und die gothische Bau-KUNST 1. DIE KRIEGSBAUKUNST (ROMAN-ESQUE AND GOTHIC ARCHITECTURE. 1. MILL-TARY BUILDING). With next title, in I vol., Darmstadt, Bergstraesser, 16 marks.

See what is said of the series under Durm above. The subject of mediæval architecture begins with this volume, which is devoted to the fortresses, the strong castles, the border-towers, the fortribed churches, and the city-walls of the Middle Ages.

723

Die romanische und die Gothische Bau-KUNST. 2. DER WOHNBAU (ROMANESQUE AND GOTHIC ARCHITECTURE: 2. DOMESTIC BUILDING). With next preceding title, in I vol., Darmstadt, Bergstraesser, 16 marks.

See what 15 said of the series under Durm above The present book may be considered the second volume of mediæval architecture of mediaval architecture

Mediaval church building is not yet covered by any volume of this series, and this is the more to be regretted, because the whole development of Romanesque architecture in its later ages, and of Gothic architecture, was in the churches and their construction. As this has not been recognized in the preparation of the present series, and the derived and secondary buildings have been allowed to take precedence of their originals, artistically speaking, it can hardly be hoped that the Middle Ages as a whole will be as well treated in this series of works as are the classical, Byzantine, and Moslem styles. As separate essays, well and abundantly illustrated, they are of great value.

723

Fergusson, James.

A HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE IN ALL COUN-TRIES, FROM THE EARLIEST TIME TO THE PRESENT DAY. In 5 vols. 3d edition. Edited by R. P. Spiers. Lond. Murray. 1893. 63s. An earlier edition is published in 2 v., N. Y. Dodd, Mead & Co. $7.50. (This firm announces for the near future a reprint of the latest revised edition.)

These two volumes form the history proper, freating the architecture of European peoples and its origin in Western Asia and Egypt, and coming down to the time of the Renaissance. It is important to procure this latest edition. Many serious shortcomings and errors of the original work are supplied and corrected in it. It is the only architectural history of any value in English, and so it is named here in spite of its considerable cost, and of the uncritical character of the original work. Mr. Fergusson was not a builder or designer, and much of his hook was written, in the first place, without personal knowledge of the buildings discussed and before the day of abundant photographs. 720.9

HISTORY OF THE MODERN STYLES OF ARCHI-TECTURE, 3d edition. Revised by Robert Kerr. Lond., Murray, 1801, 2 vols., 31s. 6d.N. Y., Dodd, Mend & Co., $10.

This work forms vols, 3 and 4 of Fergusson's general history, it is devoted to the styles which began with the Renaissance of the fifteenth century. 720.9

History of Indian and Eastern Architect-Lond., Murray, 3ts. 6d. N. Y., TRE. Dodd, Mead & Co., $10.

This volume completes the series. It contains the only consecutive account in English of the styles of India. The account of architecture in China, Lapan. etc., is very inferior and slight. 720.9

Fletcher, Banister, and Fletcher, Banister F.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE FOR THE STUDENT, CRAFTSMAN, AND AMATEUR; being a Comparative View of the Historical Styles from the Earliest Period. Lond., B. T. Batsford, N. Y., Scribner, 1896, $4.50.

The 160 illustrations are remarkably well selected. Most of them are made from photographs by the collo-type process, and these are of d fferent degrees of clear-ness. The text is not attractive for continuous reading. but is intended for reference, and is devoted to an elaborate comparison of different styles. See the present writer's review of the book in the Architectural Record, v 6, no. 1 720.9

Förster, Ernest.

Architecture of Germany. See Part I., p. 20, of this bibliography.

Franz-Pascha.

Die Baukunst des Islam (The Architecture OF ISLAM, i.e., of the Mohammedan people). Darmstadt, Bergstraesser, 1887, 11 marks.

See the description of this series under Durm. zantine architecture was checked in its growth by the conquests of the Saracens; its only development of later years is to be found in the Mohammedan architecture of Damascus, Cairo, Cordova, Granada, and the Moslem countries generally. This subject is treated in the volume before us, which supplies the fullest general essay on this architecture that is available. Compare Lane-Poole 723.3 zantine architecture was checked in its growth by the Freeman, Edward A.

HISTORICAL AND ARCHITECTURAL SKETCHES, CHIEFLY ITALIAN. Lond , Macmillan, 1876, ios, 6d. Out of print.

Interesting papers on ancient cities and their buildings of great historical value to all students of architecture. The author studied architecture all his life, and although wholly out of touch with it as scientific building or as fine art, he saw its value as material for Sketches from the Subject and Neighbor Illus. N. Y , Mac-LANDS OF VENICE. millan, 1881, $2.50.

Similar to the above a continuation of it, devoted to the little-known country from Treviso and Udine down the Illyrian coast to Cattaro, and also to Trani, Otranto, and the island of Corfu.

945

Article Normans, Encyclopædia Britannica. oth ed

Valuable points on their architecture in England and Sicily

Freeman, Edward A., and Gardiner, Samuel

Article England, History, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Mr. Freeman made a life-long study of architecture (see his works mentioned above): this article contains many valuable passages on the topic, as on p. 300, 310, 317, etc.

Gailhabaud, Jules.

Monuments anciens et modernes ; collection formant une histoire de l'architecture des différents peuples à toutes les époques. Paris, Didot, 1865, 4 v., 336 fr.

Wholly out of print, and can only be bought from second-hand catalogues, but no modern book replaces it. The first volume deals with rude stone monuments and with classical antiquities, the second with the early medieval buildings, etc. The artists employed to make the measurements and drawings were in many cases men who have become very famous since, and much of this 'prentice work was done with religious care and enthusiasm. As a general thing, enough plates are given to each binding, or group of bindings, to give a sufficient idea of its character, and even of its details.

It would be of the highest value if the work could be reproduced with a text revised in the light of ern critical knowledge

Gerspach, Edouard.

LA Mosaïgur, (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin,

Treats of the art of mosaic as seen in the remains of classical antiquity, of its continued practice during the Byzantine period, and of its employment in later times. Even the art of the XIX, century is touched upon in a few judicious words. A chapter on the technicalities of the manufacture, and one on the proper system of its design, conclude the book.

The art of mosaic should be studied by every one.

721.67 See what is said below under Müntz,

Goodyear, W. H.

Optical Refinements in Medleval Archi-TECTURE. In the Architectural Record, N. Y., Vol. VI., No. 1. Also reprinted separately as "Guide to the Exhibition of the Goodyear Collection of Photographs of Italian Architecture and Sculpture, and of the Survey of the Italian Mediceval Buildings.

The author has made a special study of ancient and modern buildings, careful measurements of which have revealed curves in the horizontal or vertical sense in modern buttonings, continued to be straight. The well-revealed curves in the horizontal or vertical sense in lines generally assumed to be straight. The well-known curvature of the stylobate and the architrave of the Parthenon affords a well-known instance, this was discovered by Penrose, but Mr. Goodyear claims to have discovered very many similar instances, and the present essay deals with those of the early Middle Ages in Italy. Mr. Goodyear's article named here is the first of a series he is (1806) contributing to the Archit-tectural Record. He purposes to treat the theine in book form.

Griffin, Sir Lepel.

Famous Monuments of Central India. Lond., Sotheran £5 58.

An oblong folio volume of photographs, which it is to be hoped will prove permanent. See what is said under Le Bon; the book there mentioned is more complete but the photographs are smaller and much less beautifu' in themselves than these Gwilt, Joseph.

Excyclopadda of Architecture Histori-CAL, THEORETICAL, AND PRACTICAL. Revised by Wyatt Papworth. N. Y., Longmans 1888, $17.50.

Has passed through many editions. Attempts to combine in one thick volume a history of the art, the combine in one thick volume a listory of the art, the mathematics which the practitioner is supposed to require, some knowledge of statics and mechanics, and many pages of directions as to practice, together with a very full bibliography and a glossary of terms used in architecture, which covers nearly 200 pages. It is, therefore, not without value, and reference to it will far more often be useful than misleading. What it most lacks, perhaps, is delicacy of distinction in the account of architectural styles. As to the practical part, one cannot make himself an architect by studying a hook or many books, but many questions that arise may be answered by reference to these pages. 720.3 may be answered by reference to these pages. 720.3

Hamlin, A. D. F.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE, N. Y. Longmans, 1596, $2.

One of the series of "College Histories of Art," of which Van Dyke" "History of Painting" was the first. Prof. Hamlin's book is intended mainly for study, as in the college class-room, and much is made of the lists of "monuments" which conclude the chapters. These are surprisingly complete. At the head of each chapter is also a list of books recommended, very judiciously made up, except that one would like to exclude some books published sixty years or more ago, which cannot be trusted. The text itself is singularly intelligent, and indicates a firm grasp of the reality rather than of the mere external appearance of things.

Harris, Thomas.

THREE PERIODS OF ENGLISH ARCHITECTURE. Lond., B. T. Batsford, 7s. 6d.

This book assumes it as evident that the lifeless condition of modern architecture requires an entirely new beginning in order that any living architecture may arise. Writing for English people, the author advises the adoption of Elizabethan and Tudor architecture and the gradual development of these styles, by the use of modern materials and appliances, into a modern style.

720.42

Harrison, Frederick.

Annals of an Old Manor-House, Sutton Place, Guildford, Illus, N. Y., Macmillan, 1893, $14.

For the study of ancient demestic architecture, and for a good understanding of Elizabethan architecture in general, nothing better could be offered than this most interesting book. A part of the text is devoted to family history and the like, but much of it is immediated youngeted with the building itself. The illustrations comprise photographic views, colored prints of stained glass, plans, and details of the sculpture and woodwork. 720.42

Haupt, Albrecht.

BAUKUNST DER RENAISSANCE IN PORTUGAL VON 1495–1640. Frankfurt a/M., Heinrich Keller, 1895, 2 v., 40 marks.

Portugal is so very little known as a country with architectural remains that the publication of this small quarto, with its three hundred pages and as many illustrations, is an immense gain to the general study of architecture. Fortunately, it is a good book, not preceding to completeness, but thorough, and displaying singular insight.

720.469

Havard, Henry.

LA FRANCE ARTISTIQUE ET MONUMENTALE.
Paris, La Librairie Illustrée, Montgredien,

Each volume contains eight or nine monographs on an important building or group of buildings. There are in all 150 photographic plates, and perhaps 400 illustrations in the text, some photographic and some from drawings. The text itself is written in every case by some person especially well informed as to the building in question. It will be seen that here is to be had at a very slight expense a remarkable encyclopadia of trustworthy information concerning the fine architecture of almost all epochs.

720.44

Huss, George Martin.

RATIONAL BUILDING, a translation of the article Construction, in the "Dictionnaire Raisonné de l'Architecture Français" of Eugène-Emmanuel Viollet-le-Duc, Illus, N. V., Macmillan, 1895, §3.

The paper in the original occupies more than half of one of the volumes of the famous French work quoted in the tutle. Construction, according to Romanesque and Gothic methods, as followed from the XI. to XVI. century, was much more elaborate than the construction of classical times, and far more logical and based upon reason than that of later times. Mr. Huss has given us a translation of this in a volume of 350 pages, with all the original illustrations. The translation is altogether exceptional in its minute faithfulness to the original text.

Isham, Norman M., and Brown, Albert F.

EARLY RHODE ISLAND HOUSES. Illus. Providence, R. I., Preston & Rounds, 1895, $2.50.

A thorough and critical study of very early American building, tracing tne traditions which govern it back to English building of earlier times. A hook to be commended strongly. See the writer's review of it in Architectural Record, v. 6, no. 1. 720.74

Jackson, T. G.

Modern Gothic Architecture. Lond., Henry S. King & Co., 58. Out of print.

This little book of 206 pages considers the attempted Gothic revival in Great Britain from the point of view of sound reasoning and true analysis. In this connection nearly all the important considerations which should influence modern architectural practice, and do not, are properly presented. It is a valuable book for every student of architecture to read, and the general propositions laid down in it should be carefully poindered.

724.3

Dalmatia, the Quarnero, and Istria. Illus. Oxford, Clarendon Press. N. Y., Macmillan, 1887, 3 v., $10.50.

One of those valuable books on architecture which are made up by the author's personal observations, in a region rich in monuments of art. On the eastern coast of the Adriatic the remains of the late Roman, of early Romanesque, and later Romanesque art are very abundant, and have been much less studied than those of more accessible parts of Europe. To the general reader it may be said that the aspect and character of a land in which ancient buildings remain almost intact is admirably reproduced. 724.8

Kerr, Robert.

THE GENTLEMAN'S HOUSE; OR, HOW TO PLAN ENGLISH RESIDENCES. Lond., John Murray, 1865, 24s. Out of print.

Only a part of this volume appeals to the general reader of Fine Art books, viz., that which deals with houses and their simple arrangements, gradually growing more elaborate. The book generally deals with plans only, ignoring the artistic side of architecture.

Le Bon, Gustave.

Les Monuments de L'Inde. Illustré d'environ 400 figures, héliotypes, dessins, cartes, et plans. Paris, Firmin-Didot & Cie., 1893, 40 fr.

For the study of the splendid architectural remains of India, covering a period of 2000 years and embodying many principles of construction and decoration not known to Europe, the only general treatise in English is the brief one of Fergusson. The work now before us is more complete, more scientific, and much more fully illustrated; the illustrations, moreover, being photographic. Other works on the subject are generally of the nature of monographs, or are mere collections of pictures. See what is said under Griffin and De Forest.

Lethaby, W. R., and Swainson, Harold.

THE CHURCH OF SANCTA SOPHIA, CONSTANTI-NOPLE: a study of Byzantine Building. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1894, $6.50.

The Church of Sancta Sophia, or Hagia Sophia, at Constantinople, is the most important building in the world, at least to all those whose ideas of art and history are based upon the Roman tradition. There are large monographs devoted to the building, and there exist contemporary documents which fortunately preserve the feelings of the builders and their employer, the Emperor Justinian. This book is made up of a study of those documents combined with personal examination of the building; it is eminently trustworthy, and in every way a valuable work. The illustrations are both useful and unusually artistic as decorations of the book.

723.2

Lewis, T. Hayter, and Street, G. E.

Article Architecture, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Far less valuable for classical architecture than Mr. Murray's article on "Archæology" in the same work; shows a lack of clear understanding of styles and essential differences. Mr. Street was an architect in large practice until his death in December, 1881, but he was exclusively devoted to the Gothic Revival, and although to be exclusive in one's own way is often good for an artist, it is bad for a critic. There are errors in the early part of "Pointed," but the descriptions, as of Chartres Cathedral, are not bad.

Linn, W. A.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS. In "Homes in City and Country." N. Y., Scribner, 1893.

Mr. Linn, managing editor of the New York Evening Flost, has given much attention to this subject the presents the whole case very clearly. He finds great advantages in the associations in juestion, and makes this plain to the reader. Many illustrations.

Loftie, W. J.

Inigo Jones and Wren; or, The Rise and Decline of Modern Architecture in England. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1893, §4.50.

A small quarto book, with some very valuable illustrations of buildings of the Classical Revival in England. The author is a clergyman who has written much about London and architectural art in England. His purpose in the present work is to urge the great superiority in the way of delicate proportion of the art of Jones, Wren, and their successors, and to protest against the revived Gothic as he saw it in England during the years previous to the publication of the hook. The pook must be taken as the interesting presentation of one side only of an important question that involves an historical account of building in England since 1350.

Longfellow, William P. P., editor.

Cyclopædia of Works of Architecture in Italy, Greece, and the Levant. Illus. N. Y., Scribner, 1895, $25.

N. V., Scribner, 1895, $25.

Of the nature of a gazetteer; that is to say, a geographical dictionary of the most important monuments of the countries named in the title. It is, then, an addition to the valuable guide-books of which there is mention elsewhere. Its peculiar value is probably in its treatment of the cities of the East, as of the Balkan Pennsula, Syria, and Asia Minor, for which no adequate guide-book exists.

Longman, William.

HISTORY OF THE THREE CATHEDRALS DEDI-CATED TO ST. PAUL IN LONDON, Lond., Longmans, 1873. Out of print.

An excellent account of the old church of St. Paul, maily destroyed in the fire of 1666, and the long preparations for the present structure, designed by Sir Christopher Wren, as well as of the building itself. Whole is a valuable chapter in architectural history. It is rather important to the student that he should become aware how complex and many-sided is the problem involved in a large building for national purposes. This knowledge is as well gained in this book as in any to which reference can be made.

Macgibbon, David.

Architecture of Provence and the Riviera. Edinburgh, David Douglas, 1885, 218.

By one of the two authors of the valuable books on Scotland given below. In this book the buildings of Roman time and of the Middle Ages early and late, which are to be found as one travels from Vienne through Arles and Nimes to Carcassonne, and so back eastward along the Riviera to Genoa, are described and pictured in spirited drawings whose trustworthiness to general effect, and to details, need not be doubted. 720.44

Macgibbon, David, and Ross, Thomas.

CASTELLATED AND DOMESTIC ARCHITECTURE OF SCOTLAND FROM THE XII. TO THE XVIII. CENTURY. Edinburgh, David Douglas, 1892, 5 v., £10 10s.

This book, illustrated with a great number of trustworthy drawings, included in the text, contains a very complete account of the ancient non-ecclesiastical buildings of Scotland. No one unfamiliar with the country would suppose there was so much of historical and suggestive value within its narrow limits. A student seeking examples of the picturesque and effective in simple buildings creeted at moderate cost will find what he desires here. Compare the "Ecclesiastical Architecture" of the same anthors.

ECCLESIASTICAL ARCHITECTURE OF SCOTLAND FROM THE EARLIEST CHRISTIAN TIME TO THE XVII. CENTURY. Vols. I, and II. [III. not published yet]. Edinburgh, David Donglas, 1804-96, 84s. N. V., Scribner, $33,60.

This work will be, perhaps, more generally useful than the book by the same authors on civic architecture. This work is uniform with the other in style and appearance. 720.41

Marquand, Allen.

Greek Architecture, Illus, N. Y., Macmillan, Announced without date.

The author is Professor of Fine Art at Princeton University. 722.8

Mathews, Charles T.

The Story of Architecture. N. Y., Appleton, 1896, 83. 720.9

Melani, Alfred O.

Architettura Italiana, Parte Prima; Architettura Pelasgica, Etrusca, Italo-Greca e Romana. Milano, Ulrico Hoepli, 1887, 2 v., 6 lire.

This book, which forms one of the Hoepli Manuali, is selected for mention because it is very desirable to read the history of every style as it is written by the writers of the same nationality; and also because they are two volumes on the fine arts printed in Itahan which are within reach of American students, and because the Italian view of fine art ought to receive more attention than it does. This second edition is a useful little book, though not containing what French and American writers would consider the latest conclusion of archaeology. 720.45

Merson, Olivier.

LES VIERAUX. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

A small treatise on the large and difficult subject of glass painting and decorative windows, ancient and modern. Highly valuable as an introduction to the subject; written with great good sense and large knowledge. It is not surprising that the recent triumphs of American glass painting are ignored 729.8

Michaelis, Adolf.

DER PARTHENON, Mit einem Textheft, Illus, Leipzig, Breitkopf & Härtel, 1870, 30 marks.

Though a small and thin folio on the famous ruined temple at Athens, with a mere pamphlet of text, contains everything that the student generally requires for a knowledge of the building. Peculiarly valuable is the engraved representation of all the sculptures of the building which are known to exist; the slabs of the maos frieze being numbered according to the places which they are known to have occupied, or thought to have occupied, originally. The sculptures of the pediment are, of course, not so easily placed. All theories on that subject are merely theories. 722.8

Middleton, J. H.

Article Rome, Topography and Archibology, beginning p. 807. Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

See what is said of this writer's book on Rome, in Part Γ

Mitchell, Donald G.

THE COUNTRY HOUSE. In "Homes in City and Country." X. Y., Scribner, 1893.

Mr. Mitchell has for many years been a landscape gardener by profession. The essay under consideration is rather historical than didactic; it contains an admirable account of growth and change of country houses in the northeast of the United States.

Moore, Charles Herbert.

DEVELOPMENT AND CHARACTER OF GOTHIC ARCHITECTURE. Illus. N. Y. Macmillan, 1800, $4.50.

An enthusiastic and scholarly book devoted to the examination of Gothic architecture in its essential structure and the resulting forms. M: Moore finds that not only did the style take its origin in northern France. but that it never was practised in its completeness and purity outside of France except in certain instances. It is a book to be studied with the greatest care by any one desiring to know the facts as they offer themselve to a very carcful and close student who is not himself a builder. Attentive reading of it cannot but give the a builder. Attentive reading of it cannot be greater reader larger views of the importance of a more minute inquiry into the essence and origin of architectural forms than is generally bestowed.

724.3

Morris, William, and Middleton, J. Henry.

Article MURAL DECORATION, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Good both in the architecture and the painting. The illustrations are also very valuable.

Müntz, Eugène.

La Mosafque chrétienne pendant les pre-MIERS SIÈCLES. I. La Technique; II, La Mosaïque dans les catacombes. Paris, Leronx, 1893, 6 fr.

this is a fuller treatise on the same subject as the one by Gerspach, given above. Mosaic has the singular importance of being the only great art combining representative and decorative qualities of the long epochs from the IV, to the XII, century. 721 67

Nevill, Ralph.

OLD COTTAGE AND DOMESTIC ARCHITECTURE IN SOUTHWEST SURREY, and Notes of the Early History of the Division. Guildford, Billings & Son; Lond., Batsford, 1891, 208.

From among the great number of specialized works which the modern architectural library contains, this whiten the modern architectural horary contains, this one is selected as giving a great number of trustworthy drawings of small houses built in a really traditional manner. There are here both city and country houses, and also many standing on the streets of small villages; they are all built according to the feeling for picturesqueness and fitness of design which is always found where all traditions are traditionally and the second architecture and traditional architecture. resqueness and atmess of design which is always round where old traditions are undisturbed, and where modern self-consciousness and archeological study have not come in. There is a useful descriptive text.

720.42

Palustre, Léon.

L'Architecture de la Renaissance. (B. E. B. A.) Paris, Quantin, 1892, 5 fr.

Mr. Palustre is known for his thorough study of the French Renaissance. This culminated in a noble book, of which three large volumes have appeared, but which probably remain a fragment because the system of illustration adopted, namely, by means of etchings, has now become obsolete. If the publishers would have the moral courage to change the plan to one based upon photography, "La Renaissance en France" might yet be brought to a triumphant conclusion. In the meantime, the little book before us is a first-rate introduction to the study of those styles of architecture which tool: shape in Italy about 1420, and in the rest of Europe during the century which followed.

720.44 French Renaissance. This culminated in a noble book

Papworth, Wyatt.

Article BUILDING, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Valuable in its account of the knowledge necessary to the architect and of the processes of planning and erecting a building. The general principles of construction, except in modern iron and steel building, are well explained.

Parker, John Henry.

Domestic Architecture in England from RICHARD II. TO HENRY VIII. Oxford, 1859. Out of print.

This book divided into two parts, although with continuous pagination, is the third of a series (see Turner, T. H., and also Parker and Turner). The very interesting subject of house and lurner. The very interesting subject of house architecture in England is treated in an attractive style, and with such completeness as is practicable in a work comprised in four moderate octavos. T. Hudson Turner was an enthusiastic student, and although he died before the development of medieval archeology to any great perfection, he was one of the most useful of the earlier helpers in the work. Mr. Parker is not to be commended as an archæologist. Still their joint work, and the work of Mr. Parker alone, have sumeed to furnish students with a work which may hold its place even after more critical books shall have appeared. There are a great number of illustrations, generally trustworthy. 720.42

Parker, J. H., and Turner, T. H.

Domestic Architecture in England from Edward I. to Richard II. Oxford, 1853. Out of print. The second of a series (see Turner, T. H., and also Parker, John Henry).

Parsons, Samuel, 7r.

SMALL COUNTRY PLACES. In "Homes in City and Country." N. Y., Scribner, 1803.

720.42

Mr. Parsons had been for a number of years the landscape gardener and superintendent of the New York City Department of Public Parks. See his worn "Landscape Gardening," mentioned below. This short essay is of very high value in the way of suggestion.

LANDSCAPE GARDENING; arrangement of country places, large and small parks, etc. N. Y., Putnam, 1891, $3.50.

This valuable book consists of 17 chapters, which are so many essays on different aspects of landscape gardening. It is very fully illustrated with wood-cuts and half-tone prints from nature. The paper on City Parks and that on lawn planting for small places, are of impediate interest to every one. 710

Platt, Charles A.

ITALIAN GARDENS. N. Y., Harper, 1894, $5.

A thin quarto with many photographic illustrations, devoted to a branch of decorative art very little studied in modern times, but worthy of the closest examination by all who are interested in architecture—the system and the art of laying out gardens so as to be closely in harmony with the architecture of large country houses. Such gardening reached its highest development in Italy in the XVII. century. Compare Biomheld and Thomas. 712

Price, Bruce.

The Suburban House. In "Homes in City and Country." N. Y., Scribner, 1803.

Mr. Price is an architect of New York City who, at the time of the appearance of this article, had himself built many houses at Tuxedo Park and elsewhere. The paper, inlike most of the others in the volume, is wholly concerned with the buildings of the day. It includes illustrations of fourteen characteristic houses by nearly as many different architects.

Ramée, Daniel.

HISTOIRE GÉNÉRAL DE L'ARCHITECTURE. Paris, Amyot, 1860-62, 2 v., 36 fr.

A far more systematic history than that of Fergusson. It is, indeed, composed on right lines for such a work. It does not contain the latest results of archæological study, and the illustrations, though of the kind most needed for the text, are too few for its full explanation. Like most treatises on architecture, the narrative stops with the earlier Renaissance, giving but the slightest mention to all that follows the XV.

It has been stated that this book contains many errors 720.9of fact and date.

Reber, Franz Von.

KUNSTGESCHICHTE DES MITTELALTERS. Leipzic, Weigel, 16 marks. Transl. by J. T. Clarke as HISTORY OF MEDIEVAL ART. N. Y., Harper, 1887, $5.

Of mediæval fine art Architecture is very much the most important form, and it includes most of the other arts as practised during the Middle Ages.

This translation is unusual in being the work of a very competent writer. A small glossary of technical terms is added.

Robinson, W.

GARDEN DESIGN AND ARCHITECTS' GARDENS. Two reviews, illustrated to show, by actual examples from British gardens, that clipping and aligning trees to make them " harmonize" with architecture is barbarous, needless, and inartistic. Lond., John Murray, 1892, 5s. N. Y., Scribner, $2.

A plea for the more informal and naturalistic style of gardening, even in connection with stately architecture. It is written in answer to such a book as Blomfield and Thomas's "Formal Garden in England"

Rohault de Fleury, Georges.

LA TOSCANE AU MOYEN AGE; ARCHITECTURE CIVILE FT MILITAIRE. Paris, Morel et Cic., 1873, 2 v , 150 fr. Out of print,

This book, which is never expensive, in two small folio volumes, contains measured drawings and pictorial drawings of such interesting buildings as the Palazzo Vecchio and the Loggia de Lanzi, at Florence, the Palazzo Pubblico of Siena, and private houses, city walls, and gates in half the cities of Tuscany. The value of the whole is greatly helped by the excellent plans of the different cities which are given, and the general views of the same cities from hill-tops near. Not students of architecture only, but readers of mediaval and later history and students of the fine art of Italy will find this book extremely surgestive. Italy will find this book extremely suggestive.

Root, John W.

THE CITY HOUSE IN THE WEST. In "Homes in City and Country." N. Y., Scribner, 1803.

The houses examined are nearly all of very recent date, and in this respect the article differs from those by Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Sturgis in the same volume. A dozen western houses, well selected, are given in the illustrations. The article will be found very much too laudatory of the designs criticised, and more hopeful than is safe.

Rosengarten, A.

DIE ARCHITEKTONISCHEN STYLARTEN. Braunschweig, Vieweg, 13 m. Transl, as HAND-BOOK OF ARCHITECTURAL STYLES. Illus. N. Y., Scribner, $2.50. 720

Ruskin, John.

THE SEVEN LAMPS OF ARCHITECTURE. Lond., Geo. Allen, 7s. 6d. With preface by Charles Eliot Norton. N. Y., Maynard, Merrill & Co., $2.75.

This book was first published in 1849; it is a marvellous piece of work for a man under thirty; compact and vigorous in thought, imaginative—a real poem without metre-superbly written, with sustained strength and flexible adaptation of language to thought. As a book of art criticism, it is of no value. The architecture it treats of is a dream, a conception of the writer, having no connection with the actual Gothic buildings of Europe, upon a close study of which it is supposed to be founded. The first edition contained 14 prints from soft ground etchings by the author, which, although from very careful drawings, were not successful mechanically. The second edition, 1855, contained illustrations "drawn by the author and re-etched by R. E. Cuff," with, moreover, the frontispiece carefully engraved on metal.

The Stones of Venice. Lond., Geo. Allen, 2 v., 10s. Also, with preface by Charles Eliot Norton. N. Y., Maynard, Merrill & Co., 2 v., $3.

This work was completed in 1853 in three large vol-This work was completed in 1853 in three large volumes with many illustrations. It is not advisable that the student should depend upon its conclusions or even its suggestions. It is even more decidedly characterized than the author's other works by that false theory of criticism which may be stated thus: Reason out first what a given work of art ought to express, and then compare the actual work of art with your conclusion; and denounce it boldly if it deviates from such a standard.

Those books only are to be used for edification which follow the opposite course, and begin by examining carefully what the work of art does say and is meant to say, and then go on comparing this with other works of art and the conditions which govern it and them.

The original edition named , bove contains very beau-The original edition named above contains very beau-iful illustrations, most of them made from the author's own drawings, which may be trusted as taithful inter-pretations. One or two colored plates are peculiarly valuable as giving what is not generally attainable. These plates are entirely omitted from the cheaper recent editions, and even the text wo id-cuts are not given in all of them. In fact, the book as prepared for the market to-day (1896), is re-made to serve as an inexpensive guide to the monuments of Venice, for which purpose it is of but little value.

Examples of the Architecture of Venice, 15 pl. and text. Lond., Geo. Allen, 42s.

Was intended to form a series of large illustrations, plates in Imperial folio, of the "Stones of Venice." It was proposed to issue twelve parts, but only one was ever published, namely, in 1851, by Smith, Elder & Co. The edition published by Mr. Allen is a reissue. The plates are very interesting and valuable; a tew of them the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesting and valuable; a few of the plates are very interesti

Sabine, Henri.

Table Analytique et Synthetique du Dic-TIONNAIRE RAISONNÉ DE L'ARCHITECTURE Français du XI, au XVI, Siècle par E. E. VIOLLET-LE-DUC. Paris, Librairie des Imprimeries Réunies, 1889, 20 fr.

An index to Vio.let-le-Duc's great work, which every student should possess, although it is far from perfect. The index in the tenth volume of the work itis entirely confined to the monuments arranged under their geographical heads.

Salzenberg, W.

Alt-Christliche Baudenkmale von Con-STANTINGPEL VOM V. BIS XII. JAHRHUNDER I. im Anhange des Silentiarius Paulus; Beschreibung der heiligen Sophia und des Ambon. Ubersetzt von Dr. C. W. Kortüm, Berlin, Ernst & Sohn, 190 marks.

This book, though large, and apparently limited in subject, is important to every student as giving the best information obtainable concerning the finest church normal obstainable concerning the mest entered in the world—which might easily be maintained to be the most important building as well. The book by Lethaby and Swainson, cited above, refers continually to this work for its illustration—In addition to Sancta Sophia, some of the smaller Byzantine churches of Constitutional care given with sufficient figures. stantinople are given with sufficient fulness, and there are large colored plates of mosaic and other important specimens of Byzantine art.

720.496

Schuyler, Montgomery.

AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE. Illus. Harper, 1892, $2.50.

A very handsome octavo and makes a good gift-book. The six essays which it contains are not con-nected except as their subjects are similar. The diffi-culty in treating these subjects is great, because there is so fittle of the architecture which is worthy of much praise or which can excite sympathy

Mr Schuyler's criticism is characterized by remarkable good sense and singular insight. able good sense and singular insignt. Like most writers on architecture he ismuch out of sympathy with the strong tendency visible among the practising architects toward an architecture of mere Roman order like that taught in the Schools. This sound and who sympathy with the strong control of the strong con book is very stimulating to thought.

Scott, Sir Gilbert.

RISE AND DEVELOPMENT OF MEDIEVAL AR-CHITECTURE. Illus. Lond., John Murray, 1579, 2 V., 428.

A very valuable book, marred by the disconnected character difficult to avoid in a volume of lectures, but full of material hard to find elsewhere and, perhar, impossible to find in such intelligible and compact form. In the single important subject of the essential characteristic of Gothic architecture, it is inferior to the book by C. H. Moore, but it covers a much wider field and is written from the point of view of the practised designer and superintendent of many important buildings.

Smith, T. R., and Poynter, E. J.

ARCHITECTURE, GOTHIC AND RENAISSANCE.

(Art handbooks series.) N. Y., Scribner,

Not inaccurate, nor hard to understand, but vague, discursive; fails to give clear and connected ideas. It fails also to insist on the most important points. The smaller part, devoted to the Renaissance, is more nearly accurate than that given to the Gothic. There is a short glossary of technical terms.

Smith, T. R., and Slater, John.

Architecture, Classical and Early Christian. (Art handbooks series.) N. Y., Scribner, §2.

Contains an account of ancient architecture in Egypt, Western Asia — Assyria, Eastern Asia, Greece, the Greek colonies and the Roman Empire; also of Byzanine, Romanesque, and Mohammedan architecture. A good general idea can be obtained from it, but there is in it no sign of intimate acquaintance with the remains described or with the best founded conclusions of modern archæologists. Thus the Roman buildings are said to be of brick, which is the superficial and popular view; the wall being really of small stones laid in mortar and only faced with fine hard bricks. So the question of Grecian Doric temples is treated as if they were all like the Parthenon in general scheme and in material. There is a brief glossary of technical terms. Some of the illustrations are very good.

Statham, H. Heathcote.

ARCHITECTURE FOR GENERAL READERS. Illus. N. Y., Scribner, $2.

Treats the essential truths of architecture in the order of the subjects and not historically except in a secondary sense. Trabeated architecture is distinguished from that which is arcuated; a chapter being devoted to each. A valuable chapter is devoted to architecture in relation to cities and landscapes. There is also an historical sketch occupying 120 pages. The book can be trusted as sound and intelligent and may be of great use to a person inclined to study the subject thoroughly.

Street, George Edmund.

Some Account of Gothic Architecture in Spain. 2d ed. Lond., John Murray, 1869, 30s.

The architecture of the mediæval cathedrals and churches in Spain had been scarcely studied before Mr. Street made his journeys and published this book as the result of them. He is an English architect wholly devoted to the Gothic revival and the builder of many important buildings. The drawings of the anthor are valuable and the numerous detailed plans of churches are undoubtedly trustworthy as being the work of a very able and conscientious man. 720.46

Brick and Marble in the Middle Ages. 2d ed. Lond., John Murray, 1874, 26s.

See what is said of this author under his work on the architecture of Spain. The present work, first published in 1855, describes the Gothic architecture of North Italy, especially that which is carried out in brick with marble freely used in the composition. The book is far less thorough than the one devoted to Spain; it shows but little sense of the true character of Gothic architecture or the Italian peculiarities, but the exterior aspect of the buildings is well described, and the drawings are valuable. Street was only thirty years old at the time of the Italian journey; he was ten years older when the book on Spain appeared.

720.45

Sturgis, Russell.

European Architecture; a Historical Study. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1896, $4.

"The essence of this book is a minute study of the moniments themselves, with no other reference to documents than is sufficient to fix their dates, or in the case of those monuments that have nearly perished, to the minute investigations of archæologists by means of measurements and comparisons made on the spot. The distinction is clearly maintained between those monuments which exist, although, perhaps, in a somewhat ruined or altered condition, and those which have practically perished and which have to be reconstructed by mental processes. The historical record Fegins with Doric temples of the VI. century B.c. down to the French Revolution, The whole is then divided chronologically into nine chapters, thus: Chapter 5 deals with the architecture of Western Europe from 1150 to 1300 A.D., Chapter 8 deals with the architecture of Western Europe from 1520 to 1665 A.D., etc., each of these later chapters, that is, from 1150 to the close, is then subdivided into five sections, as follows: France, Provinces north and south of France, Germany, England, Italy."—Publishers' Weekly. 720.40

Lack of Originality in Architecture; a paper in the Engineering Magazine, N. Y., Vol. VI., p. 11 (October, 1893).

This brief paper is an attempt to show that the poverty an I feebleness of modern architectural fine art is sufficiently accounted for by the way in which the architectural profession is conducted. The architect being paid by a percentage on the cost, and the buildings being needed in great haste, that there may be no loss by money lying idle, the tendency is toward making the architect a mere fiduciary agent.

Article Grecian Architecture, Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia, ed. 1893-5.

Article House, Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia, ed. 1893-5.

THE CITY HOUSE IN THE EAST AND SOUTH, In "Homes in City and Country." N. Y., Scribner, 1893.

This paper, the first in the volume mentioned, is especially aimed at describing the arrangements and plans of the houses built before 1850, but gives a few instances of later buildings as specimens of what was being done in New York between 1880 and 1890. Should be read in connection with Mr. Mitchell on the "Country House" in the same book.

Texier, Charles, and Pullan, R. Popplewell.

L'ARCHITECTURE BYZANTINE, ou Recueil des Monuments des premiers temps du Christianisme en Orient, précédé de recherches Historiques et Archéologiques.

BYZANTINE ARCHITECTURE, or collection of the buildings of the earliest times of Christianity in the East; preceded by historical and archæological investigations. Lond., Day & Son, 1804, £6 6s. Out of print.

This book, published in London both in French and in English, is valuable as a collection of buildings not otherwise very accessible to the student. Inaccuracies in other works by these authors has caused the present one to be regarded with suspicion, but the buildings treated of in this book exist in the form in which they are here portrayed, and are not the subjects of such restoration as was found inaccurately described in other cases.

723.2

Thomas, F. Inigo, and Blomfield, Reginald.

THE FORMAL GARDEN IN ENGLAND. See Blomfield.

Turner, T. H.

DOMESTIC ARCHITECTURE IN ENGLAND FROM THE CONQUEST TO THE END OF THE THIR-TEENTH CENTURY. Oxford, 1853. Out of print.

The first of a series (see Parker and Turner, also Parker, John Henry). 720.42

Vachon, Marius.

Philipert de L'Orme. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1887, 5 fr.

This great and original architect was one of the chief men of the French Renaissance which was nearly a century later than the Italian movement called by that name.

A valuable and interesting biography, with illustrations much to the purpose and valuable in themselves. 720.44

Van Brunt, Henry.

Greek Lines and Other Architectural Essays. Bost., Houghton, 1893, $1.50.

The work of a practising architect, formerly of Boston, now settled in the West, and who is yet a seeker for the spiritual or esoteric meaning in every work of art. In one important respect his criticism differs from that of most critical writers of fine art, namely, that he finds far more that is good in modern archite work than they. 720.4

Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Schuyler.

ART OUT OF DOORS, N. Y., Scribner, 1893,

An interesting essay on the beautifying of country places, village streets, etc.

Viollet-le-Duc, E. E.

Entretiens sur L'Architecture. Transl. by B. Bucknall as Discourses on Archi-TECTURE. Lond., Sampson Low, 2 v., 63s.

There is nowhere a more masterly treatise on architectural art. Its inmost secrets are known to this able writer, who sees what is strong and what is weak in every style, and makes it clear to his readers. He is also a master of explanatory and descriptive drawing. No other such illustrations of architectural subjects as those in his books are known. An edition of this work, published by Ticknor, Boston, 1881, $15, is out of print

DICTIONNAIRE RAISONNÉ DE L'ARCHITECTURE Français du XI. au XVI. Siècle. Paris, A. Morel & Cie., 1868, 10 v., 250 fr.

Of this great and useful book only a small part has been translated; namely, in book form, the article on construction, for which see under Huss. Of the ten volumes one is devoted to a table (see under Sabine), and the other nine are occupied by an encyclo-pædia of French mediæval art arranged in dictionary form; for which, however, the tables are needed, as many of the articles are very long, and require reference tables as much as books do.

ence tables as much as books do.

The author is in many ways a unique personage. He was an architect employed on the restoration of many of the most important ancient buildings in France; he had thus unusual opportunity of ascertaining the minutest details of their original construction. He was also the son of an enthusiastic student and collector of mediaval manuscripts and other documents; he had himself a gift at drawing which has never been conalled in its way. Hisdrawings whether never been equalled in its way. Hisdrawings, whether large or small, highly finished or slight, are always faultless as means of explanation of his meaning. They fauitless as means of explanation of his meaning. They were made with great speed; it is supposed that of the thousands of illustrations in this book, all, or all except some plans and diagrams, were drawn by his own hand. Inasmuch as France is the country in which Gothic art took its origin in the XII. century, developing itself out of a school of the Romanesque at least equal to that of any other land, it follows that the history of mediæval art is well impressed upon the student by the study of this book. combined with reference to such study of this book, combined with reference to other books as treat of the art of special countries of HISTOIRE D'UNE MAISON, Paris, J. Hetzel & Cie., 6 fr.

A popular book in which the method of planning and building a house in France is given in a way easy to understand. The much greater solidity of construction assumed in this case than is ever given in America to a house of similar size and style is well worthy of The logical and intelligent ways of building, avoiding hollow floors and furred walls, making fire almost impossible, are also worth study.

HISTOIRE D'UN HOTEL DE VILLE ET D'UNE Cathédrale. Paris, J. Hetzel & Cie., 10 fr.

The cathedral and the town hall of a provincial The cathedral and the town hall of a provincial French place of a few thousand inhabitants are made the subject of an interesting narrative dealing with the times from the Gallo-Roman rule to the Revolution. The buildings themselves are kept as the centre of the narrative, but the history deals with the violence and tyranny of the feulal period, the religious wars and the pacification under the absolute monarchy beginning with Henry IV. Every student should study this for the close connection it shows between the popular life of the Middle Ages and the buildings which grew out of it; buildings erected in a traditional way familiar to of it; of it; buildings erected in a traditional way familiar to the mechanics of the time and not the work of architects producing designs in the tranquillity of the office

Willis, $Rev. \mathbf{R}$.

ARCHITECTURAL HISTORY OF CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL. Lond., Longmans, 1845, 10s. 6d. Out of print.

This little book retains its critical value and has been for 50 years the type of small architectural monographs. The author is considered an authority on the subject of Gothic vaulting; but see what is said under the next

THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE VAULTS OF THE MIDDLE AGES. [Vol. I., Part II., Transactions Royal Institute of British Architects, 1842.] (This part can sometimes be bought separately.)

Professor Willis was almost the first writer to distinguish critically between Gothic rib-vaulting, which is the very essence of Gothic construction, and other kinds of vaulting. Later writers have carried the analysis much farther, but this essay remains of great value because of the minute record it contains of the author's own observations. Some valuable illustrations tions.

For later treatises on Gothic Vaulting, see Viollet-le-Duc, Moore, C. H., and Sturgis, Russell. 721.4 721.4

Wölfflin, H.

RENAISSANCE UND BAROCK. Eine Untersuchung über Wesen und Entstehung des Barockstils in Italien. Munich, Ackermann. 1888, 4 marks.

Most works on the Renaissance, whether Italian or of the northern nations, stop with the complete develop-ment of the neo-classic art near the close of the XV. century, or with the beginning of what is called the decline. This book is valuable because continuing the discussion along the unbroken series to much 724.1

PART IV.

MINOR DECORATIVE ARTS. COSTUME, EMBROIDERY, GLASS. INLAY AND MOSAIC. LEATHER WORK, METAL WORK, POTTERY AND PORCELAIN TEXTILE FABRICS.

These arts, called also the subsidiary arts and by other similar names differ from architecture only in the comparatively small size and cost and comparatively small importance to mankind of the objects which belong to them. It must be noted that the essence of decorative art is that it adorns some object which is necessary and useful in a practical way. Thus a little independent figure in bronze is sculpture, but the pommel of a sword worked into a similar figure is decoration as well as sculpture and the whole sword-hilt so adorned is a single work of decorative art. Buildings do not differ from weapons or furniture in this respect

Manuscripts with rich decoration are properly included here because the miniatures and even the full-page pictures contained in them are subservient to decorative purposes which in this case, is that of making the writing itself ornamental

Carvings in ivory are included here because in most cases they are subservient to the decorative purpose of book-covers, the backs of mirrors consular diptychs and the like.

On the other hand coins, though they are necessary objects adorned by art, are almost entirely works of pure sculpture in the manner of their conception by the artist, this is even more decidedly true of engraved gems, whether cameo or intaglio, for although the intaglio is primarily intended as a seal, yet the artistic design is the whole thing and is not part of the ornamentation of an object to which it is added.

Monumental brasses it is difficult to place, but it has seemed better to keep them with the other kind of art named above in Part II.

During the past forty years the literature of these arts has grown to enormous proportions. Few of the good books are in English and still fewer are inexpensive. The selection here given is of books which are essentially artistic. Thus in costume, Fairholt's 'Costume in England' [(Bohn) N. Y. Macmillan 2 vols., §3], and Planché's 'History of British Costume' in 2 quarto vols., and also [(Bohn) N. Y., Macmillan, §1,50], are valuable historically but are not studies of decorative art.

Alexandre, Arsène.

JEAN CARRIÉS, IMAGIER ET POTIER Étude d'une œuvre et d'une vic. Paris, Quantin. 1895, 25 fr.

See Part II Carriés was excellent as a decorative potter, he was much greater as a sculptor 738

Alford, Ludy Marian.

Needlework as Art. Lond., Sampson Low & Co. 1886, 218.

A carefully made book, fully and well illustrated Mainly historical. The account of English embroidery of different schools is extremely valuable. Compare the book by Caulierld and Saward. 746

Armstrong, Walter.

Attreb Stevens, a biographical study, Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1881-15 fr.

See Part II Stevens was chiefly known as a decorative designer, but his work on the Wellington Monument entitles him to rank high as a sculptor 730

Balfour, Henry.

EVOLUTION OF DECORATIVE ART. N. Y., Macmillan, 1893 $1.25,

An interesting and suggestive account of very primitive forms of ornament, both prehistoric and among savages of our own time. Careful reading of this book throws a good deal of light on many problems of fine art.

Barber, Edwin Atlee.

POTTERY AND PORCELAIN OF THE UNITED STATES. Illus. N. Y., Putnam, 1893, $5. There is naturally but little artistic pottery made in America, but there are a few old wares that are attractive, and two or three modern establishments have produced decorative pieces a good, perhaps, as modern industrial conditions allow. The present work reproduces in photography a great number of pieces, and although the true effect of the painted vase is not easy to render in photography, even apart from its coloring, such pictures still have value for reference. The text is, of course, mainly historical Benson, W. A. S.

ELEMENTS OF HANDICRAFT AND DESIGN. Illes. N. Y., Macmillan, $1.00.

Intended for school workshops, but its directions for simple carpenter work and the making of book-shelves and tables are excellent, and are illustrated with 94 drawings. The soundest principles of design are explained in simple language and well enforced. This part of the book is important, because there is a strong tendency in our times towards mere taking of designs from old works. This shows how designs are made, originally. The final chapter gives good general ideas as to coloring, and a long bibliography is added. 740

Birch, Samuel.

HISTORY OF ANCIENT POTTERY, EGYPTIAN. ASSYRIAN, GREEK, ETRUSCAN, AND ROMAN. Lond., John Murray, 1873, 428.

Lond., John Murray, 10/3: 40... A standard of reference, although newer books contain much not given in it. See A. S. Murray and Lau.

Birdwood, Sir George C. M.

INDUSTRIAL ARIS OF INDIA. Lond. Chapman & Hall, 1880-2 v. 148.

Not very thorough Relates rather to the modern and degenerate art of India than to its finer developments in the past. There is however, much of the original spirit left in Indian decoration. Persons brought up in European habits of thought cannot learn too much of that instinctive ornamentation, such as Europe also possessed down to the XVI century, but has now a most wholly lost.

Blanc, Charles.

GRAMMAIRE DES ARTS DÉCORATIFS décoration interieure de la Maison. Paris Laurens 13 fr.

See what is said about the same author's Grammaire des Arts du Dessin, in Part I 740

Bonnard, Camille

Costumes historiques des 12°-15° siècles tirés des monuments les plus authentiques de peinture et de sculpture dessinés et gravés par P. Mercuri. Nouv edition avec une Introduction par C. Blanc. Paris, Levy fils 1860-61 3 y 250 fr.

Probably the most artistic of books on costume Gives a great deal of attention to the costumes of Italy

Boutell, Charles.

ARMS AND ARMOUR IN ANTIQUITY AND THE MIDDLE AGES also a descriptive notice of modern weapons. Lond, Reeves & Turner, 1874. Out of print

Made up from Armeset Armures' by P. Lacombe, (Paris, Hachette, fr. 2,25). The original work contains many errors, some of an inexcusable character. Mr. Boutell's preface explains the necessity he has fett of recasting the book entirely while yet he has not wholly avoided the errors of the original, as in fig. 20, where a suit of armor is dated at least a century too early Mr. Boutell is a writer on heraldry and a mediceval archæologist of considerable reputation. While this book is not as full as Demmin's book nor above suspicion as to accuracy in detail, it is still useful. 399

Burty, Philippe.

BERNARD PALISSY. (L.A.C.) Paris, Librairie de l'Art, 1886, 5 fr.

As a decorative artist, Palissy has been greatly overrated, but the romantic legends that hang about his name and the enormous prices which his authentic works bring at auction, give him a somewhat factitious renown. 738

Caulfeild, S. F. A., and Saward, B. C.

DICTIONARY OF NEEDLEWORK, Lond, L. Upcott Gill, 1885–218. With colored plates, 318, 6d.

Almost as fully devoted to practical considerations and to teaching the art as Lady Alford's book is to history. No book of advice and instruction will seem wholly adequate to those who try to learn from it, but this one is believed to be thorough and careful and is certainly very full. Many illustrations, well adapted to their purpose. 746

De Champeaux, Alfred.

LE MEUBLE, XVIII., XVIII., et XIX. Siècles. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin. 2 v., 10 fr.

These two volumes treat the subject in proportion to the number of examples that exist rather than the importance of the epichs considered. Thus, 40 pages suffice for all that the writer has to offer concerning the furniture of Egyptian, Syrian, Greek, Roman, and Byzantine antiquity. The art of the Middle Ages occupies 80 pages, the art of the Renaissance is pages more, and the whole second volume is devoted to the XVII, and XVIII, centuries. It is therefore much more to one who studies furniture as a matter of practical design, than to the archaeological student of the subject, that these volumes appeal. There are 20 illustrations, very expressive and spirited; the text is written with great intelligence and thorough knowledge of the subject in all its branches.

Deck, Theodore.

Ly Famore, (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin

Mr. Deck is the well-known founder of a great establishment for the production of decorative pottery, he has written with the knowledge of an expert but also without much power of imparting his knowledge to the student who is not limised a ceramist. The book is rather a collection of recipes for the manufacture of decorative pottery than a popular essay on the subject. There is however, an historical essay which the author states is mainly a compitation from other writers. The chief value of the book to most persons will be the long series of illustrations, most of which will haddy be found in other books. Those which represent modern productions of Mr. Deck's own factory are especially worthy of note.

Demay, Jean Germain.

LE COSTUME AT MOYEN-AGE D'ADRÉS LES SCEAUX Paris Dumonlin, 1880-20 ft.

Devoted to a study of dress and insignia, chiefly mediaeval, taken from the vaduadie seals appended to ancient documents or discovered in recent researches. Compare what is said of the whole subject of seals inder Lecoy de la Marche and Middleton in Part II. In the study of costume these small bas-reliefs or intaglios are extremely valuable as being wholly trustworthy. As exemplifying the art of sculpture in the Middle Ages they are important as being wholly free from restoration and as showing another side of the same great art which has adorned the cathedrals. 390

Demmin, Auguste.

DIE KRIEGSWAFFEN IN HIRFR HISTORISCHEN ENTWICKELUNG VON DEN ALTESTEN ZEHEN BIS AUT DIE GEGENWART. Leidzig Friesenhahn 1891 to marks. Guide des Annteurs d'Armes et Armures anglinnes 2000 ed. Paris Laurens, 1641. Transl by C. C. Black as Arms and Armour. (Bohn.) N. Y., Macmillan, $2,25.

The best small book on ancient arms and armor. The author a German by birth, but a Frenchman by residence for many years, brought out this book in French and German at the same time; the German cdition is named first because the latest and fullest which has come to the writer's notice. The illustrations are slight sketches, extremely informal, and the reverse of decorative, but accurate in the way of fixing the important lines and of insisting upon construct in 399

Du Sartel, Octave.

LA PORCEI AINT DE CHINE. Paris, Morel & Cie., 1882, 200 fr

This splendid decorative art is so many-sided, and covers so large an epoch chronologically as well as so many towns and so many towns established. The pattern one book can hope to exhaust the subject. The pattern of this book are mostly in color and are all good of their kind, but they cannot show more than a few varieties. There are also too very well-drawn figures in the text. Compare the book described under Grandidier and the handbook of Mr. Paléologue. 738

Evans, Maria Millington (Lady Evans).

CHAPTERS ON GREEK Duess. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1893–82.

Of general value as containing an analysis of the most simple and beautiful costume known to us, that of the ancient Greeks, and also as being a key to that important part of sculpture and painting which we call drapery, which with European artists is founded on Greek examples.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS, FILE HISTORICAL SKITCH-FS. (One of the Art Handbooks of South Kensington Museum). Lond., Chapman & Hall, 38. Out of print.

A good general account of the ornamental arts as represented in museums.

Fletcher, William Y.

BOOKBINDING IN ENGLAND AND FRANCE. Illus.

Lond., Seeley & Co - N. Y , Macmillan 1896, $3.50.

The study of French bookbinding formed a Port folio Monograph for Oct., 1804. That on English bookbinding is of the form of such a Portfolio number, but has not yet appeared in that series. One object in naming this book is to call attention to the 17 splendid colored plates, examples of the latest and most valuable development of chromo-lithography. There are also a large number of text illustrations, fairly good half-fone prints. Bookbinding in its highest development is a decorative art of peculiar and unique interest, although in general one gets from it less art and more good mechanism and careful finish for his money than from most decorative industries. France has always taken the lead in such industries, and this book gives a good analysis of bookbinding as practised in France from the Middle Ages down to the Revolution. The sketch of the art in England will serve as a good introduction to the study of a very peculiar and characteristic school of binders.

Fortnum, C. Drury E

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF THE MAIOLICA HISPANO-MORESCO PERSIAN DAMASCUS. AND RHODIAN WARES IN SOUTH KENSINGTON MUSEUM. Lond Chapman & Hall, 1873 28 fd.

See what is said of this author's work on European bronze, Pari II. In this book the introduction, of 108 pages, does not pretend to be a complete history of the important classes of pottery described in the catalogue It is, however, an excellent description of them with careful discrimination between their different times and with shrewd remarks upon their characteristics. In this book as in the bronze book the catalogue is enriched by descriptive and critical notes, these notes are so numerous and so long that the catalogue of what is not a very large collection is extended to 650 pages. The collection is fine however and the works of nearly all schools are represented it it. Twelve colored plates and 50 or 60 wood-cuts.

MAIOLICA a Historical Treatise on the Glazed and Enamelled Earthenwares of Italy etc., also some notice of the Persian, Damascus Rhodian, and Hispano-Moresque Wares Oxford, Clarendon Press. N. Y. Macmillan. 1896–813

Not in any sense a reissue or revised edition of the same author's book devoted to the South Kensington Museum collections. Contains a great number of photographic illustrations and will undoubtedly prove the best work on the subject existing. The different kind of pottery treated are alike in that they are made of coarse earthenware covered with a fine opaque enamel, which in its turn is decorated with color and with what is called metallic lustre. They are the most splendid of all ceramic wares.

Foster, J E., and Atkinson, T. D.

ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUE OF THE LOAN COL-LECTION OF PLATE, exhibited in the Fitzwilliam Museum May 1895. Illus. Cambridge, Deighton, Bell & Co. N. Y Macmillan, 1896 $6.50.

A small quarto of 132 p and 16 photographic plates It is chosen out of many works on decorative metal work, because It is not expensive, the photographic are of great beauty and give web the details of the old plate the pieces selected for such illustration are of a good style and characteristic, the small illustrations in the text are trustworthy and valuable the text is singularly critical and business-like. In all these respects, but especially the last the book is worthy of great praise. It is in itself a valuable introduction to the study not only of old plate but also of decorative art in many aspects.

Garnier, Édouard.

DICTIONNAIRE DE LA CÉRAMIQUE; FAÎENCES-GRÉS-POTERIES. Paris Librairie de l'Art 1893 30 fr.

This 'mall book is devoted almost exclusively to the curious and interesting glazed potteries of the XVII. and XVIII centuries of such admirable varieties at those known by the names of Nevers, Moustiers, Rouen, Saint-Porchaire (which last means Henri II. ware), Marseilles, Delft, and Douai. The English 'vares of the period are also touched upon. These beautiful varieties of decorative pottery are little studied in America, where the taste is generally for the more delicate and more costly wares. There are a number of colored plates, but cheaply made as the whole work is inexpensive.

Grandidier, Ernest.

LA CÉRAMIQUE CHINOISE. Paris, Firmin-Didot, 1894-65 fr.

See above under Du Sartel The present work contains 42 plates in black and white, giving 180 pieces of porcelain in admirable photogravures by Dujardin The author of this book is a great collector, and all the pieces described or pictured are taken from his own cabinets.

It cannot be said that the history of Oriental porcelain is thoroughly known to Europeans Year by year more is learned, and from this point of view the latest book may be thought the best. The assertions concerning dates, places of manufacture, and the significance of cmblems and the like are always open to revision

Guiffrey, Jules.

HISTOIRE DE LA TAPISSERIE DEPUIS LE MOYEN AGE JUSQU'A NOS JOURS. Tours Alfred Mame 1884, 20 fr

A larger book than the little handbook mentioned under Müntz on he same subject. A large octavo of 530 pages, with many illustrations, of which four are chromo-lithographs of excellent execution. The subject of tapestry recommends itself to every student of decorative art. This volume is very trustworthy and even approaches the completeness of a history. See a.so Havard and the handbook by Müntz.

Havard, Henry.

Les Arts de l'ameublement: La Verrerie, avec 430 illustrations par B. Mélin Paris, Delagrave. 1894, fr. 2.50

One of the series of books on the fine and industrial arts used in the way of furniture and decora on Mr Havard turns his hands to many branches of art, and is rather a compiler than an original workman, but his books are sure to be good of their kind, and some have been excellent. Of late years he has given especial attention to decorative art. His work has secured high esteem in his own country.

LA TAPISSERIE, 90 illustrations par S. Hugard. Paris Delagrave 1893. fr. 2.50

Compare what is said of the art of tapestry under Guiffrey. This is another work of about the same scope, and perhaps equally serviceable as a book of general reference.

Hildebrand, Hans.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS OF SCANDINAVIA IN THE PAGAN TIME. Lond., Chapman & Hall 1883 2s. 6d

There is much that is interesting in the decorative art of the early northern peoples. These arts have not had great influence on the later and more developed art of Europe. For this reason they are worthy of study by those who are interested in the forgotten and worthy efforts of the human mind.

Hottenroth, Friedrich.

LE COSTUME, LES ARMES, USTENSILES, OUTILS
DES PEUPLES ANCIENS ET MODERNES. 2 vols.
in I. Paris, Guerinet 1890, 70 fr.

A very handy history of costume, many examples being grouped on each page. 390

Jaennicke, Friedrich.

GRUNDRISS DER KERAMIK IN BEZUG AUF DAS KUNSTGEWERBE. Eine historische Darstellung ihres Entwickelungsganges in Europa dem Orient und Ost-Asien von den aeltesten Zeiten bis auf die Gegenwart Stuttgart, Paul Neff 1879, 42 marks.

A large octavo of nearly 1200 pages, containing 450 illustrations besides 2645 marks and stamps. Probably the most systematic history of pottery and porcelain.

so far at least as concerns the wares of Europe from the mediaval epoch to modern times. Antiquity and the Orient receive but slight notice 738

Lau, Theodor.

DIE GRIECHISCHEN VASEN, IHRE FORMEN UND DECORATIONSSYSTEM. Leipzig, E. A. Seemann, 1877, 2 v., 56 marks.

This small folio, with 44 plates in colors, is the best book from which to get a knowledge of the forms and general decoration of Greek vases. The vessels, of many different shapes, are shown in their general form, both in outline and color; sections of them are given to show the thickness of their material, and the painted patterns and figures are given on a larger scale. In short, it is a handbook of ancient ceramic art, for the text is simple and easy of reference and of comprehension.

Lefebure, Ernest.

Broderies et Dentelles. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr. Transl by A. S. Cole as Embroidery and Lace. Phila., Lippincott, 1888, $3,50

Lethaby, W. R.

LEAD WORK OLD AND ORNAMENTAL AND FOR THE MOST PART ENGLISH. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 1893, $1,25.

Lead work has been an important branch of decorative architecture. American roof-fittings in tin and copper give no idea of the truly ornamental uses to which lead has been applied in Europe for seven centuries. Some attempt is being made in these days to revive the ancient art, and upon this, and upon the anient practice, this is an excellent essay. 695.4

Lilley, A. E. V., and Midgley, W.

Studies in Plant Form, with Some Suggestions for Their Application to Design. Illus. N. V., Scribner, 1896, $1.50

There are many books in existence, some old and some new in which it is proposed to show the student how designs are made from natural forms, with or without the addition of color. This book is mentioned because the designs contained in it are often good, sometimes very good, and in a few cases excellent, phrases which could not be used in relation to any other such book now in mind.

other such book now in mind.

It is to be observed that designs which are altogether inspired by natural forms are free from the faults and from the virtues alike of conventional patterns based on recognized styles of d-coration, they will neither be Renaissance, nor Gothic, nor Romanesque, nor Rococo, nor Greek, nor Persian, nor Chinese. It will seem to many that such novelty in design, starting from fresh premises and coming to novel conclusions; swhat is most needed. Of course, nothing really good can come of it so long as each season's line of goods requires a new set of patterns and the old patterns, good or bad, are thrown out as old stock. There is no real hope for our decorative art in any of the branches which fashion governs in this way.

Beside the question of pattern-designing the book contains information about processes in embroidery, tiles, lesso, etc.

640

Lyon, Irving Whitall.

COLONIAL FURNITURE OF NEW ENGLAND. Bost., Houghton, 1891, $10.

Apart from the traditional interest which so many Americans take in the New England furniture of the XVII, and XVIII centuries, this furniture has its permanent value in connection with the "Old Colonial" architecture, as this has its value in connection with the English architecture of the time of Queen Anne and the Georges This interesting book contains 113 illustrations mostly photographic the text is a thorough examination of the whole subject.

Maindron, G. R. Maurice.

LES ARMES. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

The most scientific of all the small handbooks on weapons and armor. It contains 250 pictures besides marks of armor-smiths; these are carefully drawn and their dates and descriptions given with accuracy. The book has the great advantage of coming down to very recent times and explaining the arms and armor worn under Louis XIV, as completely as those of earlier times. Probably the best book to study if one would understand how armor was worn and weapons were used, this being, of course, a necessary preliminary to the study of that decoration.

Marryat, Joseph.

HISTORY OF POTTLRY AND PORCEIAIN, MIDI-AVAL AND MODERN, Lond., John Murray, 1868–428.

An old book; many treatises have appeared since its publication, even in the late edition, but it still has value in fact, no one of the many books on ceramics—certainly none in English—replaces all others, and it is even hard to select the one which will prove the best for ordinary occasions. Compare the books name funder Prime and Jaennicke.

738

Maskell, William.

Description of the Ivories, Ancient and Medieval, in the South Kensington Museum. Lond. Chapman & Hall, 1872–28. 6d livery carving is one of the most interesting of the decorative arts, partaking as it does of the qualities of very perfect sculpture. Tvory has always been a favor ite material for delicate sculpture: of the epochs of art represented by the South Kensington Museum, there are carved iveries for, perhaps, every one. Consular diptychs of the IV, and V centuries, methicial mirrors and episcopal crooks and renassance and later statuettes, and bas-rehefs are all represented in the South Kensington Museum and in this book which unlocks its treasures.

Melani, Alfred O.

DECORAZIONE E INDUSTRIE ARTISTICHE. Milano, Ulrico Hoepli. 1889. 2 v., 6 lue Forms one of the Hoeph Manuali and is by the same author as the Architettura Italiana, mentioned above. The reasons for recommending it, the same as suggested in the other case, are perhaps even more influential here. Italian art has always been decorative rather than constructional, and this book, though not confined to Italian decoration, draws, naturally, many of its conclusions from Italian examples. This is particularly true of the second volume. The work is calculated to give a good general view of decorative art in all ages.

740

Middleton, J. Henry.

Article Textile Farries Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

Gives much attention to artistic design in stuffs

Article Plate, Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

Article Mosaic, Encyclopædia Britannica, 9th ed.

ILLUMINATED MANUSCRIPTS IN CLASSICAL AND MEDIÆVAL TIMES; their Art and their Technique. Illus. Cambridge, Cambridge University Press, 1892, 218.

See what is said of the author in connection with his hook on engraved gems. Part II—The general subject of illuminated and illustrated manuscripts is very well treated in this book—indeed, there are points made and information given which it is not usual to find in any accessible work—098

Morris, William.

HOPES AND FEARS FOR ARE Bost., Roberts $1.25.

See in Part I what is said of this writer and his interest in decorative art as it was practised in days when tradition and non-academic teaching governed it. 704

Morris, William, Editor.

ARTS AND CRAFTS ESSAYS By Members of the Arts and Crafts Exhibition Society, N. Y. Scribner, 1593 $2,50.

Some excellent papers, such as 'Furniture and the Room,' by Edward S. Prior, and 'The Room and Furniture," by Halsey Ricardo. Mr. Morris's preface is also important "Modern Embroidery," by Mary E. Turner, is one of the papers which have peculiar value. Contains also "Decorative Printing and Designing," by Walter Crane, "Bookbinding," by Cobden Sanderson, and "Dyeing," by William Morris. 602.

Müntz, Eugène.

LA TAPISSERIE. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Maison Quantin, 5 ft. Transl. by Miss L. J. Davis as Short History of Tapestry. N. Y., Cassell, $2.

The word Tapisserie corresponds to the English tapestry and also to worsted-work, done with the needle. In the former sense it denotes, perhaps, the most dignified and exalted of all the decorative arts. Very large and costly works have been devoted to the subject without exhausting it, or even doing it full justice. The small book here named is as good a handbook as one is likely to find and is well illustrated. It is interesting reading as well as valuable for the information it contains. See under Guiffrey and Havard. 746

Palissy, B. See Burty, P.

Palliser, Mrs. Bury.

HISTORY OF LACE, 3d ed. Lond., Sampson Low & Co., 1875, 21s.

A book widely known, which has passed through several editions. Has not been in any way superseded Compare the larger work by Seguin and the handbook by Lefebure. 746

Petrie, W. M. Flinders.

EGYPTIAN DECORATIVE ART. Lond., Methuen & Co. N. Y., Putnam, 1895, $1.50.

There are a number of books recently published in which decorative art is treated scientifically. They attempt to ascertain, by actual examination and by comparison of ascertained facts, the origin of decorative features and details, in order to establish a scientific history of decorative art. These books are not named in this catalogue, because it is only in a very few cases that they show any sense of artistic appreciation. In trying to explain the origin of art they ignore the artistic purpose of the designer; and this because the authors have known nothing of the way in which the artistic thought is conveyed. The book under consideration is valuable in that Mr. Petrie has at all events a large and intimate acquaintance with the finest artistic productions of ancient Egypt. It is mentioned therefore as a lavorable example of books of its class. 740

Pollen, John Hungerford.

ANCIENT AND MODERN FURNITURE AND WOOD-WORK IN THE SOUTH KENSINGTON MUSEUM. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1874, 28, 6d,

Very valuable, with a historical introduction of 240 pages, 16 photographs, and 20 wood-cuts in the text. In this, as in the other South Kensington catalogues, the notices appended to the different titles of the objects in the collection are, themselves, of historical value.

645

Ancient and Modern Gold and Shiver Smiths' Work in the South Kensington Museum, Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1878. 28, 6d.

One of the South Kensington catalogues with historical and critical introduction. The introduction of 200 pages is a valuable treatise. In like manner the items of the catalogue have excellent descriptions and explanatory remarks added. Only in the illustrations is there inferiority to the other volumes; there are no photographs in the book, only a number of wood-cuts and a dozen etchings made by students in the etching class at the South Kensington Art School. Compare the book by Foster and Atkinson.

Prideaux, S. T.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF BOOKBINDING. Lond., Lawrence & Bullen, 1803, 6s. N. Y., Scribner, $2,40.

Miss Prideaux is a practical bookbinder; one of those persons who in England have devoted themselves to handwrought, specially designed binding in the spirit of ancient handicraft. The book is capable of giving a close and very intimate sense of the essential characteristics of the art as it was practised in the past, when it was a decorative art as important as most others.

See also Part II, of Adolph Growoll's "Profession of Bookselling" (N. V., Publishers' Weekly, 1895, 52). Pages 86-130 give a sketch of bookbinding, historical and practical, with full-page illustrations of typical bindings, and a bibliography.

Prime, William S.

Postery and Porcelain of All Times and Nations, N. Y., Harper, 1878. Out of print.

Probably the most convenient for reference and the most interesting to read, of all the books which attempt to cover the whole vast field of ceramics 738

Racinet, A. C. A.

LE COSTUME HISTORIQUE. Paris, Firmun-Didot & Cie., 1888, 6 v., 240 fr.

In 500 plates, of which the greater number are in color, costume of all ages and nations is treated and, together with dress, many of the surroundings and accessories of daily life. What little remains in Europe of characteristic costume is treated as fully as the costumes of the past. The text consists chiefly of a description of each figure and of some account of the sources from which the information is derived. Not very scientific, but is a great store-house of trustworthy information.

390

Rayet, Olivier, and Collignon, Maxime.

Histoirf de la Céramique Grecque. Paris, Georges Decaux, 1888, 40 fr.

An admirable book for obtaining a general knowledge of Greek pottery and Greek decoration Many illustrations, of which 16 are colored plates. 738

Renan, Ary.

LE COSTUME EN FRANCE. (B.E.B.A.) Paris, Quantin, 5 fr.

A valuable handbook with 173 illustrations, bringing the history of costume down to the beginning of the Revolution.

390

Riaño, Juan F.

THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS OF SPAIN. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1879, 48.

One of the South Kensington handbooks, a small volume of 276 pages, illustrated by a number of woodcuts. Not very critical but contains a great deal of classified information.

Robinson, Edward.

CATALOGUE OF GREEK, ETRISCAN, AND ROMAN VASES IN THE MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS, BOSTON, BOST, Museum of Fine Arts, 1893, 65 c.

The collection of vases in the Boston Museum, though small is very good and characteristic. Mr Robinson, who is the Curator of Greek Antiquities, is a safe guide to their study.

Rock, Very Rev. Daniel.

TENTILE FABRICS, COLLECTION OF CHURCH VESIMENTS, DRESSES, SILK STUFFS, NEEDLE-WORK AND TAPESTRIES, SECTION OF SOUTH KENSINGTON MUSEUM. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1870, 28, 6d.

One of the large South Kensington catalogues; written by a student and collector of extensive knowledge. The historical and critical introduction occupies 165 pages and the catalogue itself contains many descriptive notes. There are excellent full-page illustrations giving colored patterns from stuffs and embroideries.

Rouaix, Paul.

DICTIONNAIRE DES ARTS DÉCORATIFS. Paris,

Librairie Illustrée, Montgredien, 1885, 24 fr.

This very inexpensive book seems not to be much in use out of France. It will be found extremely useful and capable of giving information even at some length under many separate headings. No such work, as yet published, even approaches completeness, and one book has to be used to supply what is lacking to another, both as to terms defined and as to the information given under each.

Rudler, F. W.

Article Examel., Encyclopædia Britannica, oth ed.

A very full paper, and valuable.

Saward, B. C., and Caulfeild, S. T. A.

DICTIONARY OF NEEDLEWORK. See Caulfeild.

Scott, William Bell.

HALF-HOUR LECTURES ON THE HISTORY AND PRACTICE OF THE FINE AND ORNAMENTAL ARTS. Lond., Longmans, 1874. Out of print.

In this little handbook Mr. Scott has used his sympathetic appreciation of the decorative arts to give an account of the arts of the earlier and later Middle Ages. This narrative passes into an account of the earlier schools of modern painting and so into general considerations concerning designing. There are ninetactive contained in the volume, and this would account for its disconnected character. It consists, in fact, of the somewhat unfinished and includerated notes of an artist who, while thoroughly familiar with the essential facts, had never made a study of minor details.

Seguin, Joseph.

LE DENTELLE, HISTOIRE, DESCRIPTION, FA-BRICATION, BIBLIOGRAPHIE. Paris. Rothschild, 1875, 100 fr.

child, 1875, 100 m.

Fifty photographic plates of fige specimens of ancient lace are accompanied by 100 pages of text which, without being a final or exhaustive history of the subject, is yet of great value. This book should be used in connection with Mrs. Palhser's.

746

Steele, Frances Mary, and Adams, Elizabeth Livingston Steele.

BEAUTY OF FORM AND GRACE OF VESTURE, N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1892, $1.75.

A valuable and suggestive protest against absurdaties in modern dress, also extremely suggestive to the student of figure painting when associated with costume. In this latter direction the book may be used as is indicated in the notes on Brücke and Hatton, Part II. The illustrations in this book are far less artistic than those in the books named above, but they serve a good purpose.

Sturgis, Russell.

Articles, Johnson's Universal Cyclopædia, Edition 1893-5:

"Costume," "Decorative Art," "Embroidery,"
"Enamel," "Furniture," "Glass in Artistic Design,"

"Lacquer," "Metal Work, ""Porceaun, ""Pottery," "Lapestry, ""Textile Fabrics," and many shorter articles

Transactions of the National Association for the Advancement of Art and its Application to Industry.

Liverroot Milling, 1888. Lond., 1888. Out of print.

There are many volumes which have resulted from meetings of artistic associations. If this one is selected for mention it is because the Society in question represents a great deal of conscious purpose in the way of spreading among the people, both the practice and the apore, ration of fine art, and also because the speakers and readers of pipers were generally men very much in earnest and men of practical experience. Thus the paper by W. Holman Hunton "Art Education" and that by Reginald Hallward on the "Temmerpation of the Picture," in which he attacks the Royal Academy, represent a somewhat unconventional and even revolutionary view of teaching art practically. Thus, also, the alliance of soulpture and other fine artist. Indiving, which is an important part of the combine lart which we call architecture, is treated by this carrists and experts—George Simonds, J. Belcher, and W. A. S. Benson. There are, perhaps, apapers in this volume, and many of them are of great suggestive value. A paper read at a meeting is seldom exhaustive, but it is apt to contain hints which are not so naturally found in larger works.

Viollet-le-Duc, E. E.

DICHONNAIRE RAISONNÉ DU MOBILIER FRAN-ÇAIS DE L'ÉPOQUE CARLOVINGIENNE À LA RENAISSANCE. Paris, A. Morel & Cie., 1875, 300 fr.

This work is several dictionaries in one. The first volume is devoted to furniture, with as an appendix some very interesting essays on the method of construction in the Middle Ages. The second volume deals with utensils in one alphabet, then with gold-smith's work, then with misical instruments, and then with sports and pastimes, including hunting and the tournament, and gives finally a few pages to tools of the carpenter, blacksmith, etc.—a very curious encyclopacha of life in the Middle Ages. The third and fourth volumes are devoted to dress, the fifth and sixth to armor and weapons. The text is throughout of the most singuestive character, and generally trustworthy; the illustrations have that extraordinary value which his been spoken of under the same author's "Dictionary of Architecture."

Walker, Louisa.

VARIED OCCUPATIONS IN STRINGWORK, COM-PRISING KNOTTING ETC. N. Y., Macmillan, 1896, $1.25.

An artistic book of its kind, gives directions for very pretty and varied work in netting, tringing, etc. 746

Worsaae, J. J. A.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS OF DESMARK. Lond., Chapman & Hall, 1882, 38, 6d.

One of the South Kensington Museum handbooks, by a very competent writer. Deals with the art of the earliest ages only. Many illustrations and a map of the kingdom of Denmark as it was down to rece, at which period its boundaries were much reduced. 609

MUSIC.

A SELECTION FROM ITS LITERATURE, WITH NOTES, BY

HENRY EDWARD KREHBIEL,

Musical Editor New York Tribune. Author of "Studies in the Wagnerian Drama," "How to Listen to Music," etc.

PART	I.	GENERAL HISTORIES
PART	II.	Special Histories (of instruments, forms, countries, notation, periods, organizations, etc.) 5
PART	III.	Ancient and Medleval Music
PART	IV.	Folk-Song and National Music
PART	V.	Віодгарну, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,
PART	V1.	Wagneriana
PART	VII.	Science and Æsthetics (including treatises on the elements of music and a few leading TEXT-BOOKS)
PART	VIII.	Criticism and Analysis, , , , , , ,
PART	IX.	ENCYCLOP. EDIAS AND DICTIONARIES
PART	X.	Musical Journals
PART	XI.	List of Second-Hand Dealers who issue catalogues devoted to musical literature 7

PREFATORY NOTE.

In preparing this list it was my aim practically to cover the entire field of books on music which are obtainable and are, in my opinion, the best of their kind. The list is neither as full nor as radical as it might have been made, for it was deemed necessary to yield a point occasionally out of consideration for some who are likely to consult it with other purposes than serious study.

A large proportion of the most valuable books on music in existence are in German. Many of them were published in the first half of the present century, which was peculiarly rich in scientific and painstaking investigators, such as Kiesewetter, Bellermann, Westphal, Forkel, and, later, Ambros and Paul. The books of these men laid the foundation for nearly all the general and special study which has been pursued since in the science and art of music. But they were not books for the many, and in consequence have not remained in print. Where it was possible to replace an old work written in German or French with a more modern book, or a trustworthy one in English, I have done so, but I have valued the classics too highly to omit them simply because to buy or consult them might be attended with some inconvenience. Moreover, whenever it has been possible I have consorted with a rare, expensive, or voluminous work one of more modest dimensions and scope. I have also given preference to American reprints, for practical reasons, though often regretfully.

In spite of the age and comparative rarity of the books which are designated as out of print by the mark "O.P.," it is possible to find nearly all of them in the course of time by watching the catalogues of the second-hand book-dealers, those of Leipsic especially. These "Antiquarian" dealers obtain possession of fine collections every year, and there is scarcely a bibliographical treasure which a collector need be without so he be diligent in search, patient in waiting, and willing to pay the price—which is seldom extravagant. The dealers whose addresses are appended to this list will always furnish their special catalogues on application.

The special lists of writings devoted to Folk-Song, National Music and Wagner's Art are thought to be justified by the great interest displayed in these subjects lately by writers and literary and musical clubs. The very many applications for help in this department which I have received from all parts of the United States are proof of the extent and sincerity of this interest.

In the case of a few works of particular rarity I have indicated where they may be consulted in New York. In the Lenox and Astor libraries are large and exceedingly valuable departments of musical works. That in the former consists of the collection made and bequeathed by the late Joseph W. Drexel. A check list of the collection shows 5542 titles of bound volumes and 766 pamphlets. The real value of the Drexel collection is not disclosed by either the check list which Mr. Drexel published in 1869 or the augmented list printed for the library of which the earlier list was the foundation. Both are incomplete as well as faulty, and the former was made before some of the most interesting features of the collection were added. An intelligently annotated catalogue of these books is a great desideratum. It is the intention of the authorities to catalogue all the works comprehensively. An attractive portion of this collection lies in the manuscripts of the late Dr. Edward F. Rimbault, purchased by Mr. Drexel in 1877. These include many note-books and copies of old manuscripts made by Dr. Rimbault in the course of his historical investiga- brary, Chicago, has full scores of the great ing collection, well up to date, of books on mu-1 and Italian.

New York, January, 1897.

sical history, theory, and biography. works of the later German and Belgian investigators are well represented. There are also to be found the interesting publications of texts and scores by the Plain Song and Madrigal Society of London, as well as the issues of the Dutch, Swedish, and German Antiquarian Societies. The collection is also rich in

The Musical Department of the Newberry Licomposers, and the more important historical The Astor Library has a reasonably full work- and critical works in English, French, German,

PART I.

GENERAL HISTORY.

Ambros, August Wilhelm.

Geschichte der Musik. Mit zahlreichen Notenbeispielen und Musikbeilagen. Dritte Auflage. Leipsic, F. E. C. Leuckart, 1892, 5 vols., 63 marks.

In every respect the most thorough and scholarly history of music vet written. Unfortunately the author died while giving the finishing touches to the foorth volume, which brings the story of musical development down to the culmination of the a casellar of the properties. style in Palestrina. The revision of the manuscript of the last volume was accomplished by G. Nottebohm. In the third edition the first volume, devoted to the In the third edition the first volume, devoted to the music of ancient Greece and the Orient, has been entirely rewritten by B. von Sokolowsky to make it conform with the more recent discoveries and theories of Rudolph Westphal and F. A. Gevaert in this department. The second volume was revised by Heinrich Reimann, the third by Otto Kade. A necessary companion to the first edition is the index (Namen und Sachregister), prepared by Wilhelm Bäumker, and published as a separate volume by Leuckart in 1882. In the third edition each volume has its own index. 780.9

Brendel, Franz.

GESCHICHTE DER MUSIK IN ITALIEN, DEUTSCH-LAND UND FRANKREICH, VON DEN ERSTEN CHRISTICHEN ZEITEN BIS AUF DIE GEGEN-WART. Fünfundzwanzig Vorlesungen. 7th ed. Leipsic, Heinrich Matthes, 1859, 636 p., $3.60.

All Brendel's writings are permeated with the progressive spirit which made him one of the most effective champions of the neo-Germanic school which culminated in Wagner and Liszt. Nevertheless he stops short of being an extremist in his historical writings.

His lectures are invigorating.

780.9

Burney, Charles.

A GENERAL HISTORY OF MUSIC, from the Earliest Ages to the Present Period. Lond., printed for the author and sold by Payne & Son, at the News-Gate; Robson & Clark. Bond-Street; and G. G. J. & J. Robinson, Paternoster Row, 1776-1759, 4 vols. O.P. See note under HAWKINS, 780.9

Dickinson, Edward.

GUIDE TO THE STUDY OF MUSICAL HISTORY AND CRITICISM. Oberlin, O., Edward Dickinson, 95 p., 75 c.

The author is professor of musical history at Ober'in

College, and his book, which beginners in the study will find helpful, is in the form of syllabuses for lectures and references to authorities. 780.9

Forkel, Johann Nicolaus.

Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik. Leipsic, 1788-1801, 2 vols., xxxvi, 504, xviii. 70 p. O.P.

The first of the larger histories undertaken in Germany. Though he had Hawkins and Burney as predecessors and sources, Forkel developed his work on independent lines, at least so far as the manner of presented the back is incomplete corrections. entation is concerned. The book is incomplete, carrying the story of music only down to the middle of the XVI, century. Though out of print the history is frequently listed in second-hand catalogues.

Hawkins, Sir John.

A GENERAL HISTORY OF THE SCIENCE PRACTICE OF MUSIC. N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 2 vols., xxxvi, 456, 493 p., $5.40. A third vol., 63 p. of portraits, may be had separately, $6.40.

separately, $6.40.

This work was originally published in 1776. The present edition, 1875, is the second reprint by the Novellos, the first having been issued in 1833. It contains a biographical sketch of the author and his posthomous notes. Vol. III is devoted to copper-plate portraits. Hawkins's History suffered somewhat unjustly at the outset by comparison with Burney's, the first volume of which was issued in the same year that saw the appearance of Hawkins's. For this Burney's greater reputation as a musician and the livelier literary style which he commanded were responsible. Latterly there which he commanded were responsible. Latterly there which he commanded were responsible. Latterly there has been manifest a disposition to reverse the early judgment, the fact being recognized that Hawkins was the more painstaking investigator of the two. Both histories are antiquated, but are nevertheless valuable to the student because of their voluminous allocations.

Henderson, W. J.

THE STORY OF MUSIC. N. Y., Longmans. 212 p., $1,

In no respect a conventional history but a series of pleasantly viriten and suggestive essays on some of the phases through which music has passed from the ordination of its elements till to-day. 780.4

Hunt, H. G. Bonavia.

Concise History of Music from the Com-MENCEMENT OF THE CHRISTIAN ERA TO THE Present Time. N. Y., Macmillan, 154 p.

Designed for the use of schools, and to that end provided with a list of examination questions. Section I. chiefly a chronological and biographical record; Section II. a series of tables of musicans and musical events; Section III. a summary in which the growth of the art is traced. An excellent book for systematic study, and also helpful for quick reference. 780.9

Klesewetter, R. G.

GESCHICHTE DER EUROPÄISCHABENDLÄND-ISCHEN ODER UNSERER HEUTIGEN MUSIK; Darstellung ihres Ursprungs, ihres Wachsthumes undihrerstufenweisen Entwickelung von dem ersten Jahrhundert des Christenthums bis auf unsere Zeit. 2d ed. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1846. O.P.

This history, whose author was one of the most industrious investigators that ever lived and the uncle of the historian Ambros (see above), is admirable in its conciseness and lucidity. It is still included in the catalogue of the publishers, but is out of print, and can only be bought at second-hand. It was published in an English translation as "A History of Modern Music in Western Europe" in 1848, but this has disappeared, though there is a copy in the Drexel Collection in the Lenox Library, New York.

Langhans, W.

THE HISTORY OF MUSIC IN TWELVE LECT-URES. Transl. from the German by J. II. Cornell. New and enlarged edition. N. Y., Schirmer, $1.50.

A good translation of the lectures delivered by Dr. Langhans in the New Akademie der Tonkunst, at Berlin. The author belongs to the new romantic school, and devotes in last fecture to Wagner; it is biographical and expository rather than critical. The preceding chapters are not overburdened with biographical detail, and trace the development of music through its principal phases in an interesting and instructive manner. 780.9

Macfarren, G. A.

Musical History Briefly Narrated and Technically Discussed, with a roll of the names of musicians and the times and places of their births and deaths. Lond., A. & C. Black. N. Y., Macmillan, 220 p., $1.75.

A reprint, with amplifications, of the article "Music," in the 9th edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica. A mode! of encyclopædic writing in clearness, terseness, and comprehensiveness. Touching the questions of modern musical polemics the author's attitude is extremely conservative. His Roll of Names is defective from an American point of view. 780.9

Naumann, Emil.

THE HISTORY OF MUSIC. Transl. by F. Praeger, edited by the Rev. Sir F. A. Gore Ouseley, Bart., Mus. Doc. Professor of Music in the University of Oxford. With numerous illustrations. N. Y., Cassell & Co., 2 vols., xii, 758, 574 p., $10.

Chiefly valuable for its illustrations. Professor Ouseley added chapters to cover the history of music in England more fully than was done by the author. Naumann must be read with caution. He was not an original investigator. 780.9

Reissmann, August.

Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik. Mit Zahlreichen, in den Text gedruckten Notenbeispielen und Zeichnungen, sowie 59 vollständigen Tonstücken. Munich, Friedrich Brückmann, 1863–1864, 3 vols., 343, 428, 437 p. O.P.

437 p. O.P.
Reissmann is more a compiler than an original investigator, but there is real merit in his arrangement of the material of musical history. He strives to disclose the evolution of music as superinduced by intellectual and social development instead of adhering blindly to a chronological scheme. Thus in Vol. I, he treats first of pre-Christian music, taking up the Chinese, Hindus, Egyptians, Hebrews, and Greeks, but omitting peoples whose music never influenced the Occidental art; next he shows music under the influence of Christianity (Gregorian Chant, first efforts in polyphony, the Netherland, Venetian and Roman Schools). In Vol. II, he shows how the folk-spirit conditioned the further development of the art, the field covered being folk-song, the chorale, artistic song, the first attempts at dramatic composition, and the beginnings of instrumental music. Vol. III, discusses modern music as the outcome of individual taste on the part of the composer.

Rockstro, W. S.

GENERAL HISTORY OF MUSIC FROM THE INFANCY OF THE GREEK DRAMA TO THE PRESENT PERIOD. New edition. Lond., Sampson Low. N. Y., Scribner, $5.60.

Correct and comprehensive, but not always well balanced. It includes Wagner's work, but the chapter devoted to the poet-composer smacks of polemics rather than history. 780.9

PART II.

SPECIAL HISTORIES.

Arteaga, Stefano.

LE RIVOLUZIONI DEL TEATRO MUSICALE ITALI-ANO, dalla sua Origine Fino al Presente. 2d ed. Venice, Carlo Palese, 3 vols., xlii, 361-334, 394. O.P.

The first edition of this famous history of the Italian Opera was published in 1783. It was thoroughly revised for the second edition two years later, and this edition was the foundation of a translation into German made by Forkel in 1789. Arteaga was a Spanish Jesnit, who on the suppression of his order went to Italy and made a friend of Padre Martini, who persuaded him to write this book. The Italian original and Forkel's translation are occasionally found in second-hand catalogues. 780.945

Bitter, C. H.

BEITRÄGE ZUR GESCHICHTE DES ORATORIUMS. Berlin, R. Oppenheim, 1872, 503 p. and 48 p. of musical examples, $3.50. Helpful in the study of Bach, Handel, Graun, and Mendelssohn, some of whose oratorios are interestingly described. 783.3

Brooks, Henry M.

OLDEN TIME MUSIC. A Compilation from Newspapers and Books, with an Introduction by Prof. Edward S. Morse. Bost., Ticknor, 1888, 283 p., $1.50.

Extremely valuable, in its hints, to an investigator in the early history of music in New England. 780.974

Burney, Charles.

THE PRESENT STATE OF MUSIC IN FRANCE AND ITALY; or, The Journal of a Tour Through those Countries, undertaken to Collect Materials for a General History of Music. Lond., 1771, 418 p. O.P.

THE PRESENT STATE OF MUSIC IN GERMANY, THE NETHERLANDS AND UNITED PROVINCES, or, The Journal of a Tour Through those Countries, undertaken to Collect Materials for a General History of Music. Lond., 1772, 2 vols., 380, 352 p. O.P.

These charming books, though out of print, are still to be had occasionally by purchase at second-hand, not only in the original English but also in French and German translations.

"Never was a search for unsophisticated intelligence prosecuted with more diligence and energy than that of this musical historian. He was in possession of a magical sesame in the shape of letters from a powerful friend in the British nobility, and all doors swung open at his approach. He visited the libraries and examined their treasures; conversed with almost every then living musician of eminence; visited the theatres like the most inveterate and confirmed of pleasure-seekers; worshipped in the cathedrals like the most devout of Catholics, attended services in the churches like the most poos Lutheran, and went up into synagogues like a Jew in whom there was no guile. He did not always note the words of the preacher's text, but he seldom omitted a memorandum on the tone and compass of the organ and the taste and skill of the organist. The record of his tour, when written out and printed, filled three volumes which, by Dr. Johnson's own confession, became the model of the latter's 'Tour to the Hebrides.' The volumes pictured the then state of music in the couries visited, and they have remained till to-day the treasures; conversed with almost every then living musitries visited, and they have remained till to-day the delight of musical students, as much for the honest and straightforward style of the recital as for the vast number of significant and suggestive facts which are marshalled in their pages."—Krehbiel, "¿Notes on the Cultivation of Choral Music." 780.940

Celler, Ludovico.

LES ORIGINES DE L'OPÉRA ET LE BALIET DE LA REINE (1581). Étude sur les Danses, la Musique, les Orchestres et la Mise en scène au XVIe siècle, avec un aperçu des progrès du Drame lyrique depuis le XIIIe siècle jusqu'a Lully. Paris, Didier & Cie., 1868, 364 p., fr. 3.50.

Contains instructive notes on the dances of the XVI century, which entered largely into operas and soites, and a valuable study of Baltazarini (or Baltagerini, afterwards called M. de Beaujoyeulx) and his Ballet comique de la royne.

Crowest, Frederick J.

THE STORY OF BRITISH MUSIC, from the Earliest Times to the Tudor Period. N. V., Scribner, 1806, 396 p., $3.50.

Evinces no profundity of insight or extensive research but serves a purpose in helping reference to special details. 780.942

Edwards, C. A.

ORGANS AND ORGAN BUILDING : A Treatise on the History and Construction of the Organ from its Origin to the Present Day with Important Specifications. Illus. Lond., The Bazaar' Office, 1881, 248 p., 58. 786.5

Edwards, H. Sutherland.

THE PRIMA DONNA, Her History and Surroundings from the XVII. to the XIX. century. Lond., Remington & Co., 1885, 2 vols., 320, 302 p. 24s.

A series of gossipy sketches more entertaining than critical.

Engel, Carl.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS. With numerous wood-cuts. Lond., Chapman & Hall. N. Y , Scribner, 128 p., $1.

No. 5 of the South Kensington Museum Handbooks. A helpful little work in the study of ancient and mediæval instruments.

Fillmore, John Comfort.

Pianoforte Music, its History, with Biographical Sketches and Critical Estimates of its Greatest Masters. Phila., Theodore Presser, 245 p., D. $1.50.

Unnecessarily extended in its biographical department, but valuable, especially to the younger plano forte students, in its exposition of the growth of the mechanics of prinoforte playing.

Fink, Gottfried Wilhelm.

Wesen und Geschichte der Oper, Georg Wigand, 1838, 335 p. O.P.

Useful because of the pancity of books treating specifically of the history of opera. It ends with the period of Rossini.

Galilei, Vincenzo.

Dialogo della Musica Antica Moderne, Florence, 1581. O.P.

Moderne. Florence, 1581, 10,11.

Extremely valuable and therefore included here, though rare even in the second-hand shops of Germany. The author was the father of the great astronomer Galileo Galilei, and one of the Florentine cotterie that introduced the monodic style of music. His book is a polemic in the controversy between the reformers and the contrapunitists. It is also interesting as publishing for the first time the three ancient Greek hymns of Dionysius and Mesomedes. (See Bellermann.) A copy is in the Drexel collection, Lenox Library, New York.

Hanslick, Eduard.

GESCHICHTE DES CONCERTWESENS IN WIFN. Vienna, 1869, Wilhelm Braumüller, 435 p. O.P.

An extremely valuable book, especially in its earlier chapters, which tell of the introduction of public concerts, not only in Vienna but in other European capitals 791.

Hart, George.

The Violin and Its Music. N. Y., Ditson, 1883, xi, 484 p., $3.

Heron-Allen, Edward.

DE FIDICULIS BIBLIOGRAPHIA; being a basis of a Bibliography of the Violin and all other instruments played with a bow in Ancient and Modern Times. Lond., Griffith, Farran & Co., 11 parts, 2s. 6d. each; others to follow. 787

Hipkins, A. J.

A DESCRIPTION AND HISTORY OF THE PLANO-FORTE AND OF THE OLDER KEYBOARD STRINGED INSTRUMENTS. Lond. and N. Y. Novello, Ewer & Co., 128 p. $1.20.

This book belongs to the publishers. Music Primers and Educational Series. It is included in this list because of the need of a modern work of modest dimensions having authority. It is a model of condensed crudition Hogarth, George.

Memoirs of the Opera in Italy, France GERMANY, AND ENGLAND, Lond., Richard Bentley, 1851, 2 vols., 376, 379 p. O.P. Bentley, 1851, 2 vols., 376, 379 p.

Second edition of the same author's "Memoirs of the Musical Drama" published in 1838. 782.1

Hopkins, Edward J., and Rimbault, Edward F.

THE ORGAN, ITS HISTORY AND CONSTRUCTION: A Comprehensive Treatise on the Structure and Capabilities of the Organ, with specifications and suggestive details for instruments of all sizes, intended as a Handbook for the Organist and Amateur. Preceded by an entirely new History of the Organ. memoirs of the most eminent builders of the XVII, and XVIII, centuries, and other matters of research in connection with the subject. 3d ed. Lond., Robert Cocks & Co. N. Y., Schuberth, 1877, 630 p., $10.

Exhaustive and scholarly—though some of Dr. Rimbault's stitements may be accepted with caution.
786.5

Hutchinson, Enoch.

MUSIC OF THE BIBLE; or, Explanatory notes upon those passages in the Sacred Scriptures which relate to Music, including a brief view of Hebrew Poetry. Bost., Gould & Lincoln. N. Y., Sheldon & Co., 1864, 513 p. O.P.

Very useful, especially for the literary or theological student who wishes to know the significance of the musical terms in the Bible.

Kiesewetter, R. G.

Schicksale und Beschaffenheit des Welt-Lichen Gesanges, vom frühen Mittelalter bis zu der Erfindung des dramatischen Styles und den Anfängen der Oper. Mit Musikalischen Beilagen. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1842, xii, 105 p., paper, $5,50.

Indispensable to the serious student of operatic beginnings and the monodic style. The musical illustrations contain excerpts from Peri, Caccini, and Monteverde In an appendix a German translation of a large portion of Caccini's Nuove musiche printed in Florence in 1661. 782.1

Kiesewetter, R. G., and Fétis, F. J.

VERHANDELINGEN. Bekroond en Uitgeven door de Vierde Klasse van het Koninklijk-Nederlandsche Instituut van Wetenschappen Letterkunde en Schoone Kunsten. Amsterdam, J. Muller en Comp., 1829. O.P.

Two treatises, crowned by the Royal Institute of Science, Literature, and Fine Arts of the Netherlands in 1828, on the question "What were the merits and achievements of the Netherlanders, particularly of the Ketherlanders, particularly of the KIV, XV., and XVI centuries, in the field of musical and what was the influence of the Netherland musicans of that period who went to Italy on the Musical Schools which came into existence in that country shortly afterward?" The treatise of Kiesewetter, which received the gold medal is in German, that of Fétis, which took the silver medal, is in French. Both essays are of value, and the book is frequently listed in the German catalogues. 780.949

Krehbiel, Henry Edward.

Notes on the Cultivation of Choral Music, and the Oratorio Society of New York, N. V. Schuberth, 1884, 106 p., $1.25.

THE PHILIARMONIC SOCIETY OF NEW YORK. A Memorial, published on the occasion of the Fittieth Anniversary of the Founding of the Philharmonic Society, April, 1892, by the Society, N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 1892, 183 p., $1.

Contains the full programmes of fifty years, lists of officers, members, and subscribers, etc. 780.9

Maretzek, Max.

CROTCHETS AND QUAVERS; or. Revelations of an Opera Manager in America. N. Y., S. French, 1855, 346 p., $2.50. O.P.

SHARPS AND FLATS, a sequel to "Crotchets and Quavers," N. Y., Schuberth, 1890, 87 p., 50 c.

Recttals of memories and experiences in a light vein which are not to be taken too seriously by searchers for historical fact. The first book is long out of print, but the price is taken from Scribner's Justcal Literature List. The second appeared in paper and the American Musician Publishing Co., that originally issued it, is no longer in existence.

Mathews, W. S. B.

A HUNDRED YEARS OF MUSIC IN AMERICA. An Account of Musical Effort in America during the Past Century, including Popular Music and Singing Schools, Church Music, Musical Conventions and Festivals, Orchestral, Operatic, and Oratorio Music; Improvements in Musical Instruments; Popular and the Higher Musical Education; Creative Activity, and the Beginning of a National School of Musical Composition. A full and reliable Summary of American Musical Effort as displayed in the Personal History of Artists, Composers and Educators, Musical Inventors, and Journalists, with upwards of 200 full-page Portraits of the most distinguished Workers, together with Historical and Biographical Sketches of Important Personalities. Chic., G. L. 780.973 Howe, 1889, 715 p., $5.50.

Mount Edgecumbe, Earl of.

MUSICAL REMINISCENCES, chiefly respecting the Italian Opera in England, 3d ed. Lond., 1828. O.P.

Valuable for its glimpses into English taste and customs a century ago, 782.5

Naylor, Edward W.

SHAKESPEARE AND MUSIC. With illustrations from the music of the XVI. and XVII. centuries. Lond., J. M. Dent & Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 1896, 225 p., $1.25.

One of the Temple Shakespeare Manuals. Generally correct and readable. 780.4

Paléographie Musicale.

FAC-SIMILÉS PHOTOTYPIQUES DES PRINCIPAUX MANUSCRITS DE CHANT GRÉGORIEN, AMBRO-SIEN, MOZARABE, GALLICAN, publiés par les Bénédictins de Solesmes. Paris, Alphonse Picard. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel. Four numbers have been issued each year since 1889. Per year, $8.

A work of rare value to all students of mediæval church music in general and the development of musical notation in particular. The first manuscript reproduced is the celebrated one in the Library of the Monastery of St. Gall, which Lambillotte published (in lithographic fac-simité) as the Antiphonaire de Saint Gregoire but which Gevaert has proved to be simply a Cantatorium—that is, the book of a solo singer. The work is dedicated to Pope Leo XIII, and is expected to be completed by A.D. 1900.

Perkins, Charles C., and Dwight, John S.

HISTORY OF THE HANDELAND HAVDN SOCIETY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS. From the Foundation of the Society to its seventy-fifth season, 1815–1890. Bost., Handel and Haydn Society, 1883–1893, $1.50.

This work, of great value to the study of musical culture in New England, was begun by Mr. Perkins, who was president of the Handel and Haydn Society from 1875 to 1886. He wrote the extremely interesting sketch of the music of the Puritans and the history of the Handel and Haydn Society to the end of the 36th season, May, 1851. Mr. Perkins died in August, 1886, and Mr. Dwight, who had edited Dwight's fournal of Music for nearly thirty years (1852–1881), completed the work. The work, which was issued in parts contains 518 pages of historical narrative; a list of concerts, 23 pages; and 123 pages devoted to the Society's charter, by-laws, and lists of officers and members. 780.874

Reissmann, August.

Das Deutsche Lied in seiner Historischen Entwicklung. Cassel, Oswald Bertram, 1861, 290 p. letter-press, 41 musical examples. O.P.

A study of the development of the artistic song in Germany, with a brief preliminary discussion of Minne- Master, and Folk-Songs. The examples are 33 songs of the XV., XVI., XVII., and XVIII. centuries.

Riemann, Hugo.

STUDIEN ZUR GESCHICHTE DER NOTENSCHRIFT. Leipsic and N. V., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1878, xvi, 310 p., with twelve plates illustrating the development of notes, the staff, and the clefs, 81.

clets, 54.

A book that stands practically alone in its department. A short treatise by the same author on the development of musical notation is printed as No. 28 of the Sammlung Musikalischer Fortrage, published by Breitkopf & Härtel (Leipsie and N. Y.), 22 p., 30.
780.9

Rimbault, Edward F.

THE PIANOFORTE, ITS ORIGIN, PROGRESS, AND Construction. With some Account of Instruments of the Same Class which preceded it, viz.. the Clavichord, the Virginal, the Spinet, the Harpsichord, etc. To which is added a Selection of Interesting Specimens of Music composed for Keyed-Stringed Instruments, Lond., Cocks. N. Y., Schuberth, 1860, xi, 420 p., $3.75.

An important work. The music in the Appendix consists of compositions by Blitheman, Byrd, Bull, Frescobaldi, du Mont, Chambonnières, Lully, Purcell, Muschhauser, Kuhnau, Mattheson, D. Scarlatti, Couperin, J. S. Bach, Handel, Muffat, de Mondonville, and C. P. E. Eath.

Ritter, Frédéric Louis.

Music in America. New edition with additions in 1890. N. Y., Scribner, 521 p., $2.

A necessary book because its field is shared with no other; but it is ill balanced and its statements must be received with caution. 780,943

Schletterer, H. M.

DAS DEUTSCHE SINGSPIEL, von seinen ersten Anfängen bis auf die neueste Zeit. Augsburg, J. A. Schlosser, 1863, 340 p. O.P. 784.3

GESCHICHTE DER GEISTLICHEN DICHTUNG UND KIRCHLICHEN TONKUNST, in Ihrem Zusammenhange mit der Politischen und Socialen Entwickelung insbesondere des Deutschen Volkes. Hanover, Carl Rümpler. 1869, 588 p. O.P.

Studien zur Geschichte der Französischen Musik. Berlin, R Damköhler, 1884-1885, $5.50. 780.944

Schletterer's contributions to musical history are all valuable as putting material into the hands of the student otherwise difficult to arrive at. His study of the German Singspiel contains the texts of a number of German and Latin Easter and Passion Plays of the XIII. to the XVII century, as also the text of Opitz's Dafne. His volume of Studies in French Music embraces; I History of the Court Orchestra of the French Kings (from the Merovingians to Charles X.), 236 p.; Il History of the Musicians' Guilds and the Rois des Violons of Paris, 152 p.; III. Preliminary History and First Amempts of the French Opera, 199 p. Schletterer's contributions to musical history are all

THE PIANOFORTE SONATA HIS ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT, Lond., Methuen & Co. N. Y., Scribner, 1805, 245 p., 82. A book with a good purpose, well fulfille l. 786 41

Vidal, Antoine.

Les Instruments à Archet; les Faiseurs, les joneurs d'instruments, leur Histoire, sur le Continent Européen. Suivi d'un Catalogue général de la Musique de Chambre. Orné de planches gravées à l'eau forte, par Frederic Hillemacher. Paris, Jules Claye, 1877, 3 vols. O.P.

A magnificent work in its scope and matter as well as its artistic execution. Practically it is out of print and is usually bought at second hand. In 1889 the portion referring to manufacture was reprinted under the title, La Lutherie et les Luthiers, Paris, Quantin, 25 ft. 787

Wasiełewski, W. J. von.

Geschichte der Instrumentalmusik im XVI. JAHRHUNDERT. Mit Abbildungen von Instrumenten und Musikbeilagen. Berlin, 1878, J. Guttentag, 170 p., letter-press; 10 plates, 95 p. of music, $1.75.

An admirable study. Chapter I. treats of the musical instruments of the XV. and XVI. centuries, II., of musical practice in the XVI. century; III. and IV., of composition.

THE VIOLONCELLO AND ITS HISTORY. dered into English by Isobella S. E. Stigand. With Illustrations, Musical Examples, and Portrait of Robert Lindley. N. 787.3 Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., $2.40.

Weitzmann, C. F.

HISTORY OF PIANOFORTE PLAYING AND PIANO-FORTE LITERATURE. With Musical Appendices and a Supplement containing the History of the Pianoforte according to the latest researches. Illus. With a biographical sketch of the author and notes by Otto Lessmann. Transl. by Dr. Th. Baker. N.

Y., Schirmer, 370 p., $2.50.

An accepted authority. Contains specimens of compositions for keyed instruments from the XVI., XVII., and XVIII. centuries, and an exposition of the old ornaments and graces.

7.86.1 ornaments and graces.

Winterfeld, C. von.

Johannes Gabrieli und sein Zeitalter. Zur Geschichte der Blüthe heiligen Gesanges im sechzehnten, und der ersten Entwickelung der Hauptformen unserer heutigen Tonkunst in diesem und dem folgenden Jahrhunderte, zumal in der Venedischen Tonschule. Berlin, Schlesinger, 2 vols. (the second devoted to musical illustrations wholly). O.P.

whosty). O.F.

The master-work of one of the soundest of Germany's musical historians. It is invaluable for a study of the Venetian masters, Giovanni Gabrieli, Adrian Willaert, Cyprian de Rore, Zarlino, Merulo, Andrea Gabrieli, their immediate predecessors and successors, as also the first musical dramatists.

782

PART III.

ANCIENT AND MEDLEVAL MUSIC.

Arends, Leopold A. F.

UEBER DEN SPRACHGESANG DER VORZEIT UND DIE HERSTELLBARKEIT DER ALTHEBRÄISCHEN VOCALMUSIK. Mit entsprechenden Musikbeilagen. Berlin, Friedr. Schulze, 1867, 123 p. O.P.

An extremely valuable dissertation on the nature and employment of music among the peoples of classic antiquity, with an experiment in the restoration of Hebrew music on the basis of vowel values. 780.0

Bellermann, Friedrich.

Die Hymnen des Dionysits und Mesomedes. Text und Melodieen nach Handschriften und den alten Ausgaben. Berlin, Albert Förstner, 1840, 83 p., with 4 plates in facsimile. O.P.

A study of the three Greek hymns to Calliope, Apollo, and Nemesis, first made public by Vincenzo Gallei (see) The author treats L. The sources and literature of the hymns, II Criticism and exposition of the texts; III. Metre, superscriptions glosses, and authors; IV., Criticism and exposition of the melodies.

Coussemaker, E. de.

(Euvres Complètes du Trouvère Adam de La Halle (poésies et musique) publiées sous les anspices de la Société des Sciences des Lettres et des Arts de Lille, Lille, A. Durand & Pédone-Lauriel, 1872, 440 p.

Durand & Pedone-Laurier, 1972, 773, A superb work, containing a biographical sketch of de la Halle (an extremely important figure in mediæval music and the drama), a review of the existing manuscripts of his works, a study of his musical compositions, and a reprint of his complete works, with glossary and a translation of his music into modern notation. 782

Gevaert, François Auguste.

LES ORIGINES DU CHANT LITURGIQUE DE L'ÉGLISE LATINE. Paris A. Picard, 1890, 5 fr.

DER URSPRUNG DES RÖMISCHEN KIRCHEN-GESANGES. Musikgeschichtliche Studie. Deutsch von Dr. Hugo Riemann. Leipsic and N. V., Breitkopf & Härtel 1891, 87 p., $1.15.

A revolutionary book, which overturns the fiction current for centuries touching the significance of Gregory the Great in the history of Church music Hope, Robert Charles.

Medleyal, Music An Historical Sketch, Lond., Elliot Stock, 1804 181 p., 5s.

Useful as a concise compendium, but not always to be trusted, especially in the department of ancient music. 780 9

Kiesewetter, R. G.

GUIDO VON AREZZO, SEIN LEBEN UND WIRKEN. Aus Veranlassung und mit besonderer Rücksicht auf eine Dissertation: Sopra la vita, le opere ed il sapere di Guido d'Arezzo, von Luigi Angeloni. Nebst einem Anhange über die dem heiligen Bernhard zugeschrieben musikalischen Tractate. Leipsic and N. Y. Breitkopf & Härtel, 1840, 55 p., paper, 90 c. 780.945

Lambillotte, Louis.

Antiphonaire de Saint Grégoire. Facsimile du manuscrit de Saint Gall (copie authentique de l'Autographe écrite vers l'an 790), accompagné I, d'une notice historique; 2, d'une dissertation donnant la Clei du chant Grégorien, dans les antiques notations; 3, de divers monuments, tableaux neumatiques inédits, etc. etc. 150 Planches. Brussels, Ch.-J.-A. Greuse, 1867, 234 p. O.P.

A reproduction, with commentary, of the famous codex 390 of the library in the Monastery of St. Gall, Switzerland. The original edition appeared in 1851. (See Gevuert, and Paléographie musicale. 783.5

Musici Scriptores Graeci.

ARISTOTELES, EUCLIDES, NICOMACHUS, BACCHIUS, GAUDENTIES, ALVIEUS, ET MELODIARUM VETERUM QUIQUID EXSTAT. Racognovit proofemis et indice instruxit Carolus Janus. Annexae sunt tabulae. Leipsic, Teubner, 1895, 503 p., $2.40.

This publication places within easy reach of scholars the ancient musical treatises for which until recently they were obliged to depend chiefly upon the work, Antique musice auctores septem, published by Meibom in Amsterdam, 1652. This latter is not infrequently met with in the catalogues of the German dealers in second-hand musical books, but it is a treasure and the price is prohibitive to all except the rich (generally about $25). Copies can be consulted in New York at the Astor Lenox and Columbia University libraries. The new work issued in the Bibliotheca Scriptorum Graecorum et Romanorum Teuborciana is not only cheap but it is voluminously annotated and indexed, prefaced with a study of the manuscripts and supplemented with brief essays on the existing relics of ancient Greek music (see C. F. Abdy Williams and Bellermann) which are given in their original and modern notations. The editor rejects the music of the first Pythic hymn by Pindar given by Kircher as a fabrication.

780.9

Paul, Oscar.

DIE ABSOLUTE HARMONIN DER GRIECHEN. Eine Abhandlung zur habilitation in der philosophischen Facultät der Universität Leipzig. Leipsic, Alfred Dörffel, 1866, 44 p. letter-press and 33 p. tables and plates. O.P 781.3

BOFFIUS UND DIE GRIECHISCHE HARMONIK. Des Anicius Manlius Severinus Boetius fünf Bücher über die Musik aus der Lateinischen in die Deutsche Sprache übertragen und mit besonderer berücksichtigung der Griechischen Harmonik, erklärt. Leipsic, F. E. C. Leuckart, 1872, 379 p. O.P.

A translation into German of the De Musica by Boëthus, preceded by a brief outline of the harmonic system of the Greeks, and an essay on the life of the philosopher and his importance in music. Then follows an exhaustive exposition of the treatise, with numerous tables and fae-simile reproductions from mediæval codices.

781.3

Saalschütz, Joseph Levin.

GESCHICHTE UND WÜRDIGUNG DER MUSIK BEI DEN HEBRÄERN, im Verhältniss zur sonstigen Ausbildung dieser Kunst in alter und neuer Zeit nebst einem Anhange über die Hebräische Orgel. Berlin, G. Fincke, 1829, 141 p. O.P.

A little book of unique value. It follows a chronological plan in treating of the practice of music amongst the Hebrews of Bible times, and compares their instruments with those of the ancient Greeks and modern Arabs. In an appendix is a treatise on the Magrepha of the Talmud, which is held to be an organ. 780.9

Schubiger, P. Anselm.

DIE SÄNGERSCHULE ST. GALLENS VOM ACHTEN BIS ZWÖLFTEN JAHRHUNDERT. Ein Beitrag zur Gesanggeschichte des Mittelalters. N. Y., Benziger Bros., 1858, 60 p. $2,50.

Long a recognized authority on the history of the mediæval Church chant. But see Gevaert, Les origines du Chant Liturgique de l'Église Latine, Lambillotte, Antiphonaire de Saint Gregoire, and Paleographie musicale. 783.5

Sokolowsky, B. von. (See Ambros, Geschichte, etc.)

Stainer, John.

THE MUSIC OF THE BIBLE, with an account of the Development of Modern Musical Instruments from Ancient Types, N. V., Cassell, 186 p., $1.50, O.P. An excellent treatise.

Westphal, Rudolf.

Harmonik und Melopõie der Griechen, Leipsic, B. G. Teubner, 1863, 372 p. O.P. Like all the other works of Westphal, clear and authoritative. 781,3 Plutarch über die Musik. Leipsic, F. E. C. Leuckart, 1865, 65 p. O.P.

The text of Plutarch's HEPI MOYEIK HE together with a German translation, a commentary on the preservation of the text and explanatory notes. 780,9 Williams, C. F. Abdy.

THE MUSIC OF THE ANCIENT GREEKS, with Notes and Translations, N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co. S. B., Burer, 20.6.

Ewer & Co., 8 p., paper, 20 c. COSTENTS: Pindar's first Pythic Ode (from Kircher's Musucgia, 1650). Hymn to Apollo, discovered at Delphi in 1893, the epitaph discovered in 1882 at Tralles, near Ephesos, and the three hymns of Dionysius and Mesomedes (see Bellermann).

PART IV.

FOLK-SONG AND NATIONAL MUSIC,

Allen, W. F., Ware, C. P., and Garrison, Lucy McKim.

SLAVE SONGS OF THE UNITED STATES. N. Y., A. Simpson & Co., 1867, xxxviii, 115 p. O.P.

Important for the study of folk-song in America. Contains 136 songs collected in South Carolina, Georgia, the Sea Islands, Delaware, Maryland, Virgima, North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Florida, and Louisiana. Also an extremely interesting study of slave characteristics.

Amiot, Pere Joseph.

MÉMOIRE SUR LA MUSIQUE DES CHINOIS, TANT Anciens que Modernes. Paris, 1780. O.P.

This treatise, the work of a Jesuit missionary, was long the chief source of information touching Chinese music. It forms Vol. VI, of the Memoires concernant Phistoire, les sciences, les arts, les mœurs, les usuges, etc., des Chinois, par les missionaires de Pekin. A small edition was separately printed in 1779. It has not been issued in English, but a German abstract esists in manuscript in the collection of musical books made by Joseph W. Drexel, now incorporated with the Lenox Library, New York.

Baker, Theodor.

UEBER DIE MUSIK DER NORDAMERIKANISCHEN WILDEN. Eine Abhandlung zur Erlangung der Doctorwürde an der Universität Leipzig. Leipsic, 1882. O.P.

A study of the music of North American Indians written as a thesis for the degree of Ph.D. at the University of Leipsic. Only to be had at second-hand.

780.973

Boas, Franz.

SECOND GENERAL REPORT ON THE INDIANS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA. Published in the Sixth Report on the Northwest Tribes of Canada made to the British Association for the Advancement of Science at the Leeds meeting in 1890. Offices of the Association, Burlington House, Lond., W., 2s. 6d. Contains interesting studies of the games and ceremonies of the Nootka, Salish, and Kwakintl tribes of the Pacific Coast, with the incidental music. 780.972

Boehme, Franz.

Geschichte des Tanzes in Deutschland. Beitrag zur deutschen Sitten-, Litteraturund Musikgeschichte. Nach den Quellen zum ersten Mal bearbeitet und mit alten Tanzliedern und Musikproben herausgegeben. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1886, 2 vols., vii, 339, 221 p., $5.

An admirable book. Vol. I, is devoted to a historical and technical study of the dances which found their way into Germany; Vol. II, to musical examples.

786.46

Brown, Mary E., and Brown, William Adams.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS AND THEIR HOMES. With 270 illustrations in pen and ink by William Adams Brown, the whole forming a complete catalogue of the Collection of Musical Instruments now in the possession of Mrs. J. Crosby Brown, of New York, N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 380 p. O.P.

The collection of instruments described in this sumptions volume is now deposited in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. The book is much more than a catalogue. It contains chapters on the music of many races, tribes, and peoples, which, while they do not always disclose soundness of scientific discernment on the part of the writers, show at least patience and industry in the study of original sources which are mentioned.

Chappell, William.

OLD ENGLISH POPULAR MUSIC. New edition with preface and notes, and the earlier examples entirely revised by H. Ellis Wooldridge. Lond., Chappell, 1893, 2 vols., 220, 220 p., 42s.

A carefully edited and beautiful reprint of an invaluable work. 784 4

Day, C. R.

THE MUSIC AND MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS OF

SOUTHERN INDIA AND THE DECCAN. With an introduction by A. J. Hipkins, F.S.A. The plates drawn by William Gibb. N.Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 173 p., $25.

A sumptuous work, the edition limited to 700 copies of plate paper and 50 artist's proofs on Japanese paper. It contains 17 chromo-lithographic plates besides drawings of musical instruments. The letter-press discusses the history, theory, and uses, both secular and religious, of Indian music, describes the instruments delineated by the colored plates, gives a list of famous musicians and a comprehensive bibliography. 780.954

De la Villemarqué. See Villemarqué.

Edwards, Charles L.

BAHAMA SONGS AND STORIES. A contribution to Folk-Lore. Illus. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1805, xiii, 111 p., $3.50.

One of the memoirs of the American Folk-Lore Society. The author and compiler is Professor of Biology in the University of Cincinnati, 784.3

Engel, Carl.

THE MUSIC OF THE MOST ANCIENT NATIONS. Lond., Murray, 1864, 379 p. O. P.

AN INFRODUCTION TO THE STUDY OF NA-HONAL MUSIC. Lond., Longmans, 1866, 435 p. O.P.

The Literature of National Music. N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 108 p., $2.

This last is a reprint of an essay published in instalments from July, 1878, to March, 1879, in The Musical Times of London. It is to be commended to the student of folk-music as an aid in the most difficult feature of his study—the procurement of evidence and authorities.

Erk, Ludwig, and Böhme, Franz.

Deutscher Liederhort. Auswahl der vorzüglicheren Deutschen Volkslieder, nach Wort und Weise aus der Vorzeit und Gegenwart. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel. 1883–1894, 3 vols., ix, 656, 800, 919 p., $15.00.

A monument to German erudition, patience, and painstaking. The result of a litetime of labor devoted to one end. The three volumes contain 2175 folksongs (melodies and words), with notes and variants, F:k died in 1883, when his collection was almost ready for publication. Emperor William I. ordered its purchase for the Library of the Royal Hochschule fur Musik in Berlin, and the Prussian Minister of Education ordered its publication. 784.3

Fletcher, Alice C.

A STUDY OF OMAHA INDIAN MUSIC. With a Report on the Structural Peculiarities of the Music by John Comfort Fillmore, A.M. Cambridge, Peabody Museum of American Archæology and Ethnology, June, 1893.

In many respects the most suggestive and valuable articles of the study of music in its relation to ethnology. In the work of writing down the music of the Omaha songs Miss Fletcher had the help of Miss Sarah Eliot Newman, and in the task of translation and interpretation of Francis La Flesche, an Omaha Indian in the employ of the Indian Burean in Washington.

784.3

Gagnon, Ernest.

CHANSON POPULAIRES DU CANADA recuellies et publiées avec annotations etc. Quebec, 1880, 350 p.

An excellent collection, and generous in its collation of variant readings. 784.3

Isawa, S.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REPORT OF THE DIREC-

TOR OF THE INSTITUTE OF MUSIC, ON THE RESULT OF THE INVESTIGATIONS CONCERNING MUSIC, undertaken by order of the Department of Education, Tokio, Japan. Transl. by The Institute of Music.

An account of the musical reform undertaken by the Japanese Government in $_{187L}$, as the result of which occidental methods were introduced in musical instruction in Japan. 780.952

Istomin, Th. M., and Lütsh, G. O.

Pesni Rouskago Naroda, Sobrani v GotBerniah Archangelskoi i Olonetskoi, v
1880 godon. Zapissali, slova. Th. M.
Istomin, napevy, G. O. Lütsh. Isdano
Imperatorskim Rousskim Geograficheskim
Obstchestvom, na sredstva Vissochaishe darovannie. Sanktpeterbourg, Tipographia, E. Arnholdt, 1894, 245 p. All of which signifies in English: Songs of the Russian People, collected in the Provinces of Archangel and Olonetz, in the Year
1886. Words by Th. M. Istomin, music by
G. O. Lütsh. Pablished by the Imperial Russian Geographical Society at the expense of the Emperor. St. Petersburg, Printed by E. Arnholdt, 1894.

The book is invaluable to students of Russian folk-song, though it has the drawback of being wholly in Russian. It contains 119 songs taken down by experts from the mouths of the people. 784.3

Kiesewetter, R. G.

UEBER DIE MUSIK DER NEUEREN GRIECHEN, nebst freien Gedanken über Altegyptische und altgriechische Musik. Mit VIII. Tafeln. Leipsic and N. V., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1838, 64 p., 5 plates, paper, $3.60.

DIE MUSIK DER ARABER, nach Originalquellen dargestellt, begleitet mit einem Vorworte von dem Freiherrn v. Hammer-Purgstall. Leipsic and N. V., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1842. With 6 illustrations in the text and 26 pages of musical illustrations showing the Arab scales and a number of Egyptian, Arabian, Persian, and Turkish songs. 90 and xxvi p. paper. §3.60.

Though old, both of these valuable books are still in the stock of the publishers and may be had at the price quoted. 784.3

Liszt, Franz.

Des Bohémiens et de leur Musique en Hongrie. Nouvelle édition, 1881. Leipsic and N. V., Breitkopf & Härtel, iv, 540 p., $5.50.

Die Zigeuner und ihre Musik in Ungarn. Deutsch bearbeitet von Peter Cornelius. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel, 259 p., $4.20.

A translation into German by Ramann makes up Vol. VI. of Liszt's Gesammelte Schriften. The first German edition was published in 1861 by G. Heckenast, Pesth. The value of the book for scientific study is impaired by the fact that Liszt conceived all Magyar music to be of gypsy origin. 780.943

Marsh, J. B. T.

THE STORY OF THE JUBILEE SINGERS, WITH THEIR SONGS. Rev. ed. Ravenna, Ohio, F. J. Loudin, 243 p., 85 c.

Contains the story of the first tours through America and Europe by the Jubilee Singers of Fisk University, a brief note on the music by Theodore F. Seward, and 112 "spiritual" slave songs from the Southern States. 784.7

Van Aalst, J. A.

CHINESE MESIC. Lond., P. S. King & Son. 1854, 84 р.

This is one of the official publications of the Statistical Department of the lingectorate General of Customs at Shanghai. It is an extremely valuable contribution to the subject of Chinese music and contains many examples; also an account of the rites performed at the Temple of Confucius in the presence of the Emperor.

Villemarqué, Th. Hersart de la.

Barzaz-Breiz. Chants Populaires de la Bretagne, recueillis et publiés avec une Traduction française, des Arguments, des Notes et les Mélodies originales. 4me ed. Paris, A. Franck, 1846, 2 vols., xix, 400, 492 p., 56 p. of music. O.P.

Supreme in its department. In 1841 lifty-three of the songs were translated into German by A. Keller and E. von Seckendorff and published by L. F. Fues in Tübingen. This edition along with the later French version is occasionally to be met with at second-hand 784.4

Walker, Joseph C.

HISTORICAL MEMORES OF THE IRISH BARDS.

Interspersed with Anecdotes of and occasional Observations on the Music of Ireland. Also, an Historical and Descriptive Account of the Musical Instruments of the Ancient Irish, and an Appendix containing several Biographical and other Papers, with select Irish Mclodies. Lond., 1786, the body of the book 166 p., the Appendix 120 p. O.P.

An important work, seldom appearing in second-band lasts. There is a copy in the Lenox Library, New York. The appendix contains dissertations on the ancient Irish harp, the style of ancient Irish music, the poetical accents of the Irish, the bagpipe in Italian, memoirs of Cormac Common, an "Account of three Brass Trumpets found near Cork, with Remarks there-on," an essay "On the Construction and Capability of the Irish Harp, in its Pristine and Present State," and a number of old Irish melodies. 780.9415

Wallaschek, R.

PRIMITIVE MUSIC. An Inquiry into the Origin and Development of Music, Songs, Instruments, Dances, and Pantomimes of Savage Races. N. V., Longmans, xxii, 326. 9 p., $4.50. 780.9

PART V.

BIOGRAPHY.

Apthorp, William F.

HECTOR BERLIOZ: Selections from His Letters and Æsthetic, Humorous, and Satirical Writings. Transl., with biographical sketch of the author. N.Y., Holt, 427 p. 82.

A readable translation of well-chosen extracts from Berlioz's French writings, "First Journey to Germany," "Musical Grotesques," an! "A Travers Chants." In an appendix are M. Guillaume's discourse at the funeral of Berlioz and a catalogue of Destroyle compositions. 785 Berlioz's compositions.

Bach, Johann Sebastian. See Poole, Reginald Lane; Spitta, P.

Baini, Giuseppe.

Memorie storio-critiche della Vita e DELLE OPERE DI GIOVANNI PIERLUIGI DA Palestrina. See Kandler. 783

Beethoven, Ludwig van.

Thematisches Verzeichniss sämmtlicher IM DRUCK ERSCHIENEN WERKE VON LUD-WIG VAN BEETHOVEN. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1851, $3.80.

"Catalogues of Beethoven's works were attempted by Artaria, Hofmeister, and Cranz, but the first one worthy of the subject was issued by Breitkoji & Här-tel in 1851—'Them tisches Ferzeichniss,' etc., large 8vo, 167 p. The second edition of this, edited and entel in 1831— The mitisches Verzeichniss,' etc., large 8vo, 167 p. The second edition of this, edited and enriched with copious notes, remarks, appendices, indexes, etc., by Mr. G. Nottebohm (Leipzig, 1868, pp. 1, 220), leaves little to be desired. It is arranged in the order of the opus number of the preces—where they are numbered—that is to say, in the order of publication."—Sir George Grove.

Both editions are occasionally listed in second-hand catalogues. The first edition may be consulted in the Drexel collection, Lenox Library, New York.

For Lives of Beethoven see under Marx, A. B., Nohl, L.; Nottebohm, G.; Oulibischeff, A.; Schindler, J.; Thayer, A. W.

Thayer, A. W.

Benedict, Sir Julius.

Weber. (Great Musicians series of biographies, edited by Francis Hueffer.) Lond., Sampson Low. N. V., Scribner, 176 p., $1.

A well-written and authoritative book which derive special interest from the tact that the author was a pupil of Weber. A valuable feature is the descriptive catalogue of Weber's compositions.

Berlioz, Hector.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY. From 1803 to 1865. Comprising His Travels in Italy, Germany, Russia, and England. Transl. by Rachel (Scott Russell) Holmes and Eleanor Holmes. N. Y., Macmillan, 1884, 2 vols., 336, 411 p., 83.

A necessary help to a study of the eccentric French genius, but as a literary work wofully deficient in that it has no index and few references to dates. See Life under Apthorp, W. F. 785

Bombet, L. A. C.

THE LIFE OF HAYDN, in a series of Letters written at Vienna. Followed by THE LIFE OF MOZAKI, with observations on Metastasio and on the Present State of Music in France and Italy. Transl. from the French. Lond., John Murray, 1817. O.P.

A fascinating book but a shameless plagrarism. The original was published in Paris in 1814. The first English edition appeared in 1877, the second a year later, both in London. Reprints were published in Providence in 1850, and Boston in 1830. Though claiming to be original the book is little else than a translation of Broughait the book is full ease than a thaisation at Italian work entitled Le Haydine orsevo Lettere sulla Vila e le Opere del celebre Mustro Giuseppe Haydin, by Giuseppe Carpani, an edition of which appeared in Milan in 1812 Bombet was the pseudonym of Henri Reyle. Both works may be consulted at the Lenox Library, New York (Drexel Collection). 785

Brahms, J. See Deiters, H., and Fuller-Maitland, J. A.

Carpani, Giuseppe.

LE HAYDINE. Ovvero Lettere sulla Vita e le Opere del celebre Maestro Giuseppe Haydn. See Bombet. 785

Cherubini. See Crowest, F. J.

Chopin. See Karasowski, M.; Liszt, F.; Niecks, F.

Chrysander, Friedrich.

G. F. HANDEL. Leipsic and N. V., Breitkopf & Härtel, 3 vols., viii, 455, vi, 481, iv, 224

Vol. I. was published in 1858, Vol. II. in 1860, and the first half of Vol. III. (all that has appeared) in 1867. A work designed to be a companion piece to Spitta's "Bach," Jahn's "Mozart," and Thayer's "Beethoven." Its completion is extremely doubtful. It carries the story of Handel's life down to 1740 and to that limit is exhaustive, not to say prolix.

783

Crowest, Frederick J.

CHERUBINI. N. Y., Scribner, 115 p., $1.

Conventional in style. Its chief claim to interest is its subject. 783

Cummings, William H.

Purcell. Lond., Sampson Low. N. Y., Scribner, 124 p., $1.

Trustworthy and necessary for the correction of errors in the early histories. 783

Deiters, Hermann.

JOHANNES BRAHMS. A Biographical Sketch. Transl. with additions by Rosa Newmarch. Edited, with a preface, by J. A. Fuller-Maitland. Lond., T. Fisher Unwin. N. Y., Scribner, 1888, viii, 160 p. $1.50. 785

Edwards, H. Sutherland.

Rossini and the Modern Italian School.

Lond., Sampson Low. N. Y., Scribner, 114 p., $1.

Bright and readable. Donizetti and Verdi are briefly discussed in the concluding chapters; there is a list of Rossim's published works in an appendix.
782.5

Frost, H. F.

Schubert, Lond., Sampson Low. N. Y., Scribner, 128 p., $1.

An adequate life of Schubert is yet to be written. All the biographies printed thus far, and they are not many, are short, and none equals in literary manner and interest the article by the editor in Grove's Dictionary. The present book is as full as the ordinary biography and has an excellent feature in a chronological catalogue of Schubert's compositions. A German biography by Niggli included in Breitkopf & Härtel's "Musikalische Vorträge" is to be commended for its contribution to our knowledge of the composer's habits and private life. 784

Fuller-Maitland, J. A.

Masters of German Music. N. Y., Scribner, 289 p., $1.75.

The ablest volume of the "Masters of Contemporary Music" series. Separate chapters are given to Brahms, Bruch, Goldmark, Rheinberger, one to Kirchner, Reinicke, and Bargiel, one to Joachim and Clara Schumann, one to Herzogenberg, Hofmann, Bruckner, and Draeseke, and one to Nicodé, Richard Strauss, Hans Sommer, and Cyrill Kistler. 780.943

Gluck. See Newman, E.

Gonnod, Charles François.

Memoirs of an Artist. An Autobiography. Rendered into English by Annette E. Crocker. Chic., Rand, McNally & Co., 1895, 223 p., $1.25.

See Hervey, Arthur. 780.944

Mozart's Don Giovanni. A Commentary. Transl. from the third French edition by Windeyer Clark and J. T. Hutchinson. Lond., Robert Cocks & Co., 1895, 144 p., 3s. 6d. 780.943

A commentary on Mozart's master-work, scene after scene, not profound or particularly suggestive to musicians, but full of affection and enthusiasm.

Grétry, André Erneste Modeste.

MÉMOIRES OU ESSAIS SUR LA MUSIQUE. 1st edition, 3 vols., 1789. O.P.

VERSUCHE ÜBER DIE MUSIK. Im Auszage und mit kritischen und historischen Zusätzen heransgegeben von Dr. Karl Spazier. Leipsic and N. V., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1800, xvi, 446 p., paper, 80 c.

In these essays Gretry discusses his principles of dramatic composition. Both the original and its translation may be consulted at the Lenox Library, New York (Drexel Collection).

Handel, G. F. See Chrysander, F.; Rockstro, W. S.; Schoelcher, V.

Haydn, Joseph.

For Life see Bombet, L. A. C.; Carpani, G.; Nohl, L.; Pohl, C. F.; Townsend, P. D.

Hervey, Arthur.

MASTERS OF FRENCH MUSIC. N. Y., Scribner, 1894, xii, 290 p., $1.75.

Sketches of Ambroise Thomas, Gounod, Saint-Saëns, Massenet, Reyer, Bruneau, and notes on Joncieres, Dubois, Widor, Godard, Paladhile, Salvayre, Franck, d'Indy, Fauré, and Chabrier. 780.944

Holmes, Edward.

The Life of Mozart, including his Correspondence. New edition with notes by Ebenezer Prout. Lond., Novello, Ewer & Co., 256 p., $2.

Co., 256 p., §2.

"Holmes has arranged the essential portions of the correspondence with intelligence and discrimination and has connected them by a narrative built upon previous notices: he has thus produced a trustworthy, and, as far as was possible, an exhaustive account of Mozart's life. . . . The result is a work which must be considered as the most trustworthy and serviceable biegraphy that could be produced by a skilful employment of the materials generally accessible. Holmes has not attempted to draw from hitherto unknown sources. He neither carries his researches to any depth nor offers any original opinions or explanations."—Otto Jahn in the preface to his Biography of 180.943

Jahn, Otto.

LIFE OF MOZART. Transl. from the German by Pauline D. Townsend, with a preface by George Grove, D.C.L. With portraits and fac-simile reproductions of autographs. N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 3 vols., 431, 478, 443 p., $12.60.

In its way the last word on Mozart. The biographical part is exhaustive and all the chief works of Mozart are interestingly analyzed. A monumental work. 780.943

Kandler, Franz Sales.

ÜBER DAS LEBEN UND DIE WERKE DES G. PIERLUGI DA PALESTRINA, genannt der Fürst der Musik. Nach den Memorie storico-critiche des Abbate Ginseppe Baini, Sängers und Direktors der päpstlichen Kapelle, verfasst und mit historisch-krit. Zusätzen begleitet. Nachgelassenes Werk, heransgegeben mit einem Vorworte und mit gelegentlichen Anmerkungen von R.

G. Kiesewetter. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1834, xxiv, 244 p. and index, $2.15.

A welcome translation and abridgment of the Abbi-Baint's famous work on Palestrina, which was published in 1828. Invaluable in the study of church musi

780 945

Karasowski, Moritz.

Chopin: His Life, Letters, and Works; with two Essays on Chopin as a Man and a Musician, and a Complete List of his Works. Transl, from the German by Emily Hill. Lond,, Reeves. N. Y., Scribner, 1879, 2 vols., $5.

•Until the appearance of the exhaustive work by liecks (which see) the best Chopin biography. The Kreissle, Heinrich von.

Franz Schubert. Eine Biografische Skizze. Vienna, Zamarski & Dittmarsch. 1561.

Franz Schubert, von Heinrich Kreissle von Hellborn, Vienna, Gerold, 1865, 4

A second, extended edition of the original biographical sketch. This was translated into English by A. D. Coleridge and published in 2 vols. by Longman in 1869 (O.P.), with a valuable appendix in which Sir (then Mr.) George Grove gave an account of the Mss. of Schubert which he and Mr. Sullivan examined in Vienna in 1867. Dr. Kreissle's biography has historical value from the fact that it was the first extended work in the field. 780.943 in the field.

Lampadius, W. A.

LIFE OF FELIX MENDELSSOHN-BARTHOLDY, Transl. by W. A. Gage. Bost., Ditson & Co., $1.25.

A standard work, written in a spirit of affectionate sympathy. 780.943

Liszt, Franz.

LIFE OF CHOPIN. Transl. from the French by Martha Walker Cook. Bost., Ditson, 202 p., $1.25.

It is a misnomer to call Liszt's poetical, almost hysterical essay a "Life" of Chopin Its biographical material is meagre and faulty, but the book is valuable as a study of Chopin's art by a fellow-artist and

For Correspondence of Wagner and Liszt see Wagner in Part VI.

For "Life of Liszt" see under Nohl, L. For "Als Kuenstler und Mensch" see under Ramann, L. 780.943

Marx, A. B.

Ludwig van Beethoven, Leben und Schaf-FEN. In zwei Theilen mit chronologischem Verzeichniss der Werke und autographischen Beilagen. Dritte Anflage, mit Berücksichtigung der neuesten Forschungen durch gesehen und vermehrt von Dr. Gustav Behncke. Berlin, Otto Janke. N. V., Lemcke & Buechner. 2 vols., 365, 456 p., paper, $5.35; cloth, $6.10.

A critical biography written with analysis of the and in a sanely poetical style, with analysis of the larger compositions of Beethoven which give it a place through the same Regulish brography. A critical biography written with ardent sympathy not filled by any English biography.

GLUCK UND DIE OPER. Mit dem wohlgetroffenen Portrait Gluck's, einem Autographen und vielen Musik-Beilagen. Berlin, Otto Janke, 1863, 2 vols., 464, 390 p., $4 20. Valuable, but prolix. 780.943

Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, F. See Lampadius, W. A.

Mozart. See Holmes, E., Jahn, O.; Nohl, L.; Pole, W.

Newman, Ernst.

GLUCK AND THE OPERA. A Study in Musical History, Lond., Bertram Dobell, N. V., Scribner, 1895, 300 p., $2.40.

Obviously intended to take the place of the German work, Gluck und die Oper. (See Marx.) 782.3

Niecks, Frederick.

Frederick Chopin as a Man and Musician. N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 2 vols., 340, 375 p., $10.

A standard work, the ablest yet written on the subject, though unduly extended by dissertations on unes-sential topics. Contains appreciative and intelligent analyses and criticisms and a well-compiled and annoanalyses and criticisms and a wenecompositions, tated list of Chopin's published compositions.

Nohl, Louis.

LIVES OF BEETHOVEN, HAYDY, LISZT, MOZART, AND WAGNER. Transl, by George P. Upton and John J. Lalor. With portraits. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 5 vols., 75 c. 780.943 each.

Nottebohm, Gustav.

Beethoveniana. Aufsätze und Mittheilungen. Leipsic, Ricter-Biedermann, 1872, 203 p., 7 marks.

Zweite Beethoveniana. Nachgelassene Aufsätze. Leipsic, Rieter - Biedermann, 1887, x, 590 p., 20 marks.

Reprints of Beethoven's sketch-books, invaluable to Beethoven students. The second volume left unfinished by Nottebohm was completed by E. Mandyczewski Oulibischeff, Alexander.

Beethoven, ses Critiques et ses Glossa-TEURS. Paris, 1557. O.P.

Beethoven, seine Kritiker und seine Aus-LEGFR. Aus dem Französischen überzetzt von Ludwig Bischoff. Leipsic, Brockhaus, 1859, x, 373 p. O.P.

A polemic directed against Lenz's "Beethoven et ses trois styles." (See Lenz in Part VIII.)

NOUVELLE BIOGRAPHIE DE MOZART, suivie d'un aperçu sur l'histoire générale de la Musique. Leipsic, Brockhaus, 1844, 3 vols. O.P.

MOZART'S LEBEN UND WERKE VON ALEXANDER OUTBISCHEFF. Neu Bearbeitet und wesentlich erweitert von Ludwig Ganttner. 2d ed. Stuttgart, Ad. Becher, 1864, 4 vols. xix, 331, 328, 392, 348 p. O.P.

The historical "aperçu" in the original attacked the later compositions of Beethoven and provoked Lenz (see Part VIII.) to write his "Beethoven et ses trois styles." 780.943

Paine, John Knowles, Editor.

FAMOUS COMPOSERS AND THEIR WORKS. Bost., J. B. Millet Co., 30 parts, $15. (In 6 vols. ($24.)

This work was sold on subscription. It is serious critical biography by well-known writers, with studies of the growth of music in various countries. The musical flustrations were edited by Theodore Thomas and Karl Klauser

Palestrina. See Kandler, F. S.

Pohl, C. F.

Joseph Haydn. Leipsic, Breitkopf & Härtel, 2 vols., xx, 423, vii, 383 p., $6.30.

The author was librarian of the Gesellschaft der Musiktreunde in Vienna. A residence of three years in London was largely occupied in investigations touching the visits to that city of Mozart and Haydn, the results he embodied in his book "Mozart and Haydn in London" (1867). He then undertook to do for Haydn what Jahn (see) had done for Mozart and Spitta (see) for Bach. Unhappily his Haydn biography was unfinished at his death in 1887, after it had carried the history of the composer to the end of 1790; but so far as it goes it is a court of last resort on all questions of fact concerning the composer. 780.943

Pole, William.

THE STORY OF MOZART'S REQUIEM. With a fac-simile. Lond., Novello, Ewer & Co., 1879, 91 p., 40 c.

A fine marshalling of the facts in the much controverted story of the Requiem, leaving the question of the exact extent of Mozart's work unsettled.

Poole, Reginald Lane.

Sebastian Bach. Lond., Sampson Low. N. Y., Scribner, 138 p., $1.

An excellent compendium, a vast amount of information well brought out and well stated. It is one of the best volumes in "The Great Musicians" series, and challenges attention as the first biography of Bach written in England. 780.943

Pougin, Arthur.

VERDI: AN ANECDOTIC HISTORY OF HIS LIFE AND WORKS. Transl. from the French by James E. Matthew. N. Y., Scribner, 1887, xi, 308 p., $2. 780.945

Purcell. See Cummings, W. H.

Ramann, L.

Franz Liszt. A18 Kuenstler und Als Mensch. Leipsie and N. V. Breitkopf & Härtel. 1880, 1887, and 1894. 2 vols. bound in 3, xii, 570, viii, 315, xii, 531 p., $5,20.

An exhaustive work authorized by Liszt, largely written under his supervision, but somewhat hysterical in its admiration and devotion. 780.943

Reissmann, August.

LIFE AND WORKS OF ROBERT SCHUMANN.
Transl, from 3d edition of the German by Abby Langdon Alger. Lond., George Bell
& Co. N. Y., Macmillan, 276 p., $1.

A critical biography, with intelligent discussions of Schumann's principal compositions. 780.943

Rockstro, W. S.

LIFE OF GFORGE FREDERICK HANDEL. With introductory notice by George Grove, D.C.L. N. Y., Macmillan, 452 p. $2.50.

Trustworthy and serviceable. Contains a valuable catalogue of Handel's works and a genealogical tree 780.943

Rossini. See Edwards, H. S.

Rubinstein, Anton.

AUTOBIOGRAFIY, 1829-1589. Transl. from the Russian by Aline Delano. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1890, viii, 171 p., $1.

A Conversation on Music. Transl. for the author by Mrs. John P. Morgan. N. Y., C. F. Tretbar, 146 p., $1.

The latter volume contains a frank confession of Ruhinstein's attitude toward his contemporaries.

780.947

Schindler, Anton.

The Life of Beethoven; including the biography of Schindler, Beethoven's correspondence with his Friends, numerous characteristic traits, and remarks on his musical works, edited by Ignace Moscheles; to which is added the Life and Characteristics of Beethoven, from the German of Dr. Heinrich Döring. Bost., Ditson, 390 p., $1.50.

A reprint of the Moscheles book of 1841, with the addition of the preface to the Wolfenbüttel edition of Beethoven's sonatas as translated for Dwight's Journal of Music, that preface consisting of Dr. Döring's sketch. The original of Schindler's "Biographie" was published in Münster in 1840, but Moscheles took more credit for it than the author when he translated or adapted it for the London publisher in 1841. The intimate relations which existed between Schindler and Beethoven during the last few years of the latter's life give great worth to the book as an original source of information. Its value in an anthority, though frequently attacked, has been confirmed by Mr. Thayer. (See Thayer, A. W.)

Schoelcher, Victor.

THE LIFE OF HANDEL. Bost., Ditson, 402 p., $2.

The French original of this work has never been rinted. Schoelcher was not a musician but a politician, who, as a republican, was expelled from France on the accession of Napoleon III. He lived in London till 1870, and his book was the fruit of an enthusiasm for Handel created and nourished there. Though externely taulty, it long enjoyed great popularity because there was no modern English biography of Handel. It has now been supplanted by Rockstro's "Life." (See Rockstro.) 780.943

Schubert. See Frost, H. F.; Kreissle, II. v.

Schumann, R. See Reissmann, A., Wasielewski, J. v

Spitta, Philipp.

JOHANN SEBASTIAN BACH: His Work and Influence on the Music of Germany, 1685–1750. Transl, from the German by Clara Bell and J. A. Fuller-Mailland. N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 3 vols., 656, 721, and 419 p., $12. O.P.

A monumental example of German thoroughness and devotion. 780.943

Spohr, Louis.

Attoblography. Transl. from the German. Lond. Longman 1865 vii, 327, 242 p., §3.50. O.P.

Containing many interesting comments on Spohr's contemporaries, especially Beethoven 780 943

Streatfeild, R. A.

MASTERS OF ITALIAN MUSIC. N. Y., Scribner, 1895 270 p., $1.75.

Sketches of Verdi, Bolto. Mascagni, Puccini, Leoncavallo, and a final chapter devoted to Bazzini, Sgambati, Faccio, and Mancinelli. 780.945

Thayer, Alexander Wheelock.

Ludwig van Beethoven's Leben. Nach dem Original Manuscript, deutsch bearbeitet. Berlin, W. Weber. N. Y., Lemcke & Buechner, 3 vols., 384, 416, 519 p., paper, $7.

paper, 87.

The court of last resort for all questions touching the man Beethoven; there is no discussion, beyond the listorical, of his compositions. Written in English by an American, and translated by Dr. H. Deiters. The three volumes published respectively in 1866, 1872, and 1879 hring the life of Beethoven down to the end of 1876. A fourth volume is yet to come. The work represents thirty-five years of labor and its authority is indefectible.

780.943

Chronologisches Verzeichniss der Werke-LUDWIG VAN BEETHOVENS, Berlin, 1865. Ferdinand Schneider, viii, 208 p. O.P.

reruinand Schneider, VIII, 208 p. O.1?.

"A catalogue from a different point of view" (from that published by Brenkopf & Härtel—see Ricethoren) "in the order of the production of the works, and embracing those unpublished as well as published, was issued by Mr. Thayer as a precursor, or memoire four servir, to his 'Biography,' viz., Chronologisches Terscichniss, etc. (Berlin, 1865). It is difficult to overestimate the value of this unpretending list, which contains a yest amount of information put only before tains a vast amount of information not only before inaccessible, but unknown to students."—Sir George 780.943

Townsend, Pauline D.

JOSEPH HAYDN. Lond., Sampson Low. N. Y.,

Scribner, 124 p., $1.

A volume of "The Great Musicians" series, edited by Dr. Francis Hueffer. An unadorned narrative of lacts without attempts at analysis or criticism. The author is the translator of Jahn's "Mozart."

780,943

Verdi. See Pougin, A.; Streatfeild, R. A.

Wagner, Richard.

Part V1., following this, is devoted to Wagner.

Wasielewski, Joseph von.

LHE OF ROBERT SCHUMANN Transl. by A. L. Alger. Bost., Ditson, 275 p., $1,25.

The original, published by Rudolf Kunze, Dresden in 1858, is a standard work. 780.943

Weber, Baren Max Maria von.

CARL MARIA VON WEBER; the Life of an Aitist. From the German of his son by J. Palgrave Simpson. Bost., Ditson, 2 vols., 302, 355 p., $2,50.

The German original was published in three volumes, 1806-1868. It is an acknowledged authority. The above is an American reprint of the English edition, in which the German original is materially con-

See under Benedict, Sir Julius.

Willeby, Charles.

Masters of English Music. N. V., Scribner, 380 p., $1.75.

Sketches, not notable for literary or critical strength, of Sullivan, Mackenzie, Cowen, Parry, and Stanford.

PART VI.

WAGNERIANA.

Benoit, Camille.

THE TYPICAL MOTIVES OF "THE MASTER-SINGERS OF NÜREMBERG," a musical comedy by Richard Wagner. English version by I. H. Cornell. A study for serving as a guide through the score, preceded by a review of the poetical work. N. Y., Schirmer, 48 p., 50 c.

Dippold, George Theodore.

RICHARD WAGNER'S POEM: "The Ring of the Nibelung." Explained and in part transl. N. Y., Holt, 1888, 240 p., $1 50. 782.2

Finck, Henry T.

WAGNER AND HIS WORKS: THE STORY OF HIS LIFE, WITH CRITICAL COMMENTS. With portraits. N. Y. Scribner. 2 vols., 460,

The origraphical portion remarkably complete, clearly and forcibly written, with agreeable variety and picturesqueness. Facts carefully sifted and well ordered. The potentical and critical portions marred by uncompromising radicalism of statement and Irequent instances of imperfect literary taste. 782.2

Frost, William Henry.

THE WAGNER STORY BOOK, Firelight Tales of the Great Music Dramas. Illustrated by Sydney Richmond Burleigh, N. Y. Scribner 1894, 245 p., $1.59.

Mr. Frost has permitted the dramas of Wagner from Mr. Frost has permitted the dramas of Wagner from Tannhauser to Parsifal to furnish him with material for a series of tales which he has cast in the form of narratives to a child, but he has done with his material what every creative artist does with the crude stuff which he finds at hand in nature. He has melted it over, moulded it anew, enriched it with original de-signs drawn from his own stores, and made it subserve new purposes. His book is mostingratiating and quite in the spirit of Charles Kingsley. 782.2 in the spirit of Charles Kingsley.

Glasenapp, Carl Friedrich.

RICHARD WAGNER'S LEBEN UND WIRKEN. In sechs Büchern dargestellt. Eine Festgabe zum Bayreuther Bühnenweihfestspiele "Parsifal." Neue vermehrte Ausgabe mit einem Namen- und Sachregister. Leipsic and N. Y. Breitkopf & Härtel, 1822, 2 vols., Xii. 403, 552 p., $6.

The authoritative biography of Wagner. A supplement was printed to the first edition carrying the narrative to the year 1882. A complete revision undertaken by the author has appeared under the title:

Das Leben Richard Wagner's; in sechs Büchern dargestellt. Dritte gänzlich neu bearbeitete Ausgabe von "Richard Wag-ner's Leben und Wirken." Leipsic and N Y., Breitkopf & Härtel, 3 vols., $10.80.

Heintz, Albert.

The Masier-Singers of Nurlmberg, by Richard Wagner. Attempt at a musical explanation. Transl, from the 2d German edition by J. H. Cornell. N. Y., Schirmer, Transl, from the 2d German 128 p., $1.

Hueffer, Francis.

RICHARD WAGNEE Lond., Sampson Low.

N. Y. Scribner 127 p. $1. In the "Great Musicians" series, edited by the author, a recognized English authority. Contains a list of Wagner's published works. 782 2

Jullien, Adolphe.

RICHARD WAGNER, HIS LIFE AND WORKS. Transl, from the French by Florence Percival Hall. Introduction by B. J. Lang. Illustrated with 14 phototypes from original drawings by Fantin-Latour, 15 portraits of Richard Wagner, and 113 text cuts; scenes from his operas, views of theatres, autographs, and numerous caricatures. Bost. J. B. Millet Co., 2 vols.,

A critical biography written in a sprightly and entertaining vein by a distinguished French writer, an enthusiastic admirer of Wagner's music and a calm and discriminating judge of his personal character. There are evidences in the translation of unfamiliarity with are evidences in the translation of uniamous.

French musical terminology and Wagner's works.
782.2

Krehbiel, H. E.

STUDIES IN THE WAGNERIAN DRAMA. Harper, 197 p., $1.25.

CONTENTS: Chap. I., The Wagnerian Drama its prototypes and elements; Chap. II., "Tristan und Isolde"; Chap. III., "Die Meistersinger von Nürnberg"; Chap. IV., "Der Ring des Nibelungen"; Chap. V., "Parsifal."

Kufferath, Maurice.

THE PARSIFAL OF RICHARD WAGNER. Illus. N. V., Am. Publishers Corporation, 300 p., $1.25.

A fine study by one of the most scholarly of French critics, Schuré, Edouard.

LE DRAME MUSICAL. Nouvelle Edition augmentée d'une Étude sur " Parsifal." Tome I., La Musique et la Poésie dans leur Développement Historique. Tome II., Richard Wagner, son Œuvre et son Idèe. Paris, Librairie Académique Didier. Emile Perrin, Librairie-Editeur, 1886, xxii, 294, 367 p., 7 fr.

DAS MUSIKALISCHE DRAMA. Transl. by Hans von Wolzogen. 3d ed. Leipsic, Reinboth, 2 vols in 1, 212, 172 p.

The same work in German.

782.2

Wagenseil, Johann Christoph.

DE SACRI ROM. IMPERII LIBERA CIVITATE NORIBERGENSI COMMENTATIO. Accedit, De Germaniæ Phonascorum Von Der Meister-Singer, Origine, Præstantia, Utilitate, et Institutis, sermone vernaculo Liber. Altdorf, 1607. O.P.

It is to the German chapter in this Latin treatise on the city of Nuremberg that Wagner is indebted for all the elements that are historical in his comedy Die Meistersinger von Nurmberg. Considering its age Meistersinger von Nurnberg. Considering its age and value the book is quite common in the German second-hand catalogues. There is a copy at the Lenox Library (Drexel Collection), New York. 780.943

Wagner, Richard.

RICHARD WAGNER'S PROSE WORKS. Transl. by William Ashton Ellis. Lond., Kegan Paul. N. Y., Scribner.

Vol. I., 1892, "The Art Work of the Future," etc., xviii, 422 p., $6.

Vol. H., 1893, "Opera and Drama," xx, 416

Vol. 111., 1894, "The Theatre," xii, 432 p.,

Vol. IV., 1895, "Art and Politics," xx, 415 p., $6. These four volumes belong to the six in which Mr.

Ellis, with the help of the London Branch of the Wagner Society, intends to embody an English rendering of Wagner's complete prose works. He has provided each volume with a preface, a summary of its contents, and a voluminous index which greatly facilitate study.

RICHARD WAGNER'S LETTERS, to His Dresden Friends, Theodore Uhlig, Wilhelm Fischer, and Ferdinand Heine. Transl. into Eng-lish, with a Preface by J. S. Shedlock, and an Etching of Wagner by C. W. Sherborn. N. Y., Scribner, 1890, xi, 512 p., $3.50.

Correspondence of Wagner and Liszt. Transl. into English, with a Preface by Francis Hueffer. Lond., H. Grevel & Co. N. V., Scribner, 1889, 2 vols., xvi, 352, 340 p., $5. O.P.

A new edition in one volume is said (Jan., 1807) to be in preparation.

All these letters are of mestimable value to Wagner students, but reference to the correspondence with Liszt is made extremely difficult for lack of an index. 782.2

ART LIFE, AND THEORIES OF RICHARD WAG-NER. Selected from His Writings, and Translated by Edward L. Burlingame. With a Preface, a Catalogue of Wagner's Published Works, and Drawings of the Bayreuth Opera House. N. V., Holt, 305 p., $2.

A brief Life of Wagner is mentioned under Nohl, Part V.

Weston, Jessie L.

THE LEGENDS OF THE WAGNER DRAMA. Studies in Mythology and Romance. N. Y., Scrib-782.2 ner, 1896, 380 p., $2.25.

Wolzogen, Hans von.

GUIDE THROUGH THE MUSIC of Richard Wagner's "The Ring of the Nibelung." New edition translated by Nathan Haskell Dole. N. V., Schirmer, 75 c.

GUIDE THROUGH THE MUSICAL MOTIVES OF Richard Wagner's "Tristan und Isolde." With a Preface on the Legend and the Poem of Wagner's Drama. N. Y., Schirmer, 50c.

GUIDE THROUGH THE MUSIC of Richard Wag-ner's "Parsifal." New edition translated by J. H. Cornell. N. Y., Schirmer, 75 c.

These are translations of the authoritative guides to the significance of the typical phrases out of which Wagner constructed his latter-day dramas. Readers who want expositions of the dramas in addition to an who want expositions of the diames in addition of the phrases are referred to Gustav Kobbe's Richard Wagner's "Ring of the Nibelung" (§t) and "Tristan and Isolde," N. Y., Schirmer (25c.), 782.2

' 785

PART VII.

SCIENCE AND ÆSTHETICS.

Ambros, A. W.

THE BOUNDARIES OF MUSIC AND POETRY: A STUDY IN MUSICAL ÆSTHETICS. Transl. from the German by J. H. Cornell. N. Y., Schirmer, 187 p., $2.

Entertaining as well as suggestive. An answer to Hanslick's "The Beautiful in Music," which see. Free from the ordinary obscurities of metaphysical writing, and full of illustrations drawn from the other arts. It combats the notion that feelings are neither the aim nor the content of music, but points out the limitations of musical expression and warns against the extravagance of descriptive, or programme, music. 780.1

Berlioz. Hector.

A TREATISE ON MODERN INSTRUMENTATION AND ORCHESTRATION; to which is appended The Chef d'Orchestre. Transl. by Mary Cowden Clarke. New edition, revised and edited by Joseph Bennett. N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 1882, 257 p., $4.80.

Has always been the chief authority in its department. The book contains an exact table of the compass, a sketch of the mechanism and study of the quality of tone and expressive character of the instruments of the orchestra and a large number of examples in score.

785

Broadhouse, John.

Musical Acoustics: The Students' Helm-Holiz, or The Phenomena of Sound as connected with music. Lond., Reeves. N. Y., Scribner, 440 p., §3. See Helmholtz. 781.1

Brockhoven, John A.

A System of Harmony for Teacher and Pupil, with copious examples, practical Exercises, Questions, and Indexes. Cincinnati, Chicago, and N. Y., John Church Co., 118 p., §1.

The author is Professor of Harmony and Composition in the College of Music of Cincinnati. He aims at a simplification of the method pursued in Richter's Manual (see Richter) so as to bring the science of harmony within the ken of students of the pianoforte and singing. 781.3

Bussler, Ludwig.

MUSIKALISCHE FORMENLEHRE. See Cornell, second following title. 781.5

Corder, F.

The Orchestra and 11ow to Write for It. A practical guide to every branch and detail of modern orchestration; including full particulars of all instruments now in use and rules for their combination. With numerous exercises and over 200 useful examples from modern works. The whole forming an indispensable manual for conductors and composers. Lond., Robert Cocks. N. Y., Edward Schuberth & Co., 1896, 111 p., $4.

A new work that came to supply a decided want. Features of excellent practical utility are the rules for writing for small bands, such as are used at dances, in the theatres, and at watering-places, and for brass bands. In the illustrative examples the parts for transposing instruments are written as they sound to simplify study. A large number of the examples are taken from compositions by Wagner and the musicians of to-day, and these are a valuable addition to Berlioz's work on the same subject. (See Berlioz, "A Treatise on Modern Instrumentation," in this list.)

Cornell, J. H.

THE THEORY AND PRACTICE OF MUSICAL, FORM; on the basis of Ludwig Bussler's "Musikalische Formenlehre." For instruction in Composition both in private and in classes. N. Y., Schirmer, 260 p., $2.

"The aim of the work is, in one word, to teach musical construction, and its plan is perfectly simple. Each form, beginning with the very smallest of the elementary ones, is clearly explained and copiously exemplified; the student is then required to originate a nusical thought in the given form."—[From the Preface.]

Gevaert, F. A.

Nouveau Traité d'Instrumentation. Leipsic and N. Y., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1885, iv. 339 p., $8.

Neue Instrumenten Lehre. Ins Deutsche übersetzt von Dr. Hugo Riemann. Leipsic and N. V., Breitkopf & Härtel, 1887, iv, 345 p., $8.

Modern and admirable.

Gow, George C.

THE STRUCTURE OF MUSIC. An elementary text-book on Notation and Harmony with full illustrations and abundant exercises. For use in the class-room and for self-instruction. N. Y., Schirmer, 200 p., $1.25.

Hanslick, Eduard.

The Beautiful in Music: A Contribution to the Revisal of Musical Æsthetics. Transl. from the 7th edition by Gustav Cohen. N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 174 p., §2.40.

One of the most gracefully written as well as keenest discussions of the nature and essence of music extant. Dr. Hanslick contends that music possesses no means for representing definite feelings. The beautiful in music, therefore, does not depend on emotional expression. The content of music is the musical idea, which is not only an object of intrinsic beauty but also an end in itself, not a means for representing feelings or thoughts. In reply see Ambros's "The Boundaries of Music and Poetry" in this list. 780.1

Haupt, August.

THEORY OF COUNTERPOINT, FUGUE, AND DOUBLE COUNTERFOINT. Prepared expressly for the Royal Institute for Church Music at Berlin. Transl. from the original manuscript by II. Clarence Eddy. N. Y., Schirmer, 79 p., $1.50.

An extremely sententious set of rules which seem to have been written more for the guidance of a teacher than for study by a pupil, 781.4

Hauptmann, Moritz.

THE NATURE OF HARMONY AND METRE. Transl. and edited by W. E. Heathcote. N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 1888, 352 p., §3.

A philosophical explanation of the received laws of music derived from one all-pervading or fundamental law whose gradual embodiment is manifest in the listorical evolution of the art. 781.3

Helmholtz, H. L. F.

ON THE SENSATIONS OF TONE, as a Physiological Basis for the Theory of Music. New English edition, translated, thoroughly revised and corrected. With numerous additional notes and a new additional Appendix, specially adapted to the use of musical students, by A. J. Ellis. With 68 figures engraved on wood and 42 passages in musical notes. N.Y., Longmans, $9.50. 781.1 See Broadhouse.

Jadassohn, S.

A MANUAL OF HARMORY. Transl, from the third augmented and carefully revised German edition by Dr. Th. Baker, N. Y., Schirmer, 292 p., $2.

The author is the most distinguished pedagogue in the Faculty of the Conservatory of Leijsic, a clear, strong, logical, and scientific thinker and reasoner

Krehbiel, H. E.

How to Listen to Music. N. Y., Scribner 1896, xv, 361 p., $1.25.

CONTENTS: Introduction, setting forth that the book is not for professional musicians, but for unaught lovers of music; Recognition of Musical Elements. Content and Kinds of Music. The Modern Orchestra. At an Orchestral Concert, At a Pianoforte Recital, At the Opera., Choirs and Choral Music., Musician, Critic, and Public.

Illustrations comprise simple explanatory music conductor's core, and orchestral instruments. 780.4

Kullak, Adolph.

THE ÆSTHETICS OF PIANOFORTE PLAYING.
Transl. by Dr. Th. Baker, from the third German edition, revised and edited by Dr. Hans Bischoff. N. Y., Schirmer 328 p., $2.

A most admirable book, suggestive alike to pianist critic, or mere lover of the art. Its most grievous defect is the Teutonism of the translator's English. The author discusses, at the outset, the nâture and limitations of the pianoforte's tone, then the history of its technical manipulation, the "methods" of C. P. E. Bach, Cramer, Hummel, Kalkbrenner, Czerny, De Kontski, Theodore and Adolph Kullak, Plaidy, Köhler, Thalberg, and Riemann, and then presents his theories as to technique, time, rhythm, accentuation, dynamic expression, and poetical content in pianoforte music. 786.3

Pole, William.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF MUSIC' being the substance of a Course of Lectures delivered at the Royal Institution of Great Britain, February and March 1877. 3d edition revised Lond., Kegan Paul. N.Y., Scribner, 1891, 325 p. $3.

Entirely trustworthy

781

Prout, Ebenezer.

COUNTERPOINT STRICT AND FREE. Lond., Augener. N. Y., Schuberth 249 p., $2. 781.4

HARMONY: Its Theory and Practice. Lond., Augener. N. Y., Schuberth, 254 p. $2. 781.3

FUGUE. Lond., Augener. N. Y. Schuberth, 786.86 245 p., $2.

Double Counterpoint and Canon, Lond.. 781.4 Angener. N. Y., Schuberth, $2.

MUSICAL FORM. Lond., Augener. N. Y. 781.5 Schuberth, $2.

INSTRUMENTATION. Lond. and N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co , 144 p , 75 c. 781.6

Richter, Ernst Friedrich.

MANUAL OF HARMONY, a Practical Guide prepared especially for the Conservatory of Music at Leipsic. Translated from the latest German edition by John P Morgan. 17th edition. N. Y. Schirmer, 1896, 219 p., 82.

For forty years this has been recognized as a standard work. A proof of its wide popularity is that it has been (rauslated into English, Dutch, Swedish, Russian, Polish, and Italian. Mr. Morgan's translation was made in 1867 from the fifth German edition, and the present is reprinted from the original plates. (See Broekhoven.) Broekhoven.)

Tyndall, John.

SOUND, 3d edition revised and enlarged. N. Y. Appleton, 1877, 448 p., $2. Always an authority 781.1

Zahm, Rev. J. A.

SOUND AND MUSIC Illus. Chic., McClurg. 1592, 452 p., $2.50. 781.1

PART VIII.

786.3

CRITICISM AND ANALYSIS

Apthorp, William F.

Musicians and Music Lovers, and Other Essays. N. Y. Scribner 340 p., $1,50.

Criticism with an agreeable literary flavor, the reflections and conclusions of a studious man and an experienced judge. Two of the essays discuss the relationship between the art, the musician, the critica and the public. The remainder are mostly critical biography, the subjects being Bach, Meyerbeer, Offenbach, Franz, Dresel, and Dwight. 780.4

Chorley, Henry F.

THIRTY YEARS' MUSICAL RECOLLECTIONS Lond., Hurst & Blackett, 1802, 2 vols. xv, 312. 323 p. O.P. 780.4

MUSIC AND MANNERS IN FRANCE AND GER-MANY. A Series of Travelling Sketches of Art and Society Lond, Longmans, 1841, 3 vois., 301. 302, 290 p. OP. 780 944 Modern German Music. Lond., Smith, Elder & Co., 1854 2 vols. in 1, 371, 418 p. O.P. 780.943

The author was for over thirty years musical reviewer for the Athenaum. His criticisms are not free from unreasonable prejudice, and the significance of the new romantic movement never dawned on him, but he was frank, houest, and controlled an interesting style. "Modern German Music." is a reprint, with additions, of the best of his writings in "Music and Manners." Manners

Curwen, John Spencer.

STUDIES IN WORSHIP MUSIC. 1st Series. Chiefly as regards Congregational Singing. 2d edition, revised and enlarged. Lond., J. Curwen & Sons. N. Y., Scribner, 1888, viii, 507 p., 82.

2d Series. Studies in Worship Music.

Lond., J. Curwen & Sons. N. Y., Scribner, 1885, 208 p., $1.25.

The second series contains brief accounts of the Chapel Royal and the Choir Schools of Westminster Abbey and St. Paul's Cathedral. The first ha an ex-Abbey and St. Paul's Cathernal. The include cellent bibliography of Protestant church music. 783.0

De Lenz, W. See Lenz.

Edwards, H. Sutherland.

THE LYRICAL DRAMA. Essays on Subjects, Composers, and Executants of Modern Opera. Lond., W. H. Allen & Co., 1881, 2 vols., 316, 312 p. O.P.

Entertaining, but not to be taken too seriously as Entertaining, but not to be taken too seriously as criticism.

CONTENTS: Operatic Origins; History of Her Majesty's Theatre; Covent Garden and the Royal Italian Opera; The Romantic and the Necromantic, Lyrical and Dramatic Subjects, The picturesque side of the Dom Juan Legend; The Original Don Juan; Don Juan; Molaric Don Juan; Poushkin's additional scene for "Faust of History and of Legend; How Dr. Faust became a dancer; The Operatic Faust; The Flying Dutchman. Tainhäuser; Lohengrin; Robert the Devil; Meyerbeer since "Robert le Diable", Verdi, and four of his Operas; Aida and the Manzoni Requiem; Some of Rossini's Works; Donizetti and Bellin; The Mignon and Hamlet of Ambroise Thomas, Shakespearian Operas, Carmen; The ever-popular Martha; An Operatic Centenary, Decline and Fall of the Tenor; Extinction of the Ballet; Operatic and Theatrical Anomalies; The Literary Maltreatment of Music; Dictionaries of Music; Grove's Musical Dictionary, Quartette Concerts and the Classical in Music; Reasonableness of Opera; Tatra Füred, and the Music of the Hungarian Gypsies; The Byeways of Bookmaking.

Ehlert, Louis.

FROM THE TONE WORLD: A SERIES OF ES-SAYS. Transl, from the German by Helen D. Tretbar. 2d ed. N Y., C. F Tretbar, 397 p., $1.50.

Criticism by one of the most delightful writers on music that Germany has produced — a musician of keen discernment, of warm love for his art, and withal a master of a poetical and sympathetic literary style. The second, undated, edition was published in 1893, and contains essays on Brahms, Wagner's "Parsifal," and Liszt as a litterateur, which are not in the first edition. Of special value are the essays on "Tristan und Isolde," the Bayreuth festival, "Parsifal," Schumann and His School," "Chopin," and "Brahms." Criticism by one of the most delightful writers on " Brahms."

Ella, John.

MUSICAL SKETCHES ABROAD AND AT HOME. With original music by Mozart, Czerny, Graun, and others. Vocal Cadenzas and other Musical Illustrations. 3d ed. revised and edited by John Belcher. N. Y., Schuberth, 1878, xx, 440 p., $2.75.

A collection of notes, historical, biographical, critical, and anecdotical, written by Prot. Ella for the Record, which he published in connection with his chamber concerts, or "Musical Unions," as he called them.

Elterlein, Ernst von.

BEETHOVEN'S SYMPHONIES IN THEIR IDEAL SIGNIFICANCE EXPLAINED. Transl. from the German with the Author's approval by Francis Weber. With an account of the facts relating to Beethoven's Tenth Symphony. Lond., Reeves. N. Y., Scribner, 118 p., $1 50. 785.1

BEETHOVEN'S PIANOFORTE SONATAS. Explained for the Lovers of Musical Art. Transl. from the German by E. Hill. With a Preface by E. Pauer. Lond., Reeves. N. 786.41 Y., Scribner, 118 p., $1.50.

Finck, Henry T.

CHOPEN AND OTHER ESSAYS N. V. Seribner, $1.50.

Costests Chopin, the Greatest Gennis of the Pianoforte; How Composers Work , Schumann as Mir rored in his Letters , Music and Morals . Italian and German Vocal Styles ; German Opera in New York 780-4

Grove, Sir George.

LETHOVEN AND HIS NINE SYMPHONIC Lond, and N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., BERTHOVEN AND 400 p., $2.40.

The analyses of Beethoven's Symphonies which ap-The analyses of feethoven's symphonies which appeared for many years in the programme books of the Crystal Palace Concerts over the signature [G], were, as every English music-lover knows, written by Sir George Grove. They have been reprinted many times George Grove. They have been reprinted many times and must stand as the most suggestive and interesting popular commentaries of their kind ever written. In this volume, published in 1896, Sir George has gathered them together, extended some of them, and appended notes and interesting historical data tour hing the composition of the works and their early performances. 785.1

Hadow, W. H.

Studies in Modern Music. With Portraits. N. Y., Macmillan, 2 vols., 335, 312 p., $4.50.

Chiefly taken up with critical biography, written with discernment, independence, and forcefulness, and in an agreeable style. The first seriestreats of Berlioz, Schumann, and Wagner; the second of Chojan, Dvorak, and Brahms. The opening essay of the first series is devoted to Music and Musical Criticism; of the second to a study of the Outlines of Musical Form. These essays are ingenious efforts to discover a basis for judgment or mountaint-works, and are valuable for their ment on musical art-works, and are valuable for suggestiveness.

Hanslick, Eduard.

Ars dem Concertsaal. Vienna, Braumüller, 1570, 534 p., $4.

DIE MODERNE OPER. Berlin, A. Hofmann & Co., 1875, 341 p. O.P.

MUSIKATISCHE STATIONEN, 2d ed. Berlin, Allgemeiner Verein für Deutsche Literatur, 1885, 361 p., $1.80. (Part II. of Die Moderne Oper.)

AUS DEM OPERNLEBEN DER GEGENWART. Berlin, All. V. für D. L., 1885. (Part III. of Die Moderne Oper), 379 p., $1.50.

SULLE. Aufsätze über Musik und Musiker. Wien, Prochaska, 1855, 291 p., $2,25.

MUSIKALISCHES SKIZZENBUCH, 3d ed. lin, All. V. für D. L., 1888. (Part IV. of Die Moderne Oper), 335 p., $1,50.

USIKALISCHES UND LITTERARISCHES. Berlin, All. V. für D. L., 1889. (Part V. of Die Musikalisches und Litterarisches. Moderne Oper), 359 p., $1.50.

CONCERTE, COMPONISTEN, IND. VIRTUOSEN, der letzten fünfzehn Jahren 1870-1885. Berlin, All. V. für D. L., 1887, 447 p., $2,40.

AUS DEM TAGERUCHE TIMES MUSIKERS. Berlin, All. V. für D. L., 1802. (Part VI. of Die Moderne Oper), 300 p., $1.80, FUENT JAHRE MUSIK (1891-1895). Berlin, All. V. für D. L., 1896. (Part VII. of Die Moderne Ofer), 402 p., $1.80.

Reprints of the critical feuilletons of the cleverest, Reprints of the critical fediticions of the deverest, without and most genial of modern German critics, who has been on the staff of the New Ereic Press, since 1864, and Professor of Music at the University of Vienna since 1864. He has been long the leader of the opposition to Wagner, his theories of the capacity of musical expression being inconsistent with the modern tendency. (See Hanslick, The Beautiful in Music, in Part VII.) In 1894 Dr. Hanslick published an autobiography under the title:

AUS MEINEM LEBEN (2 Vols., Berlin, All. V 1 ür D. L.). See also Hanslick, Geschichte des Concertwesens in Wien in Part II. 780.943

Henderson, W. J.

Preludes and Studies: Musical Themes of the Day. N. Y., Longmans, 245 p., $1.

A book of criticism, suggestive, instructive, and filled with the charm of good literature. About half the volume is devoted to Wagner and his latter-day works the rest to a study of the evolution of pianoforte music and a sympathetic essay on Schumann and the programme symphony.

Holmes, Edward.

A RAMBLE AMONG THE MUSICIANS OF GERMANY. Giving some Account of the Operas of Munich, Dresden, Berlin, and other cities, with Remarks upon the Church Music, Singers, Performers, and Composers; and a sample of the Pleasures and Inconveniences that await the Lover of Art on a similar Excursion. By a Musical Professor. Lond., Hunt & Clarke, 1828, 286 p. O.P.

A charming record, by an acute observer and lively chronicler, of a tour in Germany, undertaken in or before 1827. 780.943

Kleczynski, Jean.

Chopin's Greater Works (Preludes, Ballads, Nocturnes, Polonaises, Mazurkas). How they should be understood. Including Chopin's Notes for a Method of Methods. Transl. with additions by Natalie Janotha. N. Y., Scribner, 115 p., $1.75.

Kretzschmar, Hermann.

FÜHRER DURCH DEN CONCERTSAAL. Leipsic, Liebeskind, 3 vols. 1., Sinfonie und Suite; IL., Kirchliche Werke; III., Oratorien und Weltliche Chorwerke. 313, 380, 379 p., $5.50.

Analyses with thematic illustrations; concise and admirable. ${\bf 780.943}$

La Mara (Marie Lipsius).

THOUGHIS OF GREAT MUSICIANS. From the original German by C. P. S. Lond., Augener. N. Y., Schuberth, 80 c.

The original, Gedanken beruhmter Musiker uber ihre Kunst, is a useful and well-classified collection of utterances by eminent musicians touching their art. The English version presents a smaller number of quotations, and the translation is not impeccable.

780.2

Lenz, W. de.

BEETHOVEN ET SES TROIS STYLES. Analysés des Sonates de Pianoforte suivies de l'Essai d'un Catalogue critique, chronologique et anecdotique des Œuvres de Beethoven. 2 vols., 800 p. Brussels, Schnee. Also St. Petersburg and Paris. O.P.

Largely rhapsodical, but inspired by genuine enthusiasm for Beethoven's genus and well calculated to promote appreciation of his works. (See Oulibischeff in Part V.) 780.943

Neitzel, Otto.

DER FUEHRER DURCH DIE OPER DES THEATERS DER GEGENWART. Text, Musik, und Scene erläuternd. Leipsic, Liebeskind, 1890, 1 vol. in 2 parts, vi, 286, 260 p., $4.80.

Excellent analyses of German operas.

Parry, C. Hubert H.

THE ART OF MUSIC. N. Y., Appleton, 374 p., $4.

A series of thoroughly admirable essays on the art of music and its historical growth, free from biographical detail, scientific in spirit and sound, 780.4

Pfohl, Ferdinand.

DIE MODERNE OPER. Leipsic, Carl Reissner, 1894, 401 p., $2.10.

The author is one of the most efficient newspaper critics of Germany, and has been on the staff of the Hamburger Nachrichten since 1891. His book deals chiefly with the operas of th, las decade or two, the chapters bearing the headings 1. Modern Opera; II., Peter Cornelius and his "Barber of Bagdad"; III., Latterday Romanticism and the Afterbloom of grand opera; IV., Verdt; V., Verttism and its train; VI., Comic Opera; VII., The Popular (Volksthumliche) Tendency 782

Schumann, Robert.

Music and Musicians. Essays and Criticisms. Transl. by Fanny Raymond Ritter. 5th edition. N. Y., Schuberth, 1895, 2 vols., $5.50.

An English version of Schumann's Gesammelte Schriften. 780.4

Streatfeild, R. A.

THE OPERA. A sketch of the Development of Opera, with full descriptions of every work in the Modern Repertory. With an Introduction by J. A. Fuller-Maitland. Lond., John C. Nimmo. Phila., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1897, 336 p., $2.

Well written and trustworthy. 782

Teetgen, Alexander.

BEETHOVEN'S SYMPHONIES CRITICALLY DISCUSSED. With Preface by John Broadhouse. Lond., Reeves. N. Y., Scribner, 118 p., $1.50.

Thibaut, A. F.

Purity in Music. Transl. by J. Broadhouse. Lond., Reeves. N. Y., Scribner, 103 p., $1.25. 780.1

Upton George P.

THE STANDARD CANTATAS: their stories, music, and composers.

THE STANDARD OPERAS: their plots, music, and composers.

THE STANDARD ORATORIOS: their stories, music, and composers.

THE STANDARD SYMPHONIES: their stories, music, and composers. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 4 vols., $1.50 each. 780.4

PART IX.

ENCYCLOPÆDIAS AND DICTIONARIES.

Banister, Henry C.

Music. N. Y., Holt, 325 p., 80 c.

A handbook, most admirably arranged, with definitions at once terse and luminous. It ought to be at the elbow of every reader of musical criticism or analysis. 780.2

Champlin, John Denison, jr., and Apthorp, William F.

Cyclop.edia of Music and Musicians. With more than 1000 illustrations. N. Y., Scribner, 3 vols., $15.

A commendable feature is the guide to musical literature embodied in the work. An edition de luxe of 550 numbered copies with decorated parchment binding, 3 vols., quarto, $75.

Clément, Félix, and Larousse, Pierre.

Dictionnaire des Opèras (Dictionnaire lyrique) contenant l'analyse et la nomenclature de tous les opéras et opérascomiques représentés en France et a l'étranger depuis l'origine de ce genre d'ouvrages jusqu'à nos jours. Complèté par des Suppléments périodiques maintenant à cet ouvrage un caractère d'actualité. Paris, Administration du grand Dictionnaire universel. N. Y., Lemcke & Buechner, 952 p., $7.

Grove, Sir George.

DICTIONARY OF MUSIC AND MUSICIANS (A.D. 1450-1889), by eminent writers, English and foreign. Illus. Appendix edited by J. A. Fuller-Maitland. Illus. N. Y., Macmillan, 5 vols., $25.

The only really comprehensive encyclopædia of music in English. Frequently faulty in statement (the appendix is chiefly occupied with corrections) and not always well balanced in its estimate of the musical activities of the different peoples of the world; yet an indispensable book of reference to the serious student. 780-3

Mendel, Hermann, and Reissmann, A.

MUSIKALISCHES CONVERSATIONS-LEXICON. Eine Encyklopädie der Gesammten Musikalischen Wissenschaften. Berlin, R. Oppenheim, 1870–1882, 12 vols., marks 88.50.

The most complete and scholarly musical encyclopædia ever undertaken in German. Dr. Mendel carried it on to the letter M in Vol. VII. (he died in 1876). After his death Herr Reissmann undertook the editorship. List & Francke, of Leipsic, began the issue of a cheap edition in 1894, 3 v., pap., 40 marks, N. Y., Schuberth, $10.80.

Riemann, Hugo.

Musik-Lenikon. 4th edition. Leipsic, Max Hesse, 1894, 1210 p., 12 marks.

Of this admirable work an English translation by J. S. Shedlock has been published in 14 parts by Augener in London (N. Y., Schuberth), each part 40 c.; 1 vol., el., §6.

Opern-Handbuch. Repertorium der Dramatisch-musikalischen Literatur (Opern. Operetten, Ballette, Melodramen, Pantomimen, Oratorien, dramatische Kantaten, etc.). Leipsic, C. A. Koch, 1887, 743 p., $4.80.

Stainer, Sir John, and Barrett, W. A.

DICTIONARY OF MUSICAL TERMS. Lond. and N. Y., Novello, Ewer & Co., 456 p., §3.

A standard authority and the best work of its kind in English. The publishers have issued an abridged edition in their series of Music Primers, 96 p., 65 c. 780.3

PART X.

MUSICAL JOURNALS.

THE ÉTUDE, 1708 Chestnut St., Phila., Month-ly, $1.50 per annum.

THE MUSICAL COURIER, 19 Union Square, N. Y., Weekly, $4 per annum.

Music, 1402-5 Auditorium Tower, Chic., Monthly, $3 per annum.

THE MUSICAL TIMES, I Berners St., Lond. 21 E. 17th St., N. Y.), Monthly, $1.25 per annum.

THE MUSICAL STANDARD, 185 Fleet St., Lond., E. C., Weekly, $5.20 per annum.

DIE REDENDE KÜNSTE, Leipsic (Constantin Wild's Verlag), Weekly, $2.40 per annum.

MUSIKALISCHES WOCHENBLATT, Königstrasse, No. 6, Leipsic, Weekly, \$3.20.

Monatshefte für Musikgeschichte, Robert Eitner, Templin.

Allgemeine Musikzeitung, 27 Spreestrasse, Charlottenburg (Berlin), Weekly, $3.20 per annum.

SIGNALE FÜR DIE MUSIKALISCHE WELT, Rossstrasse No. 22 I, Leipsic, Weekly, $2.40 per annum.

GAZETTA MUSICALE DI MILANO, Ricordi, Milan, Weekly, $4.50.

Le Menestrel, Paris, II. Hengel, Weekly, $4 per annum.

ZEITSCHRIFT FÜR INSTRUMENTENBAU, Paul de Wit, Leipsic, Weekly, $3.20 per annum.

Music.

PART XI.

SECOND-HAND CATALOGUES.

Baer, Jos. & Co., Rossmarkt 18, Frankfort-on-the-Main.

Beijer, J. L., Neudegasse 21, Utrecht.
Bertling, R. Viktoriastrasse 29, Dresden.
Cohn, A., Mohrenstrasse 53, Berlin W.
Geiger & Jedele, Stuttgart.
Gilhofer & Ranschburg, I Bognerstrasse 2.

Kirchoff & Wigand, Marienstrasse 10, Leipsic.

Liepmannsohn, L. Bernburgerstrasse 14, Berlin S. W.

List & Francke, Universitätsstrasse 13, Leipsic, Meehan, B. & J., 32 Gay St., Bath, Eng. Parnell, L. & S., 12 Rockley Rd., Lond, W. Reeves, William, 185 Fieet St., Lond, Schmidt, C. F., Cäcilienstrasse, Heilbronn.

Scribner's, Charles, Sons, 153 Fifth Ave., N. Y. (In appendix to "Musical Literature List"), Spirgatis, Marienstrasse 23, Leipsic. Weigel, Oswald, Königstrasse 1, Leipsic. Welter, 11., 59 Rue Bonaparte, Paris.

PRICES:

In Germany: I mark = I shilling = I franc 25 centimes.

In Austria: 1 Gulden (fl.)=1 mark 80 pf.= 1 shilling 10 pence=2 francs 20 centimes.

In Holland: I Dutch florin=2 francs 10 centimes=1 mark 72 pf.=1 shilling 8 pence.

Lemcke & Buechner, $12 Broadway, G. E. Stechert, 11 East Sixteenth St., and E. Schuberth & Co., 23 Union Square, N. Y., import second-hand books on order at the following prices, duty not included: mark, 28 c., franc, 24 c., Austrian florin, 48 c., shilling, 28 c.

INDEX.

Abbey, E. A. See Fenollosa, Mural painting in Boston Public Library, 22; Smith, American illustrators, 35. Ache, Caran d'. See Morin, French illustrators, 30.

illustrators, 30.
Acoustics, musical, Broadhouse, 60.
Acropolis of Athens, D'Ooge, 5; discoveries made on, see Gardner, Chapters in Greek history, 5; painted statues found on, in 1283 and 1886, see Collignon, Histoire de la sculpture Greeque, 10; buildings on, Furtwängler, 23. See 1180 Athens ens.

Action in art, Beard, 16.

Adam et Clodion, Thirion, 36. A lams, Elizabeth L. S. See Steele, F. M., and Adams, 53,

Adamy, R., 38. Adeline, J., 14. Ægena, temple of. See Collignon, Histoire de la sculpture Grecque, Æsthetic principles, Marshall 8. Æsthetics, musical, Ambros, 69; con-tribution to the revival of, Hanslick, 69; of pianoforte playing, Kullak,

Aldegrever. See Scott, The little

Aldegrever. See Scott, The little masters, 35.
Alexandre, A., 15, 48.
Alford, Lady M., 48.
Alger, Ahby L., trans. See Reissmann, 66; Wasielewski, 67.
Allen, W. F., Ware, C. P., and Harrison, Lucy M., 61.
Allgemeine Musikzeitung, 73.
Alston, Washington. See Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36.
Altedorfer. See Scott, The little masters, 35.

masters, 35. Alypius, on music. See Musici Scrip-

Androis, A. W., 55, 69; see also Prefatory note, 54.

Ambrosian chant. See Paléographie

Musicale, 58. American architecture, Schuyler, 45; early, see Islam and Brown, Early Rhode Island houses, 42. American art, Koehler, 7; Benjamin, American Folk-lore Society. See Edwards, Bahama songs and stories,

American illustrators, Smith, 35,

American illustrators, Smith, 35.
American Indians, study of the music of, Baker, 61; of British Columbia:
Nootka, Salish, and Kwakiut tribes of the Pacific Coast, Boas, 61;
Omaha Indian music, Fletcher, 62.
American Journal of Archaeology,
See Gardner, New chapters in Greek history, 5; Gayet, L'art
Arabe, 6. Arabe, 6.

American music, Mathews, 58; Ritter, 59; folk-song in America, see Allen, Ware, and Harrison, Slave-songs of the U.S., 61; Marsh, Story of the jubilee singers, 62. See also American Indians, Canada. Amiot, Pere J., 61.

Ancient and mediæval music (de-partment), 60-61. Ancient art, Menard, 9; Woltmann and Woermann, 37. See also An-tiquities, Archæology. Ancient Coptic churches of Egypt, Butler, 30.

Anderson, W., 16; see also Brücke, 18.
Anderson, W. C. F., ed. See Schreiber, Atlas of classical antiquities, 12. Angelico, Fra. See Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36. Angers, d'. See Blanc, Artistes de mon temps, 3. Annals of an old manor-house, Harrison, 42.

Antiphonaire de Saint Grégoire, Lambillotte, 60; see also Gevaert, 60; Paléographie Musicale, 58. ntiquities, Oriental, Babelon, 2;

Antiquities, Oriental, Babelon, 2; English, Jewitt, 7; Roman, Helbig,

7, Helbig and Lanciani, 7, Ramsay and Lanciani, 11; French, Roman and Gallo-Roman, Reinach, 11; Homeric, Seymour, 12; classical, Schrieber, 12. Harper, 14. Seyffert, 15; Greek and Roman, Smith, 15; art of mosaic in classical, see Gerspach, La mosaique, 41. See also Gailhabaud, Monuments anciens et modernes, 41; also Archaeology, Monuments.

Monuments.

Apollo Belvedere. See Furtwängler,
Masterpieces of Greek sculpture, 22.

Apthorp, W. F., 64, 79, we also Champlin, J. D., and Apthorp, 73.

Arabian art, Gayet, 6.

Verbian music, Kiesewetter, Die

Aratra Pentehit, Ruskin, 33-34.
Archicology, Prefatory note on, 2;
Conway, 4; Emerson, 5; Waring, 14;
Christian, Perate, 15; early mediayal, see Frothingham, Christian Christian, Perate, 15; early media-val, see Frothingham, Christian Rome, 5; Egyptian, Maspero, 8, Pe-trie, 11; Etruscan and Roman, Mar-tha, 8; Greek, Brunn, 3, Collignon, 4, Murray, 4, 10, Diebl, 5, Gardner, 5, Schuchhardt, 12; Roman, Helbig and Lanciani, 7, See also names if various countries and special cit-ies as Athers, Pomenia Rome after ies as Athens, Pompeti, Rome; also Antiquities, Monuments. Architects, biographies of, Vasari, 13. Architecture (department), 38-48. Architectural (dustrations, Billings, 4rchitectural Record. See Fletcher and Fletcher, 41; Goodyear, 41; Isham and Brown, 42, Architecture, Prefatory note on, 38; grammar of, Blanc, 3; symbolical, Lethaby, 8; materials and processes Detriatory, 6; materials and processes of ancient, see Middleton, Remains of ancient Rome, 9; rumof, see Morris, Hopes and fears for art, 9; of ancient times, see Perrot and Chipiez, Histories of ancient art, 11; heart library of a conditions of Avery library of, 38-39; history of Adamy, 38, Fergusson, 42-41, Fletcher and Fletcher, 41, Hamlin, 41-42, Lewis and Street, 42, Mathews, 43, Ramée, 44, Sturgis, 46, see also Gailhabaud, Monuments anciens et modernes, 41; encyclopædia of, Gwilt, 41; cyclopædia of, Long-fellow, 43; styles of, see Rosengar-ten, Die Architektonischen Stylar-ten, 45; Seven tamps of, Ruskin, 45; for general readers, Statham, 46: lack of originality in, Sturgis, classical and early Christian, 46; classical and early Christian, Smith and Slater, 46; discourses on, Viollet-le-Duc, 47; civic and relig-ions, see Viollet-le-Duc, Historie d'un hôtel de ville et d'un cathe-drale, 47. See also Archeology, drale, 47. See also Archeology, Building, Churches, Homes, Houses, Middle Ages, Renaissance; also names of schools of architecture, as Byzantine architecture, Domestic architecture, Gothic architecture, Oriental architecture, Military architecture, etc.; also names of countries, as English architecture, Japanese architecture, etc.

anese architecture, etc.

Arends, L. A. F., 60.

Arezzo, Guido de, Kiesewetter, 60.

Arizadne Florentma, Ruskin 34.

Aristoteles, on music. See Musici

Scriptores Gract, 60.

Arles, buildings of the Roman time and Middle Ages in See Macgib-bon, Architecture of Provence and the Riviera, 43. Armor, value of seals in determining dates of, see Lecoy de la Marche, Les sceanx, 27; on the plates of tombs, see Macklin, Monumental brasses, 28.

Arms and armour, in antiquity and the Middle Ages, Boutell, 40; guide to ancient, Demmin, Die Kriegswaf-fen in ihrer Historischen Entwicke-lung von lier Altesten Zeiten bis auf ming von het. Altesten Zeiter het. auf die Gegenwart, 49; Les armes, Main dron, 21; Frem hån the Middle Ages, 62; Viollettele Dur, Dictionnaire ransonné du mobilier Français, 5. Armstrong, W., 40; Franc, 50; Perrot and Chipaer, Histoire de Fart dans and Chipaez, III force de l'art dans l'antiquit, 1, =1; Corroyer, L'archi-tecture Gothique, 30, 48. rt. C. dvin, 4. Moody, 6. Padgrave, 19. Sturgis, 13. Tame, 14. Child, 48; histories of, Bayet, 2. De Forces, 4. Menard, 6. Schultz, 12. Rosenberg, 12.; in ancient times, Petrot and Chipiez, be-1; grammar of, Blanc, 3; dawn of, Conway, 4; of the xviii, century, De Goncourt, 4; in the modern state, Dilke, 5; imitative, Dyer, 5; ministry of, Gambier, 5; Kunst u. Künstler des Mittelaters u. der Neuzeit, Dohme, *; 5; Kunst u. Künstler des Mittelalters u. der Neuzeit, Dohme, zichonghts about, Hamerton, zi.L'optique et P., Laugel, 8; lustory of, Menard, 9; hopes and fears for, Morris, 9, 51; excursions in, Story, 73; philosophy of ideal in, Taine, 13; dictionary of, Adeline, 14; study of in universities, Waldstein, 14; action in, Beard, 16; expression as connected with, Bell, 12; origin of modern, Courajod, 20; man in, Hamerton, 22; talks on, Hunt, 25; ten leciern, Courajod, 20; man in, Hamer-ton, 24; talks on, Hunt, 25; ten lectton, 24; tanks on, Frank, 25; ten recures on, Poynter, 30; mysticism in, see Ruskin, Aratra Pentelhei, 33-34; representative and decorative of iv. to xii, centuries, see Muntz, La mosa que chrétienne, 44; lectures en, Scott, 53. See also also Decorative art, Renaissance, Sculpture; also, for the art of various countries, see the name of the country

Art and criticism, Child, 18. Art education, Hunt, W. H., see Transactions of the National Association for the Advancement of Art, 53. See also Artists.

Art for art's sake, Van Dyke, 36 Art for the villa. See Moore, Im-pressions and opinions, 29.

Art handbooks, See Poynter, 31. Art in America, Benjamin, 15. Art in the modern state, Dilke, 5. Art instinct, See Brownell, French traits, 3. Art of manufactures, See Industrial

Art out of doors, Van Rensselaer, 47. Art schools of mediaval Christendom, Owen, 10. Art tour to northern capitals of Eu-

Art tour to northern capitals of flu-rope, Atkinson, 2.
Artaria. See Beethoven, é.3.
Artists. Artistes de mon temps, Blanc, 3; L'education de l'artiste, Ches-neau, 3; Kunst n. Klinstler des Mi-telalters u. der Neuzeit, Dohme, e.; at the World's Fair, Millet, o.; of Spain, Strilme-Maxwell, 12-13; of xix. century, Clement and Hutton, 14; Allgemeines Künstler-Lexikon oder Leben u. Werke der berühmt-esten bildern den Konstler, seuesten bild ern den Kanstler, Seubert, 15; Biographisches Künstler-Lexikon der Gegenwart, Müller, 15; Artistes Anglais contemporains, Chesneau, 18; Early Flemsh, Con-way, 19; classification of , s.e. Muther, History of modern painting, 30; Dictionary of English, Redgrave, See also Art education; Biographies; Painters; Sculptors.

Arts and crafts essays, Morris, 51-52 Asia, Eastern, ancient architecture See Smith and Slater, Architecture, classical and early Christian, 46. Asia, Western, origin of European architecture in. See Fergusson, His-tory of architecture in all countries, 40; ancient architecture in, see Smith and Slaver, Architecture, classical and early Christian, 46.

Asia Minor, recent executions in, Gardner, 5; history of ancient art in, Perrot and Chipnez, 11; cities in, see Longfellow, Cyclopædia of works of architecture, 43 Assyria, antiquities of, Bahelon, 2,

Assyria, antiquities of, Bahelon, 2, see also Perrot and Chipiez, History of ancient art in Egypt and Syria, 11; struggle of nations in, Maspero, 6; ancient architecture in, see Smith and Slater, Architecture, classical and early Christian, 46. Assyrian pottery, Birch, 48

Assyrian sculpture, Redford, 32. Astor Library, musical department of. See Pretatory note, 55; Musici

Scriptores Græci, 60.

Athens, studies in, see Harrison, Introductory studies in Greek art, 7; mythology and monuments of ancient, Harrison, 7. See also Acrop-

Atkinson, J. B., 2. Atkinson, T. D. See Foster, J. E., and Atkinson, 50. Allas of classical antiquities, Schreiber, 12. Avery Architectural Library, 38-39.

See also Prefatory note, 38.

Bahelon, E., 2, 16. Babylon, Sayce, 12; antiquities of, Babelon, 2.

Bacchius, on music. See Musici Scrip-tores Gract, 60.

Bach, C. P. E. See Rimbault, Pranoforte, 50; Kullak, Æsthetics of pianoforte playing, 70.

Bach, Johann Schastian, Poole, 66; Spitta, 66; see also Bitter, Beitrage zur Geschichte des Oratoriums, 56; Rimbault, Pianoforte, 50; Apthorp, Musicians and music-lovers, 70. Bacon, H., 16.

Bahama songs and stories, Edwards,

Baini, G., 63; see also Kandler, Uher das Leben u. Werke des G. Pierluigi der Palestrina, 64-65. Baker, T., 61, trans. See Jadassohn, 70, Kullak, 70. Baldry, Alfr. L., 16. Balfour, H., 48.

Baltour, H., 48.
Balkan peninsula, cities of. See Long-fellow, Cyclopædia of works of architecture, 43
Baltazarini (M. de Beaujoyeulx). See Celler, Les origines de Popéra et le ballet de la reine, 57.

Banister, H. C., 73.
Barber, E. A., 48.
Barbizon school of painters, Thomson, 36.

Bargiel, See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, 64.
Barret, W. A. See Stainer, Sir J., and Barret, 73.

and Barret, 73.

Bartolommeo, Fra, Scott, 34.

Barye, A. L., Alexandre, 15; see also Blanc, Artistes de mon temps, 3.

Barzae-Berz, Villemarqu, 63.

Bas-rehefs, Renaissance and later, see Maskell, description of iveries in South Kensington Museum, 51. Eastien-Lepage, Jules, Cartwright, 18.

Baudry, Cox, 20.
Baumker, W. See Ambros, Geschichte der Musik, 55.
Bayet, C., 2, 16.
Bazzni, See Streatfeild, Masters of Italian music, 66, Beard, W. H., 16.

Beauty, ideas et. See Ruskin, Modern painting, 33. Beauty of form and grace of vesture, Steele and Adams, 53. Beckwith, J. C., 16; see also Modern French masters 29.

French masters 29.
Beethoven, Ludwig van, 63, Marx, 65, Nolil, 65, Nottebohm, 65, Oulibischeff, 65, Schindler, 66, Thayer, 66-67, Grove, 71, Etterlein, 71, Lenz, 72, Teetgen, 72.
Before the soldan. See Ruskin, Mornings in Florence, 34.
Behan, B. See Scott, The little masters, 22.

ters, 35. Behan, H. S. See Scott, The little masters, 35.

See Transactions of the Belcher, J. National Association for the Advancement of Art, 53. Belgium, revival of sculpture in, Destree, 21; old masters of, Fromen-tin, 22; painting in, see Lafenestre and Richtenberger, Painting in and Richtenberger, Painting in Europe, 27. Bell, Mrs. Arth., 17. Bell, Sir Chass, 17. Bell, Clara, trans. See Chesneau, L'education de Partiste, 3; Wolt-mann and Woerman, Paintings of the Renascence, 37; Spitta, Johann Sebastian Bach, 66. Ball Malcolm 17.

Bell, Malcolm, 17. Bellermann, F., 60; see also Prefatory note, 64.

Benedict, Nr J., 63.
Benedict, L., 17.
Bennett, J., ed. See Berlioz, 69.
Benoit, C., 67.
Benoit, C., 67.
Benoson, W. A. S., 48. See also Transactions of the National Association for the Advancement of Art. 53.

for the Advancement of Art, 53. for the Advancement of Art, 53. Beraldi, 14, 17. Berenson, B., 17. Berlioz, Hector, 63, 69; Apthorp, 63. Bertrand, A., 17. Beyle, H. See Stendhal, 12. Bible, music of the, Hutchinson, 57; Stainer, 61. See also Hebrew music

Bignami. See Jaccaci, Italian posters,

Billings, R. W., 39. Binck. See Scott, The little masters,

Binders, characteristic school Fletcher, 49-50. See also Bookbinding.
See Bookbinding.

Binding.

Biographies, of artists, Blanc, 3, Clement and Hutton, 14, Sweetser, 36; of painters, sculptors, and architects, Vasari, 13; of painters, James, 14; Allgemeines Künster-Lexikon, Seubert, 15; Biographisches Künsther-Lexikon der Gegenwart, Müller, 15; of engravers, Beraldi, 17; of contemporaneous Eng. artists, Chesneau, 18; of early Flemish pannters, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20; of early Italian painters, Jameson, 26, See also names of subjects, as artists, architects; also names of individuals and names of countries and periods, as Renaissance.

Biographies, of musicians.

Biographies, of musicians. See Biography (department), 63–67.

Birch, S., 48.

Birdwood, Sir G. C. M., 49.

Bischoff, H., ed. See Kullak, 70.

Bitter, C. H., 56.

Black, C. C., trans. See Demmin,
Die Kriegswaffen in ihrer Historischen Englischen Altse chen Entwickelung von den Altes-ten Zeiten bis auf die Gegenwart, 49.

Black and white work. See Harper, English pen artists of to-day, 24; Layard, Life and letters of Keene, 27; Morin, French illustrators, 30; Pennell, Pen-drawing and pen draughtsmen, 31; Spielman, History of Punch, 35. See also Book illustration; Illustrators.

tration; Illustrators.
Blackburn, H., 17.
Blackburn, H., 17.
Blake, William, Gilchrist, 23.
Blanc, Chas., 34,40.
Blashfield, E. H., 17; ed., see Vasari, Lives of painters, 13; Modern French masters, 29.
Blashfield, E. W., ed. See Vasari, Lives of painters, 13.
Blitheman. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, 50.

forte, 59.
Blomfield, R., and Inigo, T., 30.

Boas, F., 61. Boethius and the harmonic system of the Greek school, Paul, to.

Böhme, F., 61. See also Erk, L., and Böhme, 62.

Boissier, G., 3. Boito, A. See Streatfeild, Masters of Italian music, 60.

Boito, C., 30. Bologne, Jean, Desjardins, 21.

Bombet, L. A. C., 63. Bonnard, C., 49. Bonnat, Léon, Blashfield, 17. Bonnat, Léon, Blashfield, 17.
Bookhinding, in England and France,
Fletcher, 49-50; sketch of, Sanderson, see Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52; historical sketch of, Prideaux, 52; historical and practical, Growolf, see Prideaux, 52.

cal, Growoll, see Prideaux, 52.
Book-covers, French, Alexandre, 15;
for music, Jaccaci, 25.
Book illustration, Japanese, see Jarves, Glimpse at the art of Japan, 7; manual of, Pennell, 31; Italian, of the xv. century, Pollard, 31; American, see Smith, American illustrators are modely method. lustrators, 35; modern methods of, Wood, 37; curious borders in, sez De Forest, Indian domestic architecture, 39-40. See also Black and white work; Illustration; Illustra-

Book-shelves, making of. See Ben-son, Elements of handicraft and design, 48

Borghese Gallery. See Morelli, Italian painters, 30.

ian painters, 30.
Boston Museum of Fine Arts, cata-logue of Greek, Etruscan, and Ro-man vases in, Robinson, 52.
Boston Public Library, mural paintings in, Fenollosa, 22.

Boucher, François, Mantz, 28.
Bouchot, H., 17.

Boutell, C., 49.
Boutet de Monvel, Low, 28.

Bracquemond, 17.
Brahms, Johannes, Deiters, 64; see also Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, 64. Brasses, monumental, Macklin, 28. Brendel, F., 55.

Brescia, history of painting in, from xiv. to xvi. century, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20.

Brick and marble in the Middle Ages, Street, 46; in Roman buildings, see Smith and Slater, Architecture, classical and early Christian, 46. British Columbia, Indians of, Boas,

British Museum, the Fillet-tier in, see Collignon, Histoire de la sculpture Grecque, 10; Italian prints in, Fisher, 22; Greek and Roman ac-tiquities in, see Murray, History of Itquities in, see Mutray, Tristory of Greek sculpture, 30.

British music, from the earliest times to the Tudor period, Crowest, 57. See also English music.

Brittany, popular songs of. See Villemarque, Barzaz-Breiz, 63.

Broadhouse, J. A, 69; see also Teet-gen, 72; trans., see Thibaut, 72.

Broekhoven, J. A., 69. Brodes, Japanese, see Gonse, L'Art Japonais, 6; Greek, Murray, 10; Chinese, see Paléologue, L'art chi-nois, 10; Gallo-Roman, see Rennach, National antiquities, 11; Catalogue of European, in South Kensington Museum, Fortnum, 22. Brooks, H. M., 56. Brosamer. See Scott, The little masters, 35. Brown, A. F. See Isham, N. M., and Brown, 42. Brown, Mrs. J. C., collection of. See Brown, Mary E., and Brown, W. A., 61.

Brown, Mary E., and Brown, W. A..

61. Brownell, W. C., 3.
Bruch. See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, 64.

Brücke, Ernst, 18. Bruckner. See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, 64. Bruneau. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64.

Brunn, H., 3. Bryan, M., t4. Bucknall, B., trans. See Viollet-le-Duc, 47 Building and loan associations, Linn, Building, Papworth, 44; rational. Huss, 42.

Bull. See Rimhault, Pianoforte, 50.

Bunner, H. C., 18. Burckhardt, J., 18 Burlingame, E. L., trans. See Wag-ner, Art life and theories, 68.

Burlington Fine Arts Club, catalogue of, See Haden, Etched work of Rembrandt, 24.

Burn, R., 3 Burne-Jones, Sir E. Bell, 17; see also Chesneau, Artistes Anglais contemporains, 18.
Birney, C., 55, 56-57.
Burty, P., 40.
Bussler, Ludwig, 69; see also Cornell, 60. Butler, A. J., 39. Butler, Lady. See Bacon, Parisian art and artists, 16.

Buxton, H.J. W., 31; and Poynter, 31.
Byrd. See Rimbdult, Pianoforte, 50.

Byrd, See Rimbath, Francisco, 50.
Byzantine architecture, Texter and Pullen, 46, see also Salzenberg, AltChristliche Baudenkmale v. Constantinopel, 45, Smith and Slater, Architecture, classical and early Christian, 46; considered as a natural development of the classical Roman, see Essenwein, Die Fortsetzung der classischen Baukunst im oströmischen Reiche, 40; Church of St Sophia an example of, see Lethahy and Swainson, 42. See also Oriental architecture. Byzantine art, Bayet, 3, 16; in Southern Italy, Diehl, 4; survival of, in Russia, see Viollet-le-Duc, L'art Russia, see Viollet-le-Duc, L'art Russe, 14; use of mosaic in, see Ger-spach, La mosaique, 41. See also Oriental art.

Caccini. See Kiesewetter, Schicksale und Beschaffenheit des Weltlichen

Gesanges, 58. Cairo, Poole, 11; see also Franz-Pascha, Die Baukunst des Islams, 41.

Caldecott, R., Blackburn, 17.
Callot, Jacques, Vachon, 36.
Cameos, See Gem engraving.
Canada, Chansons populaires de, Gagnon, 62.

non, 02.
Cantatas, standard, Upton, 72.
Canterbury Cathedral, architectural history of, Willis, 47.
Capella style, of Palestrina. See Ambros, Geschichte der Musik, 55.
Caran d'Ache See Monn, French

cartain d'Attention See Mortin, Frederi illustrators, 30.

Carcassonne, buildings of the Roman time and Middle Ages in, see Macgibbon, Architecture of Provence and the Rivera, 43.

and the Riviera, 43.

'Caria, history of ancient art in, Perrot and Chipiez, 11.

Caricaturists, Gavarni, Forgues, 22;
Caran d'Ache, see Morin, French illustrators, 30; Doyle, see Spielman
History of Punch, 35.

Carlisle Cathedral, history and description of, see Billings, Architectural illustrations, 30.

Carolus-Duran, Beckwith, 16.

Carpaccio, Molmenti, 20; see also Ruskin, St. Mark's Rest, 34.

Carpani, G. See Bombet, Life of Haydn, 63.

Haydn, 63.
Carpeaux, J. B., Chesneau, 78
Carpenter work. See Benson, Elements of handicraft and design, 48.

ments of natheratt and design, 40. Carries, J., Alexandre, 16, 48. Cartwright, J. (Mrs. Ady), 18. Carvings, Japanese. See Gonse. L'art Japonais, 6. Castle St. Angelo and the evil eye,

Story, 13. Castles, of the Middle Ages, see Es

Castles, of the Middle Ages, see Essenwein, Die Romanische und die Gothische Baukunst: die Kriegsbaukunst, 40; of Scotland, Macgibbon and Ross, 43;
Casts, plaster, makers of, see Marquand and Frothingham, History of sculpture, 28; list of, Upcott, Introduction to Greek sculpture, 36; catalogue of, Waldstein, 37;
Catacombs, mosaics in the, see Müntz, La mosaique Chéttenne pendant La mosaque Chrétienne pendant les premièrs siècles, 44. Catalogues, of bronzes in South Kensington Museum, Fortnum. etchers and painter-engravers, Haden, 24; of the Louvre, Latenestre and Richtenberger, 27; of gems in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Middlethe Fitzwilliam Museum, Middleton, 20; of the Avery Architectural ton, 29; of the Avery Arcunectural Library, 38; of pottery in South Ken-sington Museum, Fortnum, 50; of sington Museum, Fortnum, so; of loan collection of plate in Fitzwilliam Museum, Foster and Atkinson, so; of vases in Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, Robinson, so; of testile fabries in South Kensington Museum Rock et Museum, Rock, 52 Catalogues, second-hand, of music,

Cathedrals, See Viollet-le-Duc, Hisathedrals, See Violecterrac, tra-toire d'un Hotel de Ville, 47; Can-terbury Cathedral, Willis, 47; Car-lisle Cathedral, see Billing's, Archi-tectural illustrations, 30; Chartres tectural illustrations, 30; Chartres Cathedral, see Lewis and Street, Architecture, 40; Durham Cathe-Architecture, 42; Durham Catmeral, Billings, 50; Gloucester Cathedral, see Gambier, Ministry of fine drin, 5; Pisa Cathedral, see Desjardins, La vie et Freuvres de Jean Bologne, 21; St. Paul's Cathedral, Longman, 43; see also Armstrong, Alfred Stevens, 16. See also Churcheses Sacrob buildings es : Sacred buildings.

Cattaneo, R., 39. Cattaro. See Freeman, Sketches from the subject and neighborlands of Venice, 41. Caulfeild, S. F. A., and Saward, B. C.,

Cavalcaselle, G. B. See Crowe, Sir J. A., and Cavalcaselle, 20. Cavallucei, C. J., 18.

Celler, L., 57. Cellini, Benvenuto, 3. Cemeteries, Christian and Pagan See Lanciani, Pagan and Christian

Rome, 8. Century Gallery, 18.

Century Magazine. See La Artist's letter from Japan, 7. See La Farge,

Ceramics, Chinese, Paleologue, 10, Du Sartel, 40, Grandidier, 50 history of, Jaennicke, Grundriss der Keramik in Bezug auf das Kunstgewerbe, 50-51; dictionary of, Garnier, 50; ancient Greek, see Lau, Die Griechischen Vasen, 51, Rayet and Collignon, Histoire de la céramique Grecque, 52. See also Porcelain. Pottery.

Chabrier See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64 Chaldea, antiquities of, Babelon, 2; dawn of civilization in, Maspero, 9; see also Perrot and Chipiez, History of ancient art in Egypt, 11. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, 59. Champlin, J W. F., 73. D., jr., and Apthorp,

Chambonnieres.

W. F., 73. Chantilly, Château de, collection of paintings at, Gruyer, 23. Chants, Gregorian, Reissmann, 50; Gregorian, Ambrosian, Muzarabic Gregorian, Aninrostan, Muzatore and Galhean, Paleographie Musi-cale, 58; liturgic, of the Latin Church, Gevaert, 60; Mediceval church, see Schubiger, Die Sänger-schule St. Gallens, 6; Chap I Royal (The). See Curwen, Studies in worship music, 2d ser.,

Chapin, W. O , 18.

Chappin, W. O., 18.
Chappell, W., 60.
Chaput, Fidiere, 22.
Charles V., cloister life of. See Stirling-Maxwell, Annals of artists of Spain, 12-13. Charles VIII., La Renaissance en Italie et en France à l'epoque de, Maintz, 9; see also De Laborde, La Renaissance des arts à la cour de France, 4. Chartres Cathedral. See Lewis and Street, Architecture, 42.

Chateau, L. 3). Chavannes, Puvis de. See Fenollosa, Mural painting in Boston Public

Chefs-d'œuvres, of Corot, petit album classique, 20; de l'art au xix, siecle, l'école française de De acrony à Regnault, De Lostalot, et de l'art au xix, siècle, la pemtire (traugère, xix, siècle, la peinture (traugere, De Wyzewa, 22) de l'art au xix siècle, la sculpture et la gravure, 1 de l'ort au xix, siècle, Gonse, 233 de l'art au xix siècle, la peinture Française actuelle, Le fort, 27; au xix siècle, l'école Fran gaise de Ingres à Delai roix, Michel, 28.

Cherubini, Crowest, 64.
Chesneau, E., 4, 18.
Chiaroscuro, Sturgis, 6.
Chicago Fair. See World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago.

Child, Theodore, 18. Chinese art, Paleologue, 10; porcelain and pottery, Du Sartel, 49, Grandi dier, 50. See also Indo-Chinese art Chinese music, Van Aalst, 63; see also Reissmann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 56, Amiot, Memoire sur la musique des Chinois, 61.

hipiez, C. See Perrot, Chipiez, C., 10-11. Chipiez, Chirtani, L. See Selvatico, P., 12. Chopin, F., Karasowski, 65, Liszt, 65, Niecks, 65, Finck, 71, Klec-65, Niecks zynski, 72.

Choral music, notes on the cultiva-Choral music, notes on the cultiva-tion of, Krehbiel, 58; see also Reiss-mann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 56, also Chants, Church music, Worship music. Chorley, H. F., 70. Christ in art, Farrar, 22, Jameson, 36.

Christian architecture, early, Smith

Christian architecture, early, Smith and Slater, 46.
Christian art, Rio, 33; history of, Lindsay, 27, see also Gambier, Ministry of fine art, 5; simple studies of, Ruskin, 34; early, Woltmann and Woermann, 37; mosaic work in, see Müntz, La mosaique christienne pendant les premiers siècles, in See also Religious art Sacred. 44 See also Religious art, Sacred art,

Christian ecclesiology See Butler, Ancient Coptic churches of Egypt,

Christian symbols, and stories of the saints as illustrated in art, Clement, Christiania. See Atkinson. Art tour to northern capitals of Europe, 2

Chrysander, F., 64. Church bells. See Jewitt, Half hours among some English antiquities, 7. among some English antiquities, 7. Church music, Geschichte der Geistlichen Dichtung u. Kirchlichen Tonkunst, Schletterer, 59; Origin of the liturgic chant, Gewaert, 69; Antiphonaire de Saint Gregoire, Lambillotte, 60. See a/so Chants, Choral music, Worship music.

Church vestments, in South Kensinghurch vestmetics, in ton Museum, Rock, 52,

Churches, Christian, see Lanciani, Pagan and Christian Rome, 8, ancient Coptic, Butler, 39; London city, Daniell, 39; fortified, of the Middle Ages, see Essenwein, Die Regenverschen, de Gesthiech, but Romanische u die Gothische bau-kunst: die Kriegsbaukunst, 40.

Cicerone (The), Burckhardt, 18 Cities, ancient, and their buildings, see Freeman Historical and architectural sketches, 41; architecture in relation to, see Statham, Architecture for general readers, 46. City house (The), in the West, Root, 45; in the East and South, Sturgis,

City parks. See Parsons, Landscape

City parks. See Parsons, Landscape gardening, 44 City-walls, of the Middle Ages, see Essenwein, Die Romanische u. Gothische Baukunst, die Kriegs-baukunst, 401 and gates of Tuscan mediaval cities, aer Rohault de Fleury, La Toscane au moyen age, is arac, C. de, 19. ark, W., and Hutchinson, J. T., trans, See Goulod, Mozart's Don Clark, V

Clarke, J. T., trans., 44. Clarke, J. T., trans., 44. Clarke, Mary C., trans. See Berlioz, Classic and romantic schools, con-test between. See Michel, Les chefs-d'œuvre de l'art au xix, siècle,

78

Classical antiquities, atlas of, Schrieber, 12; Harper's dictionary of, 14; dictionary of, 5eyffert, 15; art of mosue in see Gerspach, La mosa que, 41. See also Gallhabaud, Monuments anciens et modernes, 22 Academic et mo

Monuments anciens et modernes, g;; also Archaeology. Classical architecture, revival of in England, see Leftie, Inigo Jones, rid Wren, 43: Daniell, London etty churches, 39: carrying on of, in Eastern empire, see Essenwein, Die Fortsetzung der Classischen Baukunst im oströmischen Reiche, 49; and early Christian, Smith and Slater 46.

Slater, 46.
Classical sentiment, survival of See Hamerton, Present state of the fine art of France, 7

Claude Lorrain, Grahame, 23, Michel, 28, Pattison, 30, Sweetser, Ariist biographies, 36; see also Gilbert, Landscape in art, 23.
Clavichord. See Rimbault, Piano-

Clauchord. See Rimbauit, Pranoforte, 59.
Clément, Chas., 19.
Clément, Clara E., 14, 19.
Clément, F., and Laronsse, P., 73.
Clodion, Les Adam et, Thirton, 36.
Coffin, W. A., 3, 19; see also Modern French masters, 29.
Cohen, G., trans. See Hanslick, 60.
Coms, Greek, Gardner, 23; collector's manual Humbhreys, 25; see also Coins, Greek, Gardner, 23; collector s manual, Humphreys, 25; see also Lecoy de la Marche, Les seeaux, 27; Lenormant, Monnaies et médailles, 27; Saumer, Augustin Dupré, 34. Cole, A. S., trans. See Lefebure, 51. Cole, Timothy, 19. Coleridge, A. D., trans. See Kreissle, Japanese, see Anderson, Japanese wood-engravings, 16.

Columbia University. Avery Architectural Library of, 38-39; music collection, see Musici Scriptores

Græci, 60. Colvin, S., 4; ed., see Woltmann and Woermann, History of painting, 37.

Woermann, History of painting, 37-Composers, famous, and their works, Paine, 65; see also Hanshek, Con-certe, Componiste u. Virtuosen, 71-Concerts, Hanshek, Geschichte des Concertwesens in Wien, 57, Aus dem Concertsaul, 71, Concerte, Com-poniste u. Virtuosen, 71; Kretzch-mar, Führer durch den Concertsaal, Constantinople, Grosvenor, 6, Church of Sancta Sophia in, Lethaby and Swainson, 42; Alt-Christliche Bau-denkmale v., Salzenberg, 45.

Consular diptychs of the iv. and v centuries. See Maskell, Description of ivories in South Kensington Museum, 51. Conversation on music, Rubinstein,

Conversations in a studio, Story, 12 Conway Katherine E. See Clement, Conway, Str W. M., 4, 19. Cook, E. T. 4, 19.

Cook, E. T., 4, 19. Cook, Martha W., trans. See Liszt, Copenhagen. See Atkinson, Art tour to northern capitals of Europe, 2. Coptic churches of Egypt, Butler, 39.

Corder, F., 69 Cordova, architecture of. Pascha, Die Baukunst des Islam, 41. orfu. See Freeman, Sketches from Corfu. the subject and neighborlands of Venice, 41. Cornelius, P. See Pfohl, Die moderne

Oper, 72. Cornell, J. H., 69; trans., see Lang-hans, 56, Benoit, 67, Heintz, 67, Wolzogen, 68.

Corot, 20, Thomson, 30; we also Blanc, Artistes de mon temps, 3. orreggio, Ricci, 32-33.

Correggio, Ricci, 32-33.
Corroyer, E., 39.
Costume of ancient Egyptians, see
Erman, Life in ancient Egypti, see
Erman Life in ancient Egypt, 5;
early Venetian, see Molmenti, La vie privée à Venise, 9; value of scals for, Lecoy de la Marche, Les sceaux, 27; on the engraved plates of mediaval tombs, see Macklin,
Monumental brasses, 28; of the Repaissance see Molmenti Corrace.

Renaissance, ser Molmenti, Carpacrechaissance, see Monnentt, carpac-cio, 29; historical, Bonnard, 49, Racinet, 52; mediaval, Demay, 49; ancient Greek, Evans, 49; an cient and modern, Hottenroth, 50; cient and modern, Hottenfoth, 50; French, Renan, 52; see also Viollet-le-Duc. Dictionnaire raisonné du mobilier Français, 53; collection illustrating, in South Kensington Museum, Rock, 52; modern, see Steele and Adams, Beauty of form and grace of vesture, 53. Counterpoint, fugue, and double counterpoint, Haupt, 69, Pront, 70, Country house (The), Mitchell, 43. Country of Horace and Virgil (The), and double

Boissier, Country places, small, Parsons, 44: beautifying of, see Van Rensselaer,

Art out of doors, Couperin. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, Courajod, L., 20. Coursemaker, E. de, 60. Couture, T., 20; see also De Lostalot, Chef. d'œuvres de l'art au xix. steele, 21. Cowen. See Willeby, Masters of Enghish music, 67.

Cox. Kenyon, 20; see also Modern French masters, 29, Smith, American illustrators. Cramer, piano methods of. See Kul-lak, 70 Crane, Walter. See Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 57–52.

Cranz. See Beethoven, 63.
Crocker, Annette E., trans.

Gounod, 64. Crotchets and quavers, Maretzek, 58.

Crot hets and quavers, Maretzek, 58. Crowe, Nr Jos. A., 20; and Caval-caselle, 20. Crowest, F J., 57, 64. Crowninshield, F, 20. Cummings, W. H., 64. Cundall, Jos., 21. Cuttis-Cholmeley, Countess Isabel, trans. See Cattaneo, L'architet-tura in Italia 20. trans. See Cat tura in Italia, 39.

Curwen, J. S., 70-71.

Cust, L., 21. Cyclopædias. See Johnson's universal cyclopædia, Encylopædia Britannica.

Cyprus, ancient, see Gardner, New chapters in Greek history, 5; history of, see Perrot and Chipiez, Historic del'art dans l'antiquité, 11. Czerny, piano methods of. See Kullak, 70.

Dagnan-Bouveret, Coffin, 19. Dalmatia, the Quarnero and Istria, Jackson, 42.

Damasens, Franz-Pascha, Die Baukunst des

Islam, 41 Damascus ware, Fortnum, 50

Damascus ware, Fortnum, 50.
Dance (The), history of in Germany,
Bochme, Geschichte des Tanzes in Deutschland, 51; in the xvi. century, see Celler, Les orignes de l'opéra et le ballet de la reine, 57.
Daniell, A. E., 39.
Dargenty, G., 21.
Daviller, Bayon C., 21.
Daviller, Bayon C., 21.
Davils, Miss L. J. (trans. See Muntz,
La tapsserie, 52.

La tapisserie, 52

Dawn of art in the ancient world, Conway, 4. lawn of civilization, Maspero, 9.

Ostway, 4. Day, 61-62. Decamps, Clement, 19. Decamps, Clement, 19. Decam (The), music and musical instruments of, Day, 61-62. De Champeaux, Alfr., 21, 49.

Deck, T., 40 Decoration, Gothic, Gonse, 6; appli-cation of art to, Ruskin, 12; mural, Galland, 29

Decorative arts, minor (department).

48-54.
Decorative arts, Blanc, Grammaire des arts du dessin, 3; minor, see Gonse, Gothic art, 6; treatise on, Bracquemond, Du dessin et de la couleur, 17; history of, De Champeaux, 21; in England, see Destree, Pre-Raphaelites, 22; evolution of, Balfour, 47; Decorazione e industrie artistiche, Melani, 51; Egyptian, Petric, 52; dictionary of, Rouaix, 52-53; monograph on, Sturgis, 53. See also Mural painting. 48-54.

53; monograph on, sturgis, 53. See also Mural painting.
De Forest, L. B., 4.
De Forest, L., 39.
Degas. See Lecomte, L'art impressionste, 27; also Moore, impressions and opinions, 29. De Goncourt, E. and J., 4. Deiters, H., 64.

Detkers, fr., 04-De Kontski, piano methods of. See Kullak, 70. De Laborde, Alex , 4-Delaborde, Henri, 4, 21. Delacroix, Eugene, Véron, 36; see also Blanc, Artistes de montemps, 3; De Lestalot, chef d'œuvres de l'art au xix. siècle, 21. Delano, Aline, trans. See Rubinstein, Delaroche, Paul, Rees, 32 Delineation. See Drawing. De Lostalot, Alfr., 21.

Demay, J. G., 49.

Demmin, A., 49. De Neuville. See Bacon, Parisian art and artists, 16.

Denmark, industrial arts of, Wor-

Denmark, industrial arts of, Worsaae, 53.
Dennie, J., 4.
Dennis, G., 4.
De Pontes, L. D., 21.
De Pouvourville, A., 4.
Design, and color, Bracquemond, 17;
of inosaic, see Gerspach, La mosa que, 41; elements of handicraft and, Benson, 48; application of plant forms to, see Lilley and Midgley Studies in plant form ley, Studies in plant form, 51

ley, Studies in plant form, 51. Designing, principles of, see Moore, Examples for elementary practice in delineation, 29; decorative, Crane, see Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52.

Desjardins, A., 21. Destrée, O. G., 21-22. Detaille, E. See Bacon, Parisian art and artists, 16; Morin, French illustrators, 30.

De Wyzewa, T., 22. Dialogo della musica antica e della moderne, Galilei, 57. Diaz. See De Lostalot, Chef d'œnvres de l'art au xix. siècle, 21.

Dickinson, E, 55. Dictionaries of art (department), 14-

Dictionaries and encyclopædias of music (department), 73.

Dictionaries, Century, 2, International Webster, 2, New English, 2, 14-15, Adeline, 14, Bryan, 14, Harper, 14, Seyffert, 15, Smith, Wayte, and Marindin, 15, Viollet-le-Duc, 47, 53, Marindin, 15, Violiet-le-Duc, 47, 53, Rouaux, 52–53.

Dichton, A. N., 22
Diehl, C., 4–5.
Dies. See Intaglio.
Dilke, Lady, 5; see also Pattison, 10.
Dinysius, hymns of, Bellermann, 63; see also Galilei, Dialogo della musica antica e della moderne, 57, Williams, Music of the ancient Greeks 6;

Greeks, 6t.
Dippold, G. T., 67. Diptychs, consular, of iv. and v. centuries. See Maskell, Description of ivories in South Kensington Museum, 51.

Muscuin, 51.
Dobson, A., 22.
Dohme, R., 5.
Dole, N. H., trans. See Wolzogen, 68.
Domestic architecture, see Homes in city and country, 25; Essenwein, Die

Romanische u. die Gothische Bau-Romanische u. die Gothische Bau-kunst: der Wohnbau, 40; Kerr, The gentleman's house, 42; in Scotland, Macgibhon and Ross, 43; old cot-tage and, Neville, 44; in England, Parker, 44, Parker and Turner, 44, Turner, 46; in the West, Root, 43; in the East and South, Sturgis, 46.

In the East and South, Storgs, 40. Donatello, Müntz, 30. Donizetti. See Edwards, Rossini, 64. D'Ooge, M. L., 5. Dorra-Pamilia Galleries. See Morelli, Italian painters, 30.

Double counterpoint, theory of counterpoint, fugue and, Haupt, 19; and canon, Prout, 70.
Doyle, R. See Spielman, History of Princh, 35. Princseke. See Fuller-Maitland, Mas-Draeseke.

ters of German music, 64. Drama, the musical, Schure, 68

Dramatic composition, first attempts at. See Reissmann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 56

schichte der Musik, 55.
Drapery, See Evans, Chapters on Greek dress, 40.
Drawing, Hamerton, 24, Sturgis, 35; figure-, Hatton, 24; examples for elementary practice in, Moore, 20; elements of, Ruskin 33; Learning to draw, Vi illet-le-Duc, 35-37.
Drawings, of Dürer, Ephrussi, 22,
Scott, 34-35; of Blake, Gilchrist, 23;
of Turner, see Ruskin, Harbours of England, 33; of Ruskin, see Ruskin,

Studies in both arts, 34.
resden Gallery. See Morelli, Ital-

Dresden Gallery.

Dressden Gallery See Morelli, Italian painters, 30.

Dressel. See Apthorp, Musicians and music-lovers, 70.

Dress. See Costume.

Dresser, Chr., 5.

Dressel collection, Lenox Library. See Prefatory note, 54, Kiesewetter, 56, Galliet, 57, Amuet, 61, Beethoven, 63, Bombet, 64, Carpani, 64, Gretry, 64, Wagenseil, 68.

Drury, E., 22.

Duban, F. See Blanc, Artistes de mon temps, 3.

mon temps, 3, jubois. See Hervey, Masters of Dubois.

French music, 64. Du Maurier, George. See Spielman, History of Punk, 35. Du Mont. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, Dupré, Saunier, 34; see also Blanc, Artistes de mon temps, 3.

Durand, J., trans. See Taine, 13.

Durand - Ruel. See Lecomte,

Durand - Kuel. See Leconic, impressionist art, 27.
Durer, Albert, Cust, 21, Ephrussi, 22, Scott, 34-35, Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36, Thausing, 36.
Durham Cathedral, Billings, 39.

Durm, J., 40. Du Sartel, O., 40. Dutch etchers of xvii. century. Hamerton, Etchings of Rembrandt, Dutch masters. See Cole, Old Dutch Flemish masters, 19, see also and Flen Holland,

Dutch school of art, Alexandre, 13, Cole, 10, Crowe, 20, Gower, 23, Havard, 25; see also Holland. Dwight, J. S. See Perkins, C. C., 58, Apthorp, Musicians and music-lov-

Protectifs

Journal of Music, Sec

Pringle 8 Journal of Juliane. See Schindler, 66.

Dyeing, see Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52.

Dyer, T. H., 5.

Eastern architecture. See Oriental architecture.

Eastlake, Lady. See Jameson, History of our Lord as exemplified in works of art, 26. Eastlake, Str C. L., 40. Eaton, W. See Modern French masters, 29. Ecclesiastical architecture, of Scotland, Macgibbon and Ross, 43. See also Cathedrals, Churches, Sacred atsu Cathorna, buildings. Eddy, C., trans. See Haupt Edelinck, G., Delaborde, 21.

See Haupt, 69.

Education de Partiste, Chesneau, , Edwards, Amelia B. (*) 12. 20 M is per s. Archeologie Egyptienne, 20 , Edwards, C. A., 12. Edwards, C. L., 62. Edwards, H. S., 53, 64, 74. Egypt, life in ancient, Erman, 53 Moby yt, the in aucient, Erman, s; Mo-hammed in art in, see Govet, Uart Arabe, 6; modern manners, and cus-toms in, Lame, 8; history and ar-charology of, Missien, air in an-cient, Petrot and Chipiez, 10-11; art of Saracensin, Poole, 11; ten years digging in, Petre, 11; art in, sor Tarbell, History of Greek art, 11; sculpture in, see Paris, La sculpture antique, 30, Redford, Sculpture, 32; ancient Coptic churches of, Butter, and of European architecture 39; origin of European architecture in, see Fergusson, History of architecture of all countries, 10; ancient architecture in, see Smith and Sla-ter, 46; pottery of, Birch, 48; decorative art of, Petrie, 5s. Egyptian music. See Reissmann, All-gemeine Geschichte der Musik, 5s Kiesewetter, Die Musik der Araber,

Ehlert, L., 71

Eleusman mysteries. See Gardner,

New chapters in Greek history, s. Elizabethan architecture. See Harris, Three periods of English architecture, 42; Harrison, Annals of an old manor-house, 42. Ella, J., 71. Ellis, A. J., trans. See Helmho'tz,

Ellis, W. A., trans. See Wagner, 18. Elterlein, E. von, 71
Emancipation of the picture, Hall-ward. See Transactions of the Na-ward, See Fransactions of the Advance-tional Association for the Advance-tional Association for the Advancement of Art, 53.

Embroidery, Stirgis, 53, English, see Alford, Needlework, 48: and Lice, Lefebure, 5:(processes in, see Lilley and Midgley, Studies in plant form, 51: modern, Turner, see Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52.
Embran, Alfr. 2.

Emerson, Alfr., 5. Emotions, expression of, Darwin, etc. Enamel, Rudler, 53, Sturgis, 53, Chi-nese, see Paleologue, L'art Chinois, 70, Persian, see Van Dyke, History ro; Persian, see Van Dyke, History of painting, 36. Beneaustic, tiles, see Jewitt, Half-hours among some English antiquities, 7; painting, see Crowninshield, Mural painting, 20-21. Encyclopædia Britannica. See Colvin, 4, Murray, 19, Sayee, 12, Watts, 14, Hamerton, 24, Middleton, 26, 43, Morris, 30, Reid, 32, Wilson, 5; Freeman, 41, Freeman and Gardner, 41, Lewis and Street, 42, Morris and Middleton, 44, 51, Papworth, 44, Rudler, 53, Macfarren, 36. Encyclopædias, and dictionaries of music (department), 73.

music (department), 73. Engel, C., 57. %. Engineering Magazine. See Sturgis, England, harbours of, Ruskin, landscape gardening in, we Blom field and Inigo, 39; history of, Free man, 41.

English antiquities, Jewitt,

English architecture, three periods of, English architecture, three periods of, Harris, 42; rise and decline of modern, Leftie, 42; domestic, from Richard II, to Henry VIII., Parker, 44; from Edward I to Richard II Parker and Turner, 44; English art, Kinist u. Künstler des Mittelalters u. der Neuzeit, Dohme, et Arthers Anglis, confermour ins.

s: Artistes Anglais contemporains. Chesneau, 18; in collection of Charle-

Chesneau, (8) in collection of Charles L, see Phillips, Picture-gallery of Charles L, a; history of water-color painting in England, Redgrave, a:
English music, old, popular, Chappell, 6;; misters of, Willeby, (2); see also Hogarth, memoris of the opera in England, $7: also British music.

English school of painting, century of painters of the, Redgrave, R. and a dictionary of artists of . .e.

Redgrave, ... Engravers, Bryan, 14, Beraldi, Linton, S, Cole, 13, see also D Linton, 3, Cole, 12, see also Dela borde, Edelinek, 21; also Etchers.

Engraving, Sturgis, pq see a 'w Dela borde, Etudes sur les beaux arts en France et en Italie, 45 Hamerton, Present state of the fine arts of France, 7; Lapanese, Anderson, 10; masters and masterpieces of, Chapte, 18; American, see Century gallery, 18; on medicival tombs, see Macklin, monumental brasses, 28, See also monumental brasses, 28. See also Etching, Wood-engraving.

Engravings, American, see K sehler, American art, 7, Cole's, 10, Dürer's, 21, Hogarth's, 22; after Van Dyck, 22; Michiels, Van Dyck et ses élèves, 23 Lupton's, see Ruskin, Harbours of England, 33.

Enlart, C., 40. Ephrussi, C., 22.

Epidaurus, discoveries at. See Gard-ner, New chapters in Greek history, Episcopal crooks. See Maskell, scription of tvories in South Ker

sington Museum, 51

Epochs in art, Gothic, xii. century, see Gouse, L'art Gothique, o; ii. France, see Lectewaller-Chevignard, Les styles Franças, 8; of the xvii. century, see Lemonner, Etudes d'art et de l'instoire d'art Etudes d'art et de l'Instoire d'art Français au temps de Richelieu et Mazarin, 8 ; of Charles VIII, sor Muntz, La Remassance en Halic et en France, 9 ; of the decline, soc Thirron, Les Adain et Clodion, 65, Wolffen, Remassance und Barrock, 47, the romantic, see Veron, Euigene Deltectus, 36, Uston Rom propue Delacrotx, 36, Italian Romanesque, see Cattaneo, L'architettura in Italia, 39; Roman, of the republic and the empire, see Martha, Manu el d'archéologie Etrusque et Ro-Cattaneo, L'architettura maine, 8.

et a archeologie Errisque et Romanne, 8.
Erk, L., am/ Böhme, F., 62.
Erman, A., 5.
Essenwein, A., von, 43.
Etchers, Haden, 24., etching and, Hamerton, 24. tetching and, Hamerton, 24. tetchings of Rembrandt, 24. Levre, or Mantz, Hans Holbein, 28. Callot, 36. Vachus, Engravers.
Etching, Delaborde, 21. Haden, 24. Koehler, 26. vor area Bracqueimond, Du dessin et de la couleur, 17. Chapin, Masters and masterpieces of engraving, 18. in America, Hitchcock, 25. sociation Koehler, 37. sociation Scott, The Intile masters, 25.

Etchings, of Rembrandt, Haden, 24, Hamerton, 24; fac-similes of Van Dyck's, 36. Michiels, Van Dyck et ses éleves, 20. Jac acci Prints.

Tyck's, so Michiels, Van Dyck et ses éleves, so, so and Prints.
Etex. Antoine, Mangeant, 28.
Etherington, L. M., Cram. So. Chesneau, La peinture Anglaise, 18.
Etrura, cities and cemeterie; of, Dennis, 4; sculpture of, Paris, 10.
Etruscan architecture, Martha, 8; Durm, Die Baukunst der Etrusker.

Etruscan art, Dennis, 4; and architecture, Martha, 8.
Etruscan pottery, Birch, 48; see acost Robinson, Vases in the Boston Mu seum, 52.

Buchdes, on music — See Musici Scrip-tores Greet, 188. Europe, art four to northern capitals of, Atkinson, 2.

on, Atkinson, 2. European architecture, Sturgis, 46. Evans, M. M. (7 arro Evans), 40. Evetts, B. T. A., Gains. Sci Babelon, Archeologic orientale, 2.

Excursions in art and letters, Story, 13.

Excursions in Greece, Dielil, 5. Expression in art, 55 Beard, Action in art, 16; anatomy and philosophy of, Bell, 17.

Expression of emotions in man and animals, Darwin, 21.

Eye (The), See Laugel, A., L'optique et les arts, 8.

Faccio. See Streatfeild, Masters of Italian music, 66. Fa ence. See Pottery, Fairholt, Costume in England. See arrar, F. W., 22. arrar, See Hervey, Masters of Pretatory note, 48.

Farrar, F. W., 22.
Fauré, See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64.
Fenollosa, E. F., 22.
Fergusson, J., 40–41.
Ferrara, history of painting in, from Ferrara, history of painting in, from

xiv. to xvi. century, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20.

Cayalcaselle, 20. Fettis, F. J. See Kiesewetter, R. G., and Fettis, 58. Ffoulkes, Constance J., trans. See Morelli, Italian painters, 30. Fidiculis bibliographia (De), Heron-Allen 22.

Allen, 57. Fidière, O., 22.

Figure painting, Brücke, The human ingure-painting, Briicke, The human figure, 18; figure-painters of Holland, Gower, 23; figure-drawing and composition, Hatton, 24-25; see also Millet, Some artists at the Fair, 9, Steele and Adams, Beauty of form and grace of vesture, 53.

Fillmore, L. C., 57; see Fletcher, Charles Complete Laten many, 62.

Fillmore, J. C., 57; see Fletche Study of Omaha Indian music, 62. Finck, H. T., 67, 71

Fine art (department), 1-15.

Fine art. See Art. Fink, G. W., 57.

Fire, avoiding risk of. See Viollet-le-Duc, Histoire d'une maison, Fisher, D. H., trans. See Boissier, 3.

Fisher, R., 22.
Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge, catalogue of gems, Middleton, 29; casts in, Waldstein, 37; loan collection of plate, Foster and Atkinson,

Flandrin. See Blanc, Artistes de mon temps, 3. Flemish school of art, Alexandre, 15, Cole, 10, Conway, 19, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20; Wauters, introduction of landscape in the, see Michel, Etudes sur l'histoire de l'art, 29. See also Dutch school of art.

Flesche, Francis La. See Fletcher,
Study of Omaha Indian music, 52.

Study of Omana Indian Misse, ex-Fletcher, A. C., 62. Fletcher, B., and Fletcher, B. F., 41. Fletcher, W. G., 49750. Florence, guide to the paintings of, Karoly, 26: painting in, 262 Laienes-tre and Richtenberger, Painting in Europe, 27, mornings in, Ruskin, 34. Florentine school of art. See Mes-nard, La peinture à Sienne, 28. Folk-music and folk-song, American nard, La peinture a Stante, 2015 Folk-music and folk-song, American Indian, Baker, 61, Boas, 61; Negto, Allen, Ware. and Harrison, 61, Marsh, 61; Arabian and eastern, Marsh, 61; Arabian and eastern, Kiesewetter, 62; Bahaman, Edwards, 62; Breton, Villemarque, Barzaz-Breiz, 63; Canadian, Gagnon, 62; Chinese, Amot, 61; English, Chappell, 61; French, Villemarque, Barzaz-Breiz, 63; German, Erk and Bohme, 62, 500 also Reissmann, Alfgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 60; Greek, Kiesewetter, Ueber die Musik der neureren Griechen, 62; Gyps, 500 List, t. Des Bohémiens et de sy, see Liszt, Des Bohémiens et de leur Musique en Hongrie, 62; lu-dian, Day, 61-62; Irish, Walker, 63; Russian, Istomin and Lutsh, 62; of savage races, see Wallaschek, Primitive music, 63. Folk-song and national music (department), for

Forain, See Morin, French illustra-

Foreign parts, James, 7.

Forgues, Eng., 22. Forkel, J. N., 550 see also Prefatory

Forket, J. N., 55, 30° disc Fremany note, 54 St. Forster, Ernst, 5. Fortnum, C. D. E., 22, 30. Fortresses of the Middle Ages. See Essenwein, Die Romanische und die Gothische Baukunst, die Kriegsbaukunst, 40° See afw Churches, Castles, Military architecture.

Fortuny, Davillier, 21. Foster, Mrs., trans. See Vasari, 13. Foster, J. E., and Atkinson, T. D., 50. Fra Bartolommeo. See Bartolom-Fra meo, La a.

France, antiquities of, Reinach, 11; see also, Reinach, Roman sculpture,

France artistique et monumental, Havard, 42. Francis I. See De Laborde, La Renaissance des arts à la cour de France, 4.

Hervey, Masters of Franck. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64. Franz. See Apthorp, Musicians and music-lovers, 70. Franz-Pascha, 41.

Frederic II., arts at the court of. See Michel, Etudes sur l'histoire de l'art, 28.

Freeman, E. A., 41. French Academy and its schools of instruction. See Stranahan, History of French painting, 35-30.

French architecture, Chateau, 30, see also Havard, La France, 42; origin of Gothic architecture in, Enlart, 40; in development of Gothic architecture in acceptance of Gothic architecture in accept 40; in development of Gothic architecture, Moore, 43-44; index to, from the xi, to xvi, century, see Sabine, Table analytique, 45; see also France, antiquities of.

French art, Brownell, 3, Delaborde, 4, Hamerton, 7, Proust, 11; styles of, Lechavellier-Chevignard, 8; french with State of the Mittelalters.

Kunst u. Künstler des Mittelalters, Döhme, 5, see also Rosenberg, Geschichte der modernen Kunst, 12; bistory of, Alexandre, 15-16, Stran-nan, 35-36; Renaissance of, Patti-son, 10, Delaborde, 4; au temps de Richelieu et Mazarin, Lemonner, Renaissance Al'epoque de Charles VIII., Mûntz, 9; Parisian, Bacon, 16; of Delacroix and Regnault, De 16; of Delacroix and Regnault, De Lostalot, 21, masterpieces of, Le-fort, 27; in the reign of Louis XV., see Mantz, François Boucher, 28; from Ingres to Delacroix, see Mich-el, Chef d'œuvres, 28; modern mas-ters of, see Modern French masters,

French bookbinding. See Fle See Fletcher Bookbinding

France, 49-50. French costume, Renan, 52; see also Dictionnaire rai-

French costume, Renan, 52; see also Viollet-le-Duc, Dictionnaire raisonné du mobilier Français, 53. French illustrators, Morin, 30. French illustrators, 55; French illustrators, 57; Studies in, Schletterer, 50; popular, of Brittany, Villemarque, Barzaz-Breiz, 62; masters of, Hervey, 64; and 63; masters of, Hervey, 64; and manners, Chorley, 70.
French traits, Brownell, 3.
Frescobaldi. See Rimbault, Piano-

forte, 59.
Frescoes, Wilson, 37; "spirit-fresco" process, see Gambier, Ministry of fine art, 5; of Raphael, see Goodvear, Roman and mediaval art, 6; Florentine, see Karoly, Guide to the Florentine, see Karoly, Guide to the Florenting, see Ration, value of Correg-gio, see Ricci, Antonio Allegri da Correggio, 32-33; of Giotto, see Ruskin, Giotto and his works, 33-Ne also Mural painting, Tempera. Fringing. See Walker, Varied occupations in stringwork, 53.

Friuli, history of painting in, from xiv. to xvi. century, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20. Frizzoni, Gustave,

From the tone world, Ehlert, 71. From the tone world, Enlert, 7t. Fromentin, Eng. 5, 22; Gonse, 23; Frost, A. B. See Smith, American illustrators, 35. Frost, H. F., 64. Frost, W. H., 65. Frost, W. H., 65. Frost, W. H., 65.

lignon, Phidias, 19.

Frothingham, A. L. See Marquand, A., and Frothingham, 28. Frothingham, A. L., 17 . 5. Frothingham, Miss, trans. See Col-

Fugue, Prout, 70; and counterpoint,

Fugue, Prout, 70; and counterpoint, theory of, Haupt, 60.
Fuller-Mattland, J. A., 64, ed., see
Deiters, 64, Streatfeild, 72; trans., See Spitta, 66.
Furniture, Sturgis, 53; Gothic, see Gonse, L'Art Gothique, 6; of xvii., xviii., and xix. centuries, De Champeaux, 40; arts of, Havard, 50;
colonial, of New England, Lyon,
51; and the room, Prior, see Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 57-52; ancient and modern, in South Kersington Museum, Pollen, 52; dictionary of French, Violiet-le-Duc, 53.

Furtwängler, A., 23.

Gabrieli, A. See Winterfeld, onannes Gabrieli, 59.
Gabrieli, Johannes, Winterfeld, 59.
Gage, W. A., trans. See Lampadius,

Gage, W. A., trans. See Lampadius, 65.

Gagnon, E., 62.
Gailhabaud, J., 41.
Gann-borough, Armstrong, 16.
Galllet, V., 57; see also Bellerman, 63.
Gallet, S., 57; see also Bellerman, 63.
Galletes, Boston Museum of Fine Arts, Robinson, 52; Boston Public Library, Fenollosa, 22; Borghese, Morelli, 30; British Museum, Fisher, 22; Chantilly, Gruyer, 23; Dorial-pamfilia, Morelli, 30; Dresden, Morelli, 30; Fitzwilliam Museum, Waldstein, 37, Foster and Atkinson, 50; Louvre, De Pouvourville, 4 Clarac, 10, Courajod, 20, Gruyer, 23, Lafenestre and Richtenberger, 27; Luxembourg, Benedite, 17; Metropolitan, La Farge, 27, Brown and Brown, 61; Munich, Morelli, 30; National, Cook, 10, Moore, 20; South Kensington, Smith, 12, Fortnum, 22, 50, Evans, 40, Maskell, 51, Pollen, 52, Rock, 52; Venetian Academy of Fine Arts, Ruskin, 34.
Gallican chant. See Paléographie Musicale, 58.
Gambier, P. T., 5.

Musicale, 58.
Gambier, P. T., 5.
Gardens. See Landscape gardening.
Gardner, E. A., 23. Gardner, Percy, 5, 23, see also Schreiber, Atlas of classical antiquities, 12.

Garnier, E., 50.
Gaudentius, on music.
Scriptores Græci, 60.

Scriptores Grace, 22. Gayern, P., Forgues, 22. Gayet, A., 6. Gazetta Musicale di Milano, 73-Geddes. See Wedmore, Etching in

Geddes. See Wedmore, Etching in England, 37. Gems, engraved, Babelon, 16 * Lecoy de la Marche, Les sceaux, 27, see also Babelon, Archæologie orien-tale, 2; Greek, see Murray, Hand-book of Greek archæology, 10; classical, Middleton, 25. Genoa, buildings of the Roman time and the Middle Ages in. See Mac-gibbon, Architecture of Provence gibhon, Architecture of Provence and the Riviera, 43. German art, Kunst und Künstler des Mittelalters und der Neuzeit, Dohme Mittelalters und der Neuzeit, Dohme 5; Denkmale deutscher Baukunst, Bildnerei und Malerei v. Einfahr-ung des Christenthums bis auf die neuße Zeit, Förster, 5; Geschichte der deutscher Kunst v. den frühert-der Zeitze bis zur Gegenwart. Lukke en Zeiten bis zur Gegenwart, Lubke, 8; see also Rosenberg, Geschichten der Modernen Kunst, 12; Crowe, Handberk of sonting der Modernen Kunst, 12; Crowe, Handhook of painting, 20.

German music, history of, Brendel, Geschichte der Musik in Italien, Deutschland u. Frankreich, 55; Boehme, Geschichte des Tanzes in Deutschland, 61; present state of, Burney, 56-57; and opera, Hogarth, 57; and concerts, see Hanslick, Geschichte des Concertwesens in Wien, 57; and song, Reissmann, Das Deutsche Lied, $8-50, Erk and Bühme. Deutsche Liederhort, 62; religious, in connection with the development of the people, Schletreligious, in connection with the development of the people, Schletterer, Das Deursches Singspiel, 59; masters of, Fuller-Maitland, 64; modern, Chorley, 70; and manners, Chorley, 70; see also Hanslick, -1, Holmes, Ramble among the musicians of Germany, 72.

cians of Germany, 72. Gérôme, J. L., Low, 28. Gerspach, E., 41. Gevaert, F. A., 60, 60; see also Ambros, Geschicte der Musik, 58.

Gibson, W. H., 9, Gilbert, J., 23, Gilchrist, Alex., 23.

Giotto, and his works in Padua, Ruskin, 33.

Glasenapp, C. F., 67, Glass, Chinese, see Paleologue, L'art Chinois, 10; painted, see Merson, Les witraux, 43; stained, see Merson, Les vitraux, 43; stained, see Gonse, L'art Gothique, 6, Jewitt, Half-hours among some Eng. actiquities, 7; colored prints of, see Harrison, Annals of an old manor-house, 42; in artistic design, Sturgis, 53; see also Havard, Les arts de l'ameublement : la ver-rerie, 50.

Glossaries (department), 14-15.
Gloucester Cathedral. See Gambier, Ministry of fine art, 5. Gluck, and the opera, Marx, 65, Newman, 65. Godard. See Hervey, Masters of Goldard. See Fierrey, Masters of French music, 64.

Golden gate. See Ruskin, Mornings in Florence, 34.
Goldmark, See Fuller-Maitland, masters of German music, 64.

Goldsmiths' work, in South Kensing-

Goldsmiths' work, in South Kensington Museum, Pollen, 527 in the Middle Ages, see Viollet-le-Duc, Dictionnaire raisonné du mobilier Français, 53; see also Sannier, Augustin Dupré, 34.

Gonse, L., 6, 23; see also Proust, L'art Français, 11.

Goodyear, W. H., 6, 41.

Gothic architecture, Gonse, 6, Corroyer, 39; plea for revival 64, Ruskin, 12; and Romanesque, see Corroyer, Description de l'Abbaye Mont St. Michel, 39; from the Italian point of view, see Botto, Architettura del medio evo in Italia, 39; history of revival of, Bastlake, 40, see also Billings, Architectural illustrations, 39, Lewis and Street, Architecture, 42; French origin 64, Enlart, 40; modern, Jackson, 42; Enlart, 40; modern, Jackson, 42; Enlart, 40; modern, Jackson, 42; development and character of, Moore, 43-44; and Renassance, Smith and Poynter, 45-46; in Span, Street, 46; of North Italy, see Street, Brick and marble in the Middle Street, 40:0 in North Itary, see Street, Brick and marble in the Middle Ages, 46. See also Gothic vaulting. Gothic art, Gonse, 6, see also Gonse, La sculpture Française, 23: from the Italian point of view, see Boito, Acchitettura del medio evo in Architetura del medio evo in Italia, 39.

Gothic vaulting, Willis, 47, Viollet-le-Duc, Entretlens sur l'architecture, 47, Moore, Development and character of Gothic architecture, 43-44, Sturgis, European architecture, 46. Gounod, Charles François, autobiography, 64; see asso Hervey, Masters of French muric, 64.

Gow, G. C., 69.

Gower, Lord R., 23.

Grahame, G., 23. Granada, architecture of. See Franz-Pascha, Die Baukunst des Islam, 41. Grand-Greee (La), Lenormant, 8.

Grandidier, E., 50. Graphic arts, Hamerton, 24. See Bitter, Beitrage zur Graun. Geschichte des Oratoriums,

Graves, R. E., ed. See Dictionary of painters and engravers, 14. Greece, excursions in, Dichl, 5; re-cent excavations in, Gardner, 5; history of art in primitive, Perrot and Chipiez, 11; philosophy of art in, Taine, 13.

Greece, Greater (La Grand-Grece), Greek antiquities. See Antiquities.

Greek archæology. See Brun Griechische Kunstgeschichte, Collignon, 4, Gardner, 5, Murra 10, Paris, 30. See also Greek art. Brunn, Greek architecture, Marquand, 44, Sturgis, 46; cyclopædia of works of, Longfellow, 43; ancient, 82 Smith and Slater, Architecture, clas-sical and early Christian, 46; 820 aco Durm, Die Baukunst der Griechen,

Greekart, Brunn, Griechische Kunstgeschichte, 33 introductory studies in, Harrison, 7, 243 studies in, Pa-ter, 103 history of, Tarbell, 13, 500 also Greek Sculpture, Mycenican Greek coins, type: of, Gardner, 21.

Greek coins, type: of, Gardner, 21, Greek dress, chapters on, Evans, 41, Greek lines and other architectural essays, Van Brunt, 47-47. Greek music, ancent, Musici Scriptores Graed, 60, Paul, 60, Williams, 61, Westphal, 61, Krieswetter, 62; hymns of Dionysius and Mesomedes, Bellermann, 60, see also Galille, 57, Williams, 61. Greek private life, White, 14. Greek sculpture, masterpieces of.

sculpture, masterpieces of, Greek sculpture, masterpieces of, Furtwingler, 24; handbook of, Gardner, 24; select passages illustrative of, Jones, 26; history of, Colligion, 10, Murray, 26, Overbeck, Geschichte der Griechischen Plastik, 26; ancient, Redford, 32; introduction to, Upcott, 36. See also Greek archeology, Greek archeology, Greek archeology, Greek studies, Pater, 10.

Greek studies, Pater, 10.

Greek vases, in the Boston Museum, Robinson, 52; see a.so Birch, History of ancient pottery, 48.

Gregorian chant, see Reissmann, All-gemeine Geschichte der Musik, s6, Paleographie Musicale, 58, Gevaert, 60, Lambillotte, co.

60, Lambillotte, 60.
Grétry, A. E. M., 64.
Griffin, Sir Lepel, 41.
Grumn, H. F., 6.
Gros, Baron, Dargenty, 21.
Grosvenor, E. O., 6.
Grove, 5xr G., 71, 73, sor also Beethoven, 63, 67, Jahn, 64, Rockstro, 67, Kravelle, 55

Kreissle, 65.

See Prideaux, Historical Growoll, A. See Prideaux, I sketch of bookbinding, 52.

Gruyer, F. A., 6, 23, Guiffrey, Jul., 23-24, 50. Gwilt, J., 41. Gypsy music. See Liszt, Des Bohd-miens et de leur musique en Hongrie, 6a.

Haden, F. S., 24, Wedmore, 37. Hadow, W. H., 71. Halt-hours among some English en-tiquities, Jewitt, 7. Hall, Florence P., trans. See Jullien, 67-08. Halle, Adam de la, Coassemaker, 60.

Hallward, R. See Transactions of the National Association for the Ad-

National Association for the Ac-vancement of Art, 53. Hamerton, P. G., €7, 24. Hamlin, A. D. F., 41-42. Handel, G. F., Chrysander, €4, Rocks-tro, 66, Schoelcher, 66; see a.c. Bit-ter, Beitrage zur Geschichte des Oratoriums, 56; Rimbault, Pianoforte, 59. Handel and Haydn Society of Boston, history of Perkins and Dwight, Handicraft and design, elements of,

Bensen, 48.

Bensen, 48.

Hanslick, E., 87, 60, 71-52.

Harbours of England, Ruskin, 53.

Harmony, Prout, 56; for teacher and 550.

Brookbowen, 63; and metre, pupil, Brockboven, e.g. and metre, Hauptimann, e.g. manual of, Jadas-sohn, 7c, Richter, 7c. Harper, C. G., 24 Harps, Irish. No Walker, e. Harpsichord. See Rimbauit, Pranoforte, 53. Harris, T., 42. Harrison, F., 4

Harrison, F., 42. Harrison, Jane E., 7, 24; e.s., see Paris, 40. Harrison, Lucy M. See Allen, W.

Hart, G., 57. Hatton, R. G., 24-25.

Hauptmann, M., 191

Hauptmann, M., 196 Haward, H., 1984, A., Hawkins, Mr. J., 198 Haydin, Joseph, Bombet, 198, Carpani, 14, Nobl., 18, Pohl, 198, Townsend, 188 Head, P. K., Sc. Poynter, E. J., and Hoad, 1988, 1989, Poynter, E. J., and

Head, G. Healy, G. P. A. See Modern French masters, 2, Heathcote, W. E., trans. 200 Hauptmann, 64.

Heaton, 17 . C., 23.
Hebrew music, Arends, 66, Saalschutz, 62-61; 22. Reissmann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 23.
heine Geschichte der Musik, 23.

Hebrew poetry. See Hutchinson, Music of the Bible, 48.

Heristz, A., 67. Herbig, W., 7, and Lanciani, 7. Helmholtz, H. L. F., 67.77; see also Broadhouse, th.

Hemans, C. I., 27. Henderson, W. J., 88, 72. Heraldry. See Boutell, Arms and armour, 40. Hermann, Sor Mendel, Hermann, and Reissmann, A. 76. Hermits, legends of early—So. Jameson, Sacred and legendary art, 20. Heron-Allen, E., &.

Hervey, A., es. Herzogenberg. See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, es. Hinti, C., 28.

Hidt, C., es. Hiddebrand, H., so. Hidt, Emily, trave. See Karasowski, es., Elterlein, 71. Hipkins, A. J., 87; cor vivo Day, Music and musical instruments of Southern India and the Deccan, 61-62. Hispano-Moresco ware, Fortnum, so. Histoire d'un dessinateur, Violiet-le-

Duc, 6-17. Histoire d'une maison, Viollet-ie-Duc, 47.

Historical art. See Hamerton, Man-Instorical art. See Hamerton, Man in art, 24; Dargenty, Baron Gros, 21; value of seals in, we Lecoy de la Marche, Les sceaux, 27 interest of, we Mackin, Monumental brasses, 28; we also Military painting.

History, verification of ancient, Gardner, New chapters in Greek history, 5; inseparable from fine art, Maspero, Dawn of civilization,

History of our Lord as exemplified in works of art, Jameson, 26.

Hitchcock, J. R. W., es.
Boeber, A. See Modern French
masters, 20. Hofmann

See Fuller-Maitland, Mas-Hofmann occident ters of German music, 64 Hofmeister. See Beethoven. Hogarth, G., 57.

William, Dobson, 22; 320 Hogarth, Phillips, Antoine Watteau, or enstein, M. da. Nor Jaccac a. → Phillip Hohenstein, See Jaccaci. Italian posters and music-book cov-

Holbein, Hans, Cundall, . . Mantz, S. Holland, old masters of, Fromentin, 2.; figure painters of, Gower, 2.; art of, Havard, 25; 100 also Dutch art of, Havao, es, see as school of art.

Holmes, E. e.g., 72.
Holmes, Rachel S. R., and Holmes, Eleanor, princ. No Berlioz, 6;
H. mer, W. Nee Smith, American

Homer, W 3

Homeric antiquities, Seymour, 12 Homeric poems and recent discover-ies. No. Gardner, New chapters of ies. So Gardner, New chapters of Greek history, s. Homes, Jajanese, Morse, of in city and country, 251 no acco-Domestic architecture

Hope, R. C., 65. Hopes and tears for art, Morris, 9, 51.

Hopkins, V. A., ed So Vasari, Lives of painters, 1; Hopkins, E. J., and Rimbault, E. F.,

Horace, country of, Boissier, 3.

Hottenroth, F., so. Houses, Sturgis, 46; Gentleman's, Keir, 42; country, Mitchell, 43; suburban, Price, 44; western city, Root, 45; eastern and southern city, Sturgts, 46; Illistoire d'une maison, Viollet-le-Dia, 47; interior decora-tion of, see Blane, Grammaire des arts decoratits, 49. See also mestic architecture.

moste architecture,
How to listen to music, Krehbiel, 76.
Howe, W. H. See Modern French
masters, 26.
Hueffer, F., trans. See Wagner,
Correspondence of Wagner and Liszt, 68.

Human figure (The), Brücke, 18. Hummel, piano methodsot. See Kul-

Humphreys, 11, N., 25.

500 Liszt. Des Hungarian music. Bohemiens et de leur musique en

Boltomiens et de leur musique en Hongrie, és
Hunt, H. G. B. 55-56.
Hunt, W. M. 25; ser also Transactions of the National Association for the Advancement of Art, 53.
Hunting in the Middle Ages in France. See Viollet-le-Duc, Dictionnaire raisonné du mobilier Françaises.

Français, Hurll, Estelle, ed. See Jameson, Sacred and legendary art, 26,

Huss, G. M., 42. Hutchinson, E., 57. Hutton, L. See Clement, C. E., and Hutton, 14. Hymns of Dionysius and Mesomedes, Bellerman, to; see also Galilei, 57, Williams, or.

Iconography, Christian. See Perate, L'archeologie Chrétienne, 10; Clement, Handbook of Christian symment, Handbook of Christian symbols and stories of the saints, 19; Didron, Manuel d'iconographie Chrètienne, 22; Farrar, Life of Christ as represented in art, 22; Hemans, History of mediæval Christianty and sacred art, 25; Höptner, Heiligen in der Christlichen Kunst, 25; Jameson, Sacred and legendary art, 26; Lindsay, Sketches of the history of Christian art, 27

Ideal in art. See Taine, Lectures on art, 13. Ideality in Greek art. See Harrison, Introductory studies in Greek art, Illuminated manuscripts. See Manuscripts.

Serints, Sturgis, 36; modern, Pennell, 31; American of to-day, Cottin, 19; see also Black and white Cottin, 10; see also black and white work, Book-illustration.

Illustrators, American, Smith, 35; French, Morin, 30; see also Blackburn, Randolph Caldecott, 17! Layard, Life and letters of Charles ard, Life and letters of Chaires Samuel Keene, 27.

Illyria, coast of. Sec Freeman, Sketches from the subject and neighborlands of Venice, 41.

Imagination in landscape painting,

Hamerton, 24. Imitative art, Dyer, 5.

Impressionism, Sturgis, 36; see also Hamerton, Present state of the fine art of France, 7, Thomson, Corot, Impressionists. See Lecomte, L'art impressionniste, 27; Beckwith, Edouard Manet, 16; Child, Art and criticism, 18.

Impressions and opinions, Moore, 21. India, industrial arts of, Birdwood, Indian aichitecture, domestic, De Forest, 39-40; history of, Fergusson, 41; famous monuments of, Griffin, 41; see also Le Bon, Les monuments de l'Inde, 42.

Indian music and musical instru-ments, Day, 61-62; see also Reiss-mann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 56.

Indians, American. See American Indians

Indo-Chinese art, De Pouvourville, 4; we also Chinese art. Industrial arts of Japan, Dresser, 5; of India, Birdwood, 49; historical of India, Birdwood, 491; Instorical sketches of, Evans, 491; of Scandinavia in the pagan time, Hildebrand, 501 of Spain, Riaho, 521 of Denmark, Worsaue, 53. See also Ruskin, Two paths, 12; Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52. Indy, d'. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64. Inigo, T. See Blomfield, R., and Inigo, T. See Blomfield, R., and Inigo, 39. ia, royal, noble, and clerical. Lecoy de la Marche, Les sceaux, 27 Instrumental music, heginnings of, see

Reissmann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 56; history of in the xvi. century, Wasielewski, 59.

Instrumentation, Prout, 70; and or-chestration, modern, Berlioz, 69; new treatise upon, Gevaert, 69. Instruments, musical. See Musical instruments.

Intaglio. See Gems, Seals.
Intellectual life (The), Hamerton, 6. Isham, N. M., and Brown, A. F., 42. Isham, S. See Modern French masters, 29. Istria, Dalmatia, and the Quarnero,

Jackson, 42.
Italian architecture, Melani, 43: in the Middle Ages. Boito, 39; from the vt. to the xt. century, Cattaneo, 30; French origins of Gothie in. En-

30; French origins of Gothic in. Enlart, 40; cyclopædia of, Longfellow, 43; see also Freeman, Historical sketches, 41; also Renaissance. Italian art. Etudes sur les beaux arts en France et Italie, Delahorde, 4; Kunst u. Künstler des Mittelalters u. der Neuzeit, Dohme, 5; Arti Italiana del Rinascimento, Frizzoricis Arti del desegno i Italia. ni, 5; Artı del desegno in Italia, Paravacini, 10, Selvatico, 12, Sel-vatico and Chirtani, 12; philosophy of, see Taine, Lectures on art, 13; Venetian and Florentine painters Venetian and Florentine painters of the Renaissance, Berenson, 17; bistory of painting in Italy, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20, Lanzi, 27; painting in Italy, Burckhardt, 18; Peinture Italienne, Lafenestre, 27; Geschichte der Italienischen Malerei, Lübke, 28; histoire de la peinture en Italie, Stendhal, 35; see also Rio, L'art Chrétien, 33; also Italy, Renaissance. Renaissance.

Italian costume, Sae Bonnard, Costumes historiques des 12e-15e siècles, Italian gardens, Platt, 44.

Italian music, history of, Brendel, Geschichte der Musik in Italien, Deutschland u. Frankreich, 55; present state of, Burney, 50-57; and opera, Hogarth, 57; masters of, Streatfeild, 66; Rossini and modern, Edwards, 64. Italian pottery. See Fortnum, Maiolica, 50.

Italian sculpture, Perkins, 31.
Italy, Country of Horace and Virmultiple of Byzanmultiple of Byzan-Italia, Country of Horace and Virgil, Borssier, 3; influence of Byzantine art in, see Bayet, L'art Byzantin, 3, Byzantine art in southern, Diehl, 4; La Grand-Grèce, Lenormant, 8. See also Italian art, etc., Renaissance.

Ireland, early architecture of. See Waring, Stone monuments, 14.

Irish music, Walker, 63.

Isawa, S., 62. I., and Lütsh, G. O., 62. Istomin, Th. M., and Lütsh, G. O., 62. Istomin, Th. M., and Lütsh, G. O., 62. Isomin, I., and Lütsh, G. O., 62. Isomin, M., and Lütsh, G. O., 62. Isomin, In the South Kensington Museum, Maskell, 51.

Jaccaci, A., 25. Jackson, J., 25-26. Jackson, T. G., 42.

Jadassohn, S., 70. Jade. See Paleologue, L'art Chinois,

Jaennick, F., 50-51. Jahn, O., 64. James, Henry, 7. James, R. N., 14. Jameson, Wrs. A., 26. Janotha, Natatie, trans. See Kleezynski, 72. Janus, C., ed. See Musici Scriptores Græci, 60.

Japan, architecture, art, and art of manufactures of, Dresser, 5; artist's letters from, La Farge, 7. Japanese art. Dresser, 5, Gonse, 6, Jarves, 7, Sturgis, 13; see also De Pouvouville, L'art Indo-Chinois, 4.

See also Japan.

Japanese homes and their surround-

Japanese nonce and ings, Morse, 9.
Japanese music, Isawa, 62.
Japanese picture-books, reproductions from. See Jarves, Glimpse of the from. See Jarves, Glimpse of the art of Japan, 7. Japanese prints. See Anderson, Japanese wood-engravings, 16.

Japanese wood-engravings, Anderson, 16. Jarves, J. J., 7.

Jesso, processes in. See Lilley and Midgeley, Studies in plant form, 51.

Jewitt, L., 7. Jewitt, L., 7. Joachim. See Fuller-Maitland, Mas-Joachim, See Fuller-Maitle ters of German music, 64.

John of Rologna, Desjardins, 21. John of Douai. See Desjardin ohn of Donai. See Desjardins, La vie et l'œuvres de Jean Bologne, 21 Johnson's universal cyclopædia. See Emerson, A., 5; Helbig, W., and Lanciani, R., 7; Sturgis, 12, 46, 53. Joncieres. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64.

Jones, H. S., 26. Jones, Inigo, and Wren, Loftie, 43.

Journals, musical, list of, 73.
Jubilee singers, Marsh, 62.
Judæa, history of ancient art in, see
Perrot and Chipiez, 11. Jullien, A., 67-68. Justi, K., 26.

Kade, O. See Ambros, Geschichte der Musik, 55. Kalkbrenner, piano methods of. See Kullak, 70. Kandler, F. S., 64. Karasowski, M., 65.

Karasowski, M., 65.
Karoly, K., 26.
Keane, A. H., trans. See Justi, Diego
Velasquez and his time, 26.
Keene, C. S., Layard, 27; see also
Moore, Modern painting, 30; Spielman, History of Punch, 35.
Keller, A. See Villemarqué, 63.

Kerr, R., 42; reviser, see Fergusson, History of the modern styles of ar-Chitecture, 40-41.

Kiesewetter, R. G., 56, 58, 60, 62; and Fétis, 58; see also Prefatory note, 54.

Kingsley, E. See Smith, American illustrators, 35. Kirchner. See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, 64.

Kistler, C. See Fuller-Maitland,
Masters of German music, 64.

Klauser, K., ed. See Paine, 65. Kleczynski, J., 72. Knotting. See Walker, Varied occupations in stringwork, 53.

Koehler, S. R., 7, 26; see also Buxton, English painters, 31.
Köhler, piano method of. See Kul-

Krehbiel, H. E., 58, 68, 70. Kreissle, H. von, 65. Kretzschmar, H., 72.

Kufferath, M., 68. Kuhnau, See Rimbault, Pianoforte,

Kullak, A., 70. Kullak, T. See Kullak, A., 70.

Lefebure, Broderies et dentelles, 51; history of, Palliser, 52; history, description, manufacture, bibliography, see Seguin, Le den-binnoglaphy, see Segun, Le dentelle, 53.

Lacquer, Sturgis, 53; Japanese, see Gonse, L'art Japonais, 6; Chinese, see Paléologue, L'art Chinois, 10.
La Farge, J., 7, 27.
Lafenestre, G., and Richtenberger,

E., 27. Lalor, J. J., trans. See Nohl, 65. La Mara (Marie Lipsius), 72.

Lambillotte, L., 65. Lamennais. See Rio, Epilogue à l'art Chretien, 33.

Lampadius, W. A., 65.
Lancelotti Palace, the disc-thrower, in. See Collignon, Histoire de la in. See Collignon, 115001, Sculpture Greeque, 19.

Lanciani, R., 7-8, and Helbig, 7, and Ramsay, 11.
Landscape gardening, Parsons, 44; see also Blomfield and Inigo, Formal garden in England, 39; Platt, Italian gardens, 44; Robinson, Garden design, 44-45

Sen design, 44-45.
Landscape painting, Couture, Paysage, 20, Hamerton, 24, see also Pronst, L'art Français, in, Ruskin, Harbours of England, 33; before Claude and Salvator, Gilbert, 23; introduction of, in the Flemish introduction of, in the Flemish school, see Michel, Etudes sur l'histoire de l'art, 29.

Landscapes, architecture in relation to. See Statham, Architecture for general readers, 46.

general readers, 46.
Landseer, Sir E. See Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36.
Lane, E. W., 8.
Lang, B. J. See Jullien, 67.
Langhans, W., 56.
Lanzi, 4666 L., 29.
Larousse, P. See Clement, F., and Larousse, 73.
Lau, T., 81.

Lau, T., 51. Laugel, A., 8.

aurens, Jean-Paul, Blashfield, 17 Lawn planting. See Parsons, Land-scape gardening, 44. Laws of Fesole, Ruskin, 34.

Layard, G. S., 27. Leadwork, old and ornamental and Leaswork, oid and ornamental and for the most part English, Lethaby, W. R., 51.

Leaf, Dr. See Schuchhardt, Schliemann's excavations, 12.

Le Bon, Gustave, 42.

Lechevallier-Chevignard, E., 8.

Lecomte, G., 27. Lecoy de la Marche, A., 27.

Lectures and essays, Seeley, 12. Lectures and lessons on art, Moody, 9.

Lectures on architecture and painting, Ruskin, 12.

RUSKIII, 12.
Lectures on art, Ruskin, 12, Taine, 13,
Poynter, 31, Scott, 53.
Lectures on painting, Lafarge, 27.
Leech, J. See Spielman, History of Punch, 35.
Lefebure F. 5.

Lefebure, E., 51. Lefort, P., 27. Legendary and mythological art, handbook of, Clement, 19. Legends, of the Madonna, Jameson, 26; of the monastic orders, Jameson, 26; of the paintings of Florence, see Florence, 26; of the Wagner drama, Weston, 68.

egros. See Wedmore, Etching in England, 37. Leighton, Sir F., Rhys, 52; see also Bell, Sir Edward Burne-Jones, 17. Lemonnier, H., 8. Lemoyne, See Mantz, François Bou-

Lenoyne. See Mantz, François Duu-cher, Lemoyne et Natoire, 28. Lenormant, F., 8, 27. Lenox Library. See Musici Scriptores Græci, 60, Walker, 63; also Drexel collection.

Lenz, W. de, 72. Leonardo da Vinci, Richter, 33, Rio, 33; see also Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36

Leoncavallo, See Streatfeild, Masters of Italian music, 66. Lethaby, W. R., 8, 51, and Swainson, Levant, architecture of the.

Longfellow, Cyclopædia of works Longieriow, Cyclopacia of Architecture, 43.
Lewis, T. H., and Street, G. E., 42.
Leys, H. See Blanc, Artistes de mon

temps, 3. Lievre, E. See Mantz, Hans Holbein,

Lilley, A. E. V., and Midgley, W.,

Lindsay, Lord, 27, Linn, W. A., 25, 43.

Linton, W. J.,

Lipsius, Marie. - ar La Mara, Liszt, Franz, ez 65, Nobl., e., Ra mann, ob. werature. See Roman literatur. Literature. Lithography, Bouchot, 17, Sturges, 36; examples of chromos, see Fiet herr, Bookbinding in England and rance, 40-50 Little masters (The), Scott, 3: Liturgical chants, See Chants, Loan associations, building and, Linn, Loggi dei Lanzi, at Florence, measured and pictorial drawings of. Rohault de Fleury, La Toscane au

Moyen Age, 45.
London, architecture in, see Lottic, Inigo Jones and Wren, 43.

Ingo Jones and Wren, 43. London city churches, Danuell, 70. Longfellow, W. P. P., ed., 43. Longman, W., 43. L'Orme, Philibert de, Vachon, 46. Lorrain, Claude. See Claude Lor-rain, Lotto, Lorenzo, Berenson, 17. Louis XII. Nec De Laborde, La Re-naissance à la cour de France, 14.

Louvre, catalogue of paintings in the. Louvre, catalogue of paintings in the, Lafenestre and Richtenberger, 27; pictures in the square room of the, Gruyer, 23; sculpture in the, Clarac, 19, Courajod, 20; see also De Pouvourville, L'art Indo-Chinois, 4. Low, Will H., 9, 25; see also Modern French masters, 29, Smith, American illustrators, 25 ican illustrators, 35.

Lübke, W., 8, 28.
Lully. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, 50.
Lupton, T. See Ruskin, Harbours of England, 33.

Lutes, Vidal, Lutherie et lutiers, 50. Lutish, G. O. See Istomin, Th. M., and Lütsh, 62. Luxembourg Museum, Benedite, 17; fountain by Carpeaux in gardens of, see Chesneau, Le statuaire J. B.

Carneaux, 18.

Carpeaux, 18.
Lycia, history of ancient art in. See
Perrot and Chipiez, 11.
Lydia, history of ancient art in. See
Perrot and Chipiez, 11.
Lynch. See Morin, French illustrators, 30.

Lyon, I. W., 51.
Lyncal drama, Edwards, H. S., 71:
see also Celler, Les origines de l'opera et le ballet de la reine, 57.

McClure, M. L., trans. See Maspero,

Dawn of civilization, 9. IcClure's Magazine. See Low, 28.

Macfarren, G. A., 56. Macgibbon, D., 43, and Ross, T., 43. Mackenzie. See Willeby, Masters of English music, 62.

Macklin, Rev. H. W., 28.
Madonna, Raphael's paintings of,
Karoly, 26, see also Cartwright,
Raphael, 18; legends of, Jameson,

Magazines, Century and St. Nicholagazines, Century and M. Meho-las, see Century gallery, 18; Cen-tury, see Modern French masters, 29; McClure's, see Low, A century of painting, 28; Punch, see Modern painting, Moore, G., 39, Spielman, History of Punch, 35; Seethore's, see Coffin, American illustrations of to-day and A word about painting.

Magrepha of the Talmud (The) Sadschutz, Geschichte u. V Saalschutz, Geschichte u. Wurdi-gung der Musik bei den Hebraern, Magyar music. See Liszt, Des Bohemens et de leur musique en Hongrie, 62.

Mandron, G. R. M., 51.

Maiolica ware, Forthum, 5.
Man in art, Hamerton, 21
Manatt, J. 1., trans. See Tsountas.

Mancinelli, See Streatfeild, Masters of Italian music, or.

Mandyczewski, E., comprier
Nottebolim, 65.

Manet, Edonard. Beckwith, 16: 500

a. Bacon, Parisian art and artists, re, Lecomte, L'art impressionniste, Mangeant, P. E., 18 Mantz, P., 195 war also Proust, Uart Français, 11.

Manutactures and art. See Industrial arts.

Manuscripts, decoration of, See Lefort, Spanish painting, 27; painting of in medicival times, see Propert, History of miniature art, 32; illu-

History of miniature art, 323 illuminated, Middleton, 51.

Maps and plans, of Rome and Pompeti, 527 Boissier, Country of Horace and Virigil, 32 of Rome, 522 Dennie, Rome of to-day and vesterday, 43 of Egypt, 522 Petrie, Ten years digging in Egypt, 133 classical and ancient, 522 Harper's Dictionary of classical literature and antiquities, 143 descriptive, 522 Billings, Architectural illustrations, 30, Gaithabaud, Monuments ancients et modernes, 433 of Indian buildings, 522 Le Bon, Les monuments de l'Inde, 423 of Tuscan mediaval cities, 522 Rohault de Fleury, La Toscane au Moyen Age, 433 of mediaval church Woyen Age, 4516 mediaval churches in Spain, see Street, Some account of Gothic architecture in Spain, 461 of Denmark, previous to 1665, see Worsaae, Industrial arts of rhbb, see Worsaae, Industrial arts of Denmark, 53.

Marble, brick and, in the Middle Ages, Street, 40.
Marridin, G. E. See Smith, Sir W., Wayte, W., and Marindin, 15.
Marks and stamps, geramic, see Jaen-nicke, Grundriss der Keramik in Bezing auf die Kunstrewerbe, zoe Bezug auf das Kunstgewerbe, 50; of armor-smiths, see Maindron, Les armes, 51.

armes, 51.
Marquand, A., 43, and Frothingham,
A. L., 58.
Marryat, J., 51.
Marsh, J. B. T., 62.
Marshall, H. R., 8.
Martha, Jules, 8.
Martha, Jules, 8.
Marthi, Pichic, See Artenga, Le revoluzioni del teatro musicale

Italiano, 56, Marx, A. B., 65, Marx, R., 28,

Mascagni. See Stream of Italian music, 66. Soc Streatfeild Masters

Maskell, Alfr., 8. Maskell, W., 51. Mason, G. C., 28.

Mason, G. C., 28. Maspero, G., 8-2. Massenet. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64.

Masterpieces, of great artists, 1409– 1700, Bell, 171 of the art of the xix, century, De Lostalot, 21, De Wyzewa, 22, Gonse, 23, Lefort, 27, Michel, 2810f Greek sculpture, Furt-wingher as wängler, 23.

Master-singers of Nüremberg, Wagattempt at a musical explanation, Heintz, 67; Instorical sources of, Wagenseil, 68.

Masters, old Dutch and Flemish, Cole, 13, Fromentin, 22, old Italian, Cole, 15; the little, Scott, 35.

Masters and masterpieces of engraying, Chapin, r Masters of English music, Willeby,

Masters of French music, Hervey, 64

Masters of German music, Fulier-Maitland, 64 Masters of Italian music, Streatfeild, Mathews, C. T., 45; Mathews, W. S. B., 52; Mattheson, or Rimbault, 5) Matthew, J. E., trans. See Pougin,

Mazarin, l'tiides d'art et d'histoire de l'art. Français au temps de Riche-heu et Mazarin, Lemonnier, 8

Medallions, See Saunier, Augustin Dupre, 34.
Medals. New Lenormant, Monnates et medailles, 27; see also Coms,

Medieval architecture, in Italy, sec ledieval architecture, in Italy, see Boito, Architettura del medio evo in Italia, 30; optical refinements in, Goodyear, 41; huldings of, see Gailhabaud, Monuments anciens et modernes, 41; rise and develop-ment of, Scott, 45; cathedrals and churches of, in Spain, see Street, Some account of Gothic architect-ture in Spain, see Street, ure in Spain, 46; influence of popular life upon, see Viollet-le-Due, Histoire d'un hôtel de ville et d'une cathedrale, 47. Mediæval arms and armour, Boutell,

40. Hediæval art, Menard, 6; Kunst u. Kûnstler des Mittelalters u. der Neuzeit, Dohme, 5; Roman and, Goodyear, 6; schools of, Owen, 10; Goodyear, 6; schools ot, Owen, 10; Kunstgeschichte des Mittelalters, Reber, 44; see also Didron, Manu-el d'iconographie Chrétien, 22; Woltmann and Woermann, History of painting, 37; Maskell, Descrip-tion of ivories in South Kensington Museum, st.

Mediæval Christianity, Hemans, 25.
Mediæval costume, Demay, 40
Mediæval music, Hope, R. C., 60.
Meissonier, and the Salon Julien.
See Moore, Impressions and opin-

Meistersinger (Die). See Master-singers of Nüremberg, Benoit, 67, Heintz, 67, Wagenseil, 68. Melani, A. O., 43, 51. Menard, R., 9.

Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, Felix, Lampadius, 65; see also Bitter, Beitrage zur Geschichte des Oratoriums, 66.

Menestrel (Le), 73. Menta. See Jaccaci, Italian posters,

Merson, O., 43. Merulo, See Winterfeld, Johannes

Merulo, See Winterfeld, Johannes Gabrieli, 59. Mesnard, L., 28. Mesomedes, hymns of, Bellermann, 63; see also Galilei, Dialogo della musica antica e della moderne, 57; Williams, Music of the ancient Greeks, 61.

Mesopotamia, art in. See Tarbell,

Mesopotamia, art in. See Tarbell, History of Greek art, 13.
Metal work, Sturgis, 53; oriental, see Babelon, Archéologie Orientale, 2; Russian, see Maskell, Russian art, 8; engraved, see Russin, Ariadne Florentina, 34; loan collection of plate in Fitzwilliam Museum, Foster and Atkinson, 50.
Metaphysics of art. See Marshall.

Metaphysics of art. See Marshall, Æsthetic principles, 8.

Metapontum, See Lenormant, La Grand-Grèce, 8.

Metre, nature of harmony and,

Hauptmann, 69. Metropolitan Museum. See La Farge, Considerations on painting, 27; collection of musical instruments in, see Brown and Brown, 61.

Meyerbeer. See Apthorp, Musicians and music-lovers, 70.

Michaelis, A., 43. Michaelis, A., 28; see also Proust, L'art

Français, 11. Michel, E., 28-29.

Michelangelo, life of, Grimm, 6, Har-ford, 7, Symonds, 13, Wilson, 14, Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36, see also Story, Excursions in art and letters, 13; relation between Tintoret and, Ruskin, 34; works of, see Goodyear, Roman and mediæval art, 6. Michiels, A., 29. Middle Ages. See Mediæval art, architecture, costume, Music.

Middleton, J. H., o, 20, 43, 51; sec also Morris and Middleton, 44.

Midgley, W. See Lilley, A. E. V.,

and Midgley, 51.

Milan, history of painting in, from xiv.-xvi. century, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20.

Miltary architecture. See Essenwein, Die Romanische und die Gothische Baukunst, 40; in Scotland, Macgib-bon and Ross, 431 civil and, see Ro-hault de Fleury, La Toscane au Moyen Age, 45. Military painting, history of, Alexandre, 16.

Millais, Nir John, Chesneau, 18.
Millet, F. D., o.
Millet, Jean François, Cartwright, 18.
Sensier, 35; see also De Lostalot,
Chef d'couvres de l'art au xix, siècle, 21; the peasant in the work of, Roger-Miles, 33. Millington, E. J. See Didron, 22.

Miniature painting, history of art of,

Propert, 32.
Ministry of fine art to the happiness of life, Gambier, 5.
Minor decorative arts (department),

Mitchell, D. G., 25, 43.

Mitchell, J. A., 9. Mitchell, Lucy L., 29. Modelling in wax. S

See Propert, History of miniature art, 32 Modern Frenchmen, Hameiton, 4.

Modern painters, Ruskin, 33.

Modern painting, Moore, 30. Modern poster (The), 20.

Mohammedan architecture, see Franz-Pascha, Die Baukunst des Islam, 4t, Smth and Slater, Architecture, classical and early Christian, 46; de-velopment of Byzantine art in, see Violet-le-Duc, L'art Russe, 14.

Mollet, J. W., 29. Molmenti, P. G., 0, 29. Monastic orders, legends of, Jameson, Monatsshefte fur Musikgeschichte,

Mondonville, de. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, 59. [onet. See Lecomte, L'art impressionniste, 27. Money. See Coins.

Monkhouse, Cosmo, ed. See Heaton, Concise history of painting, 25. Monodic style, see Galilei, Dialogo della musica antica e della moderne, 57: Kiesewetter, Schicksale u. Be-schaffenheit des Weltlichen Gesanges, 58. Monteverde, See Kiesewetter, Schicklichen Gesanges, 58.

Iont Saint-Michel, description de

Mont

Mont Saint-Michel, description de l'abbaye de, Corroyer, 30.
Monumental brasses, Macklin, 28.
Monuments, of ancient Athens, Harrison, 7. English, see Jewitt, Half-hours among some Eng. antiquities, 7; of Cairo, Poole, 11; stone, tumuli, and ornaments, Waring, 14; ancient and modern, Gailhabaud, 41; of Central India, Griffin, 41; of India, Le Bon, 42; lists of, see Hamlin, History of architecture, 41; of many epochs, see Havard, La France, 42; of Constantinople, see Grosvenor, Constantinople, 6. Constantinople, 6.

Monvel, M. Bontet de, Low, 28. Moody, F. W., 9. Moore, A., Baldry, 16; see also Bell, Sir Edward Burne-Jones, 17.

Moore, C. H., 29, 43-44. Moore, Geo., 29-30. Mora da Hohenstein. See Jaccaci, Italian posters, 25. Morelli, Domenico, Willard, 37.

Morelli, G., 30. Morgan, J. P., trans. See Richter, 70. Morgan, Mrs. J. P., trans. See Rubinstein, 50.

Morland, G., Richardson, 33.
Morland, G., Richardson, 33.
Mornings in Florence, Ruskin, 34.
Morris, William, 9, 51; cd., 51, and binstein, 66.

Morris, William, 9, 51; c.t., 51; and Middleton, 30, 44. Morse, E. S., 9; see also Brooks, Old-

Moschels, I., s.d. See Mohammedan archi-

Mount-Edgecumbe, Earl of, 58. Mozart, Holmes, 64, John, 64, Nohl, 65, Culibischeff, 65, see acce Bombes, Life of Haydn, 63; Don Giovanni of, Gounod, 64; story of Mozart's requiem, Pole, 66. uffat. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, Muffat.

Muirhead, J. I., trans. See Helbig, Guide to the public collections of classical antiquities in Rome, 7.

Müller, H. A., 15. Munich Gallery. See Morelli, Italian painters, 30.

Miintz, Eug., 9-10, 30, 44, 52.
Mural decoration, Morris and Middleton, 44. Mural painting, Crowninshield, 20-21; lural painting, Crowninshield, 2c-21; De Champeaux, Histoire de peinture décorative, 21, Morris and Middleton, 30; Greek, see Murray, Handbook, 10; in Boston Public Library, Fenollosa, 22; see also Havard, L'œuvre de P. V. Galland, 25, Cox, Puvis de Chavannes, Paul Baudry, co. See also Frescoes, Wall-painting, Tempera.

Murillo. See Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36. Murray, A. S., 10, 30; see also Collig-non, 4. Murray, C. F. See Cole, Old Italian

Muschhauser. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, 59.

Music, 73. Music (department), 54-74.

Music (department), 54-74.

Music, Parry, 72, Banister, 73; guide to the study of, Dickinson, 55; his tory of, Ambros, 55, Brendel, 55, Brney, 55, Forkel, 55, Hawkins, 55; Henderson, 55, Hunt, 55-56, Kiesewetter, 56, Langhans, 56, Nacfarren, 56, Naumann, 56, Rockstro, 56, Wasielewski, 50; present state of, Burney, 56-57; olden time, Brooks, 57; ancient, Arends, 60; ancient and modern, Galifei, 57; ancient and mational, Engel, 62; Shakespeare and, Naylor, 58; religious poetry and church, Schietterer, 59; primitive, Wallalor, 58; religious poetry and church, Schletterer, 59; primitive, Wallaschek, 63; essays upon, Gretry, 64; structure of, Gow, 66; beautiful in, Hanslick, 69; how to listen to, Krehbel, 70; philosophy of, Pole, 70; studies in worship-, Curwen, 70-71; studies in modern, Hadow, 71; five years of, Hanslick, 71; purity in, Thibaut, 72; cyclopædias of, Champlin and Apthorp, 73, Mendel and Reissmann, 73; dictionaries of, Clement and Larousse, 73, Grove, 73, Stainer and Barrett, 73. See also Concerts, Folk-music, Musicians, instruments, Musicians, 73. See also Concerts, A on Musical Musical instruments, Musicans, Opera, Oratorios, Song; for music of special countries, see name of special countries, see page Brit. country, as, American music, Brit-ish music, English music, French music, etc.

Music dealers, catalogues of, 74. Music of the Bible, Stainer, 61. Musical acoustics, Broadhouse, 60. Musical testhetics, a study in, Ambros, 69; contribution to the revival of, Hanslick, 69.

Musical biography (department), 63. Musical Courter, 73. Musical criticism and analysis (department), 70-72. Musical drama, Schure, 68.

Musical form, theory and practice of, Cornell, 60, Prout, 70. Musical instruments, Engel, 57;

Musical instruments, Engel, 57; French of the Middle Ages, see Viollet-le-Duc, Dictionnaire rai-French of the Middle Ages, see Viollet-le-Duc, Dictionnaire raisonné du mobilier Français, 53; played with a bow, Heron-Allen, De fidiculis bibliographia, 57, Vidal, Les instruments à archet, 59, see also Vidal, Lutherie et lutiers, 50; Wasielewski, Geschichte der Instrumentalmusik, 59. See also names of instruments, as, Lutes, Organ, Pianoforte, Violin, Violoncello.

Musical science and æsthetics (department), 60-70.

partment), 69-70. Musical sketches abroad and at home,

Ella, 71.
Musical Standard, 73.
Musical terms, dictionary of, Stainer and Barrett, 73.

Musical Times, 73, see also Engel,

Musici Scriptores Græci, 60.

Musicans, roll of names of, see Macfarren, Musical history, 56; and music-lovers, Apthorp, 70; thoughts of great, La Mara, 72; music and, Schumann, 72; cyclopædia of music and, Champlin and Apthorp, 73, dict. of, Grove, 73. See also for collected and individual lives of musicians, Biography (department),

Musikalisches skizzenbuch, Hanslick,

Musikalische stationen, Hanslick, 71. Musikalisches Wochenblatt, 73.

Muther, R., 30. Muzarabic chant. See Paleographie

Musicale, 58.
Mycenæan age (The), Tsountas, 13;
see also Perrot and Chipicz, Histoire de l'art dans l'antiquité, 11.

Myrbach, de. See Morin, French ilhysticism in architecture, Lethaby, 8, see also Ruskin, Aratra Pentelici, 33734; in art, see Gilchrist, Life of William Blake, 23. See also Symbolism.

Naples Museum, the spear-bearers in. See Cellignon, Histoire de la sculpture Grecque, 19.

Nation (The). See Coffin, 3, Hiatt,

25, Morin, 30. National Association for the Advancement of Art and its Application to Industry, transactions of, 53. National Gallery, popular handbook of, Cook, 10; new pictures in, see Moore, Impressions and opinions, National music, felk-song and, (department), 61-63. National music, introduction to the study of, Engel, 62. atoire. See Mantz, François Bou-cher, Lemoyne, and Natoire, 28. Natoire.

Naumann, E., 56.
Naylor, E. W., 58.
Nederlandsche Instituut van Wetenschafen. See Kiesewetter and Fetis, Verhandelingen, 58.

Needlework, as an art, Alford, 48; dictionary of, Caulfeild and Saward, 49; Lefebure, Broderies et dentelles, 51; in collection of church vestments, South Kensington Museum, see Rock, 52. See also Tapestry. Neitzel, O., 72.

Nes-Germanic school. See Brendel, Geschichte der Musik, 55. Netherlands, art in the, Dohme, Kunst

Neurenands, art in the, Donnier, Kunier, W. Künstler des Mittelalters u. der Neuzeit, 5; Taine, Lectures on art, 13; see also Alexandre, Ecole Flamande et Hollandaise, 15; Cole, Old Dutch and Flemish masters, 19; Fromentin, Old masters of Belgium and Holland, 22.

Netherlands, music in the, Kiesewetter and Fetis, Verbandelingen, 57; see also Reissmann, Allegemeine Geschichte der Musik, 56; present state of, Burney, 56-57. etting. See Walker, Varied occu-Netting.

pations in stringwork, 53. Nettleship, H., ed. See Seyflert, 15. Neue Akademie der Jonkunst. Se Langhans, History of music, 56.

Neville, R., 44. New England, colonial furniture of, New England, colonial Jurniture of, Lyon, 51; early history of music in, see Breoks, Olden time music, 56; nusical culture in, see Perkins and Dwight, History of the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston, 58. Newberry Lihrary, musical depart-ment. See Prefatory note, 55. Newhall, B., trans. See Tsountas,

Newman, E., 65. Newman, Miss S. E. See Fletcher, Study of Omaha Indian music, 62. Newmarch, Rosa, trans. See Deiters, Nibelungen Lied; see Ring of the Nibelung, Dippold, 67, Wolzogen,

Nickerson, M. P., trans. See Gonse,

L'art Japonais, 6. Nicodé. See Fuller-Maitland, Mas-ters of German music, 64.

Nicomachus, on music; see Musici Scriptores Grieci, 60.

Niecks, F., 65. Niggli, life of Schubert by. See Frost,

Niggi, the of schubert, e4.

Nimes, buildings of the Roman times and Middle Ages in. See Macgibbon, Architecture of Provence and the Riviera, 43.

Nobl. 16

Nohl, L., 65. Normans, Freeman, 41. Norton, C. E., 10, see also Ruskin, 12,

Notation, historical stories of, Riemann, so Notes of travel and study in Italy,

Norton, 10. Nottebohm, G., 65, sec also Ambros, Geschichte der Musik, 55; ed., sec Geschiente ac. Beethoven, é3.

Numismatics.

Nuremberg, city of, Wagenseil, 68.

Offenhach. See Apthorp, Musicians and music-lovers, and music-rovers, 70. Id masters, Dutch and Flemish, Cole, 19; Italian, Cole, 19; of Bel-gium and Holland, Fromentin, 22. Olden time music, Brooks, 50

Olympia, discoveries at, see Gardner, New chapters in Greek history, 5; sculpture of the temple of Zeusee Collignon, Histoire de la sculpture Grecque, 19

Opera, Streatfe ld, 72, Upton, 72; history of, Fink, 57, see also Schletterer, Las Deutsche Singspiel, 59, beginnings of, Celler, 57, see also Kiesenings of, Celler, 57, see also Kiese-wetter, Schicksale u. Beschaffenheit desWeltlichen Gesanges, 58; Italian, Arteaga, 56; ii. London, Mount-Edgecumbe, 55; in Italy, France, Germany, and England, Hogarth, 57; modern, Hanslick, 71; Pfohl, 72; guide to German, Neitzel, 72; dictionary of, Clement and Larousse, 73; Rieman, Opern-Handbuch, 73; see also Edwards, Lyrical drama,

Optique (L') et les arts, Laugel, Oratorio Society of New York, Kreh-biel, 58. Oratorios, contributions to the history of, Ritter, Beiträge zur Geschichte des Oratoriums, 56; standard, Upton, 72.

Orchestration, instrumentation and, Berliez, co.

Organs and organ-building, Edwards, 57; history of, Hopkins and Rim-bault, 57-58.

Oriental antiquities, Babelon, Oriental architecture. See Fergus-son, History of Indian and Eastern architecture, 41. See also Byzantine architecture. Oriental art. See Byzantine art.

Oriental music. See Ambros, Geschichte der Musik, 55. Ornaments, stone monuments, tumuli and ornaments of remote ages, Waring, 14; prehistoric and savage of our own time, see Balfour, Evohttion of decorative art, 48. Orvieto Cathedral. See Norten, Notes on travel and study in Italy, 15.

on trevel and study in Italy, 10. Osler, W. R., 30. Otranto. See Freeman, Sketches from the subject and neighborlands of Venice, 43.

Oulibischeff, A., 68.
Ouseley, Rev. Sir F. A. G., ed. See
Naumann, 86.
Overbeck, J., 30; Antiken Schrittqueller zur Geschichte der bildenden Kimste bei den Griechen, see Jones, 26. Owen, A. C., 10.

Padu i, history of painting in, from XIV, to XVI, century, Crowe and Cavaleaselle, 201; Giotto and his works in, Ruskin, 33.
Pame, J. K., ed., es.
Painters, Vasari, 13-14, Bryan, 14, James, 41 Venedian, Berenson, 17, Scott, 34; Florentine, Perenson, 17, Flemish, Crowe, 201 mura, Cox., et Vanet, and Ebrentine, Berenson, 21. ry, Italian, Jameson, 26, Morelli, o, Scott, 14; English, Buxton, ac Psynter, 31; American, Kochler, see Buxter, 31, Sameran, Rosans ton, 31 (ambre Poynter); a century of English, Redgrave, R. and S., 32; modern, Ruskin, 33; famous, 32; modern, Ruskin, 32; famous, Shedd, 38. See also Artists. Painters' camp (The). See Hamerton, Thoughts about art, 7.

Painting and sculpture (department),

15-58.
Panting, Reid 32, Sturgis, 36; Förster, Denkmale deutscher Bankunst, Bildnerei und Malerei v. Einführung des Christenthums bis auf die neuste Zeit, 3; from nature, sze Hamerton, Thoughts about art, 7; Hamerton, Thoughts about art, 7; lectures on, Ruskin, 12; Bayet, La peinture et la sculpture Chretienne en orient, 16; English, Chesneau, 18; en orient, 10; English, Chesnean, 18; a work about, Coffin, 10; Instory of, in Italy, Crowe and Cavaleaselle, 20, Lanzi, 22, Stendhal, 35; history of, Heaton, 25, Muther, 30, Vandyke, 36, Woltmann and Woermann, 37, see also Poynter, 32; considerations on, La Farge, 27; in Europea Latensette, 2023, Physical Carlon See and Physical Phys considerations on, La Farge, 27; in Europe, Lalenestre and Richten-berger, 27; century of, Low, 28; schools of, Middleton, 20; modern, Moore, 30; classical and Italian, Poynter and Heath, 31; French and Spanish, Smith, 31; German, Flem-ish, and Dutch, Buxton and Poyn-ter, 31; Schools and Mosters of Radter, 31; schools and masters of, Rad-Cliffe, 32; technical beauties et, see Van Dyke, Art for art's sake, 6; decorative, Crane, see Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52. See also names of countries, cities, and ar-tists, and of special schools of painting, as Landscape painting, Mural painting, Renaissance, Sacred lirt,

Paladhile. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64. Palazzo Publico of Siena, measured and pictorial drawings of, see Ro-hault de Fleury, La Toscane au Moyen Age, 4s. Palazzo Vecchio, at Florence, measured and pictorial drawings of. See Rohault de Fleury, La Toscane au

Moyen Age, 48.
Paleographic Musicale, 58.
Paleologiue, M., 10.
Palestrina, Giovanni Pierluigi da,
Baini, 63. Kandler, 64-65; capella style of, 52 Ambros, Geschichte der

Musik, 55. Palgrave, F. T., 10. Palissy, Bernard, Burty, 49.

Palliser, Mrs. B., 52. Palmer. See Wedmore, Etching in

England, 37

Palustre, L., 44; reviser, see Gwilt, Papworth, W., 44; reviser, see Gwilt, Encyclopedia of architecture, 41. Paraviem, T. V., 10, and Selvatico,

Paris, P., to. Paris Exposition, fine arts at, Coffin,

Paris, opera house, see Chesneau, Le statuaire J. B. Carpeaux, 18; arc de l'Etode, see Mangeaux, Antone Etex, 18; fights before, see Marx, Henri Regnault, 28.

Parisian art and artists, Bacon, 16, Parker, J. H., 44, and Turner, T. H.,

Parma, frescoes of Correggio in, see a aima; rrescess of Correggio In, see Ricci, Correggio, 325 33. Parry, C. H. H., 724 see also Willeby, Masters of English missic, 73. Parssfal, Wagner's, Kufter ath, 684 guide through the missic of Wolzo-ten, 615 see also Schurd. Le deamen. gen, (†) see also Schuré, Le draine musical, (8. Parsons, S. P. (1999) 111

Parthenon, Michaelis, 443 curvature of the stylobate and architrave of, see Goodvear, Optical refinements in mediaval architecture, 44.
Passion plays of the Sin, to the Syn, centure.

Century, See Schlet Deutsche Singspiel, 50. Schletterer, Das

Patter, Walter, 10.
Pattison, Moss. M., 10. pt; see also Dilke, Lady, 8.
Pattison, Open See also Pretatory note, 5.

Pausanius, See Harrison, Mythology and monuments of ancient Athens,

Paysage, See Landscape, Paysan, See Peasant, Pearson, A. See Symonds, Renais-sance in Italy, 13.

Peasant in the works of J. F. Millet,

Peck, H. T., ed. See Harper's dictionary of classical literature and antiquities, 14. Pen-artists, English, of to-day, Har-

Pen drawing and pen draughtsmen, Pennell, 3t; Sambourne's unique system of, see Spielman, History of Securiso Black and white Book illustration, Illustration, Illustrators. enez. See Scott, The little masters,

Pencz,

Pernell, J., 31. Perate, And., 10. Peri. See Kiesewetter, Schicksale und Beschaffenheit des Weltlichen Gesangs, 58. ericles. See Collignon, Histoire de la sculpture Grecque, 10.

Perkins, C. C., 31, and Dwight, J. S.,

Perkins, Emma R., trans. See Diehl, Excursions in Greece,

Perrot, G., and Chipnez, C., 10-11. Perry, W. C., 31. Persia, antiquities of. See Babelon, Archaeologie orientale, 2. Persian art, Gayet, 6, Smith 12. Persian music. See Kiesewetter, Die

Musik der Araber, 62

Musik der Araber, 62.
Persian pottery. See Fortnum, Deseriptive catalogue, 50.
Petrie, W. M. F., 11, 52.
Plobl, F., 72.
Pholias. See Story, Excursions in art and letters, 13, Collignon, Histoire de la sculpture Greeque, 10;
Murray, History of Greek sculpture, 30.

Philharmonic Society of New York, memorial of the liftieth anniversary of the founding, Krehbiel, 58.

Sary or the administration of the Phillips, C., 3t.
Phillips, C., 3t.
Philosophy of art, Taine, r3.
Philosophy of music, Pole, 76.
Philosophy of music, Pole, 76.
Philosophy of Action of Chinez, 11.

Perrot and Chipiez, 11.

Perrot and Cupiez, 11.
Phrygia, history of ancient art in,
Perrot and Clipnez, 11.
Pianoforte, description and history of,
and of the older keyboard stringed and of the order keyboard stringed instruments, Hipkins, 57; music, Fillmore, 57; origin, progress, and construction, Rimbault, 50; playing and literature. Weitzman, 50; sonatas tor, Shedlock, 50; esthetics of, Kullak, 70.

Pictures, old-fashioned historical, see Dargenty, Le Baron Gros, 21; how to judge, Van Dyke, 36; emancipa-tion of, Hallward, see Transactions of the National Association for the Advancement of Art, 53.

Pisa Cathedral, bronze doors of. See Desjardins, Jean Bologne, 21. Pissaro. See Lecomte, L'art impres-sionniste, 27.

Plaidy, piano method of. See Kullak,

Planché, History of British costume,

See Prefatory note, 48, ans. See Maps and plans, ant form, studies in, Lilley and Plant Midgley, 51. Plaster casts. See Casts.

Plate, Middleton, 51; iilustrated cata-logue of, in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Foster and Atkinson, 50. Platt, C. A., 44. Plattarch upon music, Westphal, 61. Pourtse Wests vo Homeric on Euril-

Poetry, Watts, 14: Homeric, see Gard-ner, New chapters in Greek history, 5: music and the boundaries of,

5; music and t Ambros, 69, Pohl, C. F., 66, Pole, W., 66, 70, Pollard, A. W., 31, Pollen, J. H., 52, Polyphony, first efforts in. See Reissmann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 50. Pompadour interiors.

See Mantz. François Boucher, 28.
Pompeii, archaeological rambles in,

Bussier, 3, Poole, R. L., 65.

Proble, R. L., 69.
Proble, S. L., 111.
Porcelain, Sturgis, 53; of the United States, Barber, 48: of China, Du Sartel, 49: history of, medieval and modern, Marryat, 51; of all times and nations, Prime, 52. See also Ceramics, Pottery.
Proceeding Chief. 11.

Portfotio monographs: Armstrong, Art of W. Q. Orchardson, 16, Art of Velasquez, 16, Lite of Velasquez, 16, Gainsborough, 16; Cartwright, Jules Bastien-Lepage, 18, Raphacl, 18; Cundall, Dürer's engravings, 18; Cundall, Dirter's engravings, 21; Destrée, Renaissance of seulpt-ure in Belgium, 21; Grahame, Claude Lorrain, 22; Phillips, An-toine Watteau, 31, Frederick W, le-ett, 31, Picture gallery of Charles L, 31; Pollard, Italian book illustra-tions vi Stubbone, Death Galbrid, tions, 31; Stephens, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 35

Portrait painting. See Hamerton, Man in art, 24 Portraits, of Medicean dukes of Mi-chael-Angelo, see Goodyear, Roman and mediawal art, 6; of sovereigns, see Lecoy de I. Marche, Les sceaux, 27; of Washington, see Mason, Life and works of Gilbert Stuart, 28; and works of Gilbert Stuart, 88; of Marshall Prim, see Marx, Henri Regnault, 20; medallion, see Pro-pert, 32; of Charles V., Ferdinand, King of the Romans, and John of Leyden, see Scott, The little masters, 35.

Portugal, architecture of the Renaissance in. See Haupt, Baukunst der Renaissance, 42.

Renaissance, 42.
Posters, French Alexandre, 15; American, Bunner, 18: picture, Hiatt, 25; Italian, Jaccaci, 25; modern, see Modern poster (The), 20; and poster designing in England, Spielman. man, 35 man, 35.

Pottery, Sturgis, 53; old English, see Jewitt, Halt-hours among some English antiquities, 7; and porcelain of the United States, Barber, 48; history of ancient, Birch, 48, see also Deck, La Ja ence, 40; Descriptive of the design of English and States. scriptive catalogue of, Fortnum, 50; scriptive catalogue of, Fortnum, 50; dictionary of, see Garmier, Dictionare de la ceramique, 50; and porcelain. Marryat, 51, Prime 52, 6reek, Rayet and Collignon, 521 see also Alexandre, Jean Carries, 48; Burty, Bernard Palissy, 49.

48; Burry, Bernard Falls, 1979.
Pougin, A., 66.
Poynter, E. J., 31; and Head, 31; and Buxton, 31; and Smith, 45-46.
Praeger, F., Dana, See Naumann, 50.
Pre-Christian music. See Reissmann, Allicomoune Geschichte der Musik, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, Précurseurs de la Renaissance, Muntz, 10. Preludes and studies, Henderson, 72.

Pre-Raphaelitism, Ruskin, 33; see a/so Rossetti, Fine art, 12; Ruskin, Lecton architecture and painting, 12; Bell, Sir Edward Burne-Jones, 17; Sharp, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 35; Wood, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, Price, B., 25, 44. Prideaux, S. T.,

Prima donna (The), her history and surroundings from the xvii. to the xix, century, Edwards, 57. Prime, W. S., 52.

NIN. century, Edwards, 57.

Prime, W. S., 52.

Primitive music, Wallaschek, 63.

Prints, Japanese, see Anderson, Japanese wood-engravings, 10; early Italian, Fisher, 22; Durer's, Ephrussi, 22; Blake's, see Gilchrist, 23; Van Dyck's, Guffrey, 23-24; ancient, 23; Hiden, About etching, 24; of Van Dyck's, Guiffrey, 23-24; ancient, see Haden, About ething, 24; of Fine Arts Society, see Haden, 22; introduction to the study and collection of ancient, Willshire, 37; see also Beraldi, Les graveurs du dix-neuvieme siciet, 17; Ruskin, Two paths, 12, Ariadne Florentina, 34. See also Etchings.

Prior, E. S. See Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52.

Propert, J. L., 32.

crafts essays, 51-52.
Propert, J. L., 32.
Proust, Ant., 11.
Prout, E., 70, see also Holmes, 64.
Provence, architecture of, Macgibbon, 43.
Prudhon. See De Goncourt, L'art du xviii, siècle, 4.

Pubashers, music catalogues of, 74. Puccini. See Streatfield, Masters of Italian music, 66.

Pullan, R. P. See Texier, C., and Pullan, 46.

Punch, history of, Spielman, 35 Purcell, Cummings, 64; see asso Rim-bault, Pianoforte, 59.

Puriati See Jaccaci, Italian posters, Puvis de Chavannes, Cox, 20; see also Morin, French illustrators, 30. Pyle, H. See Smith, American illustrators, 35. Quarnero (The). See Jackson, Dalmatia, the Quarnero and Istria, 42.

Racinet, A. C. A., 52. Radeliffe, A. G., 32. Ramann, L., 60; trans., see Liszt, 62.

Ramann, L., 60; trans., see Liszt, 62.
Ramée, D., 44.
Ramsay, W., 11.
Raphael, Hartord, 7, Cartwright, 18.
Crowe and Cavalenselle, 20, Karoly, 26, Minntz, 30; see also Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36.
Rational building, Huss, 42.
Rayet, O., and Collignon, M., 52.
Realism in fine art, Sturgis, 13.
Rebert, F. von, 44.
Redende Kuenste (Die), 73.
Redford, G., 32.

Redford, G., 32. Redgrave, G. R., 31. Redgrave, R. and S., 32.

Rees, J. R., 32. Regnault, H., Marx, 28; see also Blanc, Artistes de mon temps, 3; De Lostalot, Les chets d'œuvres de l'art du xix, siècle, 21; Hamerton, Modern Frenchmen, 24.

ern Frenchmen, 24.
Reid, G., 32.
Reimann, H. See Ambros, Geschichte der Musik, 55.
Reinach, S., 11, 32.
Reinicke. See Fuller-Mattland, Masters of German music, 64.
Dissession A., 56, 58-50, 06; see also Reissmann, A., 56, 58-59, 66; see also Mendel and Reissmann, 73 Religious art, Hamerton, 24. See also Christian art, Sacred art, Religions poetry, and music, Schlet-terer, Geschichte der Geistlichen Dichtung u. Kirchlichen Tonkunst, Rembrandt, Michel, 28-29, Mollett, 29, Vosmaer, 37, see also Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36; etched work of, Haden, 24; etchings of, Hamerton 2.

ton, 24. Remington, F. See Smith, American

Remington, F. Sec Smith, American illustrators, 35.
Renaissance (The), and modern art, Goodyear, 6; in France, De Laborde, 4, Pattison, 10: in Italy and France, Müntz, 9; in Italy, Frizzoni, 5, Pattison, 10, Symonds, 13, Gruyer, Les œuvres d'art de la Renaissance Italienne au Temple de Saint Jean, 6, Müntz, Histoire de l'art pendant la Renaissance, Les précurseurs de la Renaissance, 10; see also Molmenti, La vie privée à Venise, 9, Vischer, Luca Signorelli u. die Italienische Renaissance, 37; Venetian and Florentine painters centian and Florentine painters of, Berenson, 17; sculpture of, Scott, 34; painting of, Woltmann and Woermann, 37; architecture of, 93-46; in Portugal, Haupt, 42; and Baroque, Wölfflin, Renaissance und Baroque, Wölfflin, Renaissance und Barock, et al. 2021. Barock, 47; see also Molmenti, Car-paccio, 20; Müntz, Donatello, 30; Pollard, Italian book illustrations, 31; Scott, Fra Bartolommeo, 34. Renan, A., 52. Reyer. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64.

Index. 87

Reynolds, Sir Joshna, Chesneau, 18,
Phillips, 31; see also Sweetser, Ar-ramps, 31; see also Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36.

Rheinberger. See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, 64.
Rhode Island houses, early, Isham and Brown, 42.
Rhodian ware, Fortnum, 50.
Rhys. E. Sheetser, Artista

Rhys, E., 32. Riaño, J. F., 52. Ricardo, H. See Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52.

crafts essays, 51-52. Ricci, C., 32-33. Richardson, R., 33. Richelieu, Etndes d'art et d'histoire de l'art Français au temps au Richelien et Mazarin, Lemonnier, 8. Richtenberger, E. See Lafenes See Lafenestre,

G., and Richtenberger, 27.
Richter, E. F., 70; see also Brock-haven, 69.

Richter, J. P., 33.
Riemann, H., 59, 73; see also Kullak, 70; trans, Gevaert, 60.
Rimbault, E. F., 59; see also Hepkins, E. J., and Rimbault, 57-58.
Ring of the Nibelung, Wagner's, Dippold, 67; guide through the music of, Wolzogen, 68. Rio, A. F., 33. Ritter, Fanny R., trans. See Schumann, 72. Ritter, Frederic L., 59. Riviera, architecture of the, Macgib-bon, 43. Roba di Roma, Story, 13.

Robinson, E., 52. Robinson, T. See Modern French

masters, 20.
Robinson, W., 44745.
Rock, Viery Ree, Dr., 52.
Rockstro, W. S., 50, 66.
Roccoo. See Mantz, François Boucher, 28, Thirion, Les Adam et Clodon, 36; Renaissance and, Willfilm 12. Wölfflin, 47.

Wilflin, 47.
Rodin, See Lecomte, L'art impressionniste, 27.
Roger-Miles, L., 33.
Rohanit de Fleury, G., 45; see also Clement, Handbook of legendary and mythological art, 10.
Roman antiquities. See Rome.
Roman architecture, Dirm, Die Baukinst der Roemer, 40; Essenwein, Die Ausgänge der classischen Bankunst, 40; see also Smith and Slater, Architecture, classical and carly Architecture, classical and early Christian, 46.

Roman art, Goodyear, 6; Interature in relation to, Burn, 3.
Roman literature in relation to Roman art, Burn, 3.

Roman music. See Reissmann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik, 56 Roman pottery, Birch, 48; vases in the Boston Museum, Robinson, 52. Roman sculpture, Reinach, 32, Redford, 32. Romanesque architecture, Corroyer, L'architecture Romane, 39; Essen-wein, Die Romanische und die Gothische Baukunst, 40; Jackson, Dalmatia, the Quarnero and Istria, Romantic school of music. See Langhans, 56. Rome, archæology of, Helbig and Lanciani, 7; Manuel d'archeologie Etrusque et Romaine, Martha, 8; manual of Roman antiquities, Ramay and Lanciani, 11; and Pompeii, Boissier, 3; ancient, and its neighhorhood, Burn, 3; history of the destruction of, in the light of recent discoveries, Lanciant, 7-8; remains of ancie it, Middleton, 6; 6; 1 organ and Christian, Lancian, 8; Christian, Frothingham, 5; 6 toolay and contentian. Dennie of walks in yesterday, Dennic, 4; walks in, Stendhal, 12. Root, J. W., 28, 48. Rore, C. de. See Witterfeld, Johannes Gabrielt, 50.

Roscoe, T., trans. See Cellini, Ben-

Rosenberg, A., 12. Rosengarten, A., 45. Ross, T. See Macgibbon, D., and

Ross, T. See Macgibbon, D., and Ross, 43.
Rossel, Mrs., trans. See Wanters, Penture Flamande, 97.
Rossetti, D. G., Sharp, 45. Stephens, 35. Wood, 37; see also Rossetti, W. M., 12.
Rossetti, W. M., 12.
Rossetti, W. M., 12.
Rossini and the mudern Indian school.

Rossini and the modern Italian school, Edwards, 64; see also Fink, Wesen u. Geschichte der Oper, 57.

Rubinstein, on.

Rubinstein, etc.
Rude, F., Bertrand, 17; see also Hamerton, Modern Frenchmen, 24.
Rudder, F. W., 53.
Ruskin, J., works of, 12, 33-34, 45; ed., see Owen, Art schools of medieval Christendom, 10; Studies in, Cook, 4; work of, Waldstein, 14; see also Cook, Popular handbook of National Gallery, 10, Chesneau, La penture Angluse, 18.

Russian art. Maskell, 8. Viollet-le-Duc, 14; influence of Byzantine on, see Bayet, L'art Byzantin, 3. Russian music, Istomin and Lütsh, 62. Rustic school.

See Hamerton, Present state of fine art of France, 7.

Saalschütz, J. L., 60-61.

Sabine, H., 45. Sacred art, history of mediceval Christranity and, Hemans, 25. Hopfiner, Die Heiligen in der Christlichen kunst, 25; and legendary art, Jame-son, 26. See also Christian art, Religious art.

Sacred buildings, adornment of, see Gambier, Ministry of fine art, 5, Lindsay, Sketches of the history of Christian art, 27, Butler, Ancient Coptic churches of Egypt, 32. See also Cathedrals, Churches.

herger, by; see also Paleographie Musicale, 58, Gevaert, 60, Lambil-St. lotte, no.

Saint-Germain-en-Laye, Museum of, See Remach, Antiquities nation-

st. John, Temple of, See Temple of St. John, St. Mark's rest, Ruskin, 14.

St. Nicholas. See Century gallery,

St. Paul's Cathedral, history of, Longman, 43; see also Armstrong, Alfred Stevens, 16.

See Atkinson, Art Petersburg. tour to northern capitals of Europe,

Saint-Sains. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 14. i. Sophia, church of, Lethaby and

St. Sophia, church of, Lethiovy and Swainson, 42; see also Salzenberg, Saints, stories of, in art, Clement, 10; see also Jameson, Sacred and legendary art, 26. Salvator Rosa. See Gilbert, Land-

Salvavre, See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64.

Salzenberg, W., 45.
Sambourne, L. Nee Spielman, History of Punch, 35.
Samderson, C. Nee Morris, Arts and crafts e says, 51-52. Sandys, J. E., ed. See Seyffert, 15.

Ruskin, Mornings Santa Croce. in Florence, 41. Saricen artim Egypt, Poole, 11.

Sardinia, Justory of ancient art 19, Perrot and Chipnez, 11 Sargent, J. S. See Fenollosa, Mural painting in the Boston Poblic Labrary, 22.

Surto, Andrea del, Scott, 32.
Sartoris. See Jaccaci, Italian posters,

Saumer, C., 34.
Saumer, C., 34.
Savonarola, Harford, 7
Saward, B. C. see Caulted Cond.
Saward, 96.
Save, A. H., 121 ed., see Maspero,
Dawn of civilization, 9.

Scandinavia, industrial arts of, Hildebrand.

Scarlatti, D. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, 59. Schmdler, A., 69. Schletterer, H. M.,

Schieher, H. M., 50 Schlieman, Schiichhardt, 12, Schoelcher, V., 60, Schreiber, G. L., 12 Schubert, Franz, Frast, 74, Kreissle, Schubiger, P. Schuchhardt, Cj. 12.

Schultz, A., r.; Schumann, Clara. See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, Schumann, Robert, 72, Reissmann, 66, Wasielewski, 67.

Schure, E., 68, Schuyler, M., 45. Scotland, architecture of, Waring, 14, Scotland, architecture of, Waring, 14, Macgiphon and Ross, 13.

Scott, Sto G., 45.

Scott, W. B., 34, 53.

Scriphner's Magazine, Cellin, 10.

Sculptors, lives of, Vasari, 14, see also Blane, Artistes de mon temps, 34 famous, Shedd, 45; Barye, Alexandre, 12. Carteaux, Chesnam, 12. damons, Sheedi, 33; Darrye, Alexandre, 13; Carpeaux, Chesneau, 18; Carries, Alexandre, 16; Etex, Mangeant, 28; Phidas and his successors, Murray, 30; Rodin, 30; Lecomte, L'art impressionniste, 27; Rude, Bertrand, 17; Stevens, Armstrong, 16. See also Michelangelo.

Sculpture, painting and (department),

15-38.
Sculpture, Sturgis, 12, 36; see accommon from the second of the s ent, 16; French, Gonse, 23, Clarac, Mus'e de sculpture, 10, Contarac, ausse de suplure, 16, vonta-jod, L'origines de l'art modernes, 20; German, Forster, Denkmale deutsche Bankunst, Bildmerer u. Malerei, v. Ennfuhrung des Chris-tenthums bis auf die Neuste Zeit, ie Neuso ; 6; Greek, see 5 and Ros tenthums bis auf die Neuste Zeit, 5; Gothie, Goisse, 6; Greek, aee Greek sculpture; Greek and Ro-man, Perry, a; Roman, Reinach, 32; Italian, Perkins, a; Reinas-sance, see Frizzoni, s, in Belgium, Destrée, 21, and modern, Scott, 33; Venetian, Boullier, L'art Venetien, 3; schools and masters of, Radeliffe, 3; schools and masters of, Radeliffe, 3; schools and masters of, Radeliffe, 3; schools and masters of Ruskin. Vert. 33 schools and masterson, Kademie 32; lectures on, 30c Ruskin, Aratra Penteller, 33c 44. Relation between Michael Angelo and, Timtoret, 34; famous, Shedd, 33; catalogue 41. casts, Waldstein, g; alliance of, to building. Simonds, Belcher, and Danages of Teneschier Cheb N.

bulling, Simonus, Deticler, Just Benson, see Transactions of the Na-tional Association, 53: eals, Lecoy de la Marche, Les sceaux, 27; Middleton, Engraved gems of classical times, 20; Demay, Le costume au Moyen-Age d'agres les sceaux Seckendorff, E. von. See Villemarque,

Seeley, J. R., 12.

Seguin, J., 53. Selvatico, P., 12; and Paravicini, 10;

and Chirtani, 12; see also Cavallucci,

Sensier, A., 35.

Seuhert, A., 15. Seven lamps of architecture, Ruskin,

Seward, T. F. See Marsh, Story of the Jubilee singers, 62.

the Juniec sings..., Seyffert, O., 15. Seymour, T. D., 12. Sgambati. See Streatfeild, Masters of Italian music, 66. Shadwell, C. L. See Pater, Greek studies, 10. Shakespeare and music, Naylor, 58. Sharp, W., 35. Sharps and fluts, Maretzek, 58. Shedd, Julia A., 35. Shedlock, J. S., 59; trans., see Wagner, Richard Wagner's letters, 68. Shepherd's tower (The). See Ruskin, Marunes in Florance, 3 Mornings in Florence, 34

Sicily, Byzantine wall-paintings in. See Diehl, L'art Byzantin dans L'Italie méridionale, 4.

Sienese school of art. See Mesnard,
Paintings at Sienna, 28. Signale fur die Musikalische Welt,

Signorelli, Luca, Vischer, 3

Silversmiths' work in South Kensington Museum, Pollen, 52. See also Goldsmiths' work.
Simmonds, Florence, trans.

See Michel, Rembrandt, 28-29; Ricci, Cor-reggio, 32-33.

Simonds, G. See Transactions of the National Association for the Advancement of Art, 53. Simson, J. P., trans. See Weber, 67. Sisley. See Lecomte, L'art impres-Sistey. See Eccessive Sionniste, 27.

Sisting Chapel, frescoes of Michel-Wilson Life and angelo in, see Wilson, Life and works of Michelangelo, 14; story of Genesis in, see Goodyear, Roman and mediæval art, 6.

Sketches from the subject and neigh-borlands of Venice, Freeman, 41.

Slade School lectures on illustration of books, Pennell, 31.
Slater, J. See Smith, T. R., and Slater, J.

Slater, J. See Salling, United States, Allen, Ware, and Harrison, 61; see also Marsh, Story of the Jubilee singers, 6 singers, 62.

Smith, F. Hopkinson, 9, 35.
Smith, G. W., 31.
Smith, R. M., 12.
Smith, T. R., and Poynter, E. J., 4546; and Slater, J., 46.
Smith, Sir W. W., 15.
Sniff-boxes. See Propert, History of minature art, 27.

Snuff-boxes. See Propert, rissory or minature art, 32.
Sokolowsky, B. von. See Ambros, Geschichte der Musik, 55.
Some artists at the Fair, 0.
Sommer, H. See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, 64.
Sonatas, pianoforte, Shedlock, 59.
Sonata of the xv., xvi., xvii., and

Sonatas, pianoforte, Shediock, 59, Songs, of the xv., xvi., xvii., and xvii. centuries, Minne-Master-Folk, see Reissmann, Das Deutsche Lied, 58-50; secular, Kiesewetter, Schick-sale und Beschaffenheit des Welt-lichen Gesangs, 58; German, Reisssale und Beschaffenheit des Weltlichen Gesangs, 58; German, Reissmann, 58-59; Erk and Bühme, 62; American slave, Allen, Ware, and Harrison, 61; Marsh, 62; Bahaman, Edwards, 62; Canadian, Gagnon, 62; of Brittany, Villemarqué, Barzaz-Breiz, 63; Irish, Walker, 63.

Sound, Tyndall, 70; and music, Zahm,

South Kensington Handbooks: Smith, Persian art, 17; Evans, Industrial arts, 49; Worsaae, Industrial arts of Denmark, 53; Engel, Musical instruments, 57

South Kensington Museum, bronzes of European origin in, Fortum, 22; Maiolica, Hispano-Moresco, Persian, Damascus, and Rhodian wares in, Fortum, 50; Ivories ancient and mediaval in, Maskell, 51; ancient and modern furniture and wood-work in, Pollen, 52; ancient and modern gold and silversmiths' work in, Pollen, 52; collection of church vestments, dresses, silk stuffs, needlework, and tapestries in, Rock, 52.

Spain, Kunst und Künstler des Mittelalters und der Neuzeit, Dohme, 5; artists of, Stirling-Maxwell, 12-13; La peinture Espagnole, Lefort, 27; Gothic architecture in, Street, 46; industrial arts of, Riaño, 52.

Spanish school of art, Letort, 27

Sparkes, J., ed. See Chesneau, La peinture Anglais, 18. Spielman, M. H., 35. Spiers, R. P., ed. See Fergusson, History of architecture in all countries, 40. pinet. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, Spinet.

Spirit-fresco'' process. Se bier, Ministry of fine art, 5. Spirita, P., 66. See Gam-

Spohr, L., 66.
Stage setting of the xvi. century, see Celler, Les origines de l'opera et le ballet de la reine, 57.

Stained glass. See Glass. Stainer, Sir J.; 61; and Barret, 73. Stanford. See Willeby, Masters of Statuettes, Renaissance and later, see Maskell, Description of ivories in South Kensington Museum, 51.

Steele, Frances M., and Adams, Elizabeth 1700

steeler, Frances Mr., and Adams, Elizabeth L. S., 53.
Stendhal, de (Henri Beyle), 12, 35.
Stephens, F. G., 35
Stevens, A., Armstrong, 16; compared with Manet, see Bacon, Parisian art and artists, 16.

Stevenson, R. A. M., 35, trans. See Delaborde, 21. Stigand, Isabella, S. E., trans. See Wasielewski, 59. Stillman, W. J. See Cole, Old Italian

Striman, W. J. See Cole, Old Italian masters, 19.
Stirling-Maxwell, Sir W., 12-13.
Stockholm. See Atkinson, Art teur to northern capitals of Europe, 2.
Stokes, Marg. See Didron, 22.
Stone, carved. See Paléologue, L'Art

Chinois, 10. Stones of Venice, Ruskin, 45. Story W. W., 13.

Story of a young designer, Viollet-le-

Story of a young designer, Violietie-Duc, 36-37.
Strait gate (The). See Ruskin, Mornings in Florence, 34.
Stranahan, Mrs. C. H., 35-36.
Strauss, R. See Fuller-Maitland, Masters of German music, 64.

Streatfelld, R. A., 66, 72 Street, G. E., 46. Stringwork, varied occupations in, Stringwork, varied occupations in, Walker, 53.

Struggle of the nations, Maspero, 9.
Stuart, Gilbert, Mason, 28.
Studies in both arts, Ruskin, 34.
Studies in modern music, Hadow,

Studies in worship music, Curwen, 70-

Studio methods and conversation,

Couture, 20.
Sturgis, R., 13, 36, 53; European architecture, 46; see also Homes in city and country, 25.
Styles Français (Les), Lechevallier-Charicard 8

Chevignard, 8.
Suite, Hanslick, 71.
Sullivan, Sir A. See Willeby, Masters of English music, 67.
Surrey, old cottage and domestic arabita state in the state of th chitecture in southwest, Nevill, 44. Sutton Place, annals of, Harrison, 42. Swainson, H. See Lethaby, W. R., and Swainson, 42. Sweetser, M. F., 36. Swords, Japanese. See Gonse, L'art

Japonais, 6. Symbolism, Christian, see Lethaby, Architecture, mysticism, and myth, 8. See also Iconography.

Symonds, J. A., 13; trans., see Cel-Ini, 3.
Symphonies, standard, Upton, 72.
Syria, Mohammedan art in, see Gayet, L'art Arabe, 6; ancient art in, Perrot and Chipiez, 11; cities of, see Longfellow, Cyclopædia of works of architecture in Italy, Greece, and the Levant, 43; see also Maspero, Struggle of the nations, 9.

Tables, making of, see Benson, Ele-ments of handicraft and design, 48.

ments of handicraft and design, 48. Taine, H. A., 13.
Talks on art, Hunt, 25.
Talmud (The), the magrepha of. See Saalschütz, Geschichte u. Würdegung der Musik bei den Hebräern, Tapestry, Sturgis, 53; history of, Guiffrey, 50, Havard, 50, Müntz, 52; in collection of church vestments, South Kensington Museum, Rock, 52. See also Textile fabrics.

Tarbell, F. B., 13.
Teetgen, A., 72.
Tempera Middleton, 29. See also Mural painting.

Temple of St. John Baptistery, Florence, Œuvres d'art de la, Gruyer, Ten years' digging in Egypt, Petrie,

Tenniel, Sir J. See Spielman, History of Punck, 35.
Terra-cotta, Greek. See Murray, Handbook of Greek archæology, 10;

French, Thirion, Les Adam et Clo-dion, 36. See also Pottery. Texier, C., and Pullan, R. P., 46.

Textile fabrics, Middleton, 5t, Sturgis, 53; collection of church vestments, dresses, silk stuffs, needlework, and tapestries, South Kensington Museum, Rock, 52. See also Tapestry. Thalberg, piano method of. See Kullek Thalberg, piano method of. See Kullak, 70.

Thausing, M., 36.
Thayer, A. W., 66-67.
Thibaut, A. F., 72.
Thirion, H., 36.
Thomas, A. See Hervey, Masters of French music, 64.
Thomas, T., ed. See Paine, 65.
Thompson, E. (Lady Butler). See Bacon, Parisian art and artists, 16.

Thomson, D. C., 36.
Thornbury, W., 36.
Thoughts about art, Hamerton, 7. Thoughts of great musicians, La

Mara, 72.
Tiles, Persian, see Van Dyke, History of painting, 36; processes in-see Lilley and Midgley, Studies in see Lilley and Midgiey, Studies in plant form, 51.

Tintoretto, Osler, 30; and Michael Angelo, Ruskin, 34.

Tirard, Helen M., trans. See Erman, Life in ancient Egypt, 5.

Titian, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20; see also Sweetser, Artist biographies 36.

phies, 36. Tombs, papal and imperial. See Lanciani, Pagan and Christian Rome, 8; at San Lorenzo, see Goodyear, Roman and mediæval art, 6. Tone, on the sensations of, Helmholtz, 69-70; From the tone world, hoitz, 09-70, 110m to the Ehlert, 71.

Tools and implements, of ancient and modern peoples, Hottenroth, Le costume, les armes, ustensiles outils des peuples anciens et modernes, so; of carpenter, blacksmith, and other craftsmen of the Middle Ages, see Viollet-le-Duc, Dictionnaire raisonné du mobilier Français, 53.

Tournament in France in the Middle Ages, see Viollet-le-Duc, Dictionnaire raisonné du mobilier Français, Town halls, Viollet-le-Duc, Histoire d'un Hôtel de ville, 47.

Townsend, Pauline D., 67, trans.,

Trani. See Freeman, Sketches from the subject and neighborlands of Venice, 41.

Transactions of the National Associations of the Nat tion for the Advancement of Art and its Application to Industry, 53. Transactions of the Royal Institute of British Architects. See Willis, 47.

Transatlantic sketches, James, 7. Tretbar, Helen, trans. See Ehlert,

Treviso. See Freeman, Sketches from the subject and neighborlands of Venice, 41.

Tristan und Isolde, Wagner's guide through the music of, Wolzogen, Trouveres. See Coussemaker, Adam de la Halle, 60.

roy, Schliemann's excavations at,

Troy. Schuchhardt, 12. Troyon. See Blanc, Artistes de mon temps, 3. Tryon, D. W. See Modern French

masters, 20.
Tsountas, C., 13.
Tu lor architecture. See Three periods of English architecture, Harris, Tumuli. See Monuments.

Turkish music. See Kiesewetter, Die Musik der Araber, 62. Turner, J. M. W., Thornbury, 36; see also Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36; Ruskin, Lectures on architecture and painting, 12, Harbours of England, 33; Wedmore, Etching in England, 33. Norman, land, 37.

Turner, Mary E. See Morris, Arts and crafts essays, 51-52.

Turner, T. H., 46.

Turner, T. H., 46.

Tuscan art, lectures on. See Ruskin, Vald'Arno and Laws of Fesole, 34. Tuscany, A travers la Toscane, Müntz, to: in the Middle Ages, Rohault de

Fleury, 45. Tuxedo Park. See Price, The suburban house, 44. Two paths (The), Ruskin, 12.

Tyndall, J., 70.

See Freeman, Sketches from the subject and neighborlands of Venice, 41.

Upcott, L. E., 36.
Upton, G. P., 72; trans., see Nohl, 65.
Universities, study of art in, Waldstein, 14. Utensils, See Tools.

Vachon, M., 36, 46. Val d Arno, Ruskin, 34. Van Aalst, J. A., 63. Van Brunt, H., 46-47. Van Dyck, A., Guiffrey, 23-24; and his pupils, Michiels, 29, 82e a250 Sweet-

Van Dyck, A., Guinney, 25 - 27, pupils, Michiels, 29; see also Sweetser, Artist biographies, 36.
Van Dyke, J. C., 36; see also Cole, Old Dutch and Flemish masters, 29; Modern French masters, 29; Modern French masters, 29.
Vasari, G., 13; see also Mesnard, La peinture à Sienne, 28.
Vases, Greek, see Murray, Mythology and monuments of ancient Athens, 7, 10; their form and decoration, Lau, Die Griechischen Vasen, ihre formen und decoration-system, 51; Etruscan and Roman in Boston Museum, Robinson, 52.
Vatican, the Amazon in the. See

Vatican, the Amazon in the. See Collignon, Histoire de la sculpture

Grecque, 19.
Vaulted book (The). See Ruskin,
Mornings in Florence, 34.
Vaults of the Middle Ages. See

Gothic vaulting Vedder, E. See Smith, American illustrators, 35. Velasquez, Armstrong, 16, Justi, 26, Lefort, 27, Michel, 20, Stevenson, 35; see also Stirling Maxwell, An-35; see also Sutring-Maxwell, Annals of the artists of Spain, 12-13.

Venetian art, Boullier, 3, De Pontes, 21; see also Karoly, Guide to the paintings of Venice, 26.
Venetian music. See Reissmann, Allgemeine Geschichte der Musik,

56, Winterfeld, Johannes Gabrieli,

Venice, La vie privée à Venise, Mol-menti, o; history of painting in, from Cavalcaselle, 20; guide to painting of, Karoly, 20; St. Mark's rest: the history of, Ruskin, 34; Academy of fine arts at, guide to the principal pictures, Ruskin, 34; sketches from, Freeman, 41; stones of, Ruskin, 45; architecture of, Ruskin, 45; Venus de Milo. See Furtwängler, Masterpicces of Grzek sculpture, Verdi, Pougin, 66; see also Edwards, Rossini, 64; Streatfelld, Masters of Italian music, 66; Pfohl, Die Moderne Oper, 72. Vernet, Horace, Rees, 32. Veron, E., 35.

Verona, history of painting in, from xiv. to xvi. century, Crowe and Cavalcaselle, 20

Veronese, Paul, Vriarte, 37. Verrall, Marg. de G., trans. See Harrison, Mythology and monuments of ancient Athens, 7

Vicenza, history of painting in, from xiv, to xvi. century, Crowe and xiv. to xvi. ce Cavaleaselle, 20.

idal, A., 59. Tenna, concerts in, Hanslick, Ge-schichte des Concertwesens in Wien, Vienne, buildings of the Roman time and Middle Ages in. See Macgib-bon, Architecture of Provence and the Riviera, 43. Vierge, D. See Morin, French illus-

Villemarqué, H. de la, 63. Vinci, Leonardo da, Richter, 33, Rio, 33; see also Sweetser, Artist brog-raphies, 30. Violin (The), and its music, Hart, 57; bibliography of, Heron-Allen, De fidiculis bibliographia, 57; and in-struments played with a bow, Vi-dal, Lee instruments a great dal, Les instruments à archet, 59.

Viollet-le-Duc, E. E., 14, 35-37, 47, 53; see alsa Huss, 42, Sabine, 45. Violoncello and its history, Wasielewski, 59.

Virgil, country of, Boissier, 3.
Virgil, holy. See Madonna.
Virgin martyrs. See Jameson, Sacred and legendary art, 26. Virginal. See Rimbault, Pianoforte, Virtuosi, Hanslick, Concerto, Componisten u. Virtuosen, 71.

Vischer, L., 37.
Vitraux. See Glass.
Vosmaer, C., 37.

Wagenseil, J. C., 68.
Wagner, R., works, letters, etc., 68; life of, Nohl, 65, Finck, 67, Glasenapp, 67, Hueffer, 67, Jullien, 67–68; guide through the music of, Wolzogen, 68. See also Wagneriana (department), 67–69.
Wagner drama, legends of, Weston, 68; studies in, Krehbiel, 68. See also Wagneriana (department), 67–69.
Wagner story-book, Frost, 67.
Wagneriana (department), 67–69.

Wagner story-book, Frost, 62.
Waldstein, C., 14, 37.
Walker, Fred., Phillips, 31.
Walker, F. C., 63.
Walker, Louisa, 53.
Walker, Louisa, 53.
Walker, Louisa, 53.
Walker, Louisa, 53.
Gothique, 6; Egyptian, Van Dyke, History of painting, 36. See at 85.
Frescoes, Mural painting, 76.
Wallaschek, R., 62. Wallaschek, R., 63. Ware, C. P. See Allen, W. F. 61. Waring, J. B., 14.

Wasielewski, W. J. von, 50, 57 Watrous, H. W. See Modern French masters, 20. Watteau, A., Phillips, 21; see also De Goncourt, L'art du xviii. siecle, Watts, T., 14.

Watts, T., 14.
Wauters, A. J., 37.
Wayte, W. See Smith, Sir W., 15.
Weapons, Mandron, Les armes, 51, see also Jewitt, Halr-hours among some English autiquities, 7; of ancient and modern peoples, Hottenroth, Le costume, les armes, utensiles outils des peuples anciens et modernes 50.

siles outils des penples anciens et modernes, so. Weber, Carl Maria von, Beneduct, 63, Weber, M. M., 67. Weber, Faron M. M. von, 67. Weber, Faron M. M. von, 67. Wedmore, F., 37, ed., see Michel, Rembrandt, 28. Weit, J. A. See Modern French mas-ters, 20.

Weitzmann, C. F., 50.

Weston, Jesse L., 68. Westphal, R., 61; see also Ambros, Geschichte der Musik, 55; Pret-

Whistler, J. M. See Wedmore, Etching in England, 37.
White, J. W., 74.
Widor, See Hervey, Masters of

Wilder, See Wedmore, Etching in England, 37. Wilkiert, A. See Winterfeld, Johannes Gabrieli und sein Zeitalter, 50.

nes Gabrieti und sem zentater, 32. Willard, A. R., 37. Willeby, C., 67. Willish, Ker. R., 47. Willshire, W. H., 37. Wilshire, W. H., 37. Wilson, C. H., 14, 37. Winterfeld, C. von, 59. Woermann, K. See Woltmann, A., and Woermann, 37. and Woermann, 37.

Wölfflin, H., 47. Woltmann, A., and Woermann, K., 37. Wolzogen, H. von, 68: trans., see

Wood, Esther, 37.
Wood, H. T., 37.
Wood, Chinese, see Paléologue, L'art Chinois, 10; Indian, De Forest, 39-Wood-engraving, Sturgis,

Wood-engraving, Sturgis, 36, Cundall, 31, Delaborde, 21, Jackson, 25-26, Linton, 28; see also Century gallery, 18, modern French masters, 20, Ruskin, Ariadne Florentina, 34, Smith, American illustrators, 35. Woodwork, ancient and modern, in the South Kensington Museum, Pollen, 52.

Wooldridge, H. E. See Chappell, Old English music, 61. World's Columbian Exposition, fine arts at, Coffin, 3; some ornsts at, Millet, 9. Worsaae, J. J. A., 53. Worship music, studies in, Curwen, Norship many 70-71.

Wortman, Dr. Alfr. See Cundall, Hans Holbein, 21.
Wren, Christopher, Inigo Jones and, Loftie, 43; see also Daniell, London many shapehas 20: Longman, Hisetty churches, 30 (Longman, History of the three cathedrals dedicated to St. Paul, 43.
Wright, J. H., trans. See Collignon, Archeologie Greeque, 4.

Yriarte, C., 37.

Zahm, Rev. J. A., 70. Zarlino, See Winterfeld, Johannes Gabrieli und sein Zeitalter, 50. Zeitschrift für Instrumentebau, 73.

LIST OF BOOKS FOR GIRLS AND WOMEN AND THEIR CLUBS:

As a Volume, in Paper Covers, 50 Cents; in Cloth, $1.00.

IN PARTS: on pages one-fourth the size, in paper covers:

- PART I.—Fiction, by a reviewer for The Nation. 10 cents.
- PART 11.—BIOGRAPHY, by assistant librarians of the N. Y. Free Circulating Library; HISTORY, by Reuben G. Thwaites; Travel, by Miss A. R. Hasse; LIPERATURE; POETRY, ESSAYS, and CRITICISM, by G. Mercer Adam; FOLK-LORE, by Stewart Culin. 10 cents.
- PART III.—FINE ARTS, by Russell Sturgis, A.M., Ph.D., Fellow of the American Institute of Architects; MUSIC, by H. E. Krehbiel, musical editor New York Tribune. 10 cents.
- PART IV.—Education, the Kindergarten, by Angeline Brooks; Education as a Science and an Art: Drawing, Penmanship, Shorthand, Grammar, Composition, Rhetoric, Elocution, Language, Mathematics, Book-keeping, Astronomy, Physics (including Electricity), by Edward R. Shaw; Chemistry, by H. Carrington Bolton; Geography, by Edward R. Shaw; Geology, by E. S. Burgess; Botany, by D. P. Penhallow; Natural History and Human Evolution, by Olive Thorne Miller; Psychology, by E. W. Scripture; Economic, Social, and Political Science, by George Iles; Philosophy, by J. Clark Murray; Physical Culture: Hygiene, Sanitation, Nursing, Emergencies; Self-culture: Etiquette, Books about clubs for women and girls, by Augusta H. Leypoldt. 10 cents.
- PART V.—Useful Arts; Livelihoods, by Augusta II. Leypoldt; Country Occupations: the Farm, Orchard, Kitchen and Market Garden, Dairy, Poultry, Bee-keeping, Flowergarden, Landscape Gardening, by L. II. Bailey and B. M. Watson, Jr.; Domestic Economy, by Angusta H. Leypoldt; Amusements and Sports, by Alice B. Kroeger; Works of Reference, by Helen Kendrick Johnson; List of Periodicals; Hints for a Girls' Club with a Home of its Own, and Oftline Constitution and By-laws; Hints for a Literary Club of Girls or Women, and for a Woman's Club.—to cents.
- DISCOUNTS for the List as a volume, or for the PARTS: 5 copies to one address, 10% discount; 10 copies, 15% discount; 25 copies, 25% discount; 50 copies, 40% discount.

"The best reading, for the largest number, at the least cost."

AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

OFFICERS, 1896-97.

President: William H. Brett, Librarian Cleveland (O.) Public Library.

Secretary: RUTHERFORD P. HAYES, State Library Commission, Columbus, O.

Treasurer: Charles K. Bolton, Brookline (Mass.) Public Library.

MEMBERSHIP is open to any person connected with library administration, whether as trustee, librarian, assistant, or in any other capacity. All other friends of library progress are welcomed; they may become members on vote of the board. Annual fees dues, $2 for members, $5 for fellows or institutions, payable in January. Life membership, $25; life fellowship, $100.

PUBLICATIONS OF THE AMERICAN LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

- READING FOR THE YOUNG, and Supplement: a classified and annotated catalog, by John F. Sargent, combined with Supplement by Mary E. and Abby L. Sargent. Cloth, $1.50.
- SUPPLEMENT TO READING FOR THE YOUNG. By MARY E. and Arby L. SARGENT. (1896.) Paper, 75 cents; cloth, $1.
- LIST OF BOOKS FOR GIRLS AND WOMEN AND THEIR CLUBS, chosen and annotated by men and women of authority. Edited by Augusta H. Leypoldt and George Iles. Paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1; also, in five parts, in paper, 10 cents each.
- ANNOTATED BIBLIOGRAPHY OF FINE ART AND MUSIC. By Russell Sturgis and Henry E. Krehbiel. 1000 titles with descriptive, critical, and comparative notes. Edited by George Iles. Cloth, $1; paper, 50 cents.
- PAPER AND INK. By ROBERT T. SWAN, Commissioner of Public Records for Massachusetts. 10 cents.

A critical inquiry of high value and interest.

LIBRARY BUREAU, Boston, New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Washington, London.

A. L. A. INDEX TO GENERAL LITERATURE: biographical, historical, and literary essays and sketches, reports and publications of boards and societies, etc. By WILLIAM I. FLEICHER. Cloth, $5.00; half morocco, $6.50. Boston and New York: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

IBRARY BUREAU, CHICAGO....

PUBLISHERS OF

"PUBLIC LIBRARIES,"

A Monthly Magazine Devoted to the Progressive and Intelligent Promotion of Library Interests, and a Valuable Aid for Public, Private, School, and College Libraries. : : : :

This magazine should be in the hands of every one interested in library work of any kind. It inspires with its news items, educates with its technical instructions, and encourages with its timely hints.

Subscription $1.00 a Year.

Single Number, 20 Cents.

 WE FURNISH EVERYTHING THAT A LIBRARY NEEDS EXCEPT BOOKS; FURNITURE (INCLUDING STEEL BOOK-STACKS), FIXTURES, SUPPLIES.

Library Bureau,

146 Franklin Street, Boston.215 Madison Street, Chicago.Security Building, St. Louis.

280 Broadway, New York.
112 North Broad Street Philadelphia.
1410 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

10 BLOOMSBURY STREET, LONDON.

LEMCKE & BUECHNER,

Booksellers and Importers,

S12 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK.

BOOKBUYERS CAN SAVE THEMSELVES

MUCH TROUBLE AND SAVE MONEY BY SENDING ALL ORDERS FOR BOTH:::::

Foreign and American Books

TO OUR FIRM, PREPARED TO FURNISH

ALL BOOKS, WHEREVER PUBLISHED,

PROMPTLY AND AT LOWEST RATES::

European Architecture

A HISTORICAL STUDY.

By RUSSELL STURGIS, A.M., Ph.D., F.A.I.A.,

President of the Fine Arts Federation of New York; Past President of the Architectural League of New York; Vice-President of the National Sculpture Society; Honorary Member of the Mural Painters' Society, etc., etc.

4 4 4 ¥

THIS handsome octavo is illustrated with nine full-page Albert-type plates and 257 drawings in the text, many of which are full-page size. These cuts are closely connected with the text, and are inserted where needed to elucidate the argument.

The characteristic of this book is the close intimacy of the author with the art of architecture in all its forms. He was a practising architect for a number of years, and was, perhaps, the first American to introduce rich and varied decoration into his interiors, combining as parts of one design the carving and painting of the interior with the general architectural distribution. Since his retirement from his profession he has remained a student of all the fine arts of decoration, considering them as one indivisible art, the application of which to buildings makes what we call architecture.

FOUR DOLLARS.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY, . . 66 Fifth Avenue, New York.

____IFORKS BY____

HENRY EDWARD KREHBIEL.

* * * *

- NOTES ON THE CULTIVATION OF CHORAL MUSIC AND THE ORATORIO SOCIETY OF NEW YORK. E. Schuberth & Co., 23 Union Square, New York. $1.25.
- STUDIES IN THE WAGNERIAN DRAMA. Harper & Brothers, New York. $1.25.
- REVIEW OF THE NEW YORK MUSICAL SEASONS, 1885-1890. 5 vols. Novello, Ewer & Co., London and New York. $1.25 per vol.
- THE PHILHARMONIC SOCIETY OF NEW YORK: A MEMORIAL.
 Novello, Ewer & Co., London and New York. $1.
- HOW TO LISTEN TO MUSIC. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. $1.25.
- THE TECHNICS OF VIOLIN PLAYING. By KARL COURVOISIER. Edited and Translated by H. E. KREHBIEL. G. Schirmer, 35 Union Square, New York. St.

Bibliographical Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take THE LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see the AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES.

- THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852), by purchase from Mr. George W. Childs. Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 per annum, postpaid; single nos., to cts., postpaid.
- THE LITERARY NEWS. An Eclectic Review of Current Literature. Published monthly, and containing the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; courses of reading; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 per annum, postpaid; single nos., to cts.
- THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Monthly. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Established in 1876. Subscription, $5 00 per annum, postpaid; single nos., 50 cents. (The Literary News is sent free to subscribers of The Lierary Journal.)
- THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale (including reprints and importations) July 1, 1876. Compiled (under the direction of F. Leypoldt) by Lynos E. Jones. Subject-volume, 4to, half morocco, $15.00. [Author-and-title volume is out of print.]
- THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1876-1884. Books recorded (including reprints and importations) July 1, 1876-June 30, 1884. Compiled, under the editorial direction of R. R. Bowker, by Miss A. I. Appleton. 4to, half morocco. [Out of print.]
- AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1884-90. Compiled, under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, by Miss A. I. APPLETON and others. 4to, half leather, $15.00.
- AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1890 = 1895.

 Sheets, $12,50; half morocco, $15,00, ($10 in sheets, and $12,50 in half morocco to subscribers paying in advance of publication.) In preparation.
- THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE.

 Being the full titles, with descriptive notes, of all books recorded in The Publishers' Weekly during the calendar year, with author, title and subject index, publishers' annual lists and directory of publishers. Published annually since 1886. 8vo, net, sheets, $3.00; half morocco, $3.50.

- THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Special Bibliographies and Necrology of Authors. Edited by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. Bow-KER, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff. 8°, cloth, $3.50.
- THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Large 8vo, with "Duplex Index," net, $2.00. Contains: The latest Catalogues of American Publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names and smaller lists at the end of the volume. These Lists, all bound in one volume, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books.
- THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATA-LOGUE includes a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subjectiodex, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cts.
- THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. A continuation of the Loadon and British Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.] 8vo, paper, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE bound in one volume, half leather, $5.00.
- HANDY LIST OF AMERICAN PUBLISH-ERS. The street address is given in nearly every case, and the abbreviation under which the firm's books are entered in the "American Catalogue," 1884-90. 92 pp., printed on one side only, 16mo, flexible cloth, $2.00.
- A CATALOGUE OF U. S. GOVERNMENT PUBLICATIONS. July 1, 1884, to June 30, 1890. Compiled, under the editorial direction of R. R. Bowker, by J. H. Hickcox. 32 pp., 4to, pap., $1.00.
- THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL LIBRARY. By Rev. A. E. Dunning. 16mo, cloth, 60 cts.
- CASPAR'S DIRECTORY of the Book, New, and Stationery Trades, Wholesale and Retail. 1450 pp., 8°, hf. bd., $8,00, net
- THE PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING: a handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. Growoll, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly and author of "A Bookseller's Library." Pt. 1, 8%, bds., $2.00. Pt. 2, 8%, bds., $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

D 000 423 002 5

,

